(v) Termination. Where a contractor abandons his contract, necessitating the termination thereof by the Government and the subsequent reletting of the uncompleted portion of the work to another contractor, no liquidated damages accrue to the United States after the date of termination in the absence of a provision in the contract that liquidated damages will not cease to accrue at the time of termination. See 7 Comp. Gen. 409, 11 id. 81; 15 id. 903; 17 id. 503.

(g) Default—(1) Disposition of amounts collected. Amounts collected on account of actual damages or excess costs charged to defaulting contractors should be credited to Miscellaneous Receipts (see MS. Comp. Gen. A-26073, March 20, 1929, August 8, 1929; 10 Comp. Gen. 510), but amounts collected on account of the rejection of unsatisfactory supplies may be credited to the appropriations from which the original payments were made. See 8 Comp. Gen. 103.

(2) Information on voucher. When deduction is made from a payment to a defaulting contractor on account of the excess cost of an open-market purchase against his account, the voucher should bear reference to the vouchers in connection with which the excess costs were incurred.

(3) Cash discounts. A defaulting contractor, in the absence of any provision in the contract that cash discount offered was to be taken into account in determining such excess cost, is chargeable with the discount in determining the excess cost unless no attempt was made to secure a like discount from the dealer from whom the open-market purchase was made. See 4 Comp. Gen. 807; 15 id. 177.

(4) Rights of sureties. Settlement with the contractor and surety is made by the General Accounting Office in accordance with the following: A surety which completes work under a contract on which it is surety is subrogated to the rights of the contractor against the Government for the unpaid balance due from the United States on that contract and also to the rights of the Government against the contractor for the excess cost of completing the work or furnishing the materials and supplies, and, therefore, the surety is entitled to be paid by the Government the cost to the surety of completing the work but no profit. The contractor is entitled to be paid for work performed by it, if any funds are available for such payment after reimbursing the surety. The total payments by the Government must not exceed the contract price. (See 16 Comp. Dec. 351, 490; 26 id. 467; 5 Comp. Gen. 995; 8 id. 36, 58, 266, 318, 435.) It is the practice to require releases from the contractor and the surety. (See 5 Comp. Gen. 995, 999; 8 id. 266, 272) Payment into court of the balance should not be made. (See 14 Comp. Gen. 567) The amount remaining due may be paid to the assignee of a receiver where the court orders the receiver to accept the assignee's offer to complete the work in consideration of receiving all the payments and retained percentages due. See 3 Comp. Gen. 623. (R.S. 161; 5 U.S.C. 22) [Par. 5, AR 35-6040, June 12, 1942]

(See 26 Comp. Dec. 855) All such checks should be returned to the Chief of Finance, Allotment Division, Washington, D. C. without the payment of any duty or tax imposed upon, or by reason of, importation.

SEC. 2. This Act shall be effective with respect to articles entered for consumption or withdrawn from warehouse for consumption on or after December 8, 1941, and shall have no force or effect on or after the day following the proclamation of peace by the President. The free entry herein authorized shall apply to any effects described in section 1 which are in customs custody on the effective date of this Act, notwithstanding the provisions of sections 490 and 491 of the Tariff Act of 1930, as amended.

The following regulations are hereby promulgated pursuant to the provisions of section 1 of the Act:

§ 8.26b Free entry of personal and household effects of certain classes of persons in the service of the United States, of their families, and of evacuees. (a) Under Public Law 633, approved June 27, 1942, free entry may be accorded to the personal and household effects of any person evacuated to the United States under Government orders and to the personal and household effects of any person in the service of the United States, or of his family, which are forwarded to the United States by reason of Government instructions regarding the movement of the owner or the articles, whether or not the owner returns to this country.

(c) All articles for which free entry is claimed under the Act shall be entered or withdrawn in accordance with the requirements prescribed by the Tariff Act of 1930. The Bureau has not prepared forms of declarations or certificates to be filed in connection with such entries or withdrawals. Collectors of customs shall, therefore, accord free entry under the statute upon the production of satisfactory proof that the articles are entitled to the benefit thereof.

(d) Certified or other invoices shall not be required for articles accorded free entry under the Act.

(e) The Act is effective with respect to articles entered, or withdrawn from warehouse, for consumption on and after December 8, 1941, and before the proclamation of peace by the President. (2) Deliveries in barges or other floating equipment to purchasers for consumption on floating equipment operated by them;

(3) Deliveries in barges or other floating equipment alongside river docks or other barge unloading facilities to those retail dealers (not located in the Cincinnati, Louisville, Memphis, Chicago or Minneapolis-St. Paul areas as herein defined), for resale at retail, who operate such river docks or other barge unloading facilities and whose yard and storage facilities (in which the coal purchased free alongside is stored, when it is stored) adjoin such river docks or other barge unloading facilities; and

(4) Deliveries to any person at the mine or at a point nearer the mine than the river docks or other barge unloading facilities for transportation in barges or other floating equipment to a purchaser who takes free alongside delivery, within the meaning of paragraph (a) (1) or (a) (2) of this section.

(b) Definition of ex-river deliveries. "Ex-river deliveries", as used in this Schedule, means deliveries involving river transportation other than those defined in paragraph (a) of this section.

(c) Special cases. (1) Any code member or Consumers Counsel Division, on behalf of any consumer or retail dealer (which consumer or retail dealer falls within the definition of a purchaser of ex-river coal, as defined in paragraph (b) of this section, but who (i) in the past customarily purchased coal moving by river at such prices and under such conditions that the coal moving by river was not competitive with coal of comparable quality moving by rail, truck or ex-lake dock, or (ii) in the past regularly purchased coal moving by river at a savings over available prices for comparable coal moving by rail, truck, or ex-lake dock) may file a petition requesting that such consumer or retail dealer be enabled to purchase at the minimum f. o. b. mine prices for free alongside delivery; and the Division shall, after hearing and upon satisfactory showing, authorize the sale of river coal to such purchaser by one or more code members at minimum f. o. b. mine prices for free alongside delivery, subject to such conditions as may be necessary to accomplish the objectives of the Act and to maintain the prescribed minimum prices. Any such petition filed by a code member or Consumers Counsel Division, as herein provided, and the procedure subsequent thereto shall be governed by the rules and regulations governing the procedure in respect to applications under section 4 II (d) of the Bituminous Coal Act of 1937.

Similarly, any code member or Consumers Counsel Division may file a petition requesting appropriate relief on behalf of any consumer or retail dealer, who in the absence of established minimum f. o. b. mine prices and by virtue of some future development, would have customarily purchased coal moving by river at such prices and under such conditions that the coal moving by river would not be competitive with coal of comparable quality moving by rail, truck or ex-lake dock, or would have regularly purchased coal moving by river at a savings over available prices of comparable coal moving by rail, truck or ex-lake dock. Such future development may pertain to the location of the plan or facilities of the consumer or retail dealer, the cost of river transportation or other similar matters.

Any State or political subdivision of a State, which is a consumer of ex-river coal, may, on its own behalf, file petitions such as those which a code member or the Consumers Counsel Division may file, as above provided.

ORDER CORRECTING TYPOGRAPHICAL ERROR

Order correcting typographical error in the matter of the petition of District Board No. 8 for the establishment of price classifications and minimum prices for the coals of certain mines in District No. 8.

In Supplement R–I, § 328.11 (Alphabetical list of code members) attached to and made a part of an Order Granting Temporary Relief and Conditionally Providing for Final Relief issued May 6, 1942, 7 F. R. 3872, in the above-entitled matter, the mine index number of the Calora Mine of The Sampson Elkhorn Coal Co. was inadvertently printed as Mine Index No. 446. It appears that this is a typographical error, that the correct mine index number for the Calora Mine is Mine Index No. 466, and that it should so appear in the above-mentioned Supplement R.

Accordingly it so ordered.

Subchapter B—Division of Industry Operations

PART 1029—FARM MACHINERY AND EQUIPMENT AND ATTACHMENTS AND REPAIR PARTS THEREFOR

[Limitation Order L-26, as Amended July 14, 1942]

RESTRICTION OF PRODUCTION OF FARM MACHINERY AND EQUIPMENT AND ATTACHMENTS AND REPAIR PARTS THEREFOR

Section 1029.1 Limitation Order L-26,[1] as amended, is hereby amended to read as follows:

The fulfillment of requirements for the defense of the United States has created a shortage of critical materials entering into the manufacture of farm machinery and equipment and attachments and repair parts therefor, for defense, for private account and for export; and the following Order is deemed necessary and appropriate in the public interest and to promote the national defense.

§ 1029.1 Limitation Order L-26—(a) Applicability of Priorities Regulation No. 1. This order and all transactions affected thereby are subject to the provisions of Priorities Regulation No. 1, as amended from time to time, except to the extent that any provision hereof may be inconsistent therewith, in which case the provisions of this order shall govern.

(b) Definitions. For the purpose of this order:

(1) "Person" means any individual, partnership, association, corporation, or other form of enterprise.

(2) "Producer" means any person engaged in the manufacture of farm machinery and equipment or of attachments and repair parts for farm machinery and equipment.

(3) "Farm machinery and equipment" means agricultural machinery, mechanical equipment and implements used for the production or care of crops, livestock, or other produce on a farm (or elsewhere in the case of poultry) including irrigation and drainage equipment, horseshoes, horseshoe nails and harness hardware, but excluding attachments and repair parts for farm machinery and equipment and also excluding all of the following: Tracklaying type tractors, hand tools other than those listed on Schedule A described below, special equipment ordered by the United States Department of Agriculture, buildings and repairs thereto, fencing, poultry nettings and wire, gates or wire fencing, bale ties or straps, well casing and water pipe, nails (other than horseshoe nails) and sundry hardware.

(4) "Attachments and repair parts" means all types of attachments to and all types of parts customarily used in conjunction with farm machinery and equipment or for the repair thereof.

(5) "Material" means any commodity, equipment, accessory, part, assembly or product of any kind.

(6) "Schedule A" means either that schedule of quota percentages (originally issued December 31, 1941) designated as "Schedule A," attached hereto and made a part hereof, as amended from time to time, or "Schedule A-1" (originally issued March 30, 1942) attached hereto and made a part hereof, as amended from time to time: Provided, That:

(i) To be entitled to use the percentages set forth in said Schedule A-1, a producer shall file with the War Production Board prior to March 30, 1942, his election to do so;

(ii) If such election is filed, a producer shall use only those percentages set forth in said Schedule A-1, and that if no such election is filed, a producer shall use only those percentages set forth in said Schedule A; and

(iii) Nothing in said Schedule A-1 shall entitle a producer to use an amount of any material in excess of the amount he would be entitled to use if limited to the percentages set forth in said Schedule A.

(c) General restrictions. (1) During the period November 1, 1941, to October 31, 1942, inclusive, no producer shall:

(i) For sale in the Continental United States, manufacture a number of any item of farm machinery and equipment listed in Schedule A in excess of that number obtained by multiplying the quota percentage designated in Schedule A for such item by the number produced by said producer during the calendar year 1940 or sold by him during such calendar year (whichever basis said producer may choose but the basis chosen shall be applied to all farm machinery and equipment manufactured by him): Provided, however, That wherever Schedule A lists an item of farm machinery and equipment but in lieu of a quota percentage lists producers by name and their respective quotas by number of units, no such producer shall maufacture more than his respective quota number of such item and a producer not named shall not manufacture any of such item.

(ii) For sale in the Continental United States, use in the production of attachments and repair parts listed in Schedule A, an amount of any material in excess of that amount obtained by multiplying the quota percentage designated in Schedule A for each item of attachments and repair parts by the amount of that material used by said producer in the production of such attachments and repair parts during the calendar year 1940, or so used in such attachments and repair parts sold by him during such calendar year (whichever basis said producer may choose, but the basis chosen shall be applied to all attachments and repair parts manufactured by him), the amount of material being determined by the net weight of each such material physically incorporated in the final product plus a reasonable minimum allowance for loss in any and all stages of the process of manufacture.

(iii) Manufacture for shipment, or ship:

(a) To all foreign countries (except Canada), including territories and possessions of the United States, a quantity of farm machinery and equipment and attachments and repair parts in the aggregate in excess of 112% of the net shipping weight of the total quantity thereof manufactured by said producer during the calendar year 1940 for shipment to those countries (in the aggregate) which are listed in Schedule B-1, attached hereto and made a part hereof, as amended from time to time; or

(b) To Canada a number of any class or type of farm machinery and equipment and attachments and repair parts (as listed in Schedule B-2 attached hereto and made a part hereof, as amended from time to time) in excess of that number obtained by multiplying the quota percentage designated in said Schedule B-2 for such class or type by the number shipped by said producer to Canada during the calendar year 1940.

Provided, That each said producer shall file reports on all such shipments as required by paragraph (f) (2); and Provided further, That this order and all transactions affected thereby shall be subject to all rules and regulations governing export control issued by the Board of Economic Warfare pursuant to the powers and functions vested therein by section (1) (a) (1) of the Executive Order No. 8900 of September 15, 1941, as amended; to the "Proclaimed List of Certain Blocked Nationals" issued from time to time pursuant to the authority contained in Proclamation No. 2497 of July 17, 1941; and to the rules and regulations of all Government departments which may be now or hereafter authorized to regulate exports to foreign countries.

(iv) Sell in the continental United States, or export to foreign countries or to territories and possessions of the United States including the Philippine Islands, any farm machinery and equipment or attachments and repair parts which is in excess of the quantities authorized to be manufactured for such sale or export by the provisions of (i), (ii) and (iii) above: Provided, That nothing herein shall prevent the sale or export by such producer of any farm machinery and equipment or attachments and repair parts which were completely manufactured or completely fabricated and ready for shipment in knockdown form on October 31, 1941.

(2) Every producer shall wherever possible use conservation measures, such as substitution, redesign, and respecification, to eliminate scarce material normally used; and shall plan his production schedule in accordance with the relative urgency and national need for different kinds of farm machinery and equipment and attachments and repair parts, subject to the provisions of this order. The War Production Board may from time to time require the elimination or diminution of the use of any material, with or without the substitution of other materials, and may specify the use in the manufacture of farm machinery and equipment and attachments and repair parts to which specific types of material can be put.

(d) Records. All persons affected by this order shall keep and preserve for not less than 2 years accurate and complete records concerning inventories, purchases, production, and sales.

(e) Audit and inspection. All records required to be kept by this Order shall, upon request, be submitted to audit and inspection by duly authorized representatives of the War Production Board.

(f) Reports. (1) All persons affected by this order as amended shall execute and file with the War Production Board such reports and questionnaires as said Board shall from time to time request.

(2) Each producer affected by paragraph (c) (1) (iii) of this Order as amended shall file:

(i) By the 10th day after May 18, 1942, a report on Form PD-388 of his shipments during the calendar years 1940 and 1941 to each country listed in Schedule B-1 (and to Canada), to which he made such shipments during those years, and also of his shipments during the calendar months of November 1941, December 1941, January 1942, February 1942, March 1942, and April 1942, to each foreign country (including Canada and all countries listed on Schedule B-1), and

(ii) By the 10th day of each month thereafter a report on Form PD-387 of his shipments during the preceding month (starting with May 1942) to each such foreign country.

(g) Violations. Any person who wilfully violates any provision of this Order, or who, in connection with this order, wilfully conceals a material fact or furnishes false information to any department or agency of the United States is guilty of a crime, and upon conviction may be punished by fine or imprisonment. In addition, any such Person may be prohibited from making or obtaining further deliveries of, or from processing or using, material under priority control and may be deprived of priorities assistance.

(h) Appeal. Any person affected by this order who considers that compliance therewith would work an exceptional and unreasonable hardship upon him, or that it would result in a serious problem of unemployment in the community, or that compliance with this order would disrupt or impair a program of conversion from nondefense to defense work, may apply for relief by addressing a letter to the War Production Board setting forth the pertinent facts and the reasons why such person considers that he is entitled to relief. The Director of Industry Operations may thereupon take such action as he deems appropriate.

(i) Communications. All reports to be filed, appeals and other communications concerning this order shall be addressed to the War Production Board, Farm Machinery and Equipment Branch, Washington, D. C., Ref.: L-26.

(j) Revocation or modification. This order and Schedule A may be revoked, amended, or modified by the War Production Board at any time as to all or any one or more producers affected hereby, and by special directions issued to any producer, the War Production Board may change any quota of such producer.

(k) Expiration date. This order shall expire November 1, 1942. (P.D. Reg. 1, as amended, 6 F.R. 6680; W.P.B. Reg. 1, 7 F.R. 561; E.O. 9024, 7 F.R. 329; E.O. 9040, 7 F.R. 527; E.O. 9125, 7 F.R. 2719; sec. 2 (a), Pub. Law 671, 76th Cong., as amended by Pub. Laws 89 and 507, 77th Cong.)

SCHEDULE A-1 [1]

FARM MACHINERY AND EQUIPMENT BRANCH, DIVISION OF INDUSTRY OPERATIONS, WAR PRODUCTION BOARD

Quotas for the Production During the Period November 1, 1941, to October 31, 1942, of Farm Machinery, Equipment, Attachments and Repair Parts Therefor for Sale in the United States

INSTRUCTIONS FOR USING SCHEDULE A-1

(1) The quota for most of the items of farm machinery and equipment listed herein is expressed in terms of designated percentages of the number of items produced by a manufacturer during the calendar year 1940 or sold by him during that year, as he may elect, but, as provided in Limitation Order L-26 as amended, once the election is made the manufacturer must adhere to that basis for all items to be produced by him during the period November 1, 1941, to October 31, 1942.

(2) Whenever two or more items are bracketed together and only one quota percentage is assigned thereto, such percentage shall be applied to the total obtained by adding the number of each such bracketed item produced in 1940. The quota thus arrived at may consist entirely of any one of such bracketed items or, at the producer's election, may be split up between any or all such item or items manufactured, but in no event shall the total quantity of such item or items manufactured between November 1, 1941, and October 31, 1942, exceed such specified percentage. For example, suppose a producer manufactured or sold during 1940 the following units under Group 14:

Group 14: Domestic Water System, Pneumatic

Division 1: Deep well, all sizes

	Units	Quota (percent)
Item 1. Deep well, reciprocal	250	95
2. Deep well, jet pumps	400
Division 2: Shallow well
Item 1. Under 250 gal. per hour	620
2. 250-499 gal. per hour	1,110
3. 500 gal. per hour and over	130
Total	2,510

He should apply the percentage shown on Schedule A-1 opposite the brackets (95% for these items) to the above total which results in 2,385 Units. This number is his total 1942 quota for the above five items. He may build 2,385 units of any one of the five items listed, or split this number any way he chooses into two, three, four, or all five of the types of pumps listed above, provided the total production of all five does not exceed 2,385 units.

Example	1st option	2d option	3d option	4th option
Division 1:
Item 1. Reciprocal	------	385	237	------
Item 2. Jet Pumps	2,385	1,000	380	------
Division 2:
Item 1. Under 250 Gal.	------	------	589	------
Item 2. 250-499 Gal.	------	1,000	1,055	385
Item 3. 500 and over	------	------	124	2,000
Total	2,385	2,385	2,385	2,385

(3) The quota percentages for Attachments and Repair Parts (and a few other items) are expressed in terms of total weight of all metals and rubber, rather than in units.

NOTE: The opportunity mentioned in (1) above to elect between total production or total sales during 1940 is of course applicable to items covered in (2) and (3) and similarly binding upon the manufacturer for all items in his line.

Subchaper B—Director General for Operations

PART 944—REGULATIONS APPLICABLE TO OPERATION OF THE PRIORITIES SYSTEM

[Interpretation 1 of Priorities Regulation 3]

The following official interpretation is hereby issued with respect to Priorities Regulation No. 3, as amended (§ 944.23):[1]

(a) Extension of ratings by prime contractors. When a delivery to be made directly to the Army, Navy, or other war agency by a prime contractor has been rated on a PD-3A Preference Rating Certificate, and the prime contractor uses such rating to obtain delivery of material to him, such use of the rating is an "extension" rather than an "application" of the rating within the meaning of Priorities Regulation No. 3, as amended. The "assignment" and the "application" of the rating are deemed to occur simultaneously upon issuance of the PD-3A certificate.

It follows that, in such cases, the prime contractor comes within the provisions of paragraph (c) of Regulation No. 3 which permits, within certain limits, the extension of a rating for purposes of replacing material in inventory or obtaining operating supplies for the processing of materials to the delivery of which the rating is extended.

It should be noted, however, that under Priorities Regulation No. 11,[2] persons subject to the Production Requirements Plan are not, in general, permitted to extend any ratings, and that the foregoing interpretation does not relieve from this restriction those prime contractors who qualify or are required to qualify under the plan. It should also be noted that subparagraph (2) of paragraph (c), concerning the extension of ratings to operating supplies, is not available to persons using more than $5,000 per quarter of metals in the forms indicated.

(b) Previous forms of certification still valid. The form of certification for use in applying or extending a rating prescribed by paragraph (d) of Regulation No. 3 is not mandatory. It is permissible to use, instead, the form of certification prescribed in the particular preference rating certificate or order which assigned the preference rating in question.

(c) Certification with respect to orders previously placed. Paragraph (d) of Regulation No. 3 provides that the certification applying or extending a preference rating is to be endorsed on or attached to the contract or purchase order. If the order has been placed before the rating is applied or extended, it is permissible to furnish the certification on a separate document specifically identifying the purchase order in question. Such a document may refer to one or more different purchase orders.

(d) Application or extension by telegraph. When a purchase order is placed by telegraph and it is permissible to apply or extend a rating, the substance of the required certification may be contained in the telegram. The requirements for manual signature or authorization under Priorities Regulation No. 7[3] (§ 944.27) will be satisfied if the outgoing telegram is signed or authorized in the manner provided in that regulation.

(e) Acceptances of P orders need not be filed. Paragraph (d) (2) of the regulation states that the certification may be used "in lieu of furnishing any copy of any preference rating order." This eliminates not only the requirement of furnishing a copy to the person with whom the order is placed but also the requirement of some preference rating orders for filing an accepted copy with the Director General for Operations or his predecessor, the Director of Priorities.

(f) Additional information required. The standard form of certification may be used in lieu of information previously required with respect to the grade of the rating or the identity of the preference rating order or certificate assigning the rating. Paragraph (d) (4), however, specifies that any other information required by the terms of any applicable order must still be furnished if available to the person placing the purchase order. Such additional information includes, where available, Government code numbers and contract numbers required by the form of certification appearing on Preference Rating Certificate PD-3A. Likewise the requirements with respect to filing copies of purchase orders which extend ratings originating on PD-3A certificates remain applicable.

The additional information required does not include information which merely serves as an additional identification of the preference rating order assigning the rating, such as the words "Material for Maintenance, Repair, or Operating Supplies" specified in Order P-100[4] or the words "Material for Emergency Repairs of Plumbing Equipment or Heating Equipment" required by Order P-84.[5] The ratings assigned by both of these preference rating orders may now be applied or extended merely by complying with Regulation No. 3. (P.D. Reg. 1, as amended, 6 F.R. 6680; W.P.B. Reg. 1, 7 F.R. 561; E.O. 9024, 7 F.R. 329; E.O. 9040, 7 F.R. 527; E.O. 9125, 7 F.R. 2719; sec. 2 (a), Pub. Law 671, 76th Cong., as amended by Pub. Laws 89 and 507, 77th Cong.)

Issued this 14th day of July, 1942.

AMORY HOUGHTON,
Director General for Operations.

[Maximum Price Regulation 19]

SOUTHERN PINE LUMBER

In the judgment of the Price Administrator, the prices of those items of Southern pine lumber not previously subject to Revised Price Schedule No. 19 have risen in a manner inconsistent with the purposes of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942. The Price Administrator has ascertained and given due consideration to the prices of these items and species prevailing between October 1 and October 15, 1941. So far as practicable, the Price Administrator has advised and consulted with representative members of the industry which will be affected by this Regulation.

In the judgment of the Price Administrator, the maximum prices established by this Regulation are and will be generally fair and equitable and will effectuate the purposes of said Act. In the computation of the maximum prices, costs of distribution, including wholesaler's functional discounts and commission salesmen's commissions prevailing prior to this Regulation have been taken into account and the prices have been so constructed as to permit the manufacturers to continue these discounts and commissions. A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this Regulation has been issued simultaneously herewith and has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.

Therefore, under the authority vested in the Price Administrator by the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, and in accordance with Procedural Regulation No. 1, [2] issued by the Office of Price Administration, Maximum Price Regulation No. 19 is hereby issued.

AUTHORITY: §§ 1381.201 to 1381.212, inclusive, issued under Pub. Law 421, 77th Cong.

§ 1381.201 Maximum prices for Southern pine lumber. On and after July 18, 1942, regardless of any contract or other obligation, no person shall sell or deliver any Southern pine lumber for domestic or export use, and no person shall buy or receive in the course of trade or business any Southern pine lumber:

(a) At prices higher than the maximum prices set forth in Appendix A, § 1381.212, where the shipment originates at a mill.

(b) At prices higher than the maximum prices set forth in Appendix A, § 1381.212, plus $3.50 per thousand feet board measure, where a shipment originating at a mill satisfies all of the tests of a "direct-mill retail sale" as set forth in § 1381.208 (a) (10).

(c) At prices higher than the maximum prices established by the General Maximum Price Regulation,[1] where the shipment originates at a distribution yard, whether wholesale or retail.

(d) No person shall offer, agree, solicit, or attempt to do any of the foregoing.

(e) The provisions of this Maximum Price Regulation No. 19 shall not be applicable to sales or deliveries of Southern pine lumber to a purchaser, if prior to July 18, 1942, such lumber had been received by a carrier, other than a carrier owned or controlled by the seller, for shipment to such purchaser.

§ 1381.202 Less than maximum prices. Lower prices than those set forth in Appendix A, § 1381.212, may be charged, demanded, paid or offered.

§ 1381.203 Conditional agreements. No seller subject to this Maximum Price Regulation No. 19 shall enter into an agreement permitting the adjustment of the price of Southern pine lumber to prices which may be higher than the maximum prices in effect upon the date of the agreement: Provided, That if a petition for amendment has been duly filed, and such petition requires extensive consideration the Administrator may grant an exception from the provisions of this section permitting the making of contracts adjustable upon the granting of the petition for amendment. Requests for such an exception may be included in the aforesaid petition for amendment.

§ 1381.204 Evasion. (a) The price limitations set forth in this Maximum Price Regulation No. 19 shall not be evaded, whether by direct or indirect methods, in connection with an offer, solicitation, agreement, sale, delivery, purchase or receipt of or relating to Southern pine lumber, alone or in conjunction with any other commodity or by way of commission, service, transportation, or other charge, or discount, premium or other privilege, or by tying-agreement or other trade understanding, or otherwise.

(b) Specifically, but not exclusively, the following practices are prohibited:

(1) Unnecessarily routing lumber through a distribution yard, whether wholesale or retail;

(2) Unreasonably refusing to ship except in mixed cars or trucks, or in specified or restricted random lengths, or under other circumstances entitling the seller to a premium;

(3) Quoting prices above the maximum prices on condition that the buyer take a mixed car or truck;

(4) Making charges for delivery which exceed the actual cost to the seller of such delivery except as otherwise provided in § 1381.212 (d);

(5) Falsely or wrongly grading or invoicing lumber;

(6) Grading as a special grade lumber which can be graded as a standard grade;

(7) Selling as specified lengths a shipment of lumber which is substantially equivalent to standard or random lengths, or reselling as specified lengths a shipment purchased by the seller as standard or random lengths;

(8) Breaking up an order which would normally be a single order into a series of smaller orders in order to reduce the quantity below the limitations of § 1381.208 (a) (10);

(9) Refusing to sell except on a delivered basis;

(10) Quoting a delivered price on the basis of estimated weights higher than those permitted by § 1381.212 (d).

§ 1381.205 Records and reports. (a) On and after July 18, 1942, every person who, during any calendar month, offers or agrees to sell, sells, or delivers, or offers or agrees to buy, buys or receives a total of 34,000 pounds or more of Southern pine lumber in the course of trade or business, shall keep for inspection by the Office of Price Administration for a period of not less than two years, a complete and accurate record of every such offer, agreement, purchase, sale or delivery, showing the date therof, the name and address of the buyer and the seller, the price paid or received, and the quantity, size, grade, specifications and condition of seasoning of the lumber in each such purchase or sale, and whether it is Shortleaf Yellow pine or Longleaf Yellow pine as defined in § 1381.208.

(b) Such persons shall keep such other records in addition to or in place of the records required in paragraph (a) of this section and shall submit such reports to the Office of Price Administration as that Office may from time to time require or permit.

§ 1381.206 Enforcement. (a) Persons violating any provision of this Maximum Price Regulation No. 19, are subject to the criminal penalties, civil enforcement actions, and suits for treble damages provided for by the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942.

(b) Persons who have evidence of any violation of this Maximum Price Regulation No. 19, or any price schedule, regulation, or order issued by the Office of Price Administration or of any acts or practices which constitute such a violation are urged to communicate with the nearest field, state, or regional office of the Office of Price Administration or its principal office in Washington, D. C.

§ 1381.207 Petition for amendment. Persons seeking any modification of this Maximum Price Regulation No. 19, or any adjustment or exception not provided for therein may file petitions for amendment in accordance with the provisions of Procedural Regulation No. 1,[2] issued by the Office of Price Administration.

§ 1381.208 Definitions. (a) This Maximum Price Regulation No. 19 and the terms appearing therein, unless the context otherwise requires, shall be construed as follows:

(1) "Person" includes an individual, corporation, partnership, association, or any other organized group of persons or legal successor or representative of any of the foregoing and includes the United States, or any government, or any of its political subdivisions, or any agency of any of the foregoing.

(2) "Southern pine" means all of the species included in the definitions of Shortleaf Yellow pine and Longleaf Yellow pine.

(3) "Shortleaf Yellow pine" means the species of shortleaf pine (Pinus eschinata), loblolly pine (Pinus taeda), slash pine (Pinus caribaea), such longleaf pine (Pinus palustris) as contains less than six annual rings per inch and less than one-third summerwood, or any other Pinus species, except Longleaf Yellow pine as defined in paragraph (a) (4) of this section, known commercially as "Southern pine".

(4) "Longleaf Yellow pine" means the botanical species of Pinus palustris which contains not less than six annual rings per inch and not less than one-third summerwood.

(5) "Mill" means a manufacturing plant, concentration yard, or other establishment which processes by sawing or planing at least 25 percent of the volume of Southern pine logs or lumber purchased or received by it and which sells less than 75 percent of the volume of its Southern pine lumber to consumers or contractors in less than carload quantities.

(6) "Distribution yard" means a wholesale or retail lumber yard which purchases or receives Southern pine logs or lumber for purposes of sorting, storing, and resale or redistribution, which regularly maintains a stock of lumber, and which (i) processes, by sawing or planing, less than 25 percent of the volume of such logs or lumber so purchased or received by it, or (ii) regardless of the percentage of such processing, sells more than 75 percent of the volume of its Southern pine lumber to consumers or contractors in less than carload quantities.

(7) A shipment is deemed to "originate at a mill" when the lumber reaches the purchaser without having been stored as an integral part of the yard stock of a distribution yard as defined in subparagraph (6) of this paragraph.

(8) A shipment is deemed to "originate at a distribution yard", whether wholesale or retail, when, and only when, the shipment is made out of a stock of lumber which was an integral part of the seller's stock at the time the sale was made.

(9) "Volume" means the board foot measure of lumber processed from logs or other lumber, or sold, as the case may be, within six months immediately prior to the transaction subject to this Maximum Price Regulation No. 19.

(10) "Direct-mill retail sale", for the purpose of determining whether the $3.50 mark-up provided in § 1381.201 (b) may be added, means a sale in which the shipment originates at a mill, and which satisfies all of the following tests:

(i) It must be a sale to a consumer or contractor for use in building, construction, remodeling, repair, maintenance or fabrication, and must not be a sale for resale in substantially the same form.

(ii) Where a shipment is by rail it must be a sale in less than carload quantity. Where shipment is by water or by truck it must be a sale of not more than 18,000 feet board measure. For the purpose of this subparagraph the size of the sale is determined by the size of the order, and the size of the order is determined by the over-all quantity involved in a single transaction.

(iii) It must be accompanied by all of the following services: delivery to the job site, when so ordered by the purchaser, and in such quantities and at such times as the purchaser specifies; tallying and checking at destination; the privilege of exchanging goods and returning unused material; and the readiness and ability of the seller immediately to replace deficiencies and adjust complaints from stocks kept on hand for the purpose.

(b) Unless the context otherwise requires, the definitions set forth in section 302 of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942 shall apply to other terms used herein.

§ 1381.209 Applicability of General Maximum Price Regulation.[3] Except as provided in § 1381.201 (c), the provisions of this Maximum Price Regulation No. 19 supersede the provisions of the General Maximum Price Regulation with respect to sales and deliveries for which maximum prices are established by this Regulation.

§ 1381.210 Export sales. The maximum price at which a person may export Southern pine lumber shall be determined in accordance with the provisions of the Maximum Export Price Regulation[4] issued by the Office of Price Administration.

On F. A. S. sales to Lend-Lease Administration, British Purchasing Commission, British Air Commission, and other government agencies or their contractors, an addition of $3.50 per M Ft. may be made for marking, bundling, assembling, switching, unloading, tallying, dock insurance and other services necessary to the proper dispatch of offshore cargo of lumber.

§ 1381.211 Effective date. Maximum Price Regulation No. 19 (§§ 1381.201 to 1381.212, inclusive) shall become effective July 18, 1942: Provided, That firm commitments entered into prior to July 18, 1942, for any items of Southern pine lumber subject to Revised Price Schedule No. 19 as it stood before being superseded by this Regulation, and in conformity with its terms, may be completed according to the contract if delivery is made before November 1, 1942.

§ 1381.212 Appendix A: Maximum prices for Southern pine lumber where shipment originates at a mill. (a) The maximum prices for Shortleaf Yellow pine lumber f. o. b. mill per one thousand feet board measure where shipment originates at the mill, shall be as follows:

A mixed car shipment consists of three or more items as hereinafter defined, provided at least three items amount to not less than 2,000 board feet each, or at least six items amount to not less than 1,000 board feet each, or at least twelve items amount to not less than 500 board feet each. A mixed truck shipment consists of three or more items as hereinafter defined, provided at least three items amount to not less than 500 board feet each, or at least six items amount to not less than 250 board feet each. (d) (1) A delivered price in excess of the maximum f. o. b. mill prices set forth in paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section may be charged, consisting of such maximum prices plus the transportation costs permitted by this paragraph: Provided, That (i) the invoice shows the point of origin of the shipment, the destination, and the applicable railroad or truck rate, or, in place of such rate, where shipment is by motor vehicle owned or controlled by the seller, the amount added for transportation; and (ii) the invoice is marked "direct mill shipment".

(2) Where shipment is exclusively by motor vehicle owned or controlled by the seller, the charge may be no greater than the actual cost to the seller of delivery by motor vehicle; and in no event shall the charge exceed the railroad charge at the carload rate for the most nearly comparable haul. If the actual cost is less than such railroad charge, only the actual cost may be added to the maximum price.

(3) Where shipment is by common or contract carrier, the amount added for transportation may be no greater than the actual amount paid to the carrier, except as provided in subparagraph (4) of this paragraph (d): Provided, That where shipment is by both rail and truck (either owned or controlled by the seller or a common or contract carrier), the following shall govern:

(i) Where shipment is by rail followed by truck delivery, the amount added for transportation may include, in addition to the amount added for rail transportation, the actual cost of truck delivery, provided such cost is shown separately on the invoice.

(ii) Where a truck haul precedes the rail shipment, as where a mill located away from a railhead hauls lumber by truck to the railhead, no addition may be made for such truck haul.

(4) In computing transportation costs, the following practices are permitted:

(i) The charging of a sum equivalent to the one-quarter of a dollar nearest to such transportation costs;

(ii) The averaging of transportation charges where a single order for which a single flat delivered price has been quoted and accepted is shipped from more than one mill to a single destination: Provided, That the following procedure is followed:

(a) The seller shall set forth in each invoice the transportation charges for the particular shipment, and indicate that the particular shipment is part of a larger order.

(b) At the completion of the transaction, the seller shall render a final invoice to the purchaser for the complete order, showing the individual prices of each item separately f. o. b. mill, the quantity of each item shipped from each mill, the exact amount of actual transportation charge applying to each shipment, and a reconciliation of the total amount so computed with the agreed delivered sales price and the maximum price permitted by this Maximum Price Regulation No. 19.

(c) The seller must send a copy of such final invoice to the Office of Price Administration in Washington, D. C., within ten days of the completion of the last shipment.

(e) An addition of $7.50 per 1,000 feet board measure to the prices of the corresponding items set forth in Table 1 of paragraph (a) of this section may be made for "special soft texture finish" produced by the following manufacturers, subject to the following conditions:

(1) Before the manufacturer offers "special soft texture finish" for sale, any manufacturer intending to sell "special soft texture finish" and charge the premium provided by this paragraph must register with the Lumber Branch of the Office of Price Administration in Washington, D. C. as a producer of "special soft texture finish." Any such manufacturer must certify in his application for registration that he sold "special soft texture finish" and obtained a premium for it between October 1, 1941 and March 31, 1942. Upon filing such application, this manufacturer's "special soft texture finish" may be offered and delivered at the $7.50 premium, but final payment may not be made or accepted until such manufacturer's registration has been approved and his name published in the FEDERAL REGISTER at the end of this paragraph (e) (1). The following producers have qualified as producers of "special soft texture finish":

(2) Such lumber must be clearly marked as "special soft texture finish."

(3) The $7.50 additional charge shall be quoted and invoiced separately.

(f) For grades and classes of lumber recognized by the Southern Pine Association Standard Specifications for Southern Pine Lumber, dated July 1, 1939, and not specifically priced in this section, the seller shall determine a tentative price by taking the price of the most nearly comparable grade or item specifically priced in paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section, and applying thereto the average differential between the two items maintained by the seller during the period January 1 to August 1, 1941. If the seller had no established differential during that period, he shall apply the average differential maintained by his most closely competitive seller during that period. If neither the seller nor a competitive seller had such a differential, the seller shall apply a differential based on comparative grade value.

The tentative price so determined shall be submitted for approval to the Lumber Branch of the Office of Price Administration in Washington, D. C. together with a statement as to the manner of determining the price which shall include the following facts:

(1) The paragraph number of the Southern Pine Association Standard Specifications for Southern Pine Lumber, dated July 1, 1939, which states the specifications of the item to be priced.

(2) The item specifically priced in paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section which was considered as the most nearly comparable.

(3) The weighted average f. o. b. mill prices received by the seller or by his most nearly competitive seller for each of these items during the period January 1 to August 1, 1941.

The Office of Price Administration shall adjust or approve the price so submitted and shall publish the approved maximum price in the FEDERAL REGISTER as an order under this Maximum Price Regulation No. 19. The price so approved and published shall thereafter be the maximum price for such item for that seller. After such tentative price has been submitted to the Office of Price Administration for approval, the seller may quote and deliver at that price, but the seller may not accept payment and the buyer may not make payment until such publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

(g) For grades and classes of lumber recognized by the Southern Pine Association Gulf Coast Classification and not specifically priced in this section, dated March 15, 1923, the seller shall determine a tentative price by taking the price of the most nearly comparable grade or item specifically priced in paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section, and applying thereto the average differential between the two items maintained by the seller during the period January 1 to August 1, 1941. If the seller had no established differential during that period, he shall apply the average differential maintained by his most closely competitive seller during that period. If neither the seller nor a competitive seller had such a differential, the seller shall apply a differential based on comparative grade value.

The tentative price so determined shall be submitted for approval to the Lumber Branch of the Office of Price Administration in Washington, D. C. together with a statement as to the manner of determining the price which shall include the following facts:

(1) The paragraph number of the Southern Pine Association Gulf Coast Classification which states the specifications of the item to be priced.

(2) The item specifically priced in paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section which was considered as the most nearly comparable.

(3) The weighted average f. o. b. mill prices received by the seller or by his most nearly competitive seller for each of these items during the period January 1 to August 1, 1941.

The Office of Price Administration shall adjust or approve the price so submitted and shall notify the seller in writing the approved maximum price for such item which price shall thereafter be the maximum price for such item for that seller. After such tentative price has been submitted to the Office of Price Administration for approval, the seller may quote and deliver at that price, but the seller may not accept payment and the buyer may not make payment until such written notice has been received by the seller.

(h) No additions may be made for workings, specification, services, or other extras not expressly provided for herein: Provided, That the seller may apply to the Office of Price Administration in Washington, D. C. for instructions as to additions for workings, specifications, services, or other extras not provided for. In such application the seller shall describe in detail the workings, specifications, services or other extras not provided for. Pending receipt of such instructions the seller may quote and deliver at a price which is agreed by the parties to be subject to adjustment to the price determined by the Office of Price Administration, but the seller may not accept payment and the purchaser may not make payment until such instructions have been received.

(i) Where moisture content requirements are waived by the purchaser, the maximum price shall be the price herein established for green lumber. In such a sale the seller may not use the estimated weight for green lumber in computing transportation costs, but must use either the actual weight of the lumber or the permitted estimated weights for dry lumber.

(j) The maximum prices herein established shall not be increased by any charges for the extension of credit, and shall be decreased for prompt payment to the same extent that the sale price would have been decreased by the seller on August 1, 1941. The cash and credit periods recognized by the seller on August 1, 1941, shall not be reduced.

(k) All invoices of lumber must show the size, grade, condition of seasoning, working, and other specifications of the lumber, and whether it is Shortleaf Yellow pine or Longleaf Yellow pine lumber and, in the case of a sale on a delivered basis, the information required by § 1381.212 (d).

(l) No person shall pay, and no person shall charge or receive a commission for purchasing Southern pine lumber which is based on the amount or value of lumber purchased, if the amount of the commission plus the purchase price is higher than the maximum price permitted by this Maximum Price Regulation No. 19.

(m) The maximum price for sales on combination grades shall be the maximum price in this section established for the lowest grade named in the combination.

Issued this 14th day of July 1942.

Administrator.

APPLICATIONS FOR ADJUSTMENT OF MAXIMUM PRICES

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this Supplementary Order, issued simultaneously herewith, has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.[1] For the reasons set forth in that statement and under the authority vested in the Price Administrator by the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, it is hereby ordered:

If, however, the order issued denies the application in whole or in part, the contract price shall be revised downward to the maximum price ordered, and if any payment has been made at the requested price, the applicant may be required to refund the excess.

(b) "Price Regulation," as used in this Supplementary Order, means a price schedule effective in accordance with the provisions of section 206 of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, a maximum price regulation or temporary maximum price regulation heretofore or hereafter issued by the Office of Price Administration, or any amendment or supplement thereto or order heretofore or hereafter issued thereunder.

§ 501.4 Definitions. As used herein:

(a) The term "person" means any individual, firm, copartnership, corporation, municipal corporation, association, including a farm cooperative association as defined in the Agricultural Marketing Act, approved June 15, 1929, as amended, or other type of legal entity, or any trustee, receiver, assignee, or personal representative thereof.

(b) The term "property" means anything, except passengers, capable of being transported by motor truck.

(c) The terms "common carrier" and "carrier" mean any person which holds itself out to engage in the transportation of property for the general public in over-the-road service by motor truck for compensation, regardless of the designation of such person under any Federal or State statute.

(d) The terms "motor truck" and "truck" mean either (1) a straight truck, (2) a combination truck-tractor and semi-trailer, (3) a full trailer, (4) or any combination thereof, (5) or any other rubber-tired vehicle propelled or drawn by mechanical power when used in the transportation of property.

(e) The term "gross weight" means the aggregate weight of a motor truck and its lading.

(f) The term "rated load carrying ability" as applied to a truck means the weight which the tires mounted on the load bearing wheels of such truck are capable of carrying as determined in the manner set forth in Appendix No. 1 attached hereto.

(g) The terms "capacity load" or "loaded to capacity" as applied to a truck mean either (1) the quantity of property, by weight which may be carried in said truck, determined by deducting the weight of said truck from its rated load carrying ability, or (2) the maximum quantity of property, by volume, which may be stowed by efficient methods and safely transported in the load bearing space of the truck, whichever quantity is the lesser in weight.

(h) The term "over-the-road service" means all operations of a motor truck except (1) those within an area which includes any municipality or urban community and a zone extending twenty-five (25) air miles from the boundaries thereof; (2) those within and between contiguous municipalities or urban communities; and (3) those not more than twenty-five (25) miles in length, except those operations by a carrier between its terminals.

(i) The term "highway" means the roads, highways, streets and ways in any State.

(j) The term "circuitous route" means any highway route or routes or combination thereof, the mileage of which exceeds the mileage of the most direct highway route by ten (10) per cent or more. Highway mileage of such route shall be as shown in the current edition of the Rand McNally Road Atlas of the United States, Canada, and Mexico.

(k) The term "special equipment" means any low-bed motor truck, or any motor truck the primary carrying capacity of which is occupied by mounted machinery.

§ 501.5 Elimination of waste. Every common carrier shall:

(a) Eliminate wasteful operation and duplication of parallel services, and curtail schedules and services to the extent necessary to carry out the purposes of this subpart;

(b) Curtail the speed of motor trucks to 40 miles per hour or less;

(c) Conserve and properly maintain tires, motor trucks, and other facilities necessary in conducting the business of such common carrier;

(d) Lease or rent motor trucks whenever practicable and to the extent necessary to carry out the purposes of this subpart.

§ 501.6 Loading and operating requirements. (a) No common carrier shall operate any motor truck in over-the-road service unless it is loaded to capacity, except as follows:

(1) A motor truck, while outbound from the origin point of a trip to the point most distant therefrom to which the truck is operated on such trip, and also while inbound, may be operated on a portion of the route or routes traveled while empty or partially laden, if, during the course of the outbound or inbound movement, the truck is laden with a capacity load while operated over a considerable portion or segment of the route or routes traveled in over-the-road service, and if the carrier uses due diligence as hereinafter provided in maintaining a capacity load upon the truck at all times while en route.

(2) No carrier shall be deemed to have used due diligence as provided in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph (a) in loading or maintaining a capacity load upon a truck unless, consistent with any prior commitments involving the use of said truck en route, the carrier and its representatives, including the representative in immediate control and possession of the truck, shall have endeavored in good faith, prior to its departure from any point with less than a capacity load, to obtain sufficient freight for loading the truck with a capacity load at such point and, failing in this, shall have endeavored in good faith to secure as much freight as possible for loading on said truck at such point, by making appropriate inquiry at and registering with the joint information office, established pursuant to General Order O. D. T. No. 13[3] or by a State with the approval of the Office of Defense Transportation, at or near such point and, if there be no such office at or near such point, by making appropriate inquiry of other carriers at their offices or terminals, or both, located at such point. Nor will due diligence be deemed to have been used unless, consistent with prior commitments involving the use of the truck en route, the carrier and his said representative or representatives shall have accepted for shipment and transported all freight to the load capacity of the truck found to have been available by such inquiry, for transportation to the point of destination of the motor truck or to any point intermediate to or beyond such destination point; nor unless, when a truck has been discharged of all lading at any point on a trip and upon such inquiry no freight is found available for transportation on said truck pursuant to the provisions of said subparagraph (1), the carrier shall have endeavored in good faith to lease or rent such truck, consistent with prior commitments involving the use of the truck en route, to another person for transportation of property.

(3) Nothing in this subpart contained shall be construed to require the loading of a motor truck to such an extent that the gross weight of the truck will exceed the actual safe capacity of any bridge or other structure en route, as determined by State or local authorities, or will exceed the maximum gross weight limitations prescribed by the applicable State law, proclamation, or regulation, Federal statute, or Executive Order, whichever is currently controlling, but such truck shall be loaded as nearly to the extent required by this subpart as may be consistent with such applicable limitations.

(4) A motor truck which has been so disabled en route that a capacity load cannot be transported or carried thereon may be operated in over-the-road service empty or partially laden to the nearest point where the common carrier operating said truck maintains, provides, or can obtain repair services.

(b) No common carrier shall:

(1) Operate in over-the-road service any motor truck, the gross weight of which exceeds by more than twenty (20) percent its rated load-carrying ability, or

(2) Accept or receive any property for transportation over a circuitous route, except when adequate common carrier service on or along such route is not otherwise available; or except when operation over the direct route may be unsafe, impossible, or more destructive of tires.

(c) The provisions of this subpart shall not be so construed or applied as to require any common carrier to perform any transportation service, the performance of which by it is not authorized or sanctioned by law or to render any such service beyond its transportation capacity.

§ 501.7 Exemptions. (a) The provisions of paragraph (a) of § 501.6 shall not apply to or include the following:

(1) Any motor truck while actually transporting exclusively high explosives, such as, and including, dynamite, blasting caps, detonation fuses, black powder, gun powder, and other like explosives, susceptible to detonation by a blasting cap, and the accessories necessary for the use of the foregoing;

(2) Any motor truck while operated under direction of the armed forces of the Federal or a State government;

(3) Any motor truck when engaged exclusively in the transportation of repair or service men and their supplies or equipment;

(4) Any motor truck operated exclusively in connection with the construction and maintenance of essential telegraph, telephone, organized radio communications, electric light and power, gas, and water supply utilities, and pipelines, railroads, street railways and public highways.

(5) Any motor truck operated in emergencies exclusively for the purpose of making deliveries of medicines or other supplies or equipment necessary for the protection or preservation of life, health or public safety;

(6) Any motor truck operated exclusively for the purpose of collecting and disposing of sewage or garbage or rendering other sanitation services, pursuant to governmental order, regulation or contract.

(b) The provisions of paragraph (a) and subparagraph (1) of paragraph (b) of § 501.6 shall not apply to the operation of any special equipment;

(c) The provisions of this subpart shall not apply to:

(1) Any motor truck, the primary carrying capacity of which is occupied by a mounted tank or tanks;

(2) Any motor truck controlled and operated by any person or persons principally engaged in farming, when used in the transportation of agricultural commodities and products thereof, from a farm or farms, or in the transportation of farm supplies to a farm or farms.

§ 501.8 Special or general permits. The provisions of this subpart shall be subject to any special or general permit issued by this Office to meet specific needs or exceptional circumstances, or to prevent undue hardship.

§ 501.9 Submission of plans for joint action. Whenever joint action between two or more common carriers is contemplated in order to accomplish any of the purposes of this subpart, such common carriers may formulate and submit to this Office for consideration, a plan or plans designed to accomplish such purposes by one or more of the methods described below:

(a) Alternate or stagger motor truck schedules between two or more points;

(b) Reciprocally exchange shipments of property between two or more points;

(c) Pool traffic, revenues, or both, between two or more points;

(d) Jointly load for transportation or operate a motor truck or trucks between two or more points;

(e) Divert traffic, operate joint terminals or joint pick-up or delivery vehicles;

(f) Establish arrangements with other carriers for the interchange of equipment;

(g) Appoint one of their own number or any other person or carrier to act as its or their individual, common or joint agent, to concentrate, receive, load, forward, carry, unload, distribute, and deliver property; receive, account for, and distribute gross or net revenues therefrom, or otherwise handle or conduct the carrier's business as common carriers of property upon just and reasonable terms and conditions: Provided, That this subpart shall not be construed to authorize any common carrier or carriers to operate in any of the methods described in this section unless directed so to do by the Office of Defense Transportation or unless pursuant to a contract, agreement or combination approved by the Interstate Commerce Commission or a State regulatory body.

§ 501.10 Interchange of traffic; holding shipments; billing and rates applicable. (a) Every common carrier whether by rail, motor, water, or otherwise, shall accept and receive from any common carrier as defined herein and transport all shipments of every kind. Such shipments shall be handled and transported in the same expeditious and efficient manner as shipments of a like nature received from any other source.

(b) No common carrier shall hold, carry over, store, or warehouse any shipment at any one station, except the final destination of the shipment, for longer than 36 hours, or at two or more such stations for an aggregate period of more than 48 hours, except where there is no other common carrier by rail, motor, water, or otherwise, capable of transporting the shipment consistent with the provisions of this subpart.

(c) Whenever a shipment is interchanged or diverted pursuant to the provisions of this § 501.10 the shipment shall be accepted and received by the carrier with which interchange is made or to which diverted at the connecting or diverting carrier's station or at the consignor's door, as the case may be, and such carrier shall load, transport, forward, or deliver, as the case may be, such shipment as the agent of the carrier which first accepted the shipment for transportation and under and pursuant to its rates, rules, regulations and practices, and shall honor and conform to its bill of lading or other billing, except as to any routing instructions therein inconsistent with the requirements of this section.

§ 501.11 Records and reports. Every common carrier shall prepare and maintain such records, and make such reports, as this Office may hereafter require for the purpose of this subpart, and keep such records available and open for inspection at all reasonable times for examination by an accredited representative of this Office.

§ 501.12 Carrier liability. Common carrier responsibility to the owner of any property being transported and among the carriers participating in such transportation shall be as provided by law for initial, terminating, intermediate, or delivering carriers.

§ 501.13 Division of revenues. Every common carrier by rail, motor, water, or otherwise, shall establish just, reasonable and equitable divisions of revenues derived from transportation performed pursuant to this subpart. Unless the division of revenues from any interchanges or diversion of shipments made pursuant to the provisions of this subpart shall have been agreed upon by the interested carriers, or shall have been prescribed by the Interstate Commerce Commission, or by the appropriate State regulatory body, such revenues shall be divided as this Office shall order.

§ 501.14 Filing of tariffs. Every common carrier required by law to file tariffs of rates, charges, rules, or practices shall file forthwith with the Interstate Commerce Commission in respect of transportation in interstate or foreign commerce and with each appropriate State regulatory body in respect of transportation in intrastate commerce, and publish in accordance with law, and continue in effect only for the duration of the present emergency unless otherwise ordered, tariffs or appropriate supplements to filed tariffs, setting forth any changes in the rates, charges, rules, regulations, or practices of such common carrier which may be necessary to accord with this subpart, together with a copy of this subpart; and forthwith shall apply to said Commission and each such regulatory body for special permission for such tariffs or supplements to become effective on one-day's, or the absolute minimum period of, notice.

Subpart B of Part 501 of Chapter II of Title 49 of the Code of Federal Regulations (General Order O.D.T. APPENDIX NO. 1

Under the terms of § 501.4 (f) of this subpart, the rated load carrying ability of the tires mounted on the running wheels of a motor truck shall be determined by multiplying the number of tires mounted on the running wheels of such motor truck, of the size and description actually used, by the number of pounds appearing opposite the description of such tires in this Appendix.

Example: A motor truck uses 10 running tires, size 9.00–20, ten ply. The rated load carrying ability of each such tire, in pounds per tire, as shown in this Appendix, is 3450. Multiply 10 (number of tires) by 3450 (rated load carrying ability of each tire). The result is 34,500 pounds, which is the "rated load carrying ability" of the motor truck as defined in § 501.4 (f).

[Circular 1512]

EAST MOUNTAIN CITY, NEVADA

REGULATIONS FOR OPENING OF TOWN LOTS TO PREEMPTION ENTRY

1. Statutory authority. The lots in the town site of East Mountain City, Nevada, will be disposed of under sections 2382 to 2386, Revised Statutes. The town site plat was approved June 5, 1941.

2. Price. The minimum price for all lots of 4,200 square feet or less is $10 per lot, and for all lots in excess of 4,200 square feet will be computed by adding to the minimum price of $10 the sum of $4 for each additional 1,000 square feet or fractional part thereof in excess of 4,200 square feet.

3. Preemption claims. Any person who has established settlement on any lot prior to April 25, 1939, the date of the commencement of the survey in the field, and maintained such settlement to the date of proof, is entitled to make a preemption entry for such lot and one other lot on which he has made substantial and permanent improvements at the minimum price. A preemption claim is not necessarily forfeited by the settler transferring his interest to another, subsequently to accrual of the right, but patent, if issued, will be in the name of the settler and not the transferee.

The notice of intention to make preemption proof should be made on Form 4–348 and should give the date of settlement and the value and character of the improvements, and in order that all bona fide preemption rights may be determined prior to the date of public sale, claimants should file their notices of intention to submit proof on or before September 10, 1942.

On the filing of the notice of intention by the applicant the Register will issue notice for publication, which the applicant must have published at his expense in four consecutive issues prior to the date set for the proof in the "Independent," a weekly newspaper published on Friday at Elko, Nevada. Proof, consisting of the affidavit of the applicant and of at least two of the advertising witnesses, may be made before the Register of the District Land Office at Carson City, Nevada, or before any other officer authorized to take proofs under the homestead laws, and must show the claimant's age, citizenship, and facts regarding the extent of his residence on one lot and the nature and value of the improvements on the second lot and the dates each of the improvements were placed thereon in cases where two lots are included in an application. Proof of publication must be shown by the affidavit of the publisher. The purchase price of the lot or lots must be paid to the Register when the proof is made.

4. Citizenship. Each purchaser of a lot must furnish evidence that he is a native born or naturalized citizen of the United States. If he is a naturalized citizen, satisfactory evidence thereof must be submitted. This may consist of the original certificate of naturalization, which will be promptly returned to the applicant after examination by the General Land Office. In lieu thereof, claimant may show the facts as to his citizenship status, which should include a statement as to the date of his naturalization, the title and location of the court in which the proceedings were instituted, and when available, the number of the document in question, if the proceedings were instituted since September 26, 1906. In cases of naturalization prior to September 27, 1906, there should also be given the date and place of the applicant's birth, and the foreign country of which he was a citizen or subject. If the claimant is a married woman the facts establishing her citizenship and that of her husband must be shown in accordance with Circular No. 1248, April 18, 1931 (53 I. D. 374; 43 CFR 137.3, 137.4).

Under the provisions of § 1376.1 (a) (3) of Maximum Price Regulation No. 126, the Office of Price Administration will determine the maximum price at which fluorspar crude ore of a particular grade may be sold by a producer when the conditions named in that section exist. Due consideration has been given to that application, and an Opinion in support of this Order No. 4, has been issued simultaneously herewith and has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register. For the reasons set forth in the Opinion, under authority vested in the Price Administrator by the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, it is hereby ordered that:

(a) Under the provisions of §1376.1 (a) (3) of Maximum Price Regulation No. 126, issued April 28, 1942, the price of $10.00 per net ton, f. o. b. Grants, New Mexico, for crude ore fluorspar based on 70% ore content (that is 70% CaF_2 on a dry basis) is determined to be a price in line with the level of maximum prices established by § 1376.1 of said Maximum Price Regulation for sales made by Navajo Fluorspar Mines, Grants, New Mexico, and the maximum price at which said company may sell or deliver said grade of fluorspar crude ore.

(b) This Order No. 4 may be revoked or amended by the Price Administrator at any time.

PART 301—DOMESTIC QUARANTINE NOTICES

JAPANESE BEETLE ADMINISTRATIVE INSTRUCTIONS MODIFIED

Introductory note. In reissuing this circular to replenish the supply no change has been made in the list of bulbs, corms, and tubers that are exempted from the certification requirements of the quarantine. Some modifications have been made in the names, however, principally the common names, in order to bring them into line with standard plant nomenclature.

§ 301.48–6a List of true bulbs, corms, and tubers exempted from Japanese beetle certification. Under § 301.48–6 [regulation 6 of quarantine No. 48], true bulbs, corms, and tubers are exempt from Japanese beetle certification when dormant, except for storage growth, and when free from soil. The exemption includes single dahlia tubers or small dahlia root divisions when free from stems, cavities, and soil. Dahlia tubers, other than single tubers or small root divisions meeting these conditions, require certification.

The following list of bulbs, corms, and tubers, issued effective July 20, 1942, is for the information of inspectors of the Bureau and for the use of shippers within the regulated areas. The key letter (B) before the name stands for true bulb, (C) for corm, and (T) for tuber. Plant roots of a bulbous nature not given on this list are, in most cases, fleshy rhizomes, and are therefore not exempt from certification.

CANNED FRUIT COCKTAIL, ETC.

PROPOSED DEFINITION AND STANDARD OF IDENTITY, STANDARD OF QUALITY, AND STANDARD OF FILL OF CONTAINER

Proposed Order

It is proposed that, by virtue of the authority vested in the Federal Security Administrator by the provisions of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (sec. 401, 52 Stat. 1046, 21 U.S.C. 1940 ed. 341, sec. 403 (h), 52 Stat. 1047, 21 U.S.C. 1940 ed. 343 (h), and sec. 701, 52 Stat. 1055, 21 U.S.C. 1940 ed. 371); the Reorganization Act of 1939 (53 Stat. 561–565, 5 U.S.C. 1940 ed. 133–133r); Reorganization Plans Nos. I and IV (53 Stat. 1423; 5 U.S.C. 1940 ed. Plan No. 1 and 54 Stat. 1234, 5 U.S.C. 1940 ed. Plan No. IV); and on the basis of the evidence received at the above-entitled hearings duly held pursuant to notices thereof issued by the Federal Security Administrator on December 11, 1940 (5 F.R. 4899) and April 10, 1942 (7 F.R. 2748), the following order be promulgated.

Any interested person whose appearance was filed at the hearing may, within 20 days from the date of publication of this proposed order in the FEDERAL REGISTER, file with the Hearing Clerk of the Federal Security Agency, Office of the Assistant General Counsel, Room 2242, South Building, 14th Street and Independence Avenue SW., Washington, D. C., written exceptions thereto. Exceptions shall point out with particularity the alleged errors in the proposed order, and shall contain specific references to the pages of the transcript of the testimony or to the exhibits on which each exception is based. Such exceptions may be accompanied with a memorandum or brief in support thereof.

QUALITY

Findings of Fact

1. The use of canned fruit cocktail for cocktail, salad, and dessert purposes makes an appetizing appearance a relatively important factor in its quality. (R., pp. 84, 208–9, 226, 231, 233, 315–6)[1]

2. Insofar as the appearance of canned fruit cocktail is not controlled by natural factors it is largely dependent upon the size and shape of the units of peach, pear and pineapple; upon the absence from the food of cracked or crushed grapes or grapes from which the cap stems have not been removed; upon the absence of adhering peel on the units of pear and peach; upon the freedom of the units of peach, pear, grape and cherry ingredient from blemishes; and upon the uniformity of color of the units of cherry ingredient, when artificially colored cherries are used. (R., pp. 198–9, 203–4, 205, 206–9, 231, 315–7, 318, 326, 330, 334, 337, 344–5, 350–1, 354–5, 386–7, 389)

3. Canned fruit cocktail is not of good quality when the units of peach, pear and pineapple are too large for use as a cocktail or dessert or are not of reasonably uniform shape. Such defects impair the utility and appearance of the food. The presence of an excessive number of small units tends to make the product unsightly and to increase the difficulty of heat processing, with resulting disintegration. The size and shape of grapes and of the units of the cherry ingredient are controlled by the natural dimensions of the fruits, and are not sufficiently variable to affect adversely the quality of the product. (R., pp. 105–6, 199–200, 202–3, 315–6, 318–20, 363–5, 377–83, 388)

4. Throughout the life of the product the units of peach, pear, and pineapple when diced have been diced in machines in which the cutting knives are ordinarily set at one-half inch intervals. Such machines do not always cut units to perfectly uniform size, and the heat processing results in a small amount of shrinkage in the size of the units. (R., pp. 201, 243, 251, 320–1)

5. The diced units of peach, pear and pineapple are sifted and sorted to remove those which are too large, too small, or misshapen. (R., pp. 199, 320–1)

6. When cut and sorted in the customary manner such units are usually about one-half inch in each dimension, but there are occasional units having one or more dimensions as great as three-fourths inch. There are also many units having one or more dimensions as small as five-sixteenths inch. (R., pp. 201–3, 320–1, 322–4)

7. When the units of pineapple are sectors rather than dice, they are prepared from rings as such rings are commonly cut for canning. The length and thickness of the sectors is determined by the size of the rings. (R., pp. 203–4, 326)

8. The sectors of pineapple ordinarily conform to the following dimensions: The length of the outside arc is more than ⅜ inch but is not more than ¾ inch; the thickness is more than 5/16 inch but is not more than ½ inch; the length

(measured along the radius from inside arc to outside arc) is more than ¾ inch but not more than 1¼ inch. (R., pp. 203–4)

9. It is impossible in the exercise of due care under good manufacturing practices to avoid some units of peach, pear and pineapple which fail to conform to the specifications set forth in findings 6 and 8 because of the irregularity of the natural shape of the fruits and because of the impracticability of completely efficient sorting. In addition, when the units are heated in the can, some breakage results. For these reasons a tolerance on units of peach, pear and pineapple which do not conform to such measurements is necessary. (R., pp. 199–200, 202, 204, 322–4, 326–8)

10. The experience of the fruit cocktail canning industry over a period of years demonstrates that where due care is exercised under good commercial practices, not more than 20 percent by weight of the units of peach, 20 percent by weight of the units of pear, or 20 percent by weight of the units of pineapple will fail to conform to such specifications for size. A convenient and accurate method of determining whether the diced units fall below five-sixteenths inch in edge dimensions is to determine whether they pass through the meshes of a sieve designated as five-sixteenths inch in table I of "Standard Specifications for Sieves" published March 1, 1940, in L. C. 584 of the U. S. Department of Commerce, National Bureau of Standards. (R., pp. 197–8, 199–200, 202–4, 322, 324–5, 327–30, 374–5)

11. When the units of peach, pear, and pineapple conform to such tolerance, canned fruit cocktail is of acceptable quality to consumers generally in respect of the shape and size of such units for the reason that such units are reasonably uniform in size and shape and are acceptable for the customary uses of the food. When the units do not conform to such tolerance, the food is inferior in quality and frequently would not serve the purposes for which it is bought. (R., pp. 197–8, 200–1, 231–3, 319–20, 328–9, 374–5, 385–8, 394–5)

12. Canned fruit cocktail is not of good quality when significant quantities of peel remain on the units of peach and pear since adhering peel on such units is unsightly and unpleasant to eat. (R., pp. 206–8, 231–3, 317, 337, 391)

13. Peach peel and pear peel are ordinarily easily removed in their entirety in the preparation of the units of fruit for canning. (R., pp. 338–40, 371–2)

14. Occasionally, even when due care is exercised under good manufacturing practices, some adhering peel will escape attention in the hand-sorting of the units and for this reason a tolerance on adhering peel is necessary. (R., pp. 339–40)

15. The experience of the industry demonstrates that a reasonable tolerance for adhering peel on the units of peach and pear in canned fruit cocktail which can be met by the exercise of due care under good manufacturing practices, is not more than one square inch for each pound of such fruit. For the purpose of applying this tolerance, the weight of such units of peach or pear is computed as that proportion of the weight of the net contents of the container which the weight of such drained units bears to the total weight of fruit drained from the container. (R., pp. 206–9, 341–4, 372–3, 374–5)

16. When the units of peach and pear conform to such tolerance on adhering peel canned fruit cocktail is of acceptable quality to consumers generally in respect of freedom from adhering peel for the reason that such units are relatively free from peel, and are acceptable for the customary uses of the food. When the units do not conform to such tolerance the food is inferior in quality and frequently would not serve the purposes for which it is bought. (R., pp. 206, 209, 231–2, 341–2, 374–5, 391, 394–5)

17. When the units of peach, pear, grape and the cherry ingredient are blemished with scab, hail injury, scar tissue, discoloration, or other abnormalities, they are unappetizing and canned fruit cocktail containing them is not of good quality. Freedom from a substantial quantity of such blemished units is a significant factor in consumers' preference among canned fruit cocktails. Blemishes on pineapple are not a significant occurrence in the canning of canned fruit cocktail. (R., pp. 231–2, 344–5, 347–8, 350–1, 367–8, 392)

18. Some peaches, pears, grapes and cherries are so blemished in their natural condition. Such blemished fruits are ordinarily removed by hand-sorting both by the producer of the fruit and the fruit cocktail manufacturer, but removal cannot be accomplished with absolute efficiency. For this reason a tolerance on blemished units of peach, pear, grape and the cherry ingredient is necessary. (R., pp. 215–17, 345–6, 348–9, 350–2)

19. The experience of the industry has demonstrated that a tolerance of 20 percent of blemished units of peaches, pears or grapes and of 15 percent of blemished units of the cherry ingredient is a reasonable tolerance for canned fruit cocktail which can be met by the exercise of due care under good manufacturing practices. (R., pp. 216–17, 346–7, 349–50, 352–3, 368–70, 374–5)

20. When the units of peach, pear, grape and the cherry ingredient conform to such tolerance on blemished units, canned fruit cocktail is of acceptable quality to consumers generally in respect of freedom from blemishes on such units for the reason that such units are relatively free from blemishes and are acceptable for the customary uses of the food. When the units do not conform to such tolerance, the food is inferior in quality and frequently would not serve the purposes for which it is bought. (R., pp. 206–8, 231–2, 346–7, 353, 374–5, 392, 394–5)

21. When the grapes in canned fruit cocktail are crushed or cracked to the extent of being severed into two parts, the canned fruit cocktail is unsightly and unappetizing. Freedom from such grapes is a significant factor in consumers' preferences among canned fruit cocktails. (R., pp. 231–2, 317–8, 330–2, 389–90)

22. If not carefully handled mature grapes crush easily. Such crushed grapes are ordinarily segregated and discarded, along with grapes which are so cracked, prior to the time they are placed in the can. In the hand-sorting of the fruit, however, some crushed grapes escape attention. Heat-processing of canned fruit cocktail so as to prevent spoilage unavoidably cracks some of the grapes into two parts after they are packed in the container. For these reasons a tolerance on crushed grapes and grapes so cracked is necessary. (R., pp. 204–5, 332–3)

23. The experience of the industry has demonstrated that by the exercise of due care under good manufacturing practices not more than 10 percent of the grapes in the finished canned fruit cocktail are cracked to the extent of being severed into two parts or crushed to the extent that their normal shape is destroyed, and that a tolerance of 10 percent of such cracked and crushed grapes is a reasonable tolerance on such grapes for canned fruit cocktail. (R., pp. 204–5, 333–4, 374–5)

24. When the units of grape conform to such tolerance the canned fruit cocktail is of acceptable quality to consumers generally in respect of freedom from crushed and cracked grapes for the reason that the food is reasonably free from cracked or crushed grapes and is acceptable for the customary uses of canned fruit cocktail. When the units do not conform to such tolerance the food is inferior in quality and frequently would not serve the purposes for which it is bought. (R., pp. 204, 231–2, 317–8, 330, 374–5, 389–90, 394–5)

25. Grapes are attached by a small cap stem to the larger stem of an entire bunch. When a grape is removed from the bunch, the cap stem frequently remains attached to the grape. Such stems are inedible and unsightly and their presence is a significant factor in consumers' preference among canned fruit cocktails. (R., pp. 205–6, 317–8, 334)

26. Canned fruit cocktail which contains any significant quantity of grapes with attached cap stems is not of good quality. (R., pp. 205–6, 317–8, 334)

27. It is the practice in the industry to remove such cap stems by the use of a stemming machine, followed by inspection and hand removal. Even under careful supervision such operation involves occasional oversights which make a tolerance on attached cap stems necessary. (R., pp. 205, 334–5)

28. The experience of the industry demonstrates that by the exercise of due care under good manufacturing practices, not more than 10 percent of the grapes in the finished canned fruit cocktail have their cap stems attached, and that a tolerance of 10 percent of grapes with attached cap stems is a reasonable tolerance on such grapes for canned fruit cocktail. (R., pp. 205–6, 335, 374–5)

29. When the grapes conform to such tolerance on attached cap stems canned fruit cocktail is of acceptable quality to consumers generally in respect of freedom from grapes with attached cap stems for the reason that it is reasonably free from cap stems and is acceptable for all the customary uses of fruit cocktail. When it does not conform to such tolerance the food is inferior in quality and frequently would not serve the purposes for which it is bought. (R., pp. 205–6, 317–8, 335–6, 374–5, 394–5)

30. If the units of cherry ingredient in canned fruit cocktail are artificially colored and each unit is not evenly colored, the appearance of the canned fruit cocktail is impaired and its desirability is lessened. Uniformity of distribution of color on each unit of the cherry ingredient is a significant factor in consumers' preference among fruit cocktails. (R., pp. 208, 354–5, 393)

31. Artificial coloring does not contribute the same intensity of color to all cherries and for this reason a tolerance on cherries other than uniformly red in color is necessary. (R., pp. 355–7, 370)

32. Under normal canning operations not more than 15 percent of the cherries remaining after they have been hand-graded are other than uniformly red in color, and a tolerance of 15 percent is a reasonable tolerance on artificially colored cherries other than uniformly red in color. (R., pp. 208, 357–8, 373–4, 374–5)

33. When the artificially colored cherry ingredient conforms to such tolerance canned fruit cocktail is of acceptable quality to consumers generally because its appearance is not materially impaired. When it does not conform to such tolerance it is inferior in quality. (R., pp. 354–5, 358, 374–5, 393, 394–5)

34. When canned fruit cocktail falls below standard in quality in any respect, a statement on the label as follows: "Below Standard in quality. Good Food—Not high grade", is a simple, informative and adequate statement of that fact. Because the food is a mixture of several fruits it is not practicable to state on the label in what particular the food falls below standard in quality. Such statement serves its purpose when it appears on the label in the following manner and form:

The statement "Below Standard in Quality Good Food—Not High Grade" is printed in two lines of Cheltenham bold condensed caps. The words "Below Standard in Quality" constitute the first line, and the second immediately follows. If the quantity of the contents of the container is less than 1 pound, the type of the first line is 12-point, and of the second, 8-point. If such quantity is 1 pound or more, the type of the first line is 14-point, and of the second 10-point. Such statement is enclosed within lines, not less than 6 points in width, forming a rectangle. Such statement with enclosing lines, is on a strongly contrasting, uniform background, and is so placed as to be easily seen when the name of the food or any pictorial representation thereof is viewed, wherever such name or representation appears so conspicuously as to be easily seen under customary conditions of purchase. (R., pp. 209–10, 217–21, 223, 360, 397–8)

Upon the basis of the foregoing detailed findings of fact, it is found that the promulgation of the following regulation fixing and establishing a standard of quality for canned fruit cocktail, canned cocktail fruits, canned fruits for cocktail, and specifying the manner and form of a label statement of substandard quality, will promote honesty and fair dealing in the interest of consumers; and that it gives consideration to and makes due allowance for the differing characteristics of the several varieties of the fruits present in canned fruit cocktail.

Regulation

§ 27.041 Canned fruit cocktail, canned cocktail fruits, canned fruits for cocktail—Quality; label statement of substandard quality. (a) The standard of quality for canned fruit cocktail is as follows:

(1) Not more than 20 percent by weight of the units in the container of peach or pear, or of pineapple if the units thereof are diced, are more than ¾ inch in greatest edge dimension, or pass through the meshes of a sieve designated as 5/16 inch in Table I of "Standard Specifications for Sieves," published March 1, 1940, in L. C. 584 of the National Bureau of Standards, U. S. Department of Commerce. If the units of pineapple are in the form of sectors, not more than 20 percent of such sectors in the container fail to conform to the following dimensions: The length of the outside arc is not more than ¾ inch but is more than ⅜ inch; the thickness is not more than ½ inch but is more than 5/16 inch; the length (measured along the radius from the inside arc to the outside arc) is not more than 1¼ inches but is more than ¾ inch.

(2) Not more than 10 percent of the grapes in a container containing ten grapes or more, and not more than one grape in a container containing less than ten grapes, is cracked to the extent of being severed into two parts or is crushed to the extent that their normal shape is destroyed.

(3) Not more than 10 percent of the grapes in a container containing ten grapes or more, and not more than one grape in a container containing less than ten grapes, has the cap stem attached.

(4) There is present in the finished canned fruit cocktail not more than one square inch of pear peel per each one pound of drained weight of units of pear plus the weight of a proportion of the packing medium which is the same proportion as the drained weight of the units of pear bears to the drained weight of the entire contents of the can. Such drained weights shall be determined by the method prescribed in § 27.042.

(5) There is present in the finished canned fruit cocktail not more than one square inch of peach peel per each one pound of drained weight of units of peach plus the weight of a proportion of the packing medium which is the same proportion as the drained weight of units of peach bears to the drained weight of the entire contents of the can. Such drained weights shall be determined by the method prescribed in § 27.042.

(6) Not more than 15 percent of the units of cherry ingredient, and not more than 20 percent of the units of peach, pear, or grape, in the container is blemished with scab, hail injury, scar tissue or other abnormality.

(7) If the cherry ingredient is artificially colored, the color of not more than 15 percent of the units thereof in a container containing more than six units, and of not more than one unit in a container containing six units or less, is other than evenly distributed in the unit or other than uniform with the color of the other units of the cherry ingredient.

(b) If the quality of canned fruit cocktail falls below the standard prescribed in paragraph (a) of this section, the label shall bear the general statement of substandard quality specified in § 10.020 (a), in the manner and form therein specified.

FILL OF CONTAINER

Findings of Fact

1. Canned fruit cocktail is purchased and used by consumers primarily for its fruit content although the liquid present is a necessary and valuable adjunct; and the quantity of fruit units present is a significant factor in consumers' preference among canned fruit cocktails. (R., pp. 242, 252–3)

2. The maximum quantity of fruit units which can be placed in each size of container is limited by the undesirable effects of forcing too large a quantity of fruit units into the container. Such undesirable effects are that when the quantity of fruit units present is too large, the quantity of liquid present must be so limited that the length of time required for heat-processing would be unduly extended, and this excessive processing would frequently disintegrate the units of fruit and would often damage their flavor and color. In addition sufficient space for enough liquid adequately to sweeten the fruit cocktail would not be available in the case of sweetened canned fruit cocktails. (R., pp. 242–3, 253–4)

3. A quantity of fruit units which may be placed in the container under all ordinary circumstances without detrimental effect on the fruit is such quantity as results in a drained weight of units of fruit of not less than 65 percent by weight of the water capacity of the container. Such quantity represents the amount of fruit by weight which experienced producers regard as the maximum quantity of fruit which can always be present, upon the basis of observation and test of a large number of cans of fruit cocktail. (R., pp. 241, 242–3, 249, 250–4)

4. The weight of water which a container will hold is a convenient method of specifying the capacity of the container and is well-known to canners generally. The method for determining the water capacity of containers prescribed in § 10.010 (a) of the general regulations under the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act, as follows, gives accurate, reliable and uniform results under all conditions:

(1) In the case of a container with lid attached by double seam, cut out the lid without removing or altering the height of the double seam.

(2) Wash, dry, and weigh the empty container.

(3) Fill the container with distilled water at 68° Fahrenheit to 7/8 inch vertical distance below the top level of the container, and weigh the container thus filled.

(4) Subtract the weight found in (2) from the weight found in (3). The difference shall be considered to be the weight of water required to fill the container.

In the case of a container with lid attached otherwise than by double seam, remove the lid and proceed as directed in clauses (2) to (4) inclusive, except that under clause (3) fill the container to the level of the top thereof. (R., pp. 243–4, 248–9, 261–2)

5. In order that uniform determinations may be made it is necessary that a fixed method for determining the weight of fruit present be prescribed. A method which gives accurate, uniform, and reliable results under all normal conditions, and which is well-known to canners generally is as follows:

Tilt the opened container so as to distribute the contents evenly over the meshes of a circular sieve which has been previously weighed. The diameter of the sieve is 8 inches if the quantity of contents of the container is less than 3 pounds, and 12 inches if such quantity is 3 pounds or more. The bottom of the sieve is woven-wire cloth which complies with the specifications for such cloth set forth under "2380 Micron (No. 8)" in Table 1 of "Standard Specifications for Sieves", published March 1, 1940, in L. C. 584 of the U. S. Department of Commerce, National Bureau of Standards. Without shifting the material on the sieve, so incline the sieve as to facilitate drainage. Two minutes from the time drainage begins, weigh the sieve and drained fruit. The weight so found, less the weight of the sieve, shall be considered to be the total weight of drained fruit. (R., pp. 239–41, 254–5)

6. Containers of canned fruit cocktail which contain fruit units in a quantity less than 65 percent by weight of the water capacities of the containers, as determined by the foregoing methods, are not so filled as to promote honesty and fair dealing in the interest of consumers in the absence of a label statement that they are below standard in fill. (R., pp. 249–50)

7. When canned fruit cocktail is below standard in fill of container the statement on the label, "Below Standard in Fill" is a simple, understandable, and adequate statement of that fact when appearing on the label in the following manner and form:

The statement "Below Standard in Fill" is printed in Cheltenham bold condensed caps. If the quantity of the contents of the container is less than 1 pound, the statement is in 12-point type; if such quantity is 1 pound or more, the statement is in 14-point type. Such statement is enclosed within lines, not less than 6 points in width, forming a rectangle. Such statement with enclosing lines, is on a strongly contrasting, uniform background, and are so placed as to be easily seen when the name of the food or any pictorial representation thereof is viewed, wherever such name or representation appears so conspicuously as to be easily seen under customary conditions of purchase. (R., pp. 361–3)

Upon the basis of the foregoing detailed findings of fact it is found that the promulgation of the following regulation fixing and establishing a standard of fill of container for canned fruit cocktail, canned cocktail fruits, canned fruit for cocktail, and specifying the manner and form of a label statement of substandard fill of container will promote honesty and fair dealing in the interest of consumers.

Regulation

§ 27.042 Canned fruit cocktail, canned cocktail fruits, canned fruits for cocktail—Fill of container; label statement of substandard fill. (a) The standard of fill of container for canned fruit cocktail is a fill such that the total weight of drained fruit is not less than 65 percent of the water capacity of the container, as determined by the general method for water capacity of containers prescribed in § 10.010 (a). Such total weight of drained fruit is determined by the following method:

Tilt the opened container so as to distribute the contents evenly over the meshes of a circular sieve which has been previously weighed. The diameter of the sieve is 8 inches if the quantity of contents of the container is less than 3 pounds, and 12 inches if such quantity is 3 pounds or more. The bottom of the sieve is woven-wire cloth which complies with the specifications for such cloth set forth under "2380 Micron (No. 8)" in Table I of "Standard Specifications for Sieves," published March 1, 1940, in L. C. 584 of the U. S. Department of Commerce, National Bureau of Standards. Without shifting the material on the sieve, so incline the sieve as to facilitate drainage. Two minutes from the time drainage begins, weigh the sieve and drained fruit. The weight so found, less the weight of the sieve, shall be considered to be the total weight of drained fruit.

(b) If canned fruit cocktail falls below the standard of fill of container prescribed in paragraph (a) of this section, the label shall bear the general statement of substandard fill specified in § 10.020 (b), in the manner and form therein prescribed.

(b) Eligible soybeans for loans. Soybeans eligible for loans must be stored on farms and shall be any class grading No. 3 or better with respect to factors other than moisture and having a moisture content not in excess of 14 percent, which were produced in 1942, the beneficial interest to which is and always has been with the eligible producer, except that soybeans grading weevily or which are musty, sour, heating, or have any objectionable foreign odor, shall not be eligible soybeans for loan.

(c) Eligible soybeans for purchase. Soybeans eligible for purchase stored in or delivered to an approved warehouse shall be soybeans grading No. 4 or better which were produced in 1942, the beneficial interest to which is and always has been in the eligible producer, except that soybeans which grade weevily, or which are musty, sour, heating, or have any commercially objectionable foreign odor shall not be eligible for purchase.

(d) Lending agency. Any bank, cooperative marketing association, or other corporation, partnership, or person which has executed a Contract to Purchase (1940 C. C. C. Form E) and filed such contract with a regional office of Commodity Credit Corporation.

(e) High, medium, and low oil content. High oil content soybeans of classes I and II are soybeans which are classified as classes I and II under the Official Grain Standards of the United States for soybeans and which have a fat content of not less than 17½ percent on a 10 percent moisture basis. All soybeans of varieties approved by the State War Board of U. S. classes I and II (yellow and green) produced in the High Oil Content Area shall be deemed to be high oil content soybeans. The High Oil Content Area is comprised of the States of North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas, Missouri, Kentucky, West Virginia, Maryland, Delaware, and all States north and east thereof: Provided, That: (1) there shall be excluded from such area any county in any State described above if it is determined on the basis of representative samples of classes I and II (yellow and green) soybeans that the soybeans generally grown in such county have a fat content less than 17½ percent on a 10 percent moisture basis; and (2) there shall be included in such area any county in any State not enumerated above if it is determined on the basis of representative samples of classes I and II (yellow and green) soybeans that the soybeans of such classes generally grown in such county have a fat content of not less than 17½ percent on a 10 percent moisture basis.

Medium oil content soybeans of classes I and II shall be soybeans which are classified as classes I and II under the Official Grain Standards of the United States for soybeans and which have a fat content of less than 17½ percent on a 10 percent moisture basis. All soybeans of classes I and II produced in areas other than the High Oil Content Area as defined above shall, in the absence of proof to the contrary, be deemed to be medium oil content soybeans.

High oil content soybeans of classes III, IV, and V (brown, black, and mixed) shall be soybeans which are classified as classes III, IV, and V under the Official Grain Standards of the United States for soybeans and which have a fat content of not less than 17½ percent on a 10 percent moisture basis.

Low oil content soybeans of classes III, IV, and V (brown, black, and mixed) shall be soybeans which are classified as classes III, IV, and V under the Official Grain Standards of the United States for soybeans and which have a fat content of less than 17½ percent on a 10 percent moisture basis. All soybeans of classes III, IV, and V produced in the United States shall, in the absence of proof to the contrary, be deemed to be low oil content soybeans unless grown in a county as to which it is determined on a basis of representative samples of classes III, IV, and V that soybeans of such classes generally grown in such county have a fat content of not less than 17½ percent on a 10 percent moisture basis, in which case the soybeans shall be deemed to be high oil content soybeans.

§ 230.2 Loans—(a) Amount. The basic loan values for No. 1 and No. 2 soybeans shall be in accordance with the following schedules:

(1) Soybeans of classes I and II (green and yellow):

(i) $1.65 per bushel for high oil content.

(ii) $1.55 per bushel for medium oil content.

(2) Soybeans of classes III, IV, and V (brown, black, and mixed):

(i) $1.55 per bushel for high oil content.

(ii) $1.45 per bushel for low oil content.

(3) Soybeans of any class grading No. 3 with respect to factors other than moisture and having not more than 14 percent moisture shall be discounted 3 cents per bushel below the basic loan value for No. 1 or No. 2.

(b) Maturity and interest. Loans on eligible soybeans will be available after the 1942 harvest begins and through March 31, 1943. Loans will mature on demand, but not later than June 30, 1943. Consent for storage of the soybeans on the farm until September 1, 1943, will be required. The loan rate includes a 5-cent per bushel storage allowance which may be retained by the borrower if the soybeans are delivered to Commodity Credit Corporation in payment of the loan at maturity or prior thereto if payment is demanded for a reason other than damage to the collateral or misrepresentation by the borrower. If delivery is made prior to maturity due to damage or threatened damage to the collateral the producer shall refund to the Corporation an amount equal to ½ cent per bushel per month for each month or fraction thereof he fails to store the beans, to June 30, 1943, not to exceed a total of 5 cents per bushel. Loans will be made on a note and chattel mortgage basis, using C.C.C. Grain Form A (Revised) (note) and C.C.C. Grain Form AA (Revised) (chattel mortgage).

(c) Determination of quantity of soybeans. Loans shall be made at values expressed in cents per bushel, a bushel being determined to be 60 pounds when determined by weight or 1.25 cubic feet of soybeans testing 60 pounds per bushel when determined by measurement. In determining the quantity of soybeans stored by measurement, fractional pounds of the test weight per bushel for soybeans testing less than 60 pounds will be disregarded, and the quantity determined by measurement shall be adjusted by the following respective percentages:

For soybeans testing—	Percent
60 pounds or over	100
59 pounds or over, but less than 60 pounds	98
58 pounds or over, but less than 59 pounds	97
57 pounds or over, but less than 58 pounds	95
For soybeans testing—	Percent
56 pounds or over, but less than 57 pounds	93
55 pounds or over, but less than 56 pounds	92
54 pounds or over, but less than 55 pounds	90
53 pounds or over, but less than 54 pounds	88
52 pounds or over, but less than 53 pounds	87

(d) Farm storage. Soybeans shall have been stored in the granary for a reasonable period, determined by the county committee, prior to inspection for measurement, sampling, and sealing. In accordance with regulations issued by the Secretary of Agriculture, the State and county agricultural conservation committees will inspect and approve storage facilities and will arrange for measuring, sampling, grading, and sealing the soybean collateral in approved structures. Chattel mortgages covering farm-stored soybeans must be executed and filed in accordance with the applicable State law. Producers should obtain information and assistance from the county agricultural conservation committees in regard to the execution and filing of such chattel mortgages. Where the borrower is a tenant, the expiration date of the lease must be given in the chattel mortgage and if such date is prior to September 1, 1943, the landlord must execute the Consent for Storage in the chattel mortgage. The Consent for Storage agreement must also be executed by any other party or parties entitled to possession prior to September 1, 1943. Each producer must designate in the chattel mortgage a shipping point reasonably convenient for the delivery of the soybeans as determined by the county committee. A separate note and chattel mortgage must be submitted for soybeans stored on each quarter section of land.

(e) Source of loans. Loans may be obtained through banks and other lending agencies as defined in § 230.1 hereof, or direct from the Commodity Credit Corporation.

(f) Purchase of loans. Commodity Credit Corporation will purchase without recourse, notes evidencing loans only from lending agencies which have executed and delivered to a regional office of Commodity Credit Corporation, Contract to Purchase, 1940 C.C.C. Form E. Notes held by lending agencies must be tendered to the Commodity Credit Corporation for immediate or deferred purchase within 10 days of written request or at least 10 days prior to maturity in the absence of written demand. The purchase price to be paid by Commodity Credit Corporation for notes accepted will be the outstanding face amount of such notes, plus accrued interest from the date of disbursement by the lending agency to the date of payment of the purchase price at the rate of 1½ percent per annum. Under the terms of the Contract to Purchase, lending agencies are required to report weekly on 1940 C.C.C. Form F all repayments or collections on producers' notes held by them and to remit with such report to the office of Commodity Credit Corporation, an amount equivalent to 1½ percent per annum on the principal amount collected from the date of disbursement by the lending agency to the date of repayment.

(g) Release of collateral. A borrower may obtain the return of his note and redeem the collateral at any time prior to delivery of the collateral to Commodity Credit Corporation, upon payment of the principal amount due thereon, plus accrued interest. Borrowers may repay directly notes that are held by lending agencies or if the notes are held by Commodity Credit Corporation, they may request that notes be forwarded to a local bank for collection, or remit an amount sufficient to pay the outstanding principal and interest. Partial payment of a note and partial release of collateral may be arranged with the county agricultural conservation committee.

§ 230.3 Purchases—(a) Amount. The basic price to be paid for No. 1 and No. 2 soybeans shall be in accordance with the following schedule:

(1) Soybeans of classes I and II (green and yellow):

(i) $1.60 per bushel for high oil content.

(ii) $1.50 per bushel for medium oil content.

(2) Soybeans of classes III, IV, and V (brown, black, and mixed):

(i) $1.50 per bushel for high oil content.

(ii) $1.40 per bushel for low oil content.

(3) The following schedule of discounts shall be applicable to soybeans grading lower than No. 2:

(i) Test weight—½ cent per bushel for each pound or fraction thereof under 54 pounds;

(ii) Moisture—1½ cents per bushel for each ½ percent moisture in excess of 14 percent, moisture readings to be rounded to the nearest ½ percent;

(iii) Splits—¼ cent per bushel for each 5 percent or fraction thereof in excess of 15 percent;

(iv) Damage—1 cent per bushel for each 1 percent or fraction thereof in excess of 3 percent, but not in excess of 5 percent, plus 2 cents for each 1 percent or fraction thereof in excess of 5 percent;

(v) Foreign material other than dockage—1½ cents per bushel for each 1 percent in excess of 2 percent.

(b) Place of purchase and period available. Purchases of eligible soybeans placed in storage in an approved warehouse or delivered to a designated point for shipment will be made at any time after harvest and through June 30, 1943. The rates established apply to a 60-pound bushel of soybeans free from dockage. Lists of approved warehouses and approved points of delivery shall be obtainable from county agricultural conservation committees.

(c) Source of purchases. Purchases will be made pursuant to C.C.C. Purchase Form B, Memorandum of Purchase, which must be executed by the producer and approved by a member of the county agricultural conservation committee or other designated person. Memorandums of purchase will be forwarded by agricultural conservation committee to the regional office of Commodity Credit Corporation for approval and payment.

§ 230.4 General—(a) Liens. Soybeans offered as collateral or for purchase must be free and clear of all liens except in favor of the lienholders listed in the space provided therefor in the chattel mortgage or the memorandum of purchase. The names of all existing lienholders such as landlord, laborers, threshers, or mortgagees must be listed in the space provided therefor in the mortgage or memorandum of purchase. The waiver and consent to sell or mortgage the soybeans and payment of the proceeds to the producer as contained in the mortgage or purchase memorandum must be signed personally by all lienholders listed or by their duly authorized agents; or, if corporation, by an officer thereof customarily authorized to execute such instruments. Waivers of lienholders may be executed on separate instruments if complete identification of the commodity and the producer is shown.

(b) County agricultural conservation committees. Local county agricultural conservation committees will administer the loan and purchase program within a county and will determine eligibility of producers and soybeans. All loan and purchase forms will be obtainable from offices of county committees and must be approved by the committee prior to disbursement of proceeds. A service fee in connection with each loan will be collected by the county committee to cover the expenses incurred in the operation of the program.

(c) Regional office of Commodity Credit Corporation. The regional office of Commodity Credit Corporation, 208 South La Salle Street, Chicago, Illinois, will handle all soybean loans for the Corporation. All direct loans and memorandums of purchase should be forwarded to such office for disbursement. In submitting reports of repayments or soybean notes for purchase, lending agencies should address the regional office at Chicago only.

PART 3004—LITHIUM COMPOUNDS

[General Preference Order M-191]

The fulfillment of requirements for the defense of the United States has created a shortage in the supply of lithium compounds for defense, for private account and for export; and the following order is deemed necessary and appropriate in the public interest and to promote the national defense:

§ 3004.1 General Preference Order M–191—(a) Definitions. (1) "Lithium compounds" means all salts of the element lithium except crude lithium sodium phosphate and in addition includes lithium metal, lithium hydride, and lithium hydroxide. The term does not include lithium bearing ores;

(2) "Producer" means any person engaged in the production of lithium compounds and includes any person who has any such compound produced for him pursuant to toll agreement;

(3) "Distributor" means any person who purchases or has purchased lithium compounds for resale as such.

(b) Restrictions on deliveries. (1) On and after September 1, 1942, no producer or distributor, except as provided in paragraph (b) (3) hereof, shall make delivery of lithium compounds to any person unless and until he shall have been authorized to do so by the Director General for Operations; and no person shall accept delivery of lithium compounds if such delivery would be in violation hereof. Prior to the beginning of each calendar month beginning with September, 1942, the Director General for Operations will issue to all producers and directly or indirectly to all distributors specific authorizations or directions covering deliveries of lithium compounds which may or must be made by such producer or distributor during such month, and he may also during any month, including July and August, 1942, issue such other authorizations or directions as he may deem appropriate or necessary, either with respect to deliveries to be made or with respect to use or uses to which material to be delivered or then on hand is to be put or not to be put. Each producer or distributor, upon being informed of the deliveries which such Director has authorized or directed, shall forthwith notify each of his customers affected thereby.

(2) In the event that any producer or distributor, after receiving notice from the Director General for Operations with respect to a delivery of lithium compounds which he is authorized to make during any month, shall be unable to make such delivery, whether because of receipt of notice of cancellation from his customer or otherwise, such producer or distributor shall forthwith give notice of such fact to the Chemicals Branch of the War Production Board, and shall not in the absence of specific authorization from the Director General for Operations resell or otherwise dispose of the lithium compounds which he is unable to deliver as aforesaid.

(3) This paragraph (b) shall not prevent the delivery to, or acceptance of delivery by, any person in any calendar month of lithium compounds in a quantity of twenty-five lbs. or less, in terms of lithium oxide equivalent.

(c) Placing of orders and scheduling of deliveries. (1) Every person who seeks delivery of lithium compounds in any month in a quantity in excess of twenty-five lbs., in terms of lithium oxide equivalent, whether for own use or resale, shall place his order with his supplier for his requirements for each calendar month, commencing with September, 1942, and shall submit with his order Form PD–585, properly executed by him. Where such supplier is a distributor, such order and Form PD–585 shall be filed with such distributor on or before the 10th day of the month preceding the month in which delivery is sought, and such Form PD–585 shall be filed in triplicate. Where such supplier is a producer, such order and Form PD–585 shall be filed with such producer on or before the 15th day of such preceding month and such Form PD–585 shall be filed in duplicate. Where the order filed with a producer is the order of a distributor, the distributor must file with the producer in addition to his own Form PD–585, in duplicate, the original and one copy of each Form PD–585 filed with him pursuant to this paragraph (c) (1) by each customer of his.

(2) Each producer of lithium compounds shall, on or before the 20th day of each month file with the Chemicals Branch of the War Production Board, Washington, D. C., Form PD–586 (in triplicate), properly executed, which shall list among other things a schedule of deliveries of lithium compounds which such producer proposes to make in the succeeding month. The original of each Form PD–586 shall be accompanied by the original of each Form PD–585 submitted to the producer by each customer of his. After such forms have been filed with such Chemicals Branch, any material change of circumstances or matters occurring thereafter pertaining to said Form PD–586 shall forthwith be reported to such Chemicals Branch.

(d) Miscellaneous provisions—(1) Records. All persons affected by this order shall keep and preserve for not less than two years accurate and complete records concerning inventories, production and sales.

(2) Audit and inspection. All records required to be kept by this order shall, upon request, be submitted to audit and inspection by duly authorized representatives of the War Production Board.

(3) Notification of customers. Producers and distributors shall, as soon as practicable, notify each of their regular customers of the requirements of this order, but failure to give such notice shall not excuse any person from the obligation of complying with the terms of this order.

(4) Applicability of Priorities Regulation No. 1. This order and all transactions affected thereby are subject to the provisions of Priorities Regulation No. 1 (Part 944), as amended from time to time, except to the extent that any provision hereof may be inconsistent therewith, in which case the provisions of this order shall govern.

(5) Communications to War Production Board. All reports required to be filed hereunder, and all communications concerning this order, shall, unless otherwise directed, be addressed to: War Production Board, Chemicals Branch, Washington, D. C.—Ref.: M–191.

(6) Violations or false statements. Any person who wilfully violates any provisions of this order or who in connection with this order wilfully conceals a material fact or furnishes false information to any department or agency of the United States, is guilty of a crime, and upon conviction may be punished by fine or imprisonment. In addition, any such person may be prohibited from making or obtaining further deliveries of, or from processing or using material under priority control and may be deprived of priorities assistance. PART 1385—NAVAL STORES

PINE OIL

In the judgment of the Price Administrator the prices of pine oil have risen to an extent and in a manner inconsistent with the purposes of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942. The Price Administrator has ascertained and given due consideration to the prices of pine oil prevailing between October 1 and October 15, 1941, and has made adjustments for such relevant factors as he has determined and deemed to be of general applicability. So far as practicable, the Price Administrator has advised and consulted with representative members of the industry which will be affected by this Regulation

In the judgment of the Price Administrator the maximum prices established by this Regulation are and will be generally fair and equitable and will effectuate the purposes of said Act. A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this Regulation has been issued simultaneously herewith and has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.

§ 1385.1 Prohibition against dealing in pine oil at prices higher than maximum prices. On and after July 18, 1942, regardless of any contract, agreement, lease, or other obligation, no person shall sell or deliver pine oil and no person shall buy or receive pine oil in the course of trade or business at prices higher than the maximum prices set forth in Appendix A hereof, incorporated herein as § 1385.13, and no person shall agree, offer, solicit or attempt to do any of the foregoing. The provisions of this section shall not be applicable to sales or deliveries of pine oil to a purchaser if prior to July 18, 1942, such pine oil had been received by a carrier, other than a carrier owned or controlled by the seller, for shipment to such purchaser.

§ 1385.2 Less than maximum prices. Lower prices than those set forth in Appendix A hereof (§ 1385.11) may be charged, demanded, paid or offered.

§ 1385.3 Adjustable pricing. Any person may offer or agree to adjust or fix prices to or at prices not in excess of the maximum prices in effect at the time of delivery. In an appropriate situation where a petition for amendment or for adjustment or exception requires extended consideration, the Administrator may, upon application, grant permission to agree to adjust prices upon deliveries made during the pendency of the petition in accordance with the disposition of the petition.

§ 1385.4 General Maximum Price Regulation.[2] The provisions of this Maximum Price Regulation No. 179 supersede the provisions of the General Maximum Price Regulation with respect to sales and deliveries for which maximum prices are established by this Regulation: Provided, however, That nothing herein contained shall be construed to authorize any person to charge for pine oil any price in excess of the price for such pine oil as determined under § 1499.2 of the General Maximum Price Regulation (§ 1499.1 through § 1499.25) issued on April 28, 1942.

§ 1385.5 Federal and state taxes. Any tax upon, or incident to the sale, delivery, processing, or use of pine oil imposed by any statute of the United States or statute or ordinance of any state or subdivision thereof, shall be treated as follows in determining the seller's maximum price for such pine oil and in preparing the records of such seller with respect thereto:

(2) In all other cases, if, at the time the seller determines his maximum price, the statute or ordinance imposing such tax does not prohibit the seller from stating and collecting the tax separately from the purchase price, and the seller does state it separately, the seller may collect, in addition to the maximum price, the amount of the tax actually paid by him or an amount equal to the amount of tax paid by any prior vendor and separately stated and collected from the seller by the vendor from whom he purchased, and in such case the seller shall not include such amount in determining the maximum price under this Maximum Price Regulation No. 179.

(b) As to a tax or increase in a tax which becomes effective after March 31, 1942. If the statute or ordinance imposing such tax or increase does not prohibit the seller from stating and collecting the tax or increase separately from the purchase price, and the seller does separately state it, the seller may collect, in addition to the maximum price, the amount of the tax or increase actually paid by him or an amount equal to the amount of tax paid by any prior vendor and separately stated and collected from the seller by the vendor from whom he purchased.

§ 1385.6 Evasion. Price limitations set forth in this Maximum Price Regulation No. 179 shall not be evaded, whether by direct or indirect methods, in connection with any offer, solicitation, agreement, sale, delivery, purchase or receipt of or relating to pine oil, alone or in conjunction with any other commodity or by way of commission, service transportation, or other charge, or discount, premium or other privilege, or by tying agreement or other trade understanding or otherwise.

§ 1385.7 Records and reports. (a) Every person making sales of pine oil after July 17, 1942, shall keep for inspection by Office of Price Administration for a period of not less than one year, complete and accurate records of each such purchase or resale, showing the date thereof, the name and address of the buyer, and the seller, the price contracted for or received and the quantity of each type and grade of such pine oil purchased or sold.

(b) Such persons shall submit such reports to the Office of Price Administration and keep such other records in addition to or in place of the records required in paragraph (a) of this section, as the Office of Price Administration may, from time to time, require.

purchasers or kinds of purchasers (for example, manufacturer, wholesaler, jobber, retailer, government agency, public institution, individual consumer) or for purchasers located in different areas or for different quantities or under different conditions of sale.

(5) "Most closely competitive seller of the same class". "Seller of the same class" means a seller (i) performing the same function (for example, manufacturing, distributing, retailing, processing, storing, installing, or repairing), (ii) of similar type (for example, department store, mail order house, chain store, specialty shop, cut-rate store), (iii) dealing in the same type of commodities or services, and (iv) selling to the same class of purchaser. A seller's "most closely competitive seller of the same class" shall be a seller of the same class who (a) is selling the same or a similar commodity or service, and (b) is closely competitive in the sale of such commodities or services, and (c) is located nearest to the seller.

(6) "Offering price" means the price quoted in the seller's price list, or, if he had no such price list, the price which he regularly quoted in any other manner. But "offering price" shall not include a price intended to withhold a commodity from the market, or a price offered as a bargaining price by a seller who usually sells at a price lower than his asking price.

(7) "Producer" means a person who manufactures color pigments.

(b) Unless the context otherwise requires the definitions set forth in section 302 of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942 shall apply to other terms used in this Maximum Price Regulation No. 180.

§ 1415.12 Effective date. This Maximum Price Regulation No. 180 (§§ 1415.1 to 1415.13, inclusive) shall become effective as of May 11, 1942.

(1) Dry colors, full strength: Where the above named color pigments are sold as full strength dry colors the following amounts respectively may be added to the maximum prices established by the General Maximum Price Regulation.

	Cents per pound
C. P. or toner chrome yellow	0.5
C. P. or toner chrome green	.25
C. P. or toner molybdate orange	.35
C. P. or toner zinc yellow	.35

(2) Pulp or flushed form. Where the above named color pigments are sold in pulp or flushed form, the amounts specified in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph may be added to the maximum prices established by the General Maximum Price Regulation only in proportion to the full strength dry color content of such pulp or flushed color pigments.

(3) Reduced colors. Where the above named color pigments are sold as reduced colors no amounts may be added to the maximum prices established by the General Maximum Price Regulation.

(b) Producers sales of dry colors for delivery in Oregon, Washington or California. The maximum price which a producer of dry colors may charge for any such dry color in the case of any shipment or delivery to Oregon, Washington or California shall be such seller's maximum price for such dry color delivered in Washington, California, or Oregon as determined under the General Maximum Price Regulation [2] or paragraph (a) of this section, whichever is applicable, plus 0.6 cent per pound. The maximum price so determined, in the case of dry colors other than chrome yellow, chrome green, molybdate orange or zinc yellow dry colors, shall in no case exceed the sum of the offering price of such producer to a purchaser of the same class on January 2, 1942, for such dry color plus 0.6 cent per pound. If the producer had no such offering price his maximum price shall not exceed the sum of the offering price to a purchaser of the same class for such dry color on January 2, 1942, of the most closely competitive seller of the same class plus 0.6 cent per pound.

PART 37—SPECIFICATIONS FOR LIFESAVING APPLIANCES

Sections 37.6–1 to 37.6–10, inclusive, and §§ 37.7–1 to 37.7–5, inclusive, are deleted and the following substituted in their stead:

Life Preservers

§ 37.6–1 General provisions, approval—TB/ALL. The standard specifications for block-cork life preservers, balsa-wood block life preservers, and kapok life preservers are set forth in this part in order to enable manufacturers to produce equipment which fully meets the approval requirements by strict adherence to all details of the standard specifications. Manufacturers who desire to manufacture such standard life preservers are not required to submit samples of such equipment for approval, but may commence such manufacture after submitting an affidavit in form as provided in § 37.7–1 and receiving confirmation that their name has been placed on the list of equipment manufacturers under affidavit and the assignment of an official approval number for each type of equipment.

Manufacturers who desire to manufacture life preservers of a character and type in any degree different from the standards contained in this part which equipment is to be sold for use on vessels subject to these regulations, shall submit samples in duplicate and plans and specifications in quadruplicate, in order that they may be considered for approval. Each type of equipment so submitted and approved will receive a separate approval number.

§ 37.6–2 General characteristics—TB/ALL. Every life preserver shall conform to the following general requirements:

(a) Construction, materials, and workmanship shall be at least equivalent to that of a standard type.

(b) The buoyancy shall not be dependent upon air compartments or loose granulated material.

(c) Life preservers shall be simple in design, reversible, and capable of being quickly adjusted, supporting the wearer in the water in an upright or slightly backward position.

§ 37.6–3 Buoyant materials—TB/ALL. The buoyant materials in general use are block cork, balsa wood, and kapok which, when used in the construction of life preservers, shall conform to the following requirements:

(a) Block cork. The cork shall be of good quality cleaned cork, free from any imperfections affecting its durability, and shall be untreated and weigh not more than 12 pounds per cubic foot. It shall be free from cracks or bark checks greater than one-half the thickness by ⅜ inch wide. Where blocks are made of separate pieces, such pieces shall be fastened together with non-corrosive, buoyant materials.

(b) Balsa wood. Balsa wood shall be of the genus Ochroma thoroughly kiln dried and heat treated to a moisture content not to exceed 5 percent and shall weigh not more than 8 pounds per cubic foot. It shall be sound, free from rot, dote, knots, pith, checks, and other defects.

(c) Kapok. It shall be prime Japara kapok of the best quality, well teased, and free from seeds or other foreign matter. In testing the buoyancy characteristics, the processed kapok shall be packed to a density of three pounds per cubic foot. After having been submerged in fresh water for forty-eight hours the kapok shall then provide buoyancy in a ratio of not less than fifty-one pounds net weight per cubic foot.

§ 37.6–4 Specifications for standard type block-cork life preserver—TB/ALL. (a) Type. The type shall conform to Figure 1 and shall be reversible and vest-like, with recesses under arms to allow front and back sections to fit around the upper part of the wearer and held in place by straps, the whole to be of such construction and character as to support the wearer in an upright or slightly backward position. Children's life preservers are to be of the same general form of construction and conform in every respect, as regards material and design, to the standard approved life preserver with the exception that the size is to be reduced one-third.

(b) Buoyant material. It shall contain eight blocks of cork of the following approximate dimensions: 4 blocks 11" x 5" x 1⅞" and 4 blocks 6" x 5" x 1⅞". The corners and edges of the blocks shall be slightly rounded or beveled. The weight of the finished cork in each life preserver shall be not less than 4 pounds and not more than 4.5 pounds.

(c) Buoyancy test. The life preserver shall be submerged in a tank of fresh water for a period of 48 hours. The adult life preserver shall then support in fresh water a net weight of 16½ pounds or 11 pounds for children's type.

(d) Cover.[1] The cover shall be of unbleached, uncolored drill or twill, without filling or sizing, weighing not less than 7.2 ounces to the square yard. It shall be in not more than two pieces, one piece for either side.

(e) Marking. Each life preserver shall be plainly marked on the front compartment with either the word "Adults" or the word "Children" as the case may be. It shall also be plainly stenciled with the name and address of the manufacturer and with the official approval number assigned to the life preserver.

(f) Smooth surface. The outside surface, edges, and corners of the buoyant material shall be of such smoothness as will prevent undue destruction of the covering material and present a suitable smooth surface for legible stenciling and stamping by inspectors.

One strap on each side secured by double stitching and extending 12 inches beyond the end of the life preserver, and two neck straps 12 inches in length. All straps are to be sewn to the body of the life preserver by double stitching.

(i) Thread. The thread shall be of a size and strength not less than Barbour's linen, three cord, No. 25 machine thread. Any thread other than of linen shall require the approval of the Commandant.

PART 56—FUSION WELDING

Section 56.20–4 is amended as follows:

Delete paragraphs (c), (d), (e), and (f) and insert the following new paragraphs (c), (d), (e), and (f) in their stead.

(c) Test plates for longitudinal seams: For drums having one or more longitudinal seams, at least one set of test plates shall be provided for each drum when welded separately, or for each 50 feet of aggregate longitudinal seams when a number of shells of the same design and grade of material are placed end to end and the longitudinal seams of each are welded continuously. The test plates shall be attached to one end of one longitudinal seam being welded as shown in Figure W–5 (a) so that the weld metal in the test plates is deposited continuously with that in the drum seams. Drums of Grades E, F, or G marine boiler plate, however, shall be welded separately and shall be provided with at least one set of test plates for each drum except for cases covered by paragraph (d).

(d) Test plates for circumferential seams: For drums having circumferential seams but no longitudinal seams, at least one set of test plates welded separately shall be provided for each drum or for each 50 feet of aggregate circumferential seams of drums of the same grade of material being welded in succession whose plate thicknesses fall within a range of ¼ inch and whose diameters vary by not more than 6 inches.

(e) The test plates shall be welded by the same welder or welders employed on the drums. They shall be of the same thickness as the plates being welded and shall be of sufficient size to provide two specimens of each type required except that in the case of drums having no longitudinal seams, the test plates need be long enough to provide only one set of specimens and in the case retests are required, an additional set of plates may be welded separately.

(f) For plates ¾ inch or less in thickness one reduced section specimen and two free bend specimens shall be tested. For plates over ¾ inch in thickness one reduced section tensile specimen, one free bend specimen and one guided side bend specimen shall be tested.

Delete Figure W–4 and insert the following new Figure W–4 in its stead:

Delete paragraph (j) and insert the following new paragraph (j) in its stead:

(j) The bond specimens shall be taken from opposite sides of the reduced section tensile specimen in their respective test plates as shown in Figures W–5 (b) and W–5 (c).

Delete paragraphs (n) to (u), inclusive, and insert the following new paragraphs (n) to (q), inclusive, in their stead.

(n) The tension test specimen shall be transverse to the welded joint and shall be the full thickness of the plate after the weld reinforcement has been machined flush. The form and dimensions shall be as shown in Figure W–2 (b). When the capacity of the available testing machine does not permit testing a specimen of the full thickness of the plate, the specimen may be cut with a thin saw into as many portions of the thickness as is necessary, as shown in Figure W–4, each of which shall meet the requirements. The tensile strength shall not be less than the minimum of the specified tensile range of the plate used.

(o) The free bend specimens shall be of the form and dimensions shown in Figure W–3. For plates of ¾ inch or less in thickness one of the specimens shall be bent with the face of the weld in tension and the other with the root of the weld in tension. The free bend specimen for plates over ¾ inch in thickness shall be bent with the face of the weld in tension. Each free bend specimen shall be bent cold under free-bending conditions until the elongation measured within or across approximately the entire weld on the outer surface of the bend is at least 30 per cent. When the capacity of the available testing machine will not permit testing a full thickness specimen, the specimen may be cut with a thin saw into as many portions of the thickness as necessary, as shown in Figure W–4, provided each such piece retains the proportion of 1½ to 1 width to thickness, each of which shall meet the requirements. Cracks at the corners of the specimens or small defects in the convex surface, the greatest dimensions of which do not exceed 1/16 inch need not be considered as failures.

(p) The guided bend specimen shall be bent with the side of the weld in tension. Its width shall be equal to the full thickness of the plate and its thickness, after machining, shall be 0.350 inch to 0.380 inch to permit bending in a jig having the contour of the standard jig shown in Figure W–1F. The specimen shall withstand being bent cold to the full capacity of the jig without developing any crack exceeding ⅛ inch in any direction. Where the plate thickness exceeds 2 inches, the specimen shall be cut in two so that each portion does not exceed 2 inches in width. Each such portion shall be tested and shall meet the requirements.

(q) One retest shall be made for each of the original specimens which fails to meet the requirements. Should the retests fail to meet the requirements, the welds which they represent must be shipped out, rewelded and new test plates provided. This will apply to each shell in cases where a number of shells of the same design and grade of material are placed end to end and the longitudinal seams are welded continuously.

Section 56.20–6 is amended by deleting paragraphs (c) and (d) and inserting the following new paragraphs (c) and (d) in their stead:

§ 56.20–6 Class II. • • •

(c) For Class II pressure vessels test plates shall be provided as required for Class I pressure vessels except that when there are several vessels of the same grade of material being welded in succession whose plate thicknesses fall within a range of ¼ inch and whose diameters vary by not more than 6 inches, no more than one set of test plates need be provided for each 300 lineal feet of either or both longitudinal and girth joints.

(d) For Class II pressure vessels, the minimum elongation for free bend specimens shall be 20 per cent.

Section 56.20–7 is amended to read as follows:

The plate thickness for vessels of this class shall not exceed ¾ inch. Class III pressure vessels shall not be used for the storage of lethal or noxious gases or lethal or noxious liquids.

(b) The type of joints shall be as required by §§ 56.20–10 (b) and (d).

(c) The maximum allowable working pressure of vessels of this class shall be computed by Formula (1) of § 52.2–3 (b) using an efficiency, E, of 0.65 for joints of the double welded butt type where the plate thickness is not less than ¼ inch, and 0.55 for joints of the single welded butt or welded lap types.

(d) Lap joints as provided for in § 56.20–10 (b) shall not be used in the construction of vessels for the storage of gases of any kind at pressures in excess of 100 pounds per square inch nor for the storage of any liquid at a temperature exceeding its boiling point at atmospheric pressure.

(e) Test plates are not required for Class III welded pressure vessels.

Section 56.20–10 (b) is amended to read as follows:

§ 56.20–10 Joints. • • •

(b) The longitudinal joints of Class III vessels may be of the double-welded butt type for thicknesses of ¾ inch or less, or of the double-welded lap type for thicknesses of ⅜ inch or less, or of the single-welded butt type for thicknesses of ¼ inch or less. If of the lap type the throat dimension of each of the welds shall be not less than ⅝ T, where T represents the thickness of the plate. Both edges of the lap shall be welded and the surface overlap shall not be less than 4*T*.

PART 57—SUPPLEMENTARY DATA AND REQUIREMENTS

Section 57.21–6 (c) is amended to read as follows:

Two tension and two bend test specimens of welding shall be taken from the first lifeboat or life raft constructed by fusion welding in any one order; thereafter two tension and two bend test specimens of welding shall be taken from one boat in each lot of twenty-five lifeboats and from one raft in each lot of twenty-five rafts in the same order. The tension test specimens shall be made with a reduced section having a gage length of 4 inches. The edges of the bend test specimens may be parallel. Both tension and bend test specimens shall be made with the weld in the center. The reenforcement shall be ground off, and the tension test specimen shall show under test a tensile strength at least equal to that of the base metal. The bend test shall be made in a vise with the face of the weld in tension and must withstand being bent to a radius of twice its thickness without showing cracks or flaws. The inspector making the tests shall satisfy himself that the workmanship is such that the boat or raft so constructed is at least equal in strength and dependability to an approved metallic lifeboat or raft of riveted construction.

(c) General provisions, approval. The standard specifications for block-cork life preservers, balsa-wood block life preservers, and kapok life preservers, are set forth in this section in order to enable manufacturers to produce equipment which fully meets the approval requirements by strict adherence to all details of the standard specifications. Manufacturers who desire to manufacture such standard life preservers are not required to submit samples of such equipment for approval, but may commence such manufacture after submitting an affidavit in form as provided in § 59.55 (k) and receiving confirmation that their name has been placed on the list of equipment manufacturers under affidavit and the assignment of an official approval number for each type of equipment.

Manufacturers who desire to manufacture life preservers of a character and type in any degree different from the standards contained in this section, which equipment is to be sold for use on vessels subject to these regulations, shall submit samples in duplicate, and plans and specifications in quadruplicate, in order that they may be considered for approval. Each type of equipment so submitted and approved will receive a separate approval number.

(d) General characteristics. Every life preserver shall conform to the following general requirements:

It is hereby found as follows:

A. Sun Coal Company is a corporation organized and existing by virtue of the Laws of the State of Tennessee, with its principal place of business at Knoxville, Tennessee, and is primarily engaged in the business of mining and producing bituminous coal.

B. Sun Coal Company filed with the Division on June 21, 1937, its acceptance dated June 15, 1937, of the Code. Said Code Acceptance was made effective by the Division as of June 21, 1937, and Sun Coal Company is now a Code Member in District No. 8, operating the Sun Mine, Mine Index No. 453, located at or near Caryville, Tennessee, in Sub-District No. 6 of District No. 8.

C. Sun Coal Company, during the period from March 7, 1941 to March 31, 1941, both dates inclusive, wilfully violated the effective minimum prices, the Act, the Code promulgated thereunder and rules and regulations of the Division

(1) By selling to numerous purchasers in various market areas for shipment by rail 1243.45 net tons of 6″ block coal produced by it at its said mine at a price of $3.25 f. o. b. said mine, whereas the effective minimum price established for said coal for shipment by rail into various market areas was $3.35, as set forth in the Schedule; and

It is hereby further found, Pursuant to the provisions of section 5 (b) of the Act that the membership of the Sun Coal Company in the Code should be revoked with respect to the violations described in paragraph C. (1) and (2) above.

It is hereby further found that the amount of tax, imposed by section 5 (b) and (c) of the Act, with respect to the coal described in paragraph C. (1) and (2) above, amounting to 2854.45 net tons, and required to be paid as a condition precedent to restoration of membership of the Sun Coal Company in the Code, is Three Thousand Four Hundred Twelve and Thirty-nine One-Hundredths ($3,412.39) Dollars, which amount is 39% of the aggregate of the effective minimum prices of such coal at the mine of Eight Thousand Seven Hundred Forty-nine and Seventy-three One-Hundredths ($8,749.73) Dollars.

It is hereby further found that the Sun Coal Company should be directed to cease and desist from violations of the Act, the Code and rules and regulations thereunder.

It is further ordered, That any order of restoration of the membership of the Sun Coal Company in the Code shall require that the Sun Coal Company, its representatives, officers, servants, agents, employees, attorneys, receiver, and successors or assigns and all persons acting or claiming to act in its behalf or interest cease and desist and they be permanently enjoined and restrained from violating the Act, the Code, the rules and regulations thereunder and the Schedule of Effective Minimum Prices For District No. 8 For All Shipments Except Truck.

Issued this 16th day of July, 1942.

Administrator.

COLUMBIA GAS & ELECTRIC CORPORATION, ET AL.

NOTICE OF FILING AND ORDER FOR HEARING; NOTICE OF AND ORDER CONSOLIDATING PROCEEDINGS

At its regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission, held at its office in the City of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, on the 14th day of July 1942.

In the Matter of Columbia Gas & Electric Corporation, and Columbia Oil & Gasoline Corporation, File No. 54-56; Columbia Gas & Electric Corporation, Columbia Oil & Gasoline Corporation, Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line Company, Michigan Gas Transmission Corporation, Indiana Gas Distribution Corporation, and The Ohio Fuel Gas Company, File Nos. 59-33, 70-263, 70-371, 70-387, 70-430, 70-431.

I

Notice is hereby given that a declaration or application (or both), pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 and the rules promulgated thereunder, has been filed by Columbia Gas & Electric Corporation, a registered holding company, and by Columbia Oil & Gasoline Corporation, a nonutility subsidiary thereof.

All interested persons are referred to said document, which is on file in the office of this Commission, for a statement of the transactions therein proposed, which are summarized as follows:

Columbia Gas & Electric Corporation (Columbia Gas) and Columbia Oil & Gasoline Corporation (Columbia Oil) propose to consummate a plan, pursuant to section 11 (e) of said Act, for the purpose of enabling both companies to comply with the provisions of section 11 (b) (1) of said Act and the Order of the Commission thereunder dated March 31, 1942, with respect to their interests in Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line Company (Panhandle), a direct subsidiary of Columbia Oil and an indirect subsidiary of Columbia Gas, and for the purpose of enabling Columbia Oil to comply with the provisions of section 11 (b) (2) of said Act. The elements of the proposed plan are as follows:

1. Columbia Oil will surrender to Panhandle the 10,000 shares of Panhandle's Class B Preferred Stock held by Columbia Oil, against payment to Columbia Oil of the cash sum of $1,000,000 plus accrued dividends to the date of surrender and payment;

2. Columbia Oil will sell to Phillips Petroleum Company, for the cash sum of $10,436,826, subject to interest and dividend adjustments, Columbia Oil's holdings of common stock of Panhandle, constituting 404,326 shares or 50.1% of the common shares outstanding;

3. Columbia Oil will wind up its affairs on the following terms and conditions:

(a) It will pay in full all of its indebtedness, including its debentures now held by Columbia Gas, together with accrued interest thereon to the date of payment;

(b) It will distribute to the holders of its common stock, in full settlement of all their rights and interest in the corporation, the sum of $1.00 per share in cash;

(c) All of its remaining assets will be transferred to Columbia Gas as holder of all of its outstanding preferred stock.

The plan provides that neither it nor the transactions contemplated therein shall become binding upon Columbia Oil unless and until they are authorized and consented to by affirmative vote of the holders of the requisite amount of common and preferred stock of Columbia Oil at a stockholders' meeting duly called to act thereon, as provided by the laws of the State of Delaware and its Certificate of Incorporation, as amended. As an incident to such plan, it is requested that the Commission find, under Rule U-50 of the General Rules and Regulations under said Act, that competitive bidding will not be required with respect to the proposed sale of common stock of Panhandle Eastern by Columbia Oil to the Phillips Petroleum Company.

II

A consolidated proceeding (hereinafter referred to as the previous consolidated proceeding) is now pending before the Commission, which proceeding results from a consolidation of proceedings upon applications and declarations previously filed by Columbia Gas, Columbia Oil and Panhandle with proceedings instituted by the Commission involving such companies under sections 11 (b) (1), 11 (b) (2), 12 (c), 12 (f) and 15 (f) of the Act. Various Orders have been entered by the Commission in said previous consolidated proceeding, including an order dated January 21, 1942 approving certain transactions involved in the said applications and declarations, and an Order dated March 31, 1942, providing:

(i) That pursuant to section 11 (b) (1) of the Act Columbia Gas and Columbia Oil take all necessary and appropriate steps to sever the relationship of Columbia Gas with Panhandle, by disposing, or causing the disposition, of Columbia Gas' direct and indirect ownership, control, and holding of securities issued by and the properties of Panhandle and its subsidiaries;

(ii) That pursuant to section 11 (b) (2) of the Act the voting power of the Class B preferred Stock of Panhandle be cancelled, provided that there may be submitted any alternative plan to cure the unfair and inequitable distribution of voting power, including any plan for the retirement or redemption of said Class B Preferred Stock, and provided that if such plan is approved it will supersede the order in this respect.

These Orders disposed of all matters involved in said previous consolidated proceeding except for certain portions of the applications and declarations, including those dealing with the exchange therein proposed of the preferred stock of Columbia Oil held by Columbia Gas for the oil and gas subsidiaries of Columbia Oil, the proceedings under section 15 (f), and the proceedings under section 11 (b) (2) with respect to the distribution of voting power among the security holders of Columbia Oil. In accordance with the Order of the Commission dated January 15, 1942, hearings were held with respect to these remaining matters, and the record therein was closed on May 20, 1942. Prior to the time set for the filing of briefs with respect to the matters therein involved, Columbia Oil and Columbia Gas requested that the filing of such briefs be deferred and further action with respect to such matters be suspended pending the filing and consideration of the present plan. This request was granted by the Commission.

Columbia Gas and Columbia Oil have stated that the filing of the present plan is subject to the prior entry of an Order by the Commission that the filing of such plan be without prejudice to the pending applications and declarations and to the reassertion of any legal positions heretofore taken by Columbia Gas or Columbia Oil with respect to any portion of the present consolidated proceeding in the event the present plan pursuant to section 11 (e) is, for any reason, not finally consummated.

III

The Commission being required by the provisions of section 11 (e) of said Act, before approving any plan thereunder, to find, after notice and opportunity for hearing, that such plan, as submitted or modified, is necessary to effectuate the provisions of section 11 (b) and fair and equitable to the persons affected by such plan; and

It appearing to the Commission that the request of Columbia Gas and Columbia Oil that consideration of the pending applications and declarations be deferred pending the consideration of said section 11 (e) plan, but that the filing of said plan, as such, should not prejudice Columbia Gas and Columbia Oil with respect to such applications and declarations if the plan is, for any reason, not consummated, is appropriate; and

It further appearing to the Commission that the proceedings with respect to the section 11 (e) plan involve common questions of law and fact with the proceedings under section 11 (b) (2) and should be consolidated for consideration by the Commission together therewith;

It is hereby ordered, That hearings on the proposed plan filed pursuant to section 11 (e) be held on the 28th day of July, 1942, at 10:00 A. M. at the offices of the Securities and Exchange Commission, 18th and Locust Streets, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, in such room as may be designated on that day by the hearing-room clerk in Room 318.

It is further ordered, That William W. Swift or any other officer or officers of the Commission designated by it for that purpose shall preside at such hearings. The officer so designated to preside at such hearings is hereby authorized to exercise all powers granted to the Commission under section 18 (c) of said Act and to a trial examiner under the Commission's Rules of Practice.

It is further ordered, That the filing of briefs and all further action with respect to the above-described previous consolidated proceeding, as such, be and the same hereby are deferred and suspended pending further Orders of the Commission, without prejudice to the further prosecution of the pending applications and declarations and to the reassertion of any legal position heretofore taken by Columbia Gas or Columbia Oil with respect to any portion of the above-described previous consolidated proceeding in the event that said section 11 (e) plan is, for any reason, not finally consummated.

It is further ordered, That the proceedings with respect to the plan filed pursuant to section 11 (e) be and the same hereby are consolidated with the proceedings under section 11 (b) (2) with respect to the distribution of voting power among the security holders of Columbia Oil to the extent of the consideration by the Commission of the issues therein involved.

It is further ordered, That the Secretary of the Commission shall serve notice of the hearing and of the action herein by mailing a copy of this Order by registered mail to the above-named parties, as well as to all other parties and persons previously granted the right to be heard and participate in the above-described previous consolidated proceedings, and that notice of said hearing is hereby given to all security holders of Columbia Gas and Columbia Oil, to all states, municipalities, or political subdivisions of states or foreign countries in which are located any of the utility assets of Columbia Gas, or under the laws of which any of the subsidiary companies are incorporated, to all state commissions and all agencies, authorities or instrumentalities of one or more states, municipalities, or other political subdivisions having jurisdiction over any of the business affairs of either of the above-named parties, and to all other persons, such notice to be given by a general release of the Commission, distributed to the press and mailed to the mailing list for releases issued under the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 and by publication of this Order in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

It is further ordered, That all parties and persons granted the right to intervene or to be heard and participate in the above-described previous consolidated proceedings shall be and hereby are given the same rights with respect to the present consolidated proceeding.

It is further ordered, That any other person desiring to be heard in connection with these proceedings shall file with the Secretary of the Commission, on or before the 25th day of July, 1942, a written statement relative thereto, and that any person proposing to intervene shall file with the Secretary of the Commission, on or before such date, application therefor, as provided by Rule XVII of the Commission's Rules of Practice.

It is further ordered, That, without limiting the scope of the issues presented by the pending plan filed pursuant to section 11 (e), the following matters and questions will be considered:

(1) Whether the proposed plan filed pursuant to section 11 (e) of the Act is necessary to effectuate the provisions of section 11 (b) of said Act;

(2) Whether the proposed plan is fair and equitable to the persons affected thereby;

(3) Whether it is appropriate that the sale by Columbia Oil to Phillips Petroleum Company of the common stock of Panhandle Eastern held by Columbia Oil be exempted from the competitive bidding requirements of Rule U-50;

(4) Whether the fees and expenses and other considerations to be paid or received, directly or indirectly, in connection with the proposed plan or transactions incidental thereto are necessary and are reasonable in amount;

(5) What terms and conditions, if any, may be necessary or appropriate in the public interest or the interest of investors or consumers.

It is further ordered, That all matters contained in the record of the above-described previous consolidated proceeding be and the same hereby are specifically incorporated in the record of the present proceeding.

It is further ordered, That jurisdiction be and is hereby reserved to separate or consolidate, either for hearing, in whole or in part, or for disposition, in whole or in part, any of the issues or questions which may arise in these proceedings, or to take such other action as may appear conducive to an orderly, prompt and economic disposition of the matters involved.

By the Commission.

WAR MANPOWER COMMISSION.

POLICY TO PREVENT PIRATING OF WAR WORKERS

In our rapidly expanding war industries, thousands of skilled workers are required. In certain occupations there are not enough skilled workers to meet the immediate and future requirements of war industries. This shortage of skilled workers has created needless labor turnover and uncontrolled migration of skilled labor. Such turnover and migration result in wasteful and ineffective utilization of skilled workers, which is likely to impede the war production program to an increasing extent in those areas in which war production is concentrated.

Having so found, after consultation with the members of the War Manpower Commission, and having further found, after such consultation, that the measures herein provided are necessary to promote the effective mobilization and maximum utilization of the Nation's manpower in the prosecution of the war, by virtue of the authority vested in me as Chairman of the War Manpower Commission by Executive Order No. 9139,[1] establishing the War Manpower Commission, I hereby declare the following War Manpower Commission policy:

I. If the maximum utilization of the manpower in a designated area has been or is likely to be impeded because of (a) the concentration of essential war production in any such area, (b) the shortage of workers for designated occupations therein, (c) an excessive rate of turnover among such workers, or (d) the migration of such workers to other areas, the appropriate regional representative of the War Manpower Commission shall confer with the representatives of management and labor in such area and with such regional or local representatives of the War Production Board, the United States Army, the United States Navy, the United States Maritime Commission, the United States Employment Service, the United States Civil Service Commission and such other agencies or departments as may be affected, with a view to securing the concurrence of all affected parties in a cooperative plan for the effective recruitment and utilization of workers in such area and for the effective elimination of practices which result in the withdrawal of workers from employers engaged in essential activities in such area. Upon the approval of such a cooperative plan by all affected parties, or upon the failure of such affected parties to concur in such a cooperative plan with reasonable promptness, the appropriate regional representative of the War Manpower Commission shall submit a full report thereof to the Chairman of the War Manpower Commission.

II. Upon approving a cooperative plan which effectuates the purposes set forth in this policy and which has been concurred in with respect to any designated area, or upon approving a report that such a plan is needed and has been sought, but has not been concurred in by all affected parties with reasonable promptness, the Chairman of the War Manpower Commission will give notice that such area constitutes a critical labor area, and that with respect to such area, specified occupations and activities constitute, respectively, critical occupations and essential war production activities.

III. After the publication of such a notice with respect to a given area it is essential that no employer:

(a) Solicit (for the purpose of hiring) or hire, within or without such critical labor area, for work to be performed wholly or principally within such area, or any worker who on or after the effective date of this policy was employed at any place in an occupation, designated as a critical occupation and an activity designated as an essential war production activity, except (1) through a public employment office of the United States Employment Service, or (2) in accordance with standards, methods or conditions approved by the Chairman of the War Manpower Commission or his authorized representative, or (3) in accordance with the cooperative plan for such area which may include clause (1) or clause (2) hereof or both such clauses. As used in this policy, the phrase "solicit (for the purpose of hiring)" means any activity, including any written or oral communication or publication, designed or intended to induce any individual to accept employment in a given plant, factory, or other establishment.

(b) Solicit (for the purpose of hiring) or hire, within such critical labor area, for work to be performed wholly or principally without such area,

IV. Any worker or employer, or group of workers or employers, dissatisfied with any act or failure to act pursuant to this policy shall be given a fair opportunity to present his or their case to an Industrial Area Management-Labor Committee. Such Committee shall make recommendations concerning such cases as well as other matters pertinent to the carrying out of this policy in its area, to the War Manpower Commission Area director for appropriate action. The Chairman of the War Manpower Commission shall prescribe rules, regulations and procedures for the carrying out of the responsibilities of Area Committees under this policy, including procedures for the review of the recommendations of the Area Committees, by Regional Management-Labor Committees and by the National Management-Labor Policy Committee.

V. All lawful and appropriate steps will be taken to utilize the services, facilities and authorities of other departments and agencies of the Federal Government to the fullest extent to achieve or promote compliance with the provisions of this policy.

PAUL V. MCNUTT,
Chairman,
War Manpower Commission.

Military Establishment for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1942, contains a proviso which reads as follows:

• • • That no part of this or any other appropriation contained in this Act shall be available for the pay of any person, civil or military, not a citizen of the United States, unless in the employ of the Government or in a pay status on July 1, 1937, under appropriations for the War Department • • •

[Par. 6]

§ 75.7 Selection of candidates—(a) From States at large, congressional districts, and territories. (1) The selection of candidates, by competitive examination or otherwise, for appointment from any State at large or congressional district, is entirely in the hands of the Senator or Representative in Congress who has the vacancy at his disposal, and all applications for appointment from those sources should be addressed to the proper Senator or Representative.

(2) For each vacancy from a State at large or congressional or Territorial district, four candidates should be nominated, one to be named as principal, one as first alternate, one as second alternate, and one as third alternate. The first alternate, if qualified, will be admitted in the event of the failure of the principal; the second alternate, if qualified, will be admitted in the event of the failure of both the principal and the first alternate; and the third alternate, if qualified, will be admitted in the event of the failure of principal, first, and second alternate.

(3) These candidates must, at date of admission, be between the ages of 17 and 22 years.

(b) From "honor military schools." Honor graduates of "honor military schools" are selected for appointment as cadets of the United States Military Academy in the following manner:

(1) There is maintained in the office of the Adjutant General a roster of "honor military schools" as determined by annual War Department inspections of educational institutions. At an early date in each year The Adjutant General will anticipate the vacancies in the Corps of Cadets which are open to honor graduates and will make an equitable distribution of those vacancies amongst the "honor military schools" and notify them accordingly. Each designated institution will at a specified time notify The Adjutant General of the names of the selected honor graduates, designating them as principal, first, second, and third alternate candidates. In considering graduates for this designation the institution is not limited to those graduating during the current year.

(2) An honor graduate, designated as principal, of a selected institution will be appointed a cadet of the United States Military Academy upon the certificate of the head of the institution that the appointee is an honor graduate of that institution of a year for which the institution was designated an honor military school. No student will be rated as honor graduate unless he has in his school work shown proficiency in subjects amounting to not less than the 15 units prescribed by the regulations for admission to the United States Military Academy. A certificate will be forwarded to the Adjutant, United States Military Academy, West Point, N. Y., when the appointment is made. In the event that the honor graduate designated as principal does not accept the appointment or fails to qualify for admission, the first alternate will, if qualified, be appointed; in the event that neither the principal nor the first alternate qualifies, the second alternate will, if qualified, be appointed; and in the event that the principal, first, and second alternate candidates fail to qualify, the third alternate will, if qualified, be appointed.

(3) These candidates must at date of admission be between the ages of 17 and 22 years.

(4) All honor graduates are appointed subject to the same tests for mental and physical qualifications as are required of other candidates. (See §§ 75.13 and 75.14 (a)) [Par. 8 and 9]

PART 171—MISCELLANEOUS REGULATIONS RELATED TO LIQUOR

SUBPART H—TRANSPORTATION OF DISTILLED SPIRITS, ALCOHOL, AND DENATURED ALCOHOL BY TANK TRUCKS

By virtue of sections 3108 (a), 3124 (a) (6), and 3176, Internal Revenue Code, and the Acts of January 24, 1942, and March 27, 1942 (Public Laws 412 and 508—77th Congress), Treasury Decision 5121 (26 CFR, Part 171, Subpart H) is amended to read as follows:

§ 171.40 General. Notwithstanding the provisions of Regulations 3, 4, 5, and 10 (26 CFR, Parts 182, 183, 184, and 185), and subject to the conditions prescribed hereinafter, distilled spirits, unfinished spirits, alcohol, specially denatured alcohol, and completely denatured alcohol described below may be transported in tank trucks controlled and operated by the consignor or the consignee, or by a motor carrier. The term "motor carrier" shall mean a motor carrier licensed under the Motor Carrier Act of 1935, or an applicable state law.

(a) Distilled spirits of 160 degrees or more of proof withdrawn under the provisions of Treasury Decision 5111 (26 CFR, Part 171, Subpart G):

(1) From a registered distillery, fruit distillery, or an internal revenue bonded warehouse, pursuant to withdrawal permits on Form 1444 issued to the United States or any governmental agency thereof; or

(2) For transfer in bond from a registered distillery, fruit distillery, or an internal revenue bonded warehouse to a denaturing plant.

(b) Unfinished spirits, as defined by Treasury Decision 5132 (26 CFR, Part 171, Subpart I), which are, either before or after redistillation, transferred between registered distilleries, fruit distilleries, internal revenue bonded warehouses, industrial alcohol plants, industrial alcohol bonded warehouses, and denaturing plants, or withdrawn pursuant to permits on Form 1444 issued to the United States or any governmental agency thereof.

(c) Alcohol produced under the provisions of Part II, Subchapter C, Chapter 26, Internal Revenue Code:

(1) Withdrawn from an industrial alcohol plant, or an alcohol bonded warehouse, pursuant to withdrawal permits on Form 1444 issued to the United States or any governmental agency thereof; or

(2) Transferred between industrial alcohol plants, alcohol bonded warehouses, and denaturing plants pursuant to withdrawal permits, Form 1436, 1438, 1463, 1464, or 1465.

(d) Specially denatured alcohol withdrawn from denaturing plants or bonded dealers in specially denatured alcohol, as the case may be, pursuant to withdrawal permits, Forms 1464, 1477, 1485, or 1486: Provided, That the consignee has installed tanks for the storage of specially denatured alcohol in accordance with the provisions of § 182.99 of Regulations 3 (26 CFR, Part 182).

(e) Completely denatured alcohol shipped from denaturing plants:

(1) To other denaturing plants as authorized by § 182.743 of Regulations 3 (26 CFR, Part 182); or

(2) In conformity with § 182.728 of Regulations 3 (26 CFR, Part 182) to the following persons:

(i) A person or concern acting as agent of the shipping denaturer, where title to the completely denatured alcohol does not pass from the denaturer, for transfer to packages for sale to others, and such packages are furnished by the denaturer;

(ii) The denaturer himself at other premises;

(iii) Other producers of completely denatured alcohol at points not on the denaturing plant premises of such other producers, for transfer to packages; or

(iv) Manufacturers for their exclusive use and not for resale. (Secs. 3108 (a), 3124 (a) (6), 3176, I.R.C., Acts of January 24 and March 27, 1942)

§ 171.41 Permits and bonds—(a) New carriers. Motor carriers, in order to transport specially denatured alcohol, tax-free alcohol, or tax-free distilled spirits by tank trucks, must procure permits so to do, in accordance with section 3114, Internal Revenue Code, and Regulations 3 (26 CFR, Part 182), and file bond, Form 49. The terms of the bond shall be modified to cover distilled spirits of 160 degrees or more of proof withdrawn for tax-free purposes, in addition to tax-free alcohol and specially denatured alcohol, and shall be in the penal sum of $50,000 for each tank truck used, and not more than $200,000 for the total of all tank trucks used. Where such permit is obtained and bond is filed, the permit will also authorize transportation of such products in barrels or drums without additional bond requirement.

(b) Transportation by consignors or consignees. A consignor or consignee, in order to transport in tank trucks distilled spirits, alcohol, and specially denatured alcohol described in § 171.40, must file application on Form 144 and procure permit, Form 145, authorizing such transportation, and file consent of surety, Form 1533, on his bond, Form 30, 30½, 1571, 1432-A, 1435, 1475, or 1480, as the case may be, extending the terms thereof to be liable for such distilled spirits, alcohol, or specially denatured alcohol transported by him as follows:

(1) In the case of tax-free alcohol and distilled spirits, the bond, Form 30, 30½, 1571, 1432-A, or 1435, shall be extended to be liable for an amount equal to the tax, together with interest, if such alcohol or distilled spirits are transported, used, or sold contrary to law or regulations now or hereafter in force.

(2) In the case of specially denatured alcohol, bond, Form 1432-A, 1435, 1475, or 1480 shall be extended to be liable for the tax, together with penalties and interest, on all specially denatured alcohol withdrawn, transported, used, or sold in violation of laws or regulations now or hereafter in force.

If the maximum of the present bond is not sufficient when computed as set forth in paragraph (a), the consent of surety (or a new bond in lieu thereof) must assume the additional liability.

These requirements shall not apply where specially denatured alcohol, tax-free alcohol, or tax-free distilled spirits are withdrawn by the United States or any governmental agency thereof and are transported in tank trucks operated by employees of the United States.

(c) Present permits and bonds. Basic permits and bonds now held by motor carriers, and by consignors and consignees, which authorize the transportation of tax-free alcohol and specially denatured alcohol, may, on application and the filing of consents of surety, be modified to authorize tank truck shipments of specially denatured alcohol, tax-free alcohol, and tax-free distilled spirits, and to contain an undertaking to be liable for the tax, or an amount equal to the tax, as provided in paragraph (b) (1) or (2) of this section, as the case may be. The consent of surety (or, if preferred, a new bond) must be modified so that the principal and surety will be responsible to the extent of $50,000 on each tank truck used, and not more than $200,000 for the total of all tank trucks used.

(d) Consents of surety; unfinished spirits. Proprietors of registered distilleries and fruit distilleries, in order to have transferred to them unfinished spirits for redistillation from other registered distilleries or fruit distilleries, or from internal revenue bonded warehouses, shall file consent of surety, Form 1533, on their distillery bond, Form 30 or 30½, as the case may be, extending the terms thereof to assume liability for payment of the tax on the unfinished spirits from the time they leave the premises of the distillery or warehouse from which they are removed. Where the distillery bond, Form 30 or 30½, is filed without surety, supported by consent of surety on the distiller's warehouse bond, Form 1571, the required consent shall extend the terms of both bonds to assume such liability. Where the distillery bond, Form 30 or 30½, as the case may be, is in less than the maximum penal sum and is insufficient to cover the tax on the unfinished spirits to be received for redistillation, plus the quantity of spirits that will be produced at the distillery during a period of 15 days, the consent of surety or a new or additional bond will be required in a sufficient penal sum, not in excess of the maximum penal sum.

Proprietors of alcohol plants and alcohol bonded warehouses, in order to have transferred to them unfinished spirits for redistillation from registered distilleries, fruit distilleries, or internal revenue bonded warehouses, shall file consent of surety, Form 1533, on their bonds, Form 1432–A or 1435, extending the terms thereof to assume liability for payment of the tax on the unfinished spirits from the time they leave the premises of the distillery or warehouse from which they are removed.

The consent of surety shall be in substantially the following form:

> To extend the terms of said bond to assume liability for the payment of any tax that may become due on unfinished spirits removed for redistillation from registered distilleries, fruit distilleries, and internal revenue bonded warehouses, pursuant to Section 2883, Internal Revenue Code, as amended by the Act of March 27, 1942, and regulations, for transfer to the principal from the time the spirits leave the premises of the distillery or warehouse from which removed, including the transportation, withdrawal without redistillation, redistillation, storage, and disposition of the spirits as provided by law and regulations.

Proprietors of internal revenue bonded warehouses, in order to have unfinished spirits transferred to them by tank trucks from registered distilleries, fruit distilleries, or other internal revenue bonded warehouses, shall file consents of surety, Form 1533, on their bonds, Form 1571, undertaking to be liable for the tax on the spirits so transferred from the time they leave the premises of the distillery or warehouse from which they are removed. If the outstanding bond is not in the maximum penal sum, the consent of surety (or a new bond, if preferred) shall include an undertaking to be responsible for such tax, subject to the maximum bond limitation of $200,000. (Secs. 3108 (a), 3124 (a) (6), 3176, I.R.C., Acts of January 24 and March 27, 1942)

§ 171.42 Procedure—(a) Distilled spirits, alcohol, and specially denatured alcohol. Distilled spirits, alcohol, and specially denatured alcohol transferred by tank trucks will be shipped pursuant to the applicable provisions of Regulations 3, 4, 5, and 10 (26 CFR, Parts 182, 183, 184, and 185), concerning transfers in bond by tank cars, including the provisions relating to gauging, filling, and labeling.

(b) Unfinished spirits. Unfinished spirits transported by tank trucks will be shipped pursuant to the applicable provisions of Treasury Decision 5132. (Secs. 3108 (a), 3124 (a) (6), 3176, I.R.C., Acts of January 24 and March 27, 1942)

§ 171.43 Shipment—(a) From plants where storekeeper-gaugers are assigned. Tank trucks used for transporting the distilled spirits, unfinished spirits, alcohol, and specially denatured alcohol, after filling, when shipped from premises where a storekeeper-gauger is stationed, shall be sealed by the storekeeper-gauger at the consignor's premises in such manner as will secure all openings affording access to the tank. Serially-numbered cap seals furnished by the Government will be used for this purpose. The numbers of the cap seals, the name of the carrier (licensed carrier, consignor or consignee), the state license tag number of the tank truck, the driver's full name, the driver's permit number, and the state issuing such permit will be recorded by the storekeeper-gauger on Form 1520, 1439, 1453, 1453–A, or 1473, as the case may be. One copy of the form will be forwarded by the storekeeper-gauger to the district supervisor of the district in which the consignor's premises are located. The storekeeper-gauger will place one copy of the form in a sealed envelope addressed to the consignee, and give the same to the driver of the tank truck for delivery to the consignee. On receipt at the consignee's premises, the storekeeper-gauger or the consignee will receipt for the shipment, verify the information shown on the form, and note thereon any discrepancies relative to the shipment. The Form 1520, 1439, 1453, 1453–A, or 1473 will be forwarded by the storekeeper-gauger or the consignee immediately to the district supervisor of the district in which the consignor is located.

(b) From premises of bonded dealers. Tank trucks used for transportation of specially denatured alcohol by bonded dealers, after filling, shall be sealed by appropriate seals, serially numbered, furnished by the shipper. The seals should be dissimilar from the cap seals used by the Bureau of Internal Revenue. The serial numbers of seals used, and the data with respect to the carrier set forth in paragraph (a) of this section, will be recorded by the dealer on Form 1453–A or 1473. One copy of the form will be forwarded by the dealer to the district supervisor of the district in which the dealer is located. One copy of the form will be forwarded to, and verified by, the consignee, and forwarded by him to the district supervisor in the same manner as stated in paragraph (a).

(c) Completely denatured alcohol. Tank trucks used for the transportation of completely denatured alcohol shall, after filling, be sealed by the shipper in such manner as will secure all openings affording access to the tank. Appropriate serially numbered seals, as provided in paragraph (b) of this section, furnished by the shipper will be used for this purpose. The name of the carrier (licensed carrier, consignor or consignee), the state license tag number of the tank truck, the driver's name, the driver's permit, and the serial numbers of the seals used will be recorded by the proprietor of the denaturing plant on his commercial records. Similar data will be recorded in the same manner by the consignee. (Secs. 3108 (a), 3124 (a) (6), 3176, I.R.C., Acts of January 24 and March 27, 1942)

§ 171.44 Action by district supervisor. The district supervisor will check daily on receipt the Form 1520, 1439, 1453, 1453–A, and 1473, and make any inquiry which he deems necessary with respect to any discrepancy. In the event of failure to receive a form from the storekeeper-gauger at the consignee's premises or from the consignee, as the case may be, within the time normally required for the truck to make the shipment and the form to be sent by mail, the district supervisor will make an appropriate investigation. (Secs. 3108 (a), 3124 (a) (6), 3176, I.R.C., Acts of January 24 and March 27, 1942)

§ 171.45 Accounting. The distilled spirits, unfinished spirits, alcohol, and denatured alcohol shipped, transported, and received under these regulations will be accounted for in accordance with the applicable provisions of Regulations 3, 4, 5, and 10, and Treasury Decisions 5111 and 5132 relating to shipments by tank cars. PART 1178—FISHING TACKLE

The following interpretation is hereby issued by the Director General for Operations with respect to § 1178.1, General Limitation Order L-92, dated April 23, 1942: [1]

Except as provided in paragraph (b) (6) (added by Amendment No. 1, issued June 1, 1942) Limitation Order L-92 provides, in paragraph (b) (2), that "no manufacturer shall process, fabricate, work on or assemble any iron and steel for use in the production of any fishing tackle product other than fish hooks". These provisions do not prohibit a manufacturer from converting fish hooks containing iron and steel into lures, baits or flies, provided that no critical material, and no iron and steel (other than that contained in the fish hooks) is used by him in the process.

Paragraph (b) (3) of Order L-92 provides that no manufacturer shall "produce more fish hooks than 12½% of the number of fish hooks produced by him in the year 1941." This limitation applies only to the manufacturer who actually fabricates fish hooks and does not apply to a manufacturer who merely converts fish hooks into some other fishing tackle product by adding non-critical materials.

PART 3019—TOILETRIES AND COSMETICS

[General Limitation Order L-171]

The fulfillment of requirements for the war effort of the United States has created a shortage in the supply for the war effort, for private account and for export of the materials entering into the production and marketing of toiletries and cosmetics; and the following order and the schedules issued pursuant thereto are deemed necessary and appropriate in the public interest and to promote the war effort.

§ 3019.1 General Limitation Order L-171—(a) Issuance of Schedules. [2] The Director General for Operations may from time to time issue schedules limiting production of toiletry and cosmetic products and establishing simplified practices with respect to the types, sizes, forms, packaging, or other qualifications for toiletry and cosmetic products. After the effective date of any such schedule no such materials or products shall be manufactured or processed except such as conform to the issued schedule and except as specifically permitted by such schedule. Any schedule issued pursuant hereto may also contain any other restrictions concerning such materials and products that may be deemed necessary and appropriate, such as restrictions on the sale, purchase, transfer, delivery and/or uses thereof.

(b) Appeals. Any person affected by this order or any schedule issued pursuant hereto who considers that compliance therewith would work an exceptional and unreasonable hardship upon him, or that it would result in a serious problem of unemployment in the community, or that compliance with this order or such schedule would disrupt or impair a program of conversion from non-defense to defense work, may apply for relief by addressing a letter to the War Production Board, (Ref.: L-171) setting forth the pertinent facts and the reasons why such person considers that he is entitled to relief. The Director General for Operations may thereupon take such action as he deems appropriate.

(c) Applicability of Priorities Regulation No. 1. This order (and any schedule issued pursuant hereto) and all transactions affected thereby are subject to the provisions of Priorities Regulation No. 1 (Part 944), as amended from time to time, except to the extent that any provision hereof may be inconsistent therewith, in which case the provisions of this order (or such schedule) shall govern.

(d) Records. All persons affected by this order or any schedule issued pursuant hereto shall keep and preserve for not less than 2 years accurate and complete records concerning inventories, production and sales, and shall also preserve any other records, certificates and the like which may be required by any schedule issued pursuant hereto.

(e) Communications to War Production Board. All reports required to be filed hereunder, and all communications concerning this order, or any schedule issued pursuant hereto, shall, unless otherwise directed, be addressed to: War Production Board, Toiletries and Cosmetics Branch, Washington, D. C., Ref: L-171.

(f) Violations. Any person who willfully violates any provision of this order, or any schedule issued pursuant hereto, or who, in connection with this order or any such schedule, willfully conceals a material fact or furnishes false information to any department or agency of the United States is guilty of a crime and upon conviction may be punished by fine or imprisonment. In addition, any such person may be prohibited from making or obtaining further deliveries of, or from processing or using, material under priority control and may be deprived of priorities assistance. (P.D. Reg. 1, as amended, 6 F.R. 6680; W.P.B. Reg. 1, 7 F.R. 561; E.O. 9024, 7 F.R. 329; E.O. 9040, 7 F.R. 527; E.O. 9125, 7 F.R. 2719; sec. 2 (a), Pub. Law 671, 76th Cong., as amended by Pub. Laws 89 and 507, 77th Cong.)

Issued this 17th day of July 1942.

PART 1309—COPPER

[Amendment 2 to Revised Price Schedule 12[1]]

BRASS MILL SCRAP

A Statement of the Considerations involved in the issuance of this Amendment has been issued simultaneously herewith and has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.

In § 1309.18 new paragraphs (d), (e) and (f) are added and § 1309.19 is amended to read as set forth below:

§ 1309.18 Definitions. • • •

(d) "Point of shipment" means the point at which brass mill scrap is loaded on a conveyance for transportation directly to the buyer's receiving point. This is usually the seller's plant, warehouse or yard, but where the scrap is shipped directly to the buyer's receiving point from some point other than the seller's plant, warehouse or yard, such other point is the point of shipment. In the case of scrap shipped by water from outside the limits of the continental United States, the point of shipment means the place within the limits of the continental United States where the material is loaded on a conveyance for transportation directly to the buyer's receiving point. If such scrap is brought into the continental United States by overland shipment from Mexico or Canada, the point of shipment means the freight station in the continental United States at or nearest the point on the boundary between the United States and Mexico or Canada, as the case may be, at which the scrap first entered the United States.

(e) "At the buyer's receiving point" means that brass mill scrap has arrived at the buyer's plant and is ready for unloading.

(f) "Shipment at one time" includes all brass mill scrap which, under a single contract of purchase or other agreement and within any three consecutive calendar days excluding Saturdays, Sundays and legal holidays, is (1) received at one or more points of shipment by the public carrier transporting such scrap to the buyer's receiving point, or (2) loaded on the buyer's conveyance at one or more points of shipment, or (3) received at the buyer's receiving point from one or more points of shipment when delivery is made by other than a public carrier or the buyer's conveyance.

§ 1309.19 Appendix A: Maximum prices—(a) Introductory. This Revised Price Schedule No. 12 establishes maximum prices for all grades of brass mill scrap except cupro-nickel alloy scrap, maximum prices for which are established by Revised Price Schedule No. 8,[2] covering nickel-bearing scrap materials.

[2] 7 F.R. 1224, 1836, 2132, 3123, 3270, 3519.

[3] The maximum prices are established for material which is clean, dry, and free from foreign materials, and which meets generally accepted maximum standards in the trade. Scrap which fails to meet such standards must be sold at a price below the maximum price.

(b) Maximum prices f.o.b. point of shipment.[3] (1) The maximum price for any grade of brass mill scrap for which no specific price is established by paragraph (b) (2) of this section shall be a price properly reflecting the differential which normally prevailed during the period July 22, 1941 to February 11, 1942 between the price for such grade and the price for the most nearly similar grade for which a specific maximum price is established by paragraph (b) (2) of this section.

(2) The following are the specific maximum prices established by this Revised Price Schedule No. 12:

Grade	Maximum prices per pound of material (cents)
	Heavy scrap	Rod ends	Turnings
Copper	10¼	10¼	9½
Commercial bronze:
Containing 95% or more copper	9½	9¼	8¾
Containing minimum of 90% up to 95% copper	9⅜	9⅛	8⅝
Red brass:
Containing minimum of 80% copper	9⅛	8⅞	8⅜
Best quality brass:
Containing minimum of 71% up to 80% copper	8¾	8½	8
Yellow brass	8½	8⅜	7⅞
Muntz metal	8	7¾	7¼
Nickel silver:
Containing minimum 5% nickel	9¼	9	4½
Containing minimum 10% nickel	10⅛	9⅞	5 1/16
Containing minimum 15% nickel	10⅞	10⅝	5 7/16

(c) Quantity premiums. (1) To the maximum price established for any grade of brass mill scrap by paragraph (b) of this section there may be added the applicable one of the following quantity premiums:

(i) For the shipment at one time of 40,000 pounds or more made up of any grade or grades of brass mill scrap in any form—1¢ per pound.

(ii) For the shipment at one time of 15,000 pounds or more made up of any grade or grades of heavy brass mill scrap or any grade or grades of brass mill rod ends and turnings, but not of heavy brass mill scrap mixed with brass mill rod ends or turnings—⅝¢ per pound.

(2) In computing the weight of material necessary for a quantity premium, all containers, dunnage and other tare must first be deducted and the actual weight of the remaining material, at the buyer's plant, must be used.

(d) Delivery charges. (1) If brass mill scrap is delivered to the buyer's receiving point by a public (common or contract) carrier, the maximum delivery charge which the buyer may pay in addition to the established maximum price f. o. b. point of shipment shall be the actual transportation charge made by such carrier.

(2) If brass mill scrap is delivered to the buyer's receiving point by a vehicle owned or controlled by the seller or by a private carrier not owned or controlled by the buyer, the maximum delivery charge which the buyer may pay in addition to the established maximum price f. o. b. point of shipment shall be an amount not in excess of the following:

(ii) The scrap has been specially prepared to meet the petitioner's special requirements; and

(iii) If the petitioner purchased such scrap prior to July 21, 1941, petitioner paid a premium for such scrap over the brass mills' published buying prices for similar material.

COPPER SCRAP AND COPPER ALLOY SCRAP

A Statement of the Considerations involved in the issuance of this Amendment has been issued simultaneously herewith and has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.

In § 1309.71, paragraph (b), subparagraphs (3), (4), (9), (10), (12), (13), (18), (19), (23), and (32) in paragraph (c), paragraph (d), subparagraph (2) in paragraph (e), paragraph (g), and paragraph (h) are amended to read as set forth below, a new paragraph (i) in § 1309.71 and a new § 1309.70a are added:

§ 1309.71 Appendix A: Maximum prices. • • •

(b) Maximum prices f. o. b. point of shipment. (1) Minimum specifications are established in paragraph (c) of this section for each of the grades of copper scrap and copper alloy scrap for which a specific maximum price is established in paragraph (b) (2) of this section. The maximum price for any grade of copper scrap or copper alloy scrap which does not meet any of such specifications shall be a price properly reflecting the reduction in prices affected by Price Schedule No. 20 and the amendments thereto, and the differential which normally prevailed in the twelve-month period immediately prior to February 5, 1942, between the price for such grade and the price for the most nearly similar grade for which a specific maximum price is established in paragraph (b) (2) of this section.

(2) The following are maximum prices, f. o. b. freight cars, trucks or other means of transportation at the point of shipment [2] and include all commissions and service charges:

Item No. and grade of scrap	Maximum price per pound of material (cents)
1 No. 1 Copper Wire	9.75
1 No. 1 Heavy Copper	9.75
1 No. 2 Copper Wire and Mixed Heavy Copper	[3] 8.75
1 Light Copper	[3] 7.75
1 Lead-covered Copper Wire and Cable	Formula A
1 Insulated Copper Wire and Cable	Formula B

[3] If the copper content of No. 2 Copper Wire or Mixed Heavy Copper is more than 96% or less than 96% but not less than 95%, or if the copper content of Light Copper scrap is more than 92% or less than 92% but not less than 90%, then in any such case the maximum price per pound of material shall be increased or decreased at the rate of 0.11775¢ for each 1% variation in copper content with proportionate adjustments for variations of less than 1%. If the copper content of light copper scrap is less than 90% but not less than 85%, the maximum price per pound of material shall be determined in accord with Formula E: Refinery brass.

[2] If the consumer receives less than 5,000 pounds of any one of these grades in a shipment at one time, he may determine the approximate analysis of the material for purposes of classification and pricing by inspection instead of by assay: Provided, That in any such event the maximum prices per pound of material shall be the following:

	Cents
No. 2 copper wire and mixed heavy copper	8.75
Light copper	7.75
High-grade bronze	11.00
High-grade bronze borings	10.75
High lead bronze	10.00
High lead bronze borings	9.75

If the consumer receives 5,000 pounds or more but less than 40,000 pounds of any one of these grades, except high-grade bronze borings or high lead bronze borings, in a shipment at one time, he may determine the approximate analysis of the material for purposes of classification and pricing by inspection instead of by assay: Provided, That in any such event the maximum prices per pound of material shall be the following:

	Cents
No. 2 copper wire and mixed heavy copper	8.75
Light copper	7.60
High-grade bronze	10.75
High lead bronze	9.75

If the consumer receives 5,000 pounds or more of high-grade bronze borings or high lead bronze borings or 40,000 pounds or more of any other of these grades in a shipment at one time, he must make a chemical analysis of the material for purposes of classification and pricing.

[2] Any copper scrap or copper alloy scrap sold "where is" shall be sold at a price less than the applicable maximum price by an amount reflecting the cost of loading the material for shipment to the consumer.

[4] If these borings contain a total of more than 2% combined iron, oil, and other moisture, the price per pound of material shall be reduced 1% for each 1% of combined iron, oil, and other moisture in excess of 2%. For the purpose of classification and pricing, the weight of iron, oil, and other moisture shall first be deducted from the weight of the material and the metallic content of the remaining material determined by analysis. If the consumer receives less than 5,000 pounds of any of these borings in a shipment at one time, he may determine the amount of iron, oil, and other moisture by inspection instead of by actual test.

[5] If red brass breakage (irony composition) contains more than 10% iron, the maximum price per pound of material shall be reduced 1%, or the weight of the material paid for shall be reduced 1%, for each 1% of iron in excess of 10%. If the consumer receives less than 5,000 pounds of this material in a shipment at one time, he may determine the amount of iron by inspection instead of by actual test.

[6] If a consumer receives less than 20 tons of refinery brass in a shipment at one time, he may buy and pay for the material by determining its approximate copper content by sorting and inspection instead of by assay: Provided, That in such event the maximum price shall not exceed 4.75¢ per pound of material.

[7] If automobile radiators contain any iron, the maximum price per pound of material shall be reduced 1%, or the weight of the material paid for shall be reduced 1%, for each 1% of iron. If the top and bottom tanks have been removed, the maximum price for the remaining unsweated radiator core shall be the price for automobile radiators reduced by 0.25¢ per pound.

Formula A: Lead-Covered Wire and Cable. The maximum price for Lead-covered Copper Wire and Cable shall be a price determined by multiplying the weight of the copper wire or cable, less the weight of the lead covering and any insulation, by the maximum price established by this paragraph (b) (2) for such wire or cable had it been sold or delivered without such lead covering and insulation, and adding to the resulting product the maximum price, established by Revised Price Schedule No. 70,[3] for the lead content of such wire or cable. No payment shall be made for insulation.

Formula B; Insulated Copper Wire or Cable. The maximum price for Insulated Copper Wire or Cable shall be a price determined by multiplying the weight of the copper wire or cable, less the weight of the insulation, by the maximum price established by this paragraph (b) (2) for such wire or cable had it been sold or delivered without such insulation, and deducting from the resulting product 0.15¢ for each pound of the weight of such wire or cable including the weight of insulation. No payment shall be made for insulation.

Formula C: High-grade Bronze. The maximum price for High-grade Bronze shall be a price determined in accordance with the following formula and no payment may be made or received for any other elements contained:

(c) Specifications. • • •

If lead content is—	The maximum price per pound of material shall be—
0.00% to 0.50%	Copper content × 10.25¢ + tin content × 42.00¢.
0.51% to 1.00%	Copper content × 10.00¢ + tin content × 40.00¢.
1.01% to 2.00%	Copper content × 9.75¢ + tin content × 38.00¢.
2.01% to 3.00%	Copper content × 9.50¢ + tin content × 37.00¢.

High-grade bronze borings. The maximum price for high-grade bronze borings shall be a price determined in accordance with this Formula C less 0.25¢ per pound of material.

Formula D: High lead bronze. The maximum price for high lead bronze shall be a price determined in accordance with the following formula and no payment may be made or received for any other elements contained:

If zinc content is—	The maximum price per pound of material shall be—
0.00% to 1.25%	Copper content × 9.50¢ + tin content × 37.00¢.
1.26% to 3.00%	Copper content × 9.25¢ + tin content × 36.00¢.
3.01% to 4.00%	Copper content × 9.00¢ + tin content × 36.00¢.

High lead bronze may have an antimony content equal to one-twentieth of the lead content. If High lead bronze contains a higher or lower antimony content, then in any such case the maximum price determined in accordance with this Formula D shall be decreased or increased at the rate of 0.10¢ per pound of material for each 0.10 percent variation in antimony content with proportionate adjustments for variations of less than 0.10 percent.

(d) Rejections. (1) The consumer shall examine and sort the scrap contained in each lot in order to determine the rejections contained therein, except when the lot consists exclusively of turnings or borings or when it is sold or delivered as Refinery Brass. The maximum price for each grade of copper scrap and copper alloy scrap contained in such lot shall then be determined as follows:

(i) If the lot contains less than 10% rejections by weight, the maximum price for each grade shall be the maximum price for such grade established by paragraph (b) of this section.

(ii) If the lot contains 10% or more rejections by weight [4], the maximum price for each grade shall be the higher of the following [5]:

(a) The maximum price established by paragraph (b) of this section for the lowest-priced grade contained in such lot, or

(i) For distances of 300 miles or less, all bridge, tunnel and ferry tolls actually incurred may be added to the amount set forth in the above table.

(ii) The distance in miles shall be computed on the basis of the shortest public highway route available for the transportation of the shipment in question from the point of shipment to the consumer's receiving point.

(iii) In the event of partial loading of a truck at each of two or more pick-up points, the transportation charge for each portion of the load delivered to the consumer shall be separately computed in accordance with the provisions of this paragraph (g).

(iv) The seller shall furnish to the consumer on the invoice, or on a separate statement, the point or points of shipment, the amount of the load picked up at each point, the charge for delivery of that portion of the load picked up at each point, the mileage upon which each such portion of the charge is based, and the total delivery charge.

(3) Anything hereinbefore contained to the contrary notwithstanding, if a quantity premium permitted by paragraph (e) of this section is paid on copper scrap or copper alloy scrap shipped from more than one point of shipment by any of the following means of transportation, the maximum delivery charge which the consumer may pay, in addition to the established maximum price f. o. b. point of shipment, shall be an amount not in excess of the applicable one of the following limitations:

(i) Entirely by railroad—the carload rate from that one of the several points of shipment which has the lowest carload rate to the consumer's receiving point.

(ii) Entirely by public carrier truck—the established truckload rate for the lowest minimum weight from that one of the several points of shipment which has the lowest truckload rate to the consumer's receiving point.

(iii) Entirely by vehicle owned or controlled by the seller or private carrier not owned or controlled by the consumer—the rate set forth in subparagraph (2) of this paragraph (g) from that one of the several points of shipment which has the lowest rate to the consumer's receiving point.

(iv) Partly by railroad, partly by public carrier truck, partly by vehicle owned or controlled by the seller, or a private carrier not owned or controlled by the consumer, or any combination of the foregoing—the lowest of the rates set forth in the preceding subdivisions of this subparagraph (3): Provided, That the rate governing any method of shipment not actually employed may be disregarded.

(h) Credit charges. An amount not to exceed ½ of 1% per month for the extension of credit beyond thirty days after delivery may be charged over and above the maximum prices established by this Revised Price Schedule No. 20, as amended.

(i) Exceptions—(1) Conversion of railroad scrap. Nothing in this Revised Price Schedule No. 20, as amended, or in the General Maximum Price Regulation [6] shall apply to the sale, delivery or transfer of copper scrap or copper alloy scrap to a foundry by a person owning, operating or maintaining rolling stock: Provided, That:

(i) The copper scrap and copper alloy scrap results from such person's use or processing of castings or other articles of the type produced by the foundry;

(ii) The foundry converts such copper scrap and copper alloy scrap into castings or other articles of the type from which the scrap resulted; and

(iii) Such person delivers the scrap to the foundry and the foundry returns an equivalent amount of castings or other articles of the type from which the scrap resulted in accordance with the terms of a written agreement approved by the War Production Board.

(2) Idle and excessive inventories. Nothing in this Revised Price Schedule No. 20, as amended, or in the General Maximum Price Regulation shall apply to sales or deliveries of copper scrap or copper alloy scrap by any person to the Copper Recovery Corporation, the Metals Reserve Company, or their agents, pursuant to Salvage Program IRB–8 with respect to idle and excessive inventories of copper and copper base alloy products, adopted and announced by the War Production Board, Division of Industry Operations, by a letter dated May 11, 1942: Provided, That the provisions of this Revised Price Schedule No. 20, as amended, shall apply to all sales, deliveries or transfers of copper scrap or copper alloy scrap to a consumer by the Copper Recovery Corporation, the Metals Reserve Company or their agents.

(3) Intra-organization transactions. Nothing in this Revised Price Schedule No. 20, as amended, or in the General Maximum Price Regulation shall apply to sales or deliveries of copper scrap or copper alloy scrap between a parent corporation and a wholly owned subsidiary corporation, or between two or more subsidiary corporations wholly owned by the same parent corporation. For the purposes of this subparagraph, a subsidiary corporation shall be deemed to be wholly owned by a parent corporation only if the parent corporation owns all of the capital stock of the subsidiary corporation, except that, if required by the law of the state of incorporation of the subsidiary corporation, necessary qualifying shares may be owned by persons other than the parent corporation.

(4) Briquetted copper scrap sold or delivered to a brass and bronze ingot manufacturer. Any brass and bronze ingot manufacturer may file a petition for exception pursuant to the provisions of Procedural Regulation No. 1 [7] requesting permission to pay the premiums for briquetted copper scrap provided in § 1309.71 (f) (1) (i). The Office of Price Administration may impose such conditions on the granting of permission under this subparagraph as it deems necessary to prevent evasion of the provisions of Revised Price Schedule No. 20, as amended. No permission will be granted under this subparagraph unless the petitioner establishes that:

(i) In the three calendar months directly preceding the month in which the petition is filed with the Office of Price Administration, the petitioner produced a total of less than 600,000 pounds of brass and bronze ingot. In this connection, petitioner must state:

(a) Production in pounds of brass and bronze ingot for each such calendar month.

(b) Production in pounds of all other non-ferrous products, in which copper scrap was used, for each such calendar month.

(ii) In the calendar month directly preceding the month in which the petition is filed with the Office of Price Administration the petitioner was unable to purchase the amount of No. 1 and No. 2 copper scrap allocated to him by the War Production Board pursuant to Copper Supplementary Order M–9–b,[8] as amended. In this connection, petitioner must state:

(a) Amount of No. 1 and No. 2 copper scrap so allocated to him for such calendar month.

(iii) Petitioner regularly purchased copper scrap in briquetted form in the six-month period from January 1, 1941 to July 1, 1941. If petitioner did not regularly purchase copper scrap in briquetted form during the period January 1, to July 1, 1941, petitioner must explain in detail why he now desires to purchase copper scrap in briquetted form. In this connection, petitioner must state:

(a) Total amount of copper scrap received between January 1 and July 1, 1941.

(b) Total amount of copper scrap received in briquetted form between January 1 and July 1, 1941.

(c) What changes, if any, have occurred in petitioner's plant or production and how, if at all, they have affected his demands for copper scrap in briquetted form.

For distances of more than 300 miles, an amount not in excess of the charge computed at the lowest railroad carload rate applicable to shipments of any commodity covered by Revised Price Schedule No. 70, from the railroad siding nearest the point of shipment to the railroad siding nearest the point of delivery.

(1) For distances of 300 miles or less, all bridge, tunnel, and ferry tolls actually incurred may be added to the amount set forth in the table above.

(2) The distance shall be computed on the basis of the shortest public highway route available for the transportation of the shipment in question from point of shipment to buyer's receiving point. In the event of partial loading of a truck at each of two or more pickup points, the transportation charge for each portion of the load delivered to the buyer shall be separately computed in accordance with the provisions of this paragraph (b).

(c) The seller shall furnish to the consumer on the invoice, or on a separate statement, the point or points of shipment, the amount of the load picked up at each point, the charge for delivery of that portion of the load picked up at each point, the mileage upon which each such portion of the charge is based, and the total delivery charge.

(d) When used in this § 1355.70, the term "point of shipment" means the point at which any commodity covered by Revised Price Schedule No. 70 is loaded on a conveyance for transportation directly to the buyer's receiving point. This is usually the seller's plant, warehouse, or yard, but, where the material is shipped directly to the buyer from some point other than the seller's plant, warehouse, or yard, such other point is the point of shipment.

It is hereby further found, That the High Point Coal Company upon any restoration of its code membership should be directed to cease and desist from violations of the Act, the Code and rules and regulations thereunder.

Whereas, following such hearing the said Harold Stein duly made his findings of fact and determined as follows:

1. Logging operations in the State of Idaho and adjacent areas include the building of roads, and camps, the felling, sawing, trimming, and bucking of white pine, cedar, fir, and other species of timber, and the skidding and hauling of the logs to the railroad, mill, or river by truck, rail, flume, or other means, as well as the manufacture of cedar poles.

2. "Truck logging" operations in northern Idaho and adjacent areas differ from other types of logging in these areas only in that the logs are hauled by motor truck instead of by other means.

3. Truck logging operations in northern Idaho and adjacent areas do not constitute a separable branch of the lumber industry within the meaning of section 7 (b) (3) of the Fair Labor Standards

Act and Part 526 of the regulations issued thereunder, but must be considered as part of the same industry as other logging operations in this area, regardless of whether the logs are hauled by truck, rail, or other methods, or whether operations are confined to the production of white pine or include other species of timber.

4. Although the operations of many small truck logging enterprises in these areas are restricted to periods of six months or less each year, partly as a result of climatic or other natural conditions and partly because of economic considerations, other small scale truck logging operations in this area are carried on for periods greatly in excess of six months each year. The large lumber companies in this area carry on truck logging operations for annual periods ranging from eight to eleven months. Railroad logging operations are carried on for periods of eight to twelve months per year. Truck logging, railroad logging, or a combination of the two methods are carried on in this area during the entire year.

5. Logging operations in northern Idaho and adjacent areas take place during a period too long in relation to the period of exemption afforded by section 7 (b) (3) of the Act to warrant a finding that such logging is of a seasonal nature.

The application is denied; and

Whereas, said Findings and Determination were duly filed with the Administrator on July 6, 1942, and are now on file in Room 1619, National Offices of the Wage and Hour Division, Department of Labor, 165 West 46th Street, New York, New York, and available for examination by all interested parties;

Now, therefore, pursuant to the provisions of § 526.7 of the aforesaid regulations, notice is hereby given that any person aggrieved by the said determination may, within fifteen days after the date this notice appears in the FEDERAL REGISTER, file a petition with the Administrator at the offices of the Wage and Hour Division, 165 West 46th Street, New York, New York, requesting that he review the action of the said representative upon the record of hearing. Signed at New York, New York, this 16th day of July 1942.

WILLIAM B. GROGAN,
Acting Administrator.

§ 231.1 Definitions. For the purpose of these instructions and the notes and loan agreements or mortgages relating thereto, the following terms shall be construed, respectively, to mean:

(a) Grain. Rye, barley, and grain sorghums.

(b) Producer eligibility. Any person, partnership, association, or corporation producing rye, barley, or grain sorghums as landlord, landowner, or tenant upon whose farm: (1) the sum of the 1942 acreages of wheat, cotton, corn, and tobacco does not exceed the sum of the allotments or permitted acreages of such crops determined for the farm under the 1942 Agricultural Conservation Program, and (2) 20 percent or more of the cropland is devoted to the conservation uses as defined in section I (i) (1) of the 1942 Agricultural Conservation Program, or 25 percent or more of the cropland is devoted to erosion-resisting use, or 60 percent or more of the soil building allowance for the farm under the 1942 Agricultural Conservation Program is earned.

(c) Eligible grain. (1) Eligible rye shall be rye grading No. 2 or better or grading No. 3 solely on the factor of test weight, but otherwise grading No. 2 or better, produced in 1942, the beneficial interest to which is and always has been in the eligible producer. Rye grading tough, light smutty, smutty, light garlicky, garlicky, or rye containing in excess of 1 percent ergot shall not be eligible for a loan. Rye containing in excess of three-tenths of 1 percent, but not in excess of 1 percent ergot, shall be eligible for a loan at discounts set out in § 231.3 (a) hereof.

(2) Eligible barley shall be barley of any class grading No. 5 or better, the beneficial interest to which is and always has been in the eligible producer. Barley grading tough, stained, blighted, smutty, garlicky, weevily, ergoty, or bleached shall not be eligible for loan.

(3) Eligible grain sorghums shall be grain sorghums grading No. 4 or better except that grain sorghums grading weevily or smutty, or containing in excess of 13 percent moisture when stored on the farm or in excess of 14 percent when stored in a warehouse, shall not be eligible for a loan.

(d) Eligible storage. Eligible storage shall include public grain warehouses and farm storage meeting the following requirements:

(1) Public grain warehouses which have met the requirements of Commodity Credit Corporation and have executed the Uniform Grain Storage Agreement.

(2) Farm storage shall consist of farm bins and granaries which are of such substantial and firm construction as to afford safe storage for the grain for a period of 2 years and permit effective fumigation for the destruction of insects and afford protection against rodents, other animals, thieves, and weather as determined by the county agricultural conservation committee.

(e) Lending agency. Any bank, cooperative marketing association or other corporation, partnership, or person making loans in accordance with these instructions which has executed the Contract to Purchase on 1940 C.C.C. Form E.

(f) Eligible paper. Eligible paper shall consist of notes of the producer secured by chattel mortgages or warehouse receipts representing grain in existence and undamaged executed in accordance with these instructions and approved by a member of the county agricultural conservation committee, with State documentary revenue stamps affixed thereto where required by law. Notes executed by an administrator, executor, or trustee will be acceptable only where valid in law.

§ 231.2 Area in which loans will be made. Loans will be made on eligible grain when stored in (a) approved warehouses or (b) when stored in private bins or granaries approved by county agricultural conservation committees. State agricultural conservation committees may declare counties ineligible for farm storage in the event such storage is hazardous because of insect infestation.

§ 231.3 Amount of loans. The following loan rates apply to grain stored on the farm or in approved warehouses when evidence is submitted that storage charges have been prepaid through the maturity date of the note. Evidence of prepaid storage must be a stamped or typed legend on or attached to the warehouse receipt which is signed by the warehouseman and substantially stating:

Storage charges for the period ending (April 30, 1943, for rye and barley) (June 30, 1943, for grain sorghums) on the grain represented by this warehouse receipt have been paid or otherwise provided for and lien for such charges will not be claimed by the warehouseman from Commodity Credit Corporation or any subsequent holder of this warehouse receipt.

Address Warehouseman

Seven cents will be deducted from the applicable loan rate for grain stored in warehouses for which evidence of prepaid storage is not submitted.

(a) The loan value for eligible rye grading No. 2 or better, or rye grading No. 3 solely on the factor of test weight but otherwise grading No. 2 or better, shall be 60 cents per bushel, except that the loan value for eligible rye containing in excess of three-tenths of 1 percent (0.3 percent) but not in excess of 1 percent (1 percent) shall be discounted 1 cent for each one-tenth of 1 percent (0.1 percent) ergot in excess of three-tenths of 1 percent (0.3 percent).

(b) Loan values on barley except Mixed Barley (Class IV) shall be based for all classes on the numerical grades as provided in the Official Grain Standards of the United States, in accordance with the following:

In determining the quantity of grain in farm storage by measurement fractional pounds of the bushel test weight will be disregarded and the quantity determined shall be adjusted by the following respective percentages:

§ 231.6 Farm storage. Grain stored on the farm must have been stored in the granary at least 30 days prior to its inspection for measurement, sampling, and sealing, unless otherwise approved by State committee and regional directors of the Agricultural Adjustment Agency. In accordance with regulations issued by the Secretary of Agriculture, the State and county agricultural conservation committees will arrange for the inspection and approval of storage structures and the measuring, sampling, grading, and sealing of the collateral grain. Chattel mortgages covering the grain must be executed and filed in accordance with the applicable State law. In the event the borrower is a tenant and the collateral grain is stored on the farm, the expiration date of the lease must be shown in the chattel mortgage, and if such date is prior to a date 60 days beyond the maturity date of the note (June 30, 1943, for rye and barley, and August 30, 1943, for grain sorghums) the Consent for Storage section of the chattel mortgage must be executed by the owner of the premises and any other party that might be entitled to possession of the premises. Each producer must designate in the chattel mortgage a shipping point reasonably convenient for the delivery of the collateral grain as determined by the county committee. A separate note and chattel mortgage must be submitted for grain stored on each quarter section of land.

Commodity Credit Corporation will accept delivery of all the producer's grain in the bin or bins in which all or a portion of the grain therein was placed under loan: Provided, That such delivery will be limited to the number of bushels that was in the bin at the time the loan was made, less any amount which has been previously removed. The producer will be given credit for the number of bushels so delivered at the loan rate applicable to the quality of grain delivered. In the event a loan rate has not been established for the quality of grain delivered the regional director of Commodity Credit Corporation will determine the value.

§ 231.7 Public warehouses. Commodity Credit Corporation will accept only insured negotiable warehouse receipts representing eligible grain issued by any public grain warehouse which has executed the Uniform Grain Storage Agreement and has been approved by the Commodity Credit Corporation. Warehousemen desiring approval are advised to communicate with the regional director of Commodity Credit Corporation serving the area in which the warehouse is located. Uniform storage and handling charges and terms of the storage agreement are outlined in the Uniform Grain Storage Agreement. All grain pledged as security for a loan must be stored in the same warehouse. Grain moved by rail freight to a warehouse will not command a higher loan value than grain stored on farms or in warehouses located at country points.

§ 231.8 Warehouse receipts. Warehouse receipts must be dated on or prior to the date of the related note and must be properly assigned by an endorsement in blank so as to vest title in the holder, or issued to bearer and must be issued by approved warehouses. Unless the warehouse receipts are stamped or printed "insured" or "fully insured" there must be attached thereto or included in a certificate of the warehouseman a statement that the grain is insured for not less than the market value against the hazards of fire, lightning, inherent explosion, windstorms, cyclone and tornado. Commodity Credit Corporation will not accept warehouse receipts indicating any lien for charges prior to unloading in or delivery to the warehouse issuing such receipts. Lien for storage charges, unless prepaid through maturity, will be recognized only from June 1, 1942, or the date of the warehouse receipt, whichever is later. Receipts must set out in their written or printed terms, the gross weight or bushels, the grade, test weight, and all other factors and statements required to be stated in the written or printed terms of a negotiable warehouse receipt under the provisions of section 2 of the Uniform Warehouse Receipts Act, or are to be accompanied by a certificate of the warehouseman, identified to such warehouse receipt, including such information. Warehouse receipts for No. 3 rye, to be eligible, must contain a statement that the rye grades No. 2 or better except for test weight. Receipts for grain sorghums, other than No. 1, must bear statement that the moisture content does not exceed 14 percent.

§ 231.9 Liens. The grain collateral must be free and clear of all liens, or if liens exist on the collateral, proper waivers must be secured from each lienholder. The names of the holders of all existing liens on the pledged or mortgaged grain such as landlord, laborers, threshers, or mortgagees, must be listed in the space provided in the chattel mortgage or note and loan agreement. The waiver and consent to pledge or mortgage the grain and the payment of the proceeds of the loan and the proceeds of the sale of the grain solely to the producer as contained in the mortgage or note and loan agreement must be signed personally by all lienholders listed or by their duly authorized agents; or, if corporation, by an officer authorized to execute such instruments. Lienholders may sign C.C.C. Form AB, completely identifying the related note, in lieu of signing the appropriate section of the chattel mortgage or note and loan agreement. The proceeds of the loan may be made payable to the producer and/or such other person or concern as the producer may direct in the space provided on the note. Producer should be sure that grain offered as collateral for a loan is not covered by previous real estate or other mortgages. The producer shall be held personally liable for the amount of the loan and subject to the provisions of the United States Criminal Code for any fraudulent representation of fact made in the execution of the note and mortgage or loan agreement.

§ 231.10 Insurance—(a) Grain stored on farms. Commodity Credit Corporation will not require producers to insure their 1942 farm-stored grain placed under loan. In case of a total loss of collateral resulting from an external cause, with the exception of a loss caused by conversion, negligence, or vermin, the Commodity Credit Corporation will mark the note "paid" and return it to the borrower. In case of a partial loss of collateral resulting from an external cause, with the exception of a loss caused by conversion, negligence, or vermin, the note will be credited at the loan value, plus interest, for the number of bushels on which the loss occurred. No loss will be assumed if it is determined that there is fraudulent representation on the part of the borrower in connection with the loan.

(b) Grain stored in approved warehouse. The warehouseman shall provide insurance against the perils of fire, lightning, inherent explosion, and windstorm, cyclone, and tornado for the full market value of grain stored in their warehouses as long as receipts are outstanding.

§ 231.11 Approval of loans by a member of the county committee. C.C.C. Grain Form A (Revised) and C.C.C. Grain Form B must be approved by a member of the county agricultural conservation committee. The date of approval must not be prior to the date of the note or note and loan agreement.

(a) Farm storage note. A member of the county committee signing in the space provided on the Grain Producer's Note (C.C.C. Grain Form A (Revised)) certifies for and on behalf of the committee that to its best knowledge and belief the grain securing said note and the storage structure(s) in which said grain is stored have been inspected and sealed and the quantity, quality, and loan value determined in accordance with regulations of the Secretary of Agriculture; that the representations set forth in the chattel mortgage are true and correct; that the chattel mortgage covering said grain has been properly executed and will be filed for record in accordance with the requirements of Commodity Credit Corporation; that satisfactory evidence of authority of all parties executing note, chattel mortgage, lienwaiver(s), and consent for storage has been received, and any documentary evidence of authority will be held by the committee; that the original or a duplicate copy of said mortgage bearing receipt of the county recording official is held by the committee; that all lienholders have waived the priority of their liens and consents granted for storage if necessary in accordance with the provisions of the Agricultural Adjustment Agency instructions.

(b) Warehouse storage note and loan agreement. A member of the county committee signing in the space provided on the Grain Producer's Note and Loan Agreement (C.C.C. Grain Form B) certifies for and on behalf of the committee that to its best knowledge and belief the representations set forth by the producer are true and correct; that the amount of the loan on the described grain has been correctly determined on the basis of the warehouse receipts in accordance with these instructions and supplements thereto; and that all existing liens on the pledged grain are listed in § 231.7.

§ 231.12 Source and preparation of documents. Forms will be furnished county agricultural conservation committees and copies for the purpose of information may be obtained from such committees or from the office of the regional director serving the area, listed in § 231.15 hereof. All loan documents shall be prepared in the office of the county agricultural conservation committee. All blanks in C.C.C. Grain Forms A (Revised), AA (Revised), and B must be filled in with ink, typewriter, or indelible pencil, and such documents containing additions, alterations, or erasures will be accepted by Commodity Credit Corporation only when such corrections are properly initialed by the producer. The county agricultural conservation associations will collect a service fee for all loans.

§ 231.13 Source of loans. Loans may be obtained from Commodity Credit Corporation or any approved lending agency. Notes representing loans made direct with Commodity Credit Corporation should indicate Commodity Credit Corporation as payee and should be mailed to the regional director serving the area. Notes representing loans made with other agencies should bear the name and address of the lending agency as payee.

§ 231.14 Purchase of loan. Commodity Credit Corporation will purchase, without recourse, eligible paper only from approved lending agencies in accordance with the terms of the Contract to Purchase (1940 C.C.C. Form E). Paper held by lending agencies must be submitted to the regional director serving the area in which the grain is stored. Lending agencies should report weekly on 1940 C.C.C. Form F all payments or collections on producers' notes. An amount equivalent to 1½ percent interest per annum on the principal amount collected must be submitted with such weekly reports.

Chapter I—Bureau of Customs

[T.D. 50682]

PART 19—CARTAGE AND LIGHTERAGE

IDENTIFICATION CARDS[1]

Article 1036, Customs Regulations of 1937, amended to prescribe the procedure in connection with the use of revised customs Form 3873 (Identification Card of Licensed Cartman or Lighterman or Employee Thereof).

Section 19.10 of the Customs Regulations of 1937 [Article 1036] is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 19.10 Identification cards. Each licensed cartman or lighterman and each employee thereof who receives or transports imported merchandise which has not been released from customs shall possess an identification card, customs Form 3873, with his photograph securely affixed thereto with glue or other adhesive substance. The cards shall also bear his signature in the space provided. Such identification card shall be issued by the collector only upon application on customs Form 3078 of the licensed cartman or lighterman. The application shall be filed personally at the customhouse by the person for whom the application for the identification card is made, together with two photographs of such person in addition to the one to be affixed to the application. The fingerprints of such person shall be taken on customs Form 3872 at the time of the filing of the application. The identification card shall become valid when the United States customs seal has been impressed thereon, which seal shall not be impressed until after the card has been otherwise completed. Each identification card shall be prepared in duplicate. The original, after having impressed thereon the customs seal, shall be presented to the person in whose name the card is issued and shall be in his possession at all times when he is engaged in receiving or transporting the imported merchandise. The duplicate shall be retained as an office record. It shall be the responsibility of each person to whom an identification card is issued to protect it with an appropriate transparent cover so that the face and back of the card are visible without removing the cover. Whenever the employment of the holder of an identification card is changed to another licensed cartman or lighterman, the card, supported by an application in proper form, shall be submited promptly to the collector so that the change may be made officially on the card and on the customhouse records. The card shall be submitted promptly to the collector when there is a change of address of the holder. New cards shall be issued when necessary. Should an identification card be presented by a person other than the one to whom it was issued, such card shall be forthwith confiscated. The identification card shall be surrendered when the holder thereof leaves the employment of a licensed cartman or lighterman for employment of some other character. All outstanding identification cards issued to a licensed cartman or lighterman, and to the employees thereof, shall be taken up by the collector upon the suspension, revocation, or lapse of the license of the cartman or lighterman.

Supplies of the revised customs Forms 3078, 3872, and 3873, are now available and may be secured by requisition on customs Form 3039. Outstanding identification cards on the old issue of customs Form 3873 are not required to be exchanged for the new form. (Secs. 565, 624, 46 Stat. 747, 759; 19 U.S.C. 1565, 1624) [Article 1036]

TITLE 21—FOOD AND DRUGS

Chapter I—Food and Drug Administration

[Docket No. FDC-27]

PART 27—CANNED FRUIT: DEFINITIONS AND STANDARDS OF IDENTITY; QUALITY AND FILL OF CONTAINER

CANNED FRUIT COCKTAIL

Order

By virtue of authority vested in the Federal Security Administrator by the provisions of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act, 52 Stat. 1046 and 1055, 21 U.S.C. secs. 341 and 371; the Reorganization Act of 1939, 53 Stat. 561 ff., 5 U.S.C. sec. 133–133r; and Reorganization Plans No. 1 (53 Stat. 1423, 4 F.R. 2727) and No. IV (5 F.R. 2421); and upon the basis of evidence received at the hearing herein; the following order is promulgated hereby:

Findings of Fact

1. The food, canned fruit cocktail, was originated for commercial distribution by a California canner about 1930 and he applied the name, fruit cocktail, to it.

2. The food was designed for use, either alone or in combination with other ingredients, as a cocktail, salad or dessert. One of these uses was as a fruit base to which other fruits may be added in the preparation of the food for table use.

3. The original fruit cocktail was marketed after extensive experimentation with component fruits and packing media.

4. As first marketed it consisted of certain fixed fruits within certain fixed ranges of proportions, packed in sugar sirups so controlled as to obtain certain fixed ranges of density in the finished product.

5. The component fruits were peach, pear, grape, pineapple and cherry.

6. The fruit units used were of suitable sizes and shapes and were mixed prior to or during canning.

7. The sugar sirups used were of two densities, each designed to contribute a particular degree of sweetness to the finished fruit cocktail. The liquid drained from the finished fruit cocktail fell within the following density ranges, as measured by the Brix hydrometer:

Not less than 18° but less than 22°;
22° or more but not more than 35°.

8. Following such commercial introduction other canners commenced the manufacture and sale of canned fruit cocktail, and its sales have increased until the product ranks high among canned fruits in point of quantity canned.

9. When other canners began to make canned fruit cocktail they adopted the name, the fruits used, the relative proportions of the fruits, and the densities of the sugar sirups used, all as established by the originator of the product.

10. Throughout the life of the food it has been known as and labeled "fruit cocktail" without exception other than the occasional, synonymous use of the terms "fruits for cocktail" and "cocktail fruits", and such names are common or usual names of the food.

11. Except as noted in finding 50, such names have never been employed to designate any other commercial canned food.

12. Throughout the life of the product it has been prepared from a mixture of peach, pear, grape, pineapple and cherry and from no other fruits, except at noted in finding 50.

13. Such fruits, when in forms of units suitable for fruit cocktail, are sufficiently firm to withstand mixing and heating processes necessary in the preparation of the food under good canning technology as it now exists; whereas, all the other available fruits which are otherwise suitable are not so adapted.

14. Each of such fruits contributes its distinctive flavor to the flavor combination originally desired and since maintained.

15. Such combination of fruit flavors is an essential identifying characteristic of canned fruit cocktail.

16. Although many housewives prefer to serve fruit cocktails of a more zestful flavor induced by the use of such fresh fruits as oranges, grapefruit, bananas and apricots, and frequently add these fruits to canned fruit cocktail before serving it, nevertheless, canning technology has not yet developed to the point that such fruits, when included in the canned product, retain the characteristics desired by such housewives.

17. Each of the fruits used in canned fruit cocktail contributes to the combination of colors considered desirable in this food for its use as a cocktail, salad, or dessert.

18. Such combination of colors is an essential identifying characteristic of fruit cocktail.

19. Peaches of any yellow variety are suitable for use in canned fruit cocktail. Peaches of white varieties are unsuitable because they do not contribute the essential orange-yellow color.

20. Pears of any variety are suitable for use in canned fruit cocktail.

21. Any grapes of a "white" (pale green), seedless variety are suitable for use in canned fruit cocktail. Dark-colored varieties of grapes are not suitable for the reason that they would stain the other fruits. The seed of varieties having seed are objectionable in the product.

22. Pineapple of any variety is suitable for use in canned fruit cocktail.

23. Cherries of any light, sweet variety, cherries artificially colored red, and cherries artificially colored red and artificially flavored, singly but not in combination are suitable for use in canned fruit cocktail. Cherries of red sour and dark sweet varieties are unsuitable for use because they would stain the other fruits.

24. In the preparation of cherries artificially colored red and cherries artificially colored red and artificially flavored the cherries are subject to processes which eliminate most, if not all, of the natural juices, color and flavor, so that the finished product differs in color, flavor and food value from natural cherries.

25. The presence of cherries artificially colored red or cherries artificially colored red and artificially flavored is a significant factor in consumers' preference for and choice of canned fruit cocktail.

26. The varieties of fruits specified in findings 19–23, inclusive, are the only varieties used in canned fruit cocktail, and the presence of fruits of such varieties is an essential identifying characteristic of canned fruit cocktail.

27. Each of the fruits used in canned fruit cocktail must be mature.

28. Such fruits are suitable for use in canned fruit cocktail when fresh or when previously canned.

29. It is necessary that the fruits used in canned fruit cocktail be prepared as follows: The peaches are peeled, pitted, and diced; the pears are peeled, cored and diced; the grapes are stemmed; the pineapple is peeled, cored and cut into sectors or dice; and the cherries are stemmed, pitted and cut into approximate halves.

30. Except as noted in finding 51 the fruits in canned fruit cocktail have always been used in such forms of units.

31. Such forms of units are an essential identifying characteristic of canned fruit cocktail.

32. In addition to the identity of the fruits present, a factor essential in maintaining the characteristic flavor and color combinations of canned fruit cocktail is the proportion of each fruit present.

33. Canned fruit cocktail is customarily divided into individual servings, the number being proportionate to the size of the containers; 4½ ounces represents an ordinary serving.

34. It is essential to the maintenance of the characteristic blend of flavors and colors in each individual serving that each 4½ ounces of the food, and any fraction thereof greater than two ounces contain not less than two sectors or 3 dice of pineapple and not less than one-half cherry, these being the more expensive fruit ingredients.

35. Throughout the life of the food, except as noted in finding 53, the fruits therein have been mixed within the following ranges of proportions by weight of the fruit in the finished food, from which the packing medium has been drained:

Peach, not less than 30 nor more than 50 percent.

Pear, not less than 25 nor more than 45 percent.

Grape, not less than 6 nor more than 20 percent.

Pineapple, not less than 6 nor more than 16 percent.

Cherry, not less than 2 nor more than 6 percent.

36. Such ranges are necessary because of the impossibility of obtaining uniformity of the mixture by the methods employed in good manufacturing practice.

37. Combination of the fruits within such ranges of proportions is an essential identifying characteristic of canned fruit cocktail.

38. The presence of a liquid packing medium in canned fruit cocktail is essential to permit it to be processed by heat so as to prevent spoilage.

39. The presence of a liquid packing medium is an essential identifying characteristic of canned fruit cocktail.

40. The liquid packing medium used throughout the life of the product, except as noted in finding 53, has been one of two optional sugar sirups, which are distinguished by the density and sweetness of the liquids in the finished product.

41. Consistent with trade practice previously established in connection with other canned fruits packed in sirups of similar sweetness and densities, such sirups were designated in the industry and are commonly known to consumers as "heavy" and "extra heavy".

42. The sirup of lighter density and sweetness is that in which the liquid, 15 days or more after canning, is not less than 18° Brix but less than 22° Brix.

43. The sirup of heavier density and sweetness is that in which the cut-out liquid, 15 days or more after canning, is not less than 22° Brix but not more than 35° Brix.

44. The density of any such packing medium, before it is mixed with the fruit ("ingoing"), differs from its density as present in the finished canned fruit cocktail ("cut-out"), by reason of the blending of such packing medium with the liquid from the fruit.

45. The charge in density of the packing medium in the sealed and heat-processed can progresses to an equilibrium which is reached within fifteen days from the date of sealing in the can.

46. By following accepted commercial practices, at least the minimum of the desired density range of the cut-out liquid can be obtained with certainty.

47. Canned fruit cocktail is sealed in a container and is so processed by heat as to prevent spoilage.

48. The liquid in the finished canned fruit cocktail does not have a density of more than 35° Brix. Such a limitation is necessary to distinguish the food from other sweetened fruit products, such as preserves, and is an essential identifying characteristic of canned fruit cocktail.

49. Based upon experience with and understanding of the composition of canned fruit cocktail, the purchaser thereof understands it to be a food composed of the kinds and varieties of fruits hereinbefore stated, in the forms of units and in the proportions hereinbefore stated, and in one of the two optional sirups hereinbefore designated.

50. Occasionally in the past and recently more frequently, fruit mixtures of degraded and cheaper composition have been sold under the name of canned fruit cocktail in order to take advantage of the increasing popularity of that food at the expense of the purchasing public.

51. Such frauds have been of three kinds: (a) the substitution of cheaper fruits; (b) the use of large proportions of the cheaper fruits recognized as ingredients of canned fruit cocktail, and therefore of smaller proportions of the expensive fruits than the proportions necessary for the customary uses of the product; (c) the use of slivers, fragments, or other misshapen units of fruit commonly regarded as unsuitable for use in canned fruit cocktail.

52. The growing tendency toward these debasing practices causes other canners to engage in similar practices in order to meet competition. This leads to the reasonable expectation that a continuation of the trend will result in the further degradation and loss of identity of the product known to the consumer as canned fruit cocktail; all at the expense of honesty and fair dealing in the interest of consumers.

53. Since 1937 various new packing media have been used in relatively small portions of the pack of canned fruit cocktail.

54. The special dietary uses of foods low in carbohydrates have recently led to the use of water as the sole packing medium of some canned fruit cocktail.

55. Water may be added directly to the mixture of fruits, through the use of the packing media of such fruits originally canned in water. Whenever any quantity of water is introduced into fruit juice, directly or indirectly, the entire liquid of the packing medium is considered to be water and not fruit juice for the purposes of a packing medium in canned fruit cocktail, because of the inherent opportunities for fraud in introducing water into fruit juices.

56. There has recently been a growing increase of the use as packing media of the juices of the fruits present in fruit cocktail. Such juices may be expressed from one or more of such fruits or they may be drained from such fruits originally canned in such juice.

57. Such juices sometimes require straining or filtering to remove insoluble fruit solids which would cloud the liquid of the canned fruit cocktail.

58. There have also been introduced sirups in which sugar has been replaced by invert sugar sirup, or in part by dextrose or corn sugar, corn sirup, or corn sirup solids, as well as sirups in which water is replaced by the fruit juices specified in finding 56. Such sirups, including sugar sirups, may be prepared for direct addition to the fruits or drained from any of the fruits previously canned in the respective ingredients of such sirups. If any water is used, directly or indirectly, in the preparation of such sirups, according to established trade practice they are considered to be plain sirups and not fruit juice sirups.

59. Equal quantities of the solids of all such saccharine agents yield sirups of practically equivalent specific gravities. Therefore, densities of the new sirups have consistently followed the traditional densities of the sugar sirups used as packing media in canned fruit cocktail, under the same designations as to density of "heavy" and "extra heavy".

60. Sugar is the refined product in crystallized form commonly obtained from sugar cane or sugar beet; it is chemically known as sucrose.

61. When sugar in solution is subjected to certain treatments with the enzymes invertase or certain acids, it is wholly or partly converted into levulose and dextrose, the quantities of levulose and dextrose produced being equal. This chemical reaction is commonly known as the inversion of sugar.

62. Invert sugar sirup is an aqueous solution of sugar or partly refined sugar which has been wholly or in large part inverted with the enzyme invertase or with hydrochloric or other acid, and which, if acid is used, has been neutralized with a carbonate.

63. The quantity of ash present in invert sugar sirup is in general indicative of the degree of refinement of the sugar in such sirup.

64. An invert sugar sirup which is insufficiently refined and which has an abnormally high ash content contributes a characteristic flavor, odor, and color which renders it unsuitable for use as a saccharine substance in preparing packing media for canned fruit cocktail.

65. An invert sugar sirup which is sufficiently refined to be suitable for use as a saccharine substance in preparing a packing medium for canned fruit cocktail contains not more than 0.3 percent ash in its solids, and is colorless, odorless and flavorless except for sweetness.

66. When a sugar solution is used as the packing medium for canned fruit cocktail, the natural acids of the fruits, aided by the heat processing, invert a part of the sugar.

67. When sugar is used in a packing medium, it is immaterial whether its inversion occurs before or after the addition of the packing medium to the fruit, and immaterial whether it is the dry substance or a concentrated aqueous solution. For all practical purposes in the preparation of canned fruit cocktail, therefore, such refined invert sugar sirups, when diluted to the proper density, are the same as sugar sirups prepared by dissolving sugar in water.

68. Dextrose is the anhydrous or hydrated, refined monosaccharide obtained by complete hydrolysis of any starch, including cornstarch.

69. Corn sirup is the product obtained by incomplete hydrolysis of cornstarch and is a concentrated aqueous solution of dextrose and maltose, which are members of the class of substances known as reducing sugars, and the nonsugar substance dextrin. When sufficiently hydrolized for use as a saccharine substance in a packing medium for canned fruit cocktail, its solids contain not less than 58 percent reducing sugars.

70. Corn sirup solids is dried corn sirup; it differs from corn sirup only in that water is removed by drying. When sufficiently hydrolized for use as a saccharine substance in a packing medium for canned fruit cocktail, its solids contain not less than 58 percent reducing sugars. Since the liquid component of corn sirup is water and since added water is necessary in the preparation of fruit cocktail it is immaterial whether the corn sirup is in a liquid or dry state and, for all practical purposes in the preparation of canned fruit cocktail, corn sirup may be considered to include dried corn sirup.

71. Important factors on the basis of which packing media of different packs of canned fruit cocktail are differentiated from each other are their density, flavor, food value, and sweetness; each of such factors is a significant element in the production cost and sale price of canned fruit cocktail, and in consumers' preference.

72. The density, and hence the degree of sweetness, of a sweetened packing medium is not fixed precisely but only within a specified range. Therefore the same kind of packing medium may vary in density and sweetness within its own range to a noticeable degree irrespective of the saccharin substance from which it is made.

73. Different varieties of the same fruit, and fruits of the same variety of different degrees of maturity, and fruits of the same variety and substantially the same degree of maturity but obtained from different localities or from different parts of the same tree, frequently differ in acidity, sugar content, and other properties, and such differences affect the sweetness of the sweetened packing media of the different packs of canned fruit cocktail containing such fruits, so that even though a packing medium of a fixed density made from the same saccharin substance is used for each of such packs of canned fruit cocktail there is some detectable difference in sweetness between such finished packs of canned fruit cocktail.

74. One of the differences, among others, between the saccharin substances used in the preparation of the packing media for canned fruit cocktail is a difference in their degree of sweetness, sugar being the sweetest, dextrose being about two-thirds as sweet as sugar, and corn sirup being about one-half as sweet as sugar.

75. When equal weights of the solids of sugar (whether inverted or not), of dextrose, and of corn sirup (whether added as corn sirup or as dried corn sirup), are each dissolved in water to make solutions of the same volume, the densities and calorific food values of such solutions are not materially different from each other.

76. There are slight differences in the cost of the different saccharin substances from which sweetened packing media are made, but such differences are not of material significance to consumers.

77. By reason of their lesser sweetening properties, dextrose or corn sirup, or any mixture of these, are always used in combination with sugar when used in preparing sweetened packing media for canned fruit cocktail and the quantity of dextrose or corn sirup used is always limited to such amounts that the packing medium in the finished canned fruit cocktail is substantially of the same degree of sweetness as one of like density prepared from sugar alone.

78. The degree of sweetness of any packing medium in which dextrose of corn sirup, or any mixture of these, is used in combination with sugar becomes progressively less in relation to the density of such packing medium as the quantity of dextrose or corn sirup, or any mixture of these, is increased, so that, in the absence of a limitation of such quantity, the density within the range specified for any given packing medium would cease to provide a basis for identifying such packing medium as to sweetness.

79. A sweetened packing medium prepared from a mixture of sugar and dextrose in a proportion of two parts of sugar and one part of dextrose, or from a mixture of sugar and corn sirup in a proportion of three parts of sugar and one part of corn sirup, or from a mixture of sugar, dextrose, and corn sirup in such proportion that the weight of the dextrose multiplied by two plus the weight of the corn sirup multiplied by three equals the weight of the sugar, is substantially as sweet as a finished packing medium of like density prepared from sugar alone.

80. There is no substantial difference in the degree of sweetness between canned fruit cocktail packed in any one of the packing media specified in finding 79 and the same kind of canned fruit cocktail packed in any one of the other packing media therein specified. Such difference as may exist between such packing media is ordinarily not noticeable to consumers in the finished packs of canned fruit cocktail unless they make comparative tasting tests and some consumers cannot distinguish between them upon making such tests.

81. When sugar is replaced with dextrose or corn sirup, or any mixture of these, in proportions greater than those specified in finding 79, so as to produce a packing medium equivalent in sweetness to one prepared from sugar alone, the relationship between density and sweetness normally expected in sweetened packing media is destroyed.

82. Cherries of any light, sweet variety, cherries artificially colored red, cherries artificially colored red and artificially flavored, water, fruit juice, heavy sirup, extra heavy sirup, heavy fruit juice sirup and extra heavy fruit juice sirup, prepared as described in the preceding findings, are optional ingredients permissible in canned fruit cocktail, the common names of which are the terms whereby they are herein listed.

Upon the basis of the foregoing detailed findings of fact, it is found that the promulgation of the attached proposed regulation fixing and establishing a definition and standard of identity for canned fruit cocktail, canned cocktail fruits, canned fruits for cocktail, and requiring certain optional ingredients thereof to be named on the label will promote honesty and fair dealing in the interest of consumers.

Regulation

§ 27.040 Canned fruit cocktail, canned cocktail fruits, canned fruits for cocktail—identity; label statement of optional ingredients. (a) Canned fruit cocktail, canned cocktail fruits, canned fruits for cocktail, is the food prepared from the mixture of fruit ingredients prescribed in paragraph (b), in the forms and proportions therein prescribed, and one of the optional packing media specified in paragraph (c). It is sealed in a container and is so processed by heat as to prevent spoilage.

(b) The fruit ingredients referred to in paragraph (a), the forms of each, and the percent by weight of each in the mixture of drained fruit from the finished canned fruit cocktail are as follows:

(1) Peaches of any yellow variety, which are pitted, peeled, and diced, not less than 30 percent and not more than 50 percent;

(2) Pears of any variety, which are peeled, cored, and diced, not less than 25 percent and not more than 45 percent;

(3) Whole grapes of any seedless variety, not less than 6 percent and not more than 20 percent;

(4) Pineapples of any variety, which are peeled, cored, and cut into sectors or into dice, not less than 6 percent and not more than 16 percent; and

(5) One of the following optional cherry ingredients, each of which is stemmed, pitted, and cut into approximate halves, not less than 2 percent and not more than 6 percent;

(i) Cherries of any light, sweet variety;

(ii) Cherries artificially colored red; or

(iii) Cherries artificially colored red and artificially flavored.

Each such fruit ingredient is prepared from mature fruit which is fresh or canned. Notwithstanding the preceding provisions of this paragraph, each 4½ ounces avoirdupois of the finished canned fruit cocktail and each fraction thereof greater than 2 ounces avoirdupois contain not less than 2 sectors or 3 dice of pineapple and not less than 1 approximate half of the optional cherry ingredient.

(c) The optional packing media referred to in paragraph (a) are as follows:

(1) Water;

(2) Fruit juice;

(3) Heavy sirup;

(4) Extra heavy sirup;

(5) Heavy fruit juice sirup; and

(6) Extra heavy fruit juice sirup.

Each of packing media (3) and (4) is prepared with water as its liquid ingredient, and each of packing media (5) and (6) is prepared with fruit juice as its liquid ingredient. Except as provided in paragraph (d) (6), each of packing media (3) to (6), inclusive, is prepared with any one of the following saccharine ingredients: sugar; or any combination of sugar and dextrose in which the weight of the solids of the dextrose used is not more than one-half the weight of the solids of the sugar used; or any combination of sugar and corn sirup in which the weight of the solids of the corn sirup used is not more than one-third the weight of the solids of the sugar used; or any combination of sugar, dextrose, and corn sirup in which the weight of the solids of the dextrose used multiplied by 2, added to the weight of the solids of the corn sirup used multiplied by 3, is not more than the weight of the solids of the sugar used. The respective densities of packing media (3) to (6), inclusive, as measured on the Brix hydrometer, fifteen days or more after the fruit cocktail is canned, are within the range prescribed for each in the folowing list:

Number of packing medium:	Brix measurement
(3) and (5)	18° or more but less than 22°.
(4) and (6)	22° or more but not more than 35°.

(d) For the purposes of this section—

(1) The term "water" means, in addition to water, both the liquid drained from any fruit ingredient previously canned in water as its sole packing medium and any mixture of water and fruit juice, including the liquid drained from any fruit ingredient previously canned in such mixture.

(2) The term "fruit juice" means the fresh or canned, expressed juice or juices of one or more of the mature fruits named in subsection (b), including the liquid drained from any fruit ingredient previously canned in such juice or juices as its sole packing medium, to which no water has been added, directly or indirectly. Fruit juice may be strained or filtered.

(3) The term "sugar" means refined sucrose or invert sugar sirup. The term "invert sugar sirup" means an aqueous sirup of inverted or partly inverted, refined or partly refined sucrose, the solids of which contain not more than 0.3 percent by weight of ash and which is colorless, odorless and flavorless except for sweetness.

(4) The term "dextrose" means the hydrated or anhydrous, refined monosaccharide obtained from hydrolized starch.

(5) The term "corn sirup" means an aqueous solution obtained by the incomplete hydrolysis of corn starch and includes dried corn sirup; the solids of corn sirup and dried corn sirup contain not less than 58 percent by weight of reducing sugars.

(6) When the optional packing medium is prepared with fruit juice and invert sugar sirup or corn sirup other than dried corn sirup, it shall be considered to be heavy sirup or an extra heavy sirup, as the case may be, and not a heavy fruit juice sirup or an extra heavy fruit juice sirup.

(7) The term "heavy sirup" or "extra heavy sirup" includes a sirup, which conforms in all other respects to the provisions of this section, in the preparation of which there is used the liquid drained from any fruit ingredient previously canned in a packing medium consisting wholly of the liquid and saccharine ingredients of a heavy sirup or extra heavy sirup.

(8) Except as provided in subparagraph (6) of this paragraph, the term "heavy fruit juice sirup" or "extra heavy fruit juice sirup" includes a sirup, which conforms in all other respects to the provisions of this section, in the preparation of which there is used the liquid drained from any fruit ingredient previously canned in a packing medium consisting wholly of the liquid and saccharine ingredients of heavy fruit juice sirup or extra heavy fruit juice sirup.

(e) (1) The optional ingredients specified in paragraphs (b) (5) (ii) and (iii) and (c) (1) to (6), inclusive, are hereby designated as optional ingredients which, when used, shall be named on the label by the name whereby each is so specified.

(2) Such names shall immediately and conspicuously, without intervening written, printed, or graphic matter, precede or follow the name "fruit cocktail", "cocktail fruits", or "fruits for cocktail" wherever it appears on the label so conspicuously as to be easily seen under customary conditions of purchase.

The regulations hereby promulgated shall become effective on the ninetieth day following the date of publication of this order in the FEDERAL REGISTER. (52 Stat. 1046, 53 Stat. 561ff; 21 U.S.C., sec. 341; 5 U.S.C., sec. 133–133r; and Reorganization Plans Nos. I and IV, 4 F.R. 2727, 5 F.R. 2421)

TITLE 30—MINERAL RESOURCES

Chapter III—Bituminous Coal Division

[Dockets Nos. A–185, A–265, A–857]

PARTS 337 AND 338—MINIMUM PRICE SCHEDULES, DISTRICT NOS. 17 AND 18

ALBUQUERQUE AND CERRILLOS COAL CO.; DISTRICT BOARDS 17 AND 18

Memorandum opinion and order modifying, and approving and adopting as modified, the proposed findings of fact, proposed conclusions of law, and recommendation of the examiner in the Matter of the petition of the Albuquerque and Cerrillos Coal Company, applying for relief in making certain prices applicable only to shipments of coal for use by the Federal Government and Agencies thereof when shipped from Subdistrict 2 of District No. 18 into Market Areas 228 (in New Mexico), 229, 232, and 236; in the matter of the petition of Bituminous Coal Producers Board for District No. 18 for changes in the classifications and minimum prices for coals produced and sold in District No. 18; in the matter of the petition of District Board No. 17 for revision of the effective minimum prices for certain coals produced at the mines in Subdistricts 7, 8, and 9 in District No. 17.

These are proceedings instituted upon petitions filed with the Bituminous Coal Division, pursuant to secton 4 II (d) of the Bituminous Coal Act of 1937.

In Docket No. A–185, Albuquerque and Cerrillos Coal Company ("Albuquerque and Cerrillos"), a code member and operator of the Jones Mine (Mine Index No. 11) in Subdistrict 2 of District 18, requests a revision of the effective minimum prices for its coals for shipment by rail into Market Areas 228, 229, 232, and 236 upon sales to agencies of the United States Government. The petition of Albuquerque and Cerrillos alleges that the effective minimum prices do not properly take into account freight rate differences created by the land grant and land grant equalization rates for shipments to agencies of the United States Government in Market Areas 228, 229, 232, and 236 and therefore prays that the effective minimum prices for the coals produced at its Jones Mine be reduced to the extent necessary to enable them to deliver at five cents less than the coals of Subdistrict 9 of District 17 at destinations in Market Areas 228, 229, and 232 on shipments made pursuant to government contracts, rather than at higher prices, as required by the currently effective minimum prices; and that the effective minimum prices for shipments on government contracts to points in Market Area 236 be reduced by amounts ranging from 50 cents on Size Group 9 to $1.15 on Size Group 2.

Albuquerque and Cerrillos further seeks a modification of the District 18 price schedule to provide that Size Group 3 coals should include 6" x 3" and 1½" lump in order to make it identical with Size Group 5 of District 17's price schedule.

In Docket No. A–265, District Board 18 seeks a revision of the effective minimum prices of coals in Size Groups 1 to 9, inclusive, produced in Subdistrict 1 of District 18 for shipment by rail to certain destinations in Market Area 232 upon sales to agencies of the United States Government, and a revision in the effective minimum prices of coals in Size Groups 1 to 9, inclusive, produced in Subdistrict 2 of District 18 for shipment by rail into Market Areas 227 and 229, and to certain destinations in Market Area 232 upon sales to agencies of the United States Government. Specifically District Board 18 prays that relief be granted as follows:

(1) That the effective minimum prices of coals in Size Groups 1 through 9 produced in Subdistrict 1 of District 18 be reduced by $1.00 per ton when sold to agencies of the United States Government which move the coal on land grant freight rates or land grant equalization rates, for shipment to destinations on the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railway Company, in Market Area 232, south of Belen, New Mexico, and to and including Rincon, New Mexico, and all destinations on the Silver City branch of said railroad west of Rincon, New Mexico; and that when these coals are sold to agencies of the United States Government which move the coal on commercial freight rates, the effective minimum prices be reduced $1.10 for such shipment to the aforesaid destinations;

(2) That the effective minimum prices of coals in Size Groups 1 through 9 of Subdistrict 2 of District 18 be reduced by 85 cents [1] per ton when sold to agencies of the United States Government which move the coal on land grant freight rates or land grant equalization rates for shipment to destinations in Market Areas 227 and 229, and that portion of Market Area 232 from Rincon, New Mexico, to and including El Paso, Texas, on the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railway lines and to destinations on the Southern Pacific Company tracks in the State of Arizona, except for Mora, Arizona, via Fairbank, to and including Nogales, Arizona; and that when these coals are sold to those agencies of the United States which move the coals on commercial freight rates, the effective minimum prices be reduced 50 cents per ton for such shipment to the aforesaid destinations.

In Docket No. A–857, District Board 17 seeks a revision of the effective minimum prices of the coals in Size Groups 1 to 11, inclusive, produced at the mines in Subdistricts 7, 8, and 9 of District 17 for shipment by rail into Market Area 228 and to certain destinations in Market Area 232 upon sales to agencies of the United States Government which move coals on commercial freight rates as follows: For shipments to all destinations in New Mexico in Market Area 228 on the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railway, 60 cents per ton, and on the Southern Pacific, 30 cents per ton; and for shipments to destinations in Market Area 232, including all points on the Southern Pacific in New Mexico, except Deming, and on the Southern Pacific in Arizona from Mora via Fairbank, to and including Nogales, Arizona, 30 cents per ton.

District Board 17 filed a petition of intervention in Dockets Nos. A–185 and A–265, District Board 18 filed a petition of intervention in Docket No. A–185. Pursuant to an Order of the Director, a consolidated hearing in the matters originally involved in Dockets Nos. A–185 and A–256 was held and thereafter temporary relief was granted in part.

Albuquerque and Cerrillos Coal Company filed a statement protesting against the temporary relief. District Board 18 filed an amended petition and an amended supplemental petition, averring that conditions had so changed since the original hearing that further evidence should be received. District Board 17 by letter concurred in the request for the reopening of the hearing. In accordance with such request, the Director issued an order for rehearing and consolidated Docket No. A–857 with the hearing for the consolidated matters in Dockets Nos. A–185 and A–265.

Pursuant to said Order, a hearing in these consolidated matters was held before Charles S. Mitchell, a duly designated Examiner of the Division, at a hearing room thereof in Washington, D. C. All interested persons were afforded an opportunity to be present, adduce evidence, cross-examine witnesses, and otherwise be heard. Appearances were entered on behalf of the Albuquerque and Cerrillos Coal Company, District Boards 17 and 18, and the Consumers' Counsel Division (now the Office of Bituminous Coal Consumers' Counsel). A brief was filed by the Bituminous Coal Consumers' Counsel.

Thereafter, on May 20, 1942, Examiner Mitchell submitted his Report, Proposed Findings of Fact, Proposed Conclusions of Law and Recommendation ("Examiner's Report"). On June 6, 1942, exceptions to the Examiner's Report were filed by the Bituminous Coal Consumers' Counsel.

I. Examiner's report. The Examiner found that government coal contracts, though the tonnage involved is relatively small, are of considerable importance to producers in Subdistricts 1 and 2 of District 18 and Subdistrict 9 of District 17, particularly since the coals consumed by the Government in Market Areas 227, 228, 229, 232, and 236 are those in the domestic sizes for which the sources of disposal are few. The Examiner found further that in purchasing its coal supplies in those areas, the government agencies issue invitations to bid on the contracts, and, as a rule, make awards on the basis of cost per million B. t. u.'s.

The Examiner found further that prior to the establishment of effective minimum prices by the Division, efforts were made to coordinate prices for Districts 17 and 18 applicable to government contracts, which resulted in proposed schedules of special effective minimum prices for government shipments to certain destinations in Market Areas 227, 228, 229, and 232. The Examiner noted that the Consumers' Counsel protested those proposals, contending that the prices were so high as to discriminate against the Government. The Examiner noted further that subsequently, the proposed schedules were disapproved by the Director in General Docket No. 15, and that thereupon, shipments on government contracts to these market areas were governed by f. o. b. mine prices applicable to commercial shipments.

The Examiner found that the present requests for relief were intended to take into account the discontinuance, with slight exception, of the land grant freight rates and land grant equalization rates formerly applicable to Subdistricts 1 and 2 of District 18 and Subdistrict 9 of District 17, so that the commercial freight rates now usually apply on shipments to the United States Government. The Examiner found also that the present requests for relief were intended to take into account the analyses more recently used by the United States Government purchasing agents in making awards on the basis of the lowest cost per million B. t. u.'s.

The Examiner rejected the prayers for relief in so far as they sought revisions of the effective minimum prices to reflect differences in B. t. u., adopting the contentions of Consumers' Counsel that to formulate effective minimum prices on the basis of the value criterion of one consumer would militate against the Congressional intent to remove burdens upon interstate commerce in bituminous coal by creating a bewilderingly complex price schedule. The Examiner found, however, that the coals of Subdistrict 2 of District 18 and of Subdistrict 9 of District 17 are comparable, and have, in the past, actively competed for Government business in Market Areas 227, 228, 229, and 232. The Examiner found that in order to enable these comparable coals to compete on a fair basis, their effective minimum prices should be so adjusted as to permit them to deliver thereto at a parity when for governmental use; but that since only inconclusive evidence appears as to past ability of Subdistricts 7 and 8 of District 17 to ship into these market areas, the relief prayed for such coals should be denied.

The Examiner found further that the requested relief for such coals produced in Subdistrict 1 of District 18 moving on land grant and commercial freight rates to government agencies is based upon the same principle as the requested for the coals of Subdistrict 2 of District 18. The Examiner found that some tonnage had been shipped from Subdistrict 1 into Market Area 232 in the past, but that the Subdistrict 1 coals are decidedly inferior analytically to the Subdistrict 2 coals and those of Subdistrict 9 of District 17. The Examiner concluded that the Subdistrict 1 coals in Size Groups 1 through 9, when offered for sale or sold to the United States Government for shipment by rail to certain destinations in Market Area 232 on the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe, should be permitted to be reduced by 80 cents per ton, which, the Examiner stated, consisted of 75 cents to compensate for the freight differential between Subdistricts 1 and 2 at representative destinations in Market Area 232 on the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe, and five cents to compensate for the inferior quality of the District 1 coals.

The Examiner found further that the prayer by Albuquerque and Cerrillos that it be permitted a reduction on shipments to Market Area 236 was not supported by evidence. The Examiner also found that the petition of Albuquerque and Cerrillos for relief for its 1½" lump coals had merit, and that 1½" lump coal should be included in the same size group and priced the same as 6" x 3" coals.

II. Exceptions to the Examiner's report. Exceptions to the Examiner's Report were filed by only the Consumers' Counsel. The exceptions of Consumers' Counsel relate to the findings and recommendation of the Examiner that the effective minimum prices for the coals in Size Groups 1 through 9 from Subdistrict 1 of District 18 may be reduced by 80 cents per ton when offered for sale or sold to the United States of America or agencies thereof for rail shipment to destinations on the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railway Company in Market Area 232, south of Belen, New Mexico, and to and including Rincon, New Mexico, and all destinations on the Silver City Branch of said railroad west of Rincon, New Mexico. Consumers' Counsel notes that the Examiner had stated that the 80-cent permissible reduction consisted of 75 cents to compensate for the freight differential between Subdistricts 1 and 2 of District 18 at representative destinations in Market Area 232 on the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe, and five cents to compensate for the inferior quality of Subdistrict 1's coals. Consumers' Counsel submits that if the coals of Subdistrict 1 are inferior in quality to the extent of five cents per ton then they are worth that much not only to the United States Government, but also to all other consumers and purchasers; and that if such finding regarding the inferiority of Subdistrict 1 coals be adopted, final relief should provide that the same reduction for inferior quality shall apply on sales, not only to the United States Government, but also to non-governmental consumers and other purchasers. Consumers' Counsel also submits that if the Subdistrict 1 coals are inferior in quality, the inferiority also remains in said coals when they are shipped to other destinations than those in Market Area 232; and that any relief recognizing said inferiority in quality should also provide that the same reductions in the effective minimum prices applicable to Subdistrict 1 coals shall apply when offered for sale or sold to any consumers and purchasers, governmental and non-governmental, in any and all market areas where the coals of Subdistrict 1 of District 18 compete with comparable coals of Subdistrict 2 of District 18 and of Subdistrict 9 of District 17.

III. Merits of the cases. In General Docket No. 15, the coals of Subdistricts 1 and 2 of District 18 and of Subdistrict 9 of District 17 were coordinated on the basis of the factors listed in sections 4 II (a) and 4 II (b) of the Act, which included analytical comparability. The petitions here do not complain that the analytical standards used in General Docket No. 15 did not reflect the true comparability of these coals; the petition, in so far as it complains of the failure of the effective minimum prices to reflect analysis, is concerned with the basis upon which such analytical comparability is to be determined. I agree with the Examiner that B. t. u. content alone should not be the basis for an adjustment of the effective minimum prices, since adoption of such a criterion would lead to such a bewildering complex price schedule as to render proper administration of the Act intensely difficult. Having determined that B. t. u. content should not alone be the basis for an adjustment of effective minimum prices, I find that the prayers contained in these several petitions, seeking revisions of the effective minimum prices because of the differences in analytical qualities among the coals herein involved, must be denied, and the original coordination, in so far as analytical comparability is concerned, left as presently constituted.

Consumers' Counsel, as has been noted, excepted to the findings of the Examiner and the form of the recommended relief with respect to Subdistrict 1 of District 18 coals, in Size Groups 1 through 9, to the effect that the minimum prices for such coals "may be reduced by 80 cents per net ton." Consumers' Counsel points out that the Examiner had stated that 75 cents of the 80-cent reduction recommended consisted of the freight differential between Subdistricts 1 and 2 of District 18 at representative destinations in Market Area 232 on the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe. Consumers' Counsel contends that in order to avoid the allowance of reductions in amounts more than those necessary to achieve coordination at the various destinations, if the recommended relief be approved, that the relief should provide, in substance, that the minimum prices for the Subdistrict 1, District 18 coals may be reduced by an amount necessary to permit such sizes to be delivered to the specified destinations in Market Area 232 at prices equal to the delivered prices for coals of comparable sizes from Subdistrict 2 of District 18 and Subdistrict 9 of District 17 (less five cents should the relief take into account inferior quality), but in no event shall the reduction be more than 80 cents per ton.

I find that Subdistrict 1 coals in Size Groups 1 through 9 should be permitted to take an absorption to an amount necessary to permit such sizes to be delivered to the specified destinations in Market Area 232 at prices equal to the delivered prices for coals of comparable sizes from Subdistrict 2 of District 18 and Subdistrict 9 of District 17, but that the permissible reduction should be restricted to a maximum of 75 cents per ton.

On the basis of the entire record, I find that the findings of fact and conclusions of law made by the Examiner are supported by the evidence and should be adopted, except in so far as they concern the effective minimum prices for the coals in Size Groups 1 through 9 from Subdistrict 1 of District 18 when offered for sale or sold to the United States Government for shipment by rail to certain destinations in Market Area 232 on the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe. As to such shipments, I find that the exceptions taken by the Bituminous Coal Consumers' Council have merit to the extent noted above.

[1] District Board 18 also sought a further reduction if the relief requested in Docket No. A–784 should not be granted. The petition of District Board 18 in Docket No. A–784 requested a reduction in the minimum prices effective for shipment of the coals produced by the Albuquerque and Cerrillos Coal Company to destinations in Market Areas 227 and 228, extending from Belen, New Mexico, east to Texico, New Mexico, and Farwell, Texas, and south from Clovis, New Mexico, to and including Carlsbad, New Mexico, in amount equal to the increase in commercial freight rates for such shipments on the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railway Company, effective as of February 15, 1941. By Order of August 5, 1941, the Director denied this requested relief.

I conclude that the proposed findings of fact and proposed conclusions of law of the Examiner, as modified herein, should be approved and adopted as the findings of fact and conclusions of law of the undersigned.

Now, therefore, it is ordered, That the proposed findings of fact and proposed conclusions of law of the Examiner be, and they hereby are, approved and adopted as the findings of fact and conclusions of law of the undersigned.

It is further ordered, That effective fifteen (15) days from the date hereof § 338.1 (Price instructions and exceptions) in the Schedule of Effective Minimum Prices for District No. 18 For All Shipments Except Truck be, and it hereby is, amended by adding thereto the following Price Instructions and Exceptions:

(o) When coals within Size Groups 1 through 9 from Subdistrict 2 are offered for sale or sold to the United States of America or agencies thereof, for rail shipment to destinations in Market Areas Nos. 227, 228, in New Mexico, 229 and 232, the prices listed herein for such coals may be reduced by an amount necessary to permit such sizes to be delivered in said market areas at prices equal to the delivered price for coals of the comparable sizes from Subdistrict 9 of District 17.

(p) When coals within Size Groups 1 through 9 from Subdistrict 1 are offered for sale or sold to the United States of America or agencies thereof, for rail shipment to destinations on the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railway Company in Market Area 232, south of Belen, New Mexico, and to and including Rincon, New Mexico, and all destinations on the Silver City Branch of said railroad west of Rincon, New Mexico, the effective minimum prices listed herein for such coals may be reduced by an amount necessary to permit such sizes to be delivered to these destinations at prices equal to the delivered prices for coals of comparable sizes from Subdistrict 2 of District 18 and Subdistrict 9 of District 17, but in no event shall the reduction be more than 75 cents per ton.

It is further ordered, That effective fifteen (15) days from the dat hereof § 338.4 (Size group table) in the Schedule of Effective Minimum Prices for District No. 18 For All Shipments Except Truck be, and it hereby is, amended by changing the definition of Size Group 3 to read: "Lump and grate, 1½" and 6" x 3"."

It is further ordered, That effective fifteen (15) days from the date hereof § 337.1 (Price instructions and exceptions) in the Schedule of Effective Minimum Prices for District No. 17 For All Shipments Except Truck be, and it hereby is, amended by adding thereto the following Price Instruction and Exception:

When coals within Size Groups 1 through 11 from Subdistrict 9 are offered for sale or sold to the United States of America or agencies thereof for rail shipment to destinations in New Mexico in Market Area 228 on the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railway Company and on the Southern Pacific Company, and to destinations in Market Area 232, including points on the Southern Pacific Company in New Mexico except Deming and in Arizona on the line from Mora via Fairbank to and including Nogales, the prices listed herein for such coals may be reduced by an amount necessary to permit such sizes to be delivered in said market areas at prices equal to the delivered price for coals of comparable sizes from Subdistrict 2 of District 18.

It is further ordered, That the prayers for relief contained in the several petitions filed herein, except as granted above, be, and they hereby are, in all other respects denied.

Dated: July 17, 1942.

Any person who acquires by lease or otherwise, both a storage tank and dispensing pump located at a service station, shall be deemed a bulk consumer only where:

(i) Such person shall have the exclusive control and possession of such facilities for a period of not less than 30 consecutive days;

(ii) Such facilities shall be used solely for the storage of motor fuel belonging to such person and for the servicing of motor vehicles, motor boats or equipment owned or operated by such person, and no motor fuel shall be resold from such facilities;

(iii) The dispensing pump or pumps shall be painted a battleship grey and shall have the following statement conspicuously marked on both the face and back of the pump: "For private use of (insert name of person) only";

(iv) Deliveries shall be made directly to such facilities by the supplier of such person and shall be entirely segregated from and in no way connected with deliveries to the service station; and

(v) A service station leasing or otherwise delivering possession of such facilities to such person shall require and receive from such person on the first day of each month a signed statement showing the total quantity of motor fuel delivered to such facilities during the previous month. The service station shall promptly deliver a correct copy of such statement to his supplier or suppliers in order that an adjustment may be made in the normal gallonage of such service station as provided in paragraph (e) hereof.

(6) "Curtailment area" means the area specified in Exhibit "A".

(7) "Quota month" means the month for which a quota is to be determined.

(8) "Base gallonage" means one-third of the number of gallons of motor fuel actually delivered to any service station or bulk consumer during the period December 1, 1941—February 28, 1942, inclusive.

(9) "Seasonal adjustment" means the difference between one-third of the number of gallons of motor fuel delivered to any service station or bulk consumer during the period December 1, 1940—February 28, 1941, inclusive, and the number of gallons of motor fuel delivered to such service station or bulk consumer during the month of 1941 corresponding to the quota month.

(10) "Normal gallonage", subject to the adjustment provided in paragraph (e) hereof, means the gallonage represented by the base gallonage of any service station or bulk consumer to which has been added or subtracted the seasonal adjustment of such service station or bulk consumer: Provided, That in no case shall the normal gallonage of any service station as computed herein be less than 75% of the gallonage actually delivered to such service station during the month of 1941 corresponding to the quota month.

(11) "Allowable percentage" means that percentage specified in Exhibit "B".

(12) "Monthly quota" means that amount of motor fuel which any service station or bulk consumer in the curtailment area has the right to obtain from his supplier or suppliers during the quota month and shall be determined by multiplying the normal gallonage of such service station or bulk consumer by the allowable percentage: Provided, That the monthly quota of bulk consumers shall be the full quantity of motor fuel required for any of the preferential deliveries specified in paragraph (f) plus the allowable percentage of the difference between the adjusted normal gallonage and the quantity required for such preferential deliveries.

(13) "Curtailment period" means the period during which this order is in effect.

(c) Limitation on shipment of motor fuel from the curtailment area. (1) Subject to the limitations of paragraph (c) (2), no supplier shall deliver or cause to be delivered, directly or indirectly, and no person shall accept delivery of any motor fuel from any point within the curtailment area to any point in the United States outside the curtailment area: Provided, That this paragraph shall not apply to:

(i) The delivery of motor fuel from the curtailment area into contiguous areas for return delivery into the curtailment area;

(ii) The return delivery into contiguous areas of motor fuel delivered into the curtailment area from such contiguous areas for return delivery;

(iii) The delivery outside the curtailment area of benzol or of any motor fuel manufactured wholly from crude oil or natural gas produced within the curtailment area;

(iv) Deliveries from bulk plants within the curtailment area to such points outside the curtailment area as were actually served by such bulk plants by tank truck during the period December 1, 1941–February 28, 1942, inclusive.

(2) No supplier shall deliver or cause to be delivered, directly or indirectly, and no person shall accept delivery of any motor fuel from any point within the area specified in subparagraph (1) of Exhibit "A" hereof to any point outside of such area: Provided, That this paragraph, with reference to the areas specified in Exhibit "A", shall not apply to:

(i) The delivery of motor fuel from the area specified in subparagraph (1) into contiguous areas for return delivery into the area specified in subparagraph (1);

(ii) The return delivery into contiguous areas of motor fuel delivered into the area specified in subparagraph (1) from such contiguous areas for return delivery.

(d) Limitation on delivery of motor fuel. Until but not after July 21, 1942, within the area specified in subparagraph (1) of Exhibit "A" hereof and unless and until modified (except as hereinafter provided in this paragraph) within the areas specified in subparagraph (2) and (3) of Exhibit "A" hereof, no supplier shall deliver or cause to be delivered, directly or indirectly, in any month to any service station or bulk consumer within the curtailment area, and no such service station or bulk consumer shall accept delivery of any motor fuel in excess of the monthly quota of such service station or bulk consumer. When it is necessary in order to increase the efficient use of transportation facilities, a supplier may deliver and a service station or bulk consumer may accept delivery, during any month, of motor fuel in excess of his monthly quota provided the following conditions are all fully complied with:

(i) No such deliveries shall be made prior to the last 3 days of any month.

(ii) The amount delivered shall not exceed the full capacity of the type of transportation facility theretofore ordinarily used in making deliveries to such service station or bulk consumer or the quantity which the service station or bulk consumer is entitled to receive during the first ten days of the following month, whichever quantity is the smaller.

(iii) The invoice covering such delivery shall contain a statement signed by the service station or bulk consumer showing the number of gallons delivered under the provisions of this paragraph which are in excess of the monthly quota.

(iv) Such service station's or bulk consumer's monthly quota for the following month shall be reduced by the amount of the excess delivered under the provisions of this paragraph, and further deliveries to such service station or bulk consumer shall be delayed so as to provide for an even distribution of supplies over the entire month as provided in paragraph (k).

(e) Adjustments of normal gallonage. (1) In those areas in which the provisions of Exhibit "B" are in effect, the supplier or suppliers of any service station or bulk consumer shall adjust the normal gallonage of such service station or bulk consumer upward or downward in the following instances:

(i) In any case where deliveries to a service station or bulk consumer during any of the periods specified in paragraph (b) (8) or (b) (9) hereof were so abnormally large or small as to fail to reflect the seasonal variations normally expected at such service station or in such bulk consumer's current requirements for consumption for the quota month.

(ii) In any case where deliveries to a service station or bulk consumer during the periods specified in paragraph (b) (8) or (b) (9) hereof were such as to reflect an abnormal contraction or expansion in the volume of business for such service station or of the requirements for consumption by such bulk consumer.

(iii) In any case where any service station was not open for business or any bulk consumer had no requirements for current consumption during any or all of the periods specified in paragraph (b) (8) or (b) (9) of this order.

(iv) In any case where a service station leases or otherwise delivers possession of one or more of its storage tanks and dispensing pumps to a bulk consumer, the normal gallonage of such service station shall be reduced by an amount which it is estimated will be the total quantity of motor fuel delivered to the bulk consumer into such facilities during the month for which a monthly quota is established. Any difference between the actual amount delivered into such facilities during such month and the estimated amount shall be deducted from or added to the normal gallonage of the service station for the following month.

In making adjustments under paragraphs (e) (1) (i), (e) (1) (ii) and (e) (1) (iii), the supplier shall take into consideration any historical data which may exist with respect to deliveries made to the service station or bulk consumer, but no consideration shall be given to the supposition that a greater volume of motor fuel would have been delivered to such service station had it been under different operation or had it been handling the motor fuel of the present supplier instead of motor fuel delivered by some other supplier. If the adjustment is to be made under paragraph (e) (1) (iii) and the service station was open for business during the month of the previous year corresponding to the month for which a monthly quota is to be established, then the number of gallons delivered to the service station or bulk consumer during such month shall be considered as the normal gallonage for such service station unless it is established that abnormal conditions seriously affected the quantity delivered during such month. Such adjustments shall represent the normal and expected volume of business at any such service station of the normal and expected requirements for consumption by any such bulk consumer during the quota month, which volume of business or which requirements for consumption would occur if there were no restrictions of deliveries.

(2) In the event that any supplier has any reason to believe that any adjustment of the normal gallonage of any service station or bulk consumer has been improperly made or denied by such supplier or by any other supplier supplied directly or indirectly by him, then such supplier shall either withhold further deliveries until any excessive upward adjustment has been compensated or increase deliveries until any excessive downward adjustment has been compensated.

(f) Preferential deliveries. (1) On or before July 21, 1942, in any part of the curtailment area specified in subparagraph (1) of Exhibit "A" of this order, any supplier shall deliver to any bulk consumer such bulk consumer's minimum necessary requirements of motor fuel for uses specified in § 1394.18 (b), 1394.18 (c), or 1394.22 (c), of Ration Order No. 5 [2] or for the operation of commercial, industrial and agricultural machinery and equipment: Provided, That where Forms or other statements are required, by Ration Order No. 5, no delivery of motor fuel may be made unless the execution of such Forms or other statements is effected in accordance with the terms of such order.

(2) On or before July 21, 1942, in any part of the curtailment area specified in subparagraph (1) of Exhibit "A" of this order, any supplier or service station shall deliver to any person other than a bulk consumer such person's minimum necessary requirements of motor fuel for uses specified in §§ 1394.18 (b), 1394.18 (c), 1394.19 (b), or 1394.22 (c) of Ration Order No. 5: Provided, That where Cards, Forms, or other statements are required by Ration Order No. 5, no delivery of motor fuel may be made unless the presentation or execution of such Cards, Forms or other statements is effected in accordance with the terms of such order.

(3) In any part of the curtailment area specified in subparagraphs (2) and (3) of Exhibit "A" of this order, a supplier shall deliver to any bulk consumer such bulk consumer's minimum necessary requirements of motor fuel for any of the uses specified in paragraph (f) (3) (ii). The bulk consumer shall deliver to his supplier the statement specified in paragraph (f) (3) (i).

(i) Such statement shall be in the following form, signed manually or as provided in Priorities Regulation No. 7[1] (§ 944.27) by an official duly authorized for such purpose:

Motor fuel delivered pursuant to this representation will be used only for purposes authorized in paragraph (f) of Limitation Order L-70, as Amended, with the terms of which Order the undersigned is familiar.

Legal Name of Bulk Consumer.

By:---

Signature of Duly Designated Official.

Such statement shall constitute a representation to the Director General for Operations and to the supplier of such motor fuel that such motor fuel is for the uses specified in paragraph (f) (3) (ii), and such supplier shall be entitled to rely upon such representation unless he knows or has reason to believe it to be false.

(ii) The following uses shall be considered preferential uses:

(a) The operation of vehicles and boats necessary for the public health and safety, including, among others, ambulances and vehicles operated by practicing physicians, surgeons, nurses, and veterinarians, and those engaged in civilian defense activities while the area is under martial law, enemy attack, or immediate threat of enemy attack.

(b) The operation of vehicles and boats owned or operated by or in the service of Federal, state or local governments.

(c) The operation of commercial vehicles so classified by law, including cabs, and the operation of commercial boats.

(d) The operation of commercial, industrial and agricultural machinery and equipment.

(e) The operation of school buses.

(g) Replacement for Army and Navy deliveries. In those areas in which the provisions of Exhibit "B" are in effect, any service station which makes deliveries of motor fuel for official use in vehicles or boats owned or operated by the United States Army or the United States Navy, which deliveries are not a normal part of such service station's regular business, shall be entitled to replacement from his supplier of the amount thereof and may accept delivery of such replacement in addition to the monthly quota for such service station.

(h) Right to obtain deliveries. In those areas in which the provisions of Exhibit "B" are in effect:

(1) A service station or bulk consumer, who has been obtaining his supplies of motor fuel pursuant to a regular delivery schedule, shall have the right to obtain his monthly quota of motor fuel from the supplier, or if more than one, then proportionately from the suppliers who sold and delivered motor fuel to such service station or bulk consumer during the preceding month. If a service station or bulk consumer has received deliveries of motor fuel during the period of 12 calendar months immediately preceding the then current calendar month from more than one supplier pursuant to no regular delivery schedule, then the said service station or bulk consumer shall have the right to obtain the amount of his monthly quota of motor fuel proportionately from all the suppliers who delivered motor fuel to him during the said 12-month period.

(2) If any supplier does not have a sufficient quantity of motor fuel to supply the demands of service stations or bulk consumers to the extent that he is obligated under this paragraph to supply such demands, then, if he has been obtaining his supplies of motor fuel pursuant to a regular delivery schedule, he shall have the right to obtain the amount of such deficiency from his supplier, or if more than one, then proportionately from the suppliers, who delivered motor fuel to him during the preceding month. If he has received deliveries of motor fuel during the period of 12 calendar months immediately preceding the then current calendar month pursuant to no regular delivery schedule, then he shall have the right to obtain the amount of such deficiency of motor fuel proportionately from all the suppliers who delivered motor fuel to him during the said 12 month period.

(3) Every supplier shall be obligated to deliver motor fuel to other suppliers, bulk consumers and service stations as provided in this paragraph.

(4) No supplier shall be required by contract or otherwise to deliver motor fuel to any other supplier in quantities greater than are required to enable such other supplier to deliver the monthly quotas and such additional replacements as are provided for in paragraph (g) hereof of the service stations or bulk consumers supplied directly or indirectly by him.

(i) Other restrictions on deliveries. No person shall deliver or cause to be delivered, directly or indirectly, and no person shall accept delivery of or use motor fuel for the operation of motor vehicles or motor boats in automobile or motor boat races in the curtailment area.

(j) Restrictions of deliveries to violators. No supplier shall deliver motor fuel to any other supplier, service station or bulk consumer where such supplier knows or has reason to believe that such other supplier, service station or bulk consumer is in violation of the terms of this order.

(k) Methods of distribution. (1) Suppliers shall deliver to service stations or bulk consumers in such a manner, so far as practicable, as to allow an even flow of supplies of motor fuel over the entire month: Provided, That (except as specified in paragraph (k) (3) on the tenth and twentieth of any month in the curtailment period no more than one-third and two-thirds respectively of such service station's or bulk consumer's total monthly quota shall have been delivered to him.

(2) Service stations shall make deliveries into the tanks of motor vehicles in such a manner as to allow for an even disbursing of their monthly quota throughout the entire month.

(3) Within that part of the curtailment area specified in subparagraph (1) of Exhibit "A" hereof, in addition to the supplies of motor fuel which are permitted under paragraph (k) (1), a supplier may deliver and a service station may accept delivery of motor fuel (between 12:01 a. m. July 19, 1942 and 11:59 p. m. July 21, 1942) in a quantity not in excess of two-thirtyfirsts of such service station's motor fuel quota for the month of July.

(l) Service station hours of distribution. No service station within the curtailment area shall deliver to any persons any motor fuel during more than 12 hours of any calendar day or during more than 72 hours of any calendar week: Provided, That:

(i) Within that part of the curtailment area specified in subparagraph (1) of Exhibit "A" hereof, deliveries of motor fuel may be made at any time to the military forces of the United States or to any person in the event of an emergency involving life, health or property; or

(ii) Within that part of the curtailment area specified in subparagraphs (2) and (3) of Exhibit "A" hereof, deliveries of motor fuel may be made at any time to any person exclusively for any of the uses specified in paragraph (f).

Each service station shall post prominently in a conspicuous place a notice of the hours during which motor fuel will be delivered at such service station. The hours selected and posted shall remain in effect at least seven consecutive days and shall not be changed during such period.

(m) Reallocation of monthly quotas of closed service stations. In those areas in which the provisions of Exhibit "B" are in effect, when a service station discontinues business at any time after May 1, 1942, and the fact of such discontinuance is evidenced by a signed statement from the owner of the service station premises or from the lessee (if the lessee's leasehold interest is firm for a period exceeding six months from the date of such discontinuance) that the business of such service station has been discontinued and will not be conducted again prior to the lapse of a period of not less than six months, the supplier of such service station shall add one-half of the applicable monthly quota thereof to the monthly quota of each of the two service stations located nearest, measured by road distance, to such closed service station and supplied from the supplier's same bulk plant. If more than one supplier has been supplying the closed service station, that portion of the monthly quota supplied by each supplier shall be reallocated in the same manner as above provided for a single supplier. Upon reallocating the monthly quota of the closed service station the supplier shall notify the Director of Marketing, Office of Petroleum Coordinator for War, Washington, D. C., in writing as to the date on which such service station was closed, its monthly quota for the last quota month, the names and addresses of the service stations to which such monthly quota has been assigned, together with a copy of the signed statement above referred to. A service station whose monthly quota has been reallocated as above provided shall not receive deliveries of motor fuel for a period of six months from the date it discontinued business. If after the six months' period such service station is reopened for business, its monthly quota shall be reassigned to it and the monthly quotas of the service stations to which such monthly quota was assigned shall be reduced accordingly.

(n) Reports. On or before the 20th day following the end of each quota month, in those areas in which the provisions of Exhibit "B" are in effect, all suppliers shall file a statement on Form PD-369 of the amount of motor fuel delivered in each state within the curtailment area and in the District of Columbia during such month stating separately, direct deliveries.

(i) To Federal, state and local governments;

(ii) To suppliers for direct delivery to Federal, state and local governments; and

(iii) To service stations and bulk consumers under their monthly quotas.

(o) Records. In addition to the records required to be kept under Priorities Regulation No. 1, as amended from time to time,[2] each supplier or other person receiving any representation authorized herein, shall each retain for a period of at least two years, for inspection by representatives of the War Production Board, endorsed copies of all such representations filed in such manner that they can be readily segregated for such inspection. In addition, each supplier shall keep, thus filed, and for such other purposes as may from time to time be prescribed by the Director General for Operations, for a period of at least two years, accurate and complete records of deliveries of motor fuel, the dates of actual deliveries, and the person and states (or the District of Columbia) involved in each delivery.

(p) Appeals. Any person affected by this order who, after he has sought an adjustment from his supplier pursuant to paragraph (e) hereof, or who for any other reason still considers that compliance therewith would work an exceptional and unreasonable hardship upon him, may, if he is located in any area specified in subparagraph (1) of Exhibit "A" hereof, or in that portion of the States of New York, Pennsylvania, Florida, Maryland, West Virginia, and Virginia, specified in subparagraphs (2) and (3) of Exhibit "A" hereof, appeal to the District Director of Marketing, Office of Petroleum Coordinator for War, 122 East 42nd Street, New York, New York, or, if located in the States of Oregon and Washington as specified in subparagraph (2) of Exhibit "A" hereof, appeal to the District Director of Marketing, Office of Petroleum Coordinator for War, 855 Subway Terminal Building, Los Angeles, California, or, if located in that portion of the State of Tennessee specified in subparagraph (3) of Exhibit "A" hereof, appeal to the District Director of Marketing, Office of Petroleum Coordinator for War, Suite 1336, 120 South LaSalle Street, Chicago, Illinois, or, if located in that portion of the State of Alabama specified in subparagraph (3) of Exhibit "A" hereof, appeal to the District Director of Marketing, Office of Petroleum Coordinator for War, 245 Mellie Esperson Building, Houston, Texas, by letter in quadruplicate, setting forth the pertinent facts and the reasons why he considers himself entitled to relief and, in the case of an appeal under paragraph (e), including specifically a statement that he has been unable to obtain a satisfactory adjustment from his supplier and giving all information required on Form PD-367. The District Director of Marketing shall promptly investigate and consider the matter and shall seek to bring about a voluntary settlement in accordance with the provisions of this Order. In the event that no settlement can be reached, the District Director of Marketing shall forward the appeal and record thereon, together with his recommendation, to the Director of Marketing, Office of Petroleum Coordinator for War, Washington, D. C.

(q) Directions as to deliveries. In those areas in which the provisions of Exhibit "B" are in effect, the Director General for Operations may, from time to time, issue specific directions directing or forbidding deliveries of motor fuel.

(r) Reports and correspondence. All reports required to be filed hereunder and all communications concerning this order shall, unless otherwise directed, be addressed to: Office of Petroleum Coordinator, Attention: Director of Marketing, Washington, D. C. Ref: L-70.

(s) Violations or false statements. Any person who wilfully violates any provision of this order or who wilfully furnishes false information to the Director General for Operations in connection with this order is guilty of a crime and upon conviction, may be punished by fine or imprisonment. In addition, any such person may be prohibited from making or obtaining further deliveries of, or from processing or using material under priority control and may be deprived of priorities assistance by the Director General for Operations. PART 1239—OFFICERS' MILITARY INSIGNIA

§ 1239.1 General Limitation Order L-131—(a) Definitions. For the purposes of this order:

(1) "Officers' military insignia" means all items of military identification made of metal, which are purchased by the personnel of the armed forces of the United States and which are not ordinarily issued by the Quartermaster of the United States Army, Marine Corps or Navy.

(2) "Gold color officers' military insignia" means the following officers' military insignia:

The fulfillment of requirements for the defense of the United States has created a shortage in the supply of used silk hosiery for defense, for private account and for export; and the following order is deemed necessary and appropriate in the public interest and to promote the national defense:

§ 1292.1 Conservation Order M-182—(a) Definitions. For the purpose of this order:

(1) "Used silk hosiery" means any men's or women's hose, stockings or socks which contain any silk and which have been worn or otherwise used or damaged so that they can be sold only as second-hand material.

(2) "Dealer" means any person who purchases used silk hosiery for resale or for conversion into yarn or fabric, and the term shall also include exporters, importers, agents or brokers, whether or not they hold title to the used silk hosiery.

(b) Restrictions on sales and deliveries of used silk hosiery. Except as permitted in paragraph (d), no dealer shall hereafter sell, transfer title to, or deliver, and no person, other than a dealer, shall hereafter purchase, accept transfer of title to, or deliveries of used silk hosiery.

(c) Restrictions on use of used silk hosiery. Except as permitted in paragraph (d), no person shall cut or process used silk hosiery for any purpose except upon a purchase order therefor for physical incorporation into materials to be delivered to or for the account of the Army of the United States, the United States Navy, the United States Maritime Commission, or the War Shipping Administration where such order is accompanied by a certificate in substantially the following form signed by or on behalf of the person placing said order.

This order is for used silk hosiery for physical incorporation into material to be delivered to or for the account of the Army of the United States, the United States Navy, the United States Maritime Commission, or the War Shipping Administration.

(1) Deliveries by or to any person having temporary custody of used silk hosiery for the sole purpose of transportation or public warehousing.

(2) Sales or deliveries to reprocessors of hosiery for mending, cleaning or other repair and sales of such reconditioned hosiery for use as hosiery.

(3) Sales or deliveries by retail stores or to such stores by their retail customers either on return for credit or otherwise.

(e) Appeals. Any person affected by this order who considers that compliance therewith would work an exceptional and unreasonable hardship upon him, or that it would result in a degree of unemployment which would be unreasonably disproportionate compared with the amount of used silk hosiery conserved, or that compliance with this order would disrupt or impair a program of conversion from non-defense to defense work, may appeal to the War Production Board by letter or telegram, Reference: M-182, setting forth the pertinent facts and the reason he considers he is entitled to relief. The Director General for Operations may thereupon take such action as he deems appropriate.

APPENDIX A TO SCHEDULE I—LIMITATION ORDER L–157

Explanations and limitations—(1) Grades. A, B, and C designate qualities of complete hand shovels, spades, scoops, or telegraph spoons; A designating the best quality. A-grade tools are equipped with grade XX or SA handles; B-grade tools are equipped with grade X or SC handles. SA, SB, and SC grades are approximately equivalent to XX, X, and No. 1, respectively, which are the handle-grade designations commonly employed by the shovel industry. Grades SA, SB, and SC are defined in Simplified Practice Recommendation R76, Ash Handles, issued by the United States Department of Commerce, National Bureau of Standards.

Nothing in this provision shall be construed as prohibiting the substitution for ash of other suitable species of wood having characteristics as nearly comparable as possible to the respective grades of ash for which they are substituted; provided that the buyer consents, and all handles other than ash be marked with the name of the specie of wood of which they were made.

(2) Blades. No alloy blades shall be manufactured except for corrugated coal shovels in 17 gauge and round and square point shovels in 14 gauge, which may be manufactured from intermediate manganese (1300 series). Such alloy blades shall be sold or delivered by any producer or accepted from any producer only for use in mining operations.

(3) Blade finishes. Black or natural finish is obtained by dipping the blade in its natural state, except that it may be wire brushed to remove scale or rust, in lacquer, or lacquer with an asphaltum base, or other suitable protective coating; the blade shall not be pickled before being wire brushed. Full polished finish is obtained by pickling the blade, finishing on roughing and finishing polishing wheels, and dipping it in lacquer, lacquer with an asphaltum base, or other suitable protective coating. No hand shovels, spades, scoops, or telegraph spoons shall be finished in other than black or natural finish, except moulders' shovels and grain scoops, which may be full polished on the face only.

(4) Gauges. The gauges referred to are the steel manufacturers' standard gauges, and are subject to the manufacturers' standard tolerances. The gauge of blades is to be determined by averaging five measurements taken as specified in Federal Specification GGG–S–326.

(5) Handle finish. Neither long handles, nor the stems of D handles, shall be painted or otherwise finished than by standing or waxing, except intrenching shovels, which are to be painted in accordance with the War Department's specification. Any metal used in the construction of D handles may be given a protective coating, or the entire D may be so coated, but only so far along the stem as is necessary to cover any metal used in the construction of the D.

(6) Handle lifts. Each kind and size of hand shovel, spade, scoop, and telegraph spoon shall be manufactured with only one lift, which shall be in accordance with the individual manufacturer's present standard practice, except corrugated coal shovels, which may be made with lifts of 21, 17, 14, and 11 inches, and eastern pattern scoops, which may be made with lifts of 21 and 13 inches.

PART 1341—CANNED AND PRESERVED FOODS

[Maximum Price Regulation 181]

NEW-FORMULA CONDENSED SOUPS PACKED UNDER WPB CONSERVATION ORDER M-81

In the judgment of the Price Administrator, the maximum prices established by the General Maximum Price Regulation [1] for the sale of canned soups are not applicable to those canned condensed soups whose packing in tin plate or terneplate after June 30, 1942, is governed and alone permitted under Conservation Order M-81, and amendments thereto, issued by the War Production Board.

This Maximum Price Regulation No. 181 is issued by the Price Administrator in order to establish for the canners and other sellers of such canned condensed soups maximum prices which are fair and equitable and which will effectuate the purposes of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942.

The maximum prices established herein are not below prices which will reflect to producers of the agricultural commodities from which canned condensed soups are manufactured, a price for their products equal to the highest of any of the following prices therefor as determined and published by the Secretary of Agriculture: (1) 110 per centum of the parity price for such commodity, adjusted by the Secretary of Agriculture for grade, location, and seasonal differentials; (2) the market price prevailing for such commodity on October 1, 1941; (3) the market price prevailing for such commodity on December 15, 1941; or (4) the average prices for such commodity during the period July 1, 1919 to June 30, 1929.

A Statement of the Considerations involved in the issuance of this Regulation has been issued simultaneously herewith and has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.

AUTHORITY: §§ 1341.51 to 1341.69, inclusive, issued under Pub. Law 421, 77th Cong.

§ 1341.51 Prohibition against selling or buying, above maximum prices, new-formula condensed soups packed under WPB Conservation Order M-81. (a) On and after July 18, 1942, regardless of any contract or other obligation, no person shall sell or deliver any canned condensed soup which it is permissible to pack after June 30, 1942, under Conservation Order M-81, and amendments thereto, at a price higher than the maximum prices established by this Maximum Price Regulation No. 181;

(b) No person in the course of trade or business shall buy or receive any such canned condensed soup at a price higher than the maximum prices established by this Maximum Price Regulation No. 181;

(c) No person shall agree, offer, solicit, or attempt to do any of the foregoing.

§ 1341.52 Canner's maximum prices for new-formula condensed soups packed under WPB Conservation Order M-81. (a) Except as hereinafter provided in paragraph (c) of this section, the canner in computing his maximum price per dozen for each variety and can size of canned condensed soup which it is permissible to pack after June 30, 1942, under Conservation Order M-81, and amendments thereto,

(1) Shall divide the weighted average price per dozen charged during the calendar year 1941 for the related variety of canned soup then sold, in the can size which had the largest retail sale for that variety during the calendar year 1941, by the weighted average direct cost per dozen of such soup during the calendar year 1941; and

(2) Shall multiply the figure so obtained by the direct cost per dozen of the variety and can size of canned condensed soup being priced hereunder.

(b) In determining the canner's maximum price:

(1) The "weighted average price" for any canned soup packed during the calendar year 1941 shall be the total gross sales dollars charged for each variety and can size divided by the number of dozens sold of such variety and can size during the calendar year 1941.

(2) The "weighted average direct cost per dozen" for any canned soup packed during the calendar year 1941 shall be the following costs in dollars and cents per dozen which entered into the production of canned soups up to and including the putting of the finished product in a warehouse on behalf of the canner: Raw material, can, carton, label, direct labor, and factory expenses, including maintenance, rent, heat, light, power, water, refrigeration, and indirect labor. The weighted average direct cost per dozen for each variety shall be the total direct cost divided by the number of dozens of such variety of canned soups produced during the calendar year 1941.

(3) The "direct cost per dozen" of any canned condensed soup being priced hereunder shall be computed in dollars and cents per dozen for the following factors which enter into the production of canned condensed soups up to and including the putting of the finished product in a warehouse on behalf of the canner: Raw material, can, carton, label, direct labor, and factory expenses, including maintenance, rent, heat, light, power, water, refrigeration, and indirect labor, provided that, with the exception of raw material, such direct costs shall be determined on the basis of material prices, labor rates, and overhead rates in effect on March 30, 1942. If the canner is actually producing or has actually produced any canned condensed soup being priced hereunder, he shall to that extent determine the direct cost per dozen of such canned condensed soups in dollars and cents based upon his actual production experience. If the canner is not actually producing or has not actually produced any canned condensed soup being priced hereunder, he shall estimate to the best of his ability the direct cost per dozen in accordance with his customary system of determining direct cost. The maximum price based upon such estimated direct cost shall be subject to adjustment by the Office of Price Administration at any time.

(c) If since January 1, 1941, a canner at any time sold and delivered all or part of his canned soups at a uniform price, he may sell and deliver all or part of his canned condensed soups at one or more uniform maximum prices, as hereinafter determined. The maximum price per dozen cans for the canned condensed soups, governed by this Maximum Price Regulation No. 181, which are to be sold on any uniform price line basis shall be:

(1) The average of the respective maximum prices for the varieties and can sizes of the canned condensed soups which are to be included in the uniform price line, as individually determined under paragraph (b) of this section; weighted according to

(2) The number of dozens of the related varieties of canned soups which were sold during the one-year period immediately preceding the date of computation hereunder, without regard to can size, except that in case of any price revision made under paragraph (d) of this section the number of dozens of the varieties and can sizes of canned condensed soups included in the price line which have been sold during such period shall also be included.

(d) If during any three-months period subsequent to October 1, 1942, the total sales volume, since the last price computation hereunder, of any variety sold as part of a price line has varied more than 25% in proportion to the total sales volume, during the same period, of all soups included in the price line, the canner must recompute his uniform maximum price at the end of such three-months period in accordance with the provisions of paragraph (c) of this section. But in no event shall the maximum price thus computed exceed the maximum price for such price line as first computed hereunder.

(e) No canner shall change his customary allowances, discounts, or other price differentials unless such charge results in the same or a lower price.

§ 1341.53 Wholesaler's and retailer's maximum prices for new-formula condensed soups packed under WPB Conservation Order M-81.—(a) Every wholesaler and retailer, in computing the maximum price per dozen or per can for each brand, variety, and can size of canned condensed soup which it is permissible to pack after June 30, 1942, under Conservation Order M-81, and amendments thereto:

(1) Shall divide his maximum price per dozen or per can, as determined under the General Maximum Price Regulation, for the same brand, related variety, and that can size which had the largest sale during the calendar year 1941, by his replacement cost per dozen or per can of that soup; and

(2) Shall multiply the figure so obtained by the maximum price per dozen or per can which some person, selected by him, from whom he was regularly purchasing such related canned soup during the first three months of the year 1942, is entitled to charge him under this Maximum Price Regulation No. 181 for the canned condensed soup being priced hereunder.

(b) No canned condensed soup shall be sold by any wholesaler or retailer until he has computed hereunder his maximum price for such soup, and when computed such maximum price shall be his maximum price from that time forward.

(c) No wholesaler or retailer shall change his customary allowances, discounts, or other price differentials unless such change results in the same or a lower price.

§ 1341.54 Inability to fix maximum prices under preceding sections. If for any person the maximum price cannot be determined under §§ 1341.52 and 1341.53 of this Maximum Price Regulation No. 181, the maximum price shall be a price determined by such person after specific authorization from the Office of Price Administration. A person who seeks such authorization shall file with the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., an application setting forth (a) a description in detail of the brand, variety and can size of the canned condensed soup for which a maximum price is sought; and (b) a statement of the facts which differentiate such variety and can size of canned condensed soup from the most similar variety and can size for which he has determined a maximum price, stating such most similar variety and can size, and the maximum price determined therefor. When such authorization is given, it will be accompanied by instructions as to the method for determining the maximum price. Within ten days after such price has been determined a canner shall report the price to the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., under oath or affirmation. The price so reported shall be subject to adjustment at any time by the Office of Price Administration.

§ 1341.55 Information and advice to purchasers from canners and wholesalers. (a) Any person, except a retailer, selling canned condensed soups covered by this Maximum Price Regulation No. 181 shall, before making any sales of such soups to any person to whom he was regularly selling any related variety of canned soup during the first three months of the year 1942, disclose in writing all maximum prices which he is entitled to charge such purchaser under this Maximum Price Regulation No. 181.

(b) Any person, except a retailer, selling canned condensed soups covered by this Maximum Price Regulation No. 181 shall, within 5 days after the receipt by him of the text, or copy thereof, of Instructions to Wholesalers and Retailers, to be distributed to canners by the Office of Price Administration, prepare and supply a copy of such Instructions to every person to whom he actually or regularly sells the canned condensed soups covered by this Maximum Price Regulation No. 181. The text of such Instructions will be prepared by the Office of Price Administration and will include specific directions to wholesalers and retailers as to the manner in which maximum prices shall be computed hereunder.

§ 1341.56 Distinctive labeling. Every canner, and any other person for whose account canned condensed soups covered by this Maximum Price Regulation No. 181 are packed or labeled, shall label each such soup sold by him in a manner calculated clearly to distinguish it, in the eyes of the ordinary casual purchaser at retail, from canned soups not covered by this Maximum Price Regulation No. 181, and shall file with the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., on or before August 15, 1942, a sample of each new label required hereunder together with a sample of each label heretofore used, during the calendar years 1941 and 1942, on those respective canned soups not covered by this Regulation which were the most closely related to the canned condensed soups sold under this Maximum Price Regulation No. 181.

§ 1341.57 Transfers of business or stock in trade. If the business, assets, or stock in trade of a canner are sold or otherwise transferred on or after July 18, 1942, and the transferee carries on the business, the maximum prices of the transferee shall be the same as those to which his transferor would have been subject if no such transfer had taken place, and his obligation to keep records sufficient to verify such prices shall be the same. The transferor shall either preserve and make available, or turn over to the transferee, all records of transactions prior to the transfer which are necessary to enable the transferee to comply with the record provisions of § 1341.60.

§ 1341.58 Less than maximum prices. Lower prices than those established by this Maximum Price Regulation No. 181 may be charged, demanded, paid, or offered.

§ 1341.59 Evasion. The price limitations set forth in this Maximum Price Regulation No. 181 shall not be evaded, whether by direct or indirect methods, in connection with any offer, solicitation, agreement, sale, delivery, purchase, or receipt of or relating to canned soups, alone or in conjunction with any other commodity or by way of any commission, service transportation, or other charge, or discount, premium, or other privilege, by tying-agreement, or other trade understanding, or otherwise.

§ 1341.60 Records and reports. (a) Every person who makes sales of canned condensed soups shall:

(1) Preserve for examination by the Office of Price Administration all their existing records which were the basis for the computations required by § 1341.52 and § 1341.53, and (2) preserve all records of the same kind as he has customarily kept, relating to the prices which he charged for canned condensed soups sold on and after July 18, 1942, and (3) file with the appropriate field office of the Office of Price Administration on or before August 15, 1942, for canners, and within 20 days respectively after the maximum prices for all canned condensed soups sold by them can first be determined hereunder, for wholesalers, a statement certified under oath or affirmation showing the maximum prices determined hereunder for each variety and can size of canned condensed soups, and all his customary allowances, discounts, and other price differentials, with the qualification that except as hereinafter provided retailers shall not be required to file their maximum prices, and (4) preserve a true copy of such statement for examination by any person during ordinary business hours. Any person who claims that substantial injury would result to him from making such statement available to any other person shall so notify the appropriate field office of the Office of Price Administration, and if he is a retailer he shall include with the notification a true copy of such certified statement. The information contained in such a statement will not be published or disclosed unless it is determined that the withholding of such information is contrary to the purposes of this Maximum Price Regulation No. 181.

(b) In addition to the foregoing, every canner who makes sales of canned condensed soups shall file with the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., on or before August 15, 1942, a statement certified under oath or affirmation showing:

(1) The weighted average direct cost per dozen, as defined in § 1341.52 hereof, of those varieties of canned soups packed during the calendar year 1941 which are related to the canned condensed soups being priced hereunder, in the respective can sizes which had the largest retail sale during the calendar year 1941;

(2) The weighted average price per dozen, as defined in § 1341.52 hereof, charged by the canner during the calendar year 1941 for the canned soups specified in paragraph (b) (1);

(3) The direct cost per dozen, as defined in § 1341.52 hereof, of the canned condensed soups which are being priced hereunder. If all or part of the direct cost is estimated by the canner a statement shall also be submitted showing the basis for such estimates;

(4) The maximum price for each variety and can size of such canned condensed soups, as determined under this Maximum Price Regulation No. 181;

(5) The uniform maximum price for any price line established under this Maximum Price Regulation No. 181, together with a schedule showing the varieties and can sizes of canned condensed soup included in such price line and the total sales volume of each such soup during the one-year period immediately preceding the date on which the uniform maximum price was computed hereunder; and

(6) A schedule showing the percentage of dry solids and the recommended dilution with water for:

(i) The canned condensed soups being priced hereunder; and

(ii) The related varieties of canned soups sold during the calendar year 1941.

(c) In addition to the foregoing, every canner whose uniform maximum price for the canned condensed soups included in any price line is revised under § 1341.52, paragraph (d) hereof, shall within 20 days after the termination of the three-months period specified in such section and paragraph file with the Office of Price Administration in Washington, D. C.,

(1) The uniform maximum price, as revised;

(2) A statement of the extent to which the sales volume of each variety included in the price line has changed since the preceding price computation; and

(3) A statement of the respective sales volumes, in dozens of cans of each of the soups included in the price line, during the one-year period immediately preceding the termination of the three-months period specified above.

In the judgment of the Price Administrator it is necessary in order to effectuate the purposes of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942 and to prevent manipulative practices which are equivalent to or are likely to result in price increases and evasions of the General Maximum Price Regulation [1] in the sale of bar or package soaps or cleansers to prescribe and limit further changes in weight and quality of such products.

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this Regulation has been issued simultaneously herewith and filed with the Division of the Federal Register.

Therefore, under the authority vested in the Price Administrator by the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, and in accordance with Procedural Regulation No. 1 [2] issued by the Office of Price Administration, Commodity Practices Regulation No. 1 is hereby issued.

A new § 1499.4b is added as set forth below:

§ 1499.4b Adjustment of maximum prices in cases of special deals: Any seller, other than a seller at retail, whose maximum price for a commodity to purchasers of a particular class is based on a "special deal" given by him to such purchasers which he can demonstrate was to have terminated not more than 123 days from the date on which it first became effective, may adjust his maximum price to such purchasers to the highest price at which such commodity was delivered by him to a purchaser of that class during the 30 days immediately preceding the date on which the special deal first became effective.

A seller at retail whose maximum price for a commodity to purchasers of a particular class is based on a special deal given by him to such purchasers as the result of a special deal given to him by his supplier may adjust his maximum price to such purchasers to the highest price at which such commodity was delivered by him to a purchaser of that class during the 30 days immediately preceding the date on which the special deal given by him first became effective. Such adjusted maximum price shall not apply to the particular commodities purchased by the retailer under the special deal given to him by his supplier.

A seller who makes an adjustment in his maximum price pursuant to this section shall, within 10 days thereafter, submit a statement to the regional office of the Office of Price Administration for the region in which the seller's place of business is located, except that if the seller makes sales of the commodity in more than one region, the statement shall be submitted to the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C. Such statement shall set forth:

(b) A description of the special deal given by the seller including all the terms thereof, the class or classes of purchasers to which it was applicable, the dates during which it was in effect, and copies of

The title, the preamble, and §§ 1312.1 to 1312.10,[1] inclusive, are renumbered and amended to read as follows:

[Maximum Price Regulation No. 13]

DOUGLAS FIR PLYWOOD

In the judgment of the Price Administrator, the prices of Douglas fir plywood have risen to an extent and in a manner inconsistent with the purposes of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942. The Price Administrator has ascertained and given due consideration to the prices of Douglas fir plywood prevailing between October 1 and October 15, 1941, and has made adjustments for such relevant factors as he has determined and deemed to be of general applicability. AUTHORITY: §§ 1413.1 to 1413.17 inclusive, issued under Pub. Law 421, 77th Cong.

§ 1413.1 Maximum prices for Douglas fir plywood. (a) On and after July 25, 1942, regardless of any contract or other obligation, no person shall sell or deliver any Douglas fir plywood, where shipment originates at the mill rather than at a distribution plant, and no person shall buy or receive in the course of trade or business any Douglas fir plywood so shipped, at prices higher than the maximum prices set forth in the Appendices A to F hereof, inclusive, incorporated herein as §§ 1413.12 to 1413.17, inclusive; and no person subject to this Maximum Price Regulation No. 13 shall agree, offer, solicit or attempt to do any of the foregoing. (b) The maximum prices established by this Maximum Price Regulation No. 13 shall not be increased by any charges for the extension of credit or by any decrease in the time customarily allowed for payment, and shall be decreased for prompt payment to the same extent that the sale price would have been decreased during the period March 1 to 15, 1941.

TITLE 41—PUBLIC CONTRACTS

Chapter II—Division of Public Contracts

PART 202—MINIMUM WAGE DETERMINATIONS

CERTAIN BRANCHES OF FURNITURE MANUFACTURING INDUSTRY

In the matter of an amendment to the determination of the prevailing minimum wages in the Wood Furniture Branch and in the Public Seating Branch of the Furniture Manufacturing Industry.

This matter is before me pursuant to section 1 (b) of the act of June 30, 1936 (49 Stat. 2036, 41 U.S.C. Supp. III, 35), entitled "An Act to provide conditions for the purchase of supplies and the making of contracts by the United States, and for other purposes," otherwise known as the Walsh-Healey Public Contracts Act.

On May 3, 1939, I issued a determination (4 F.R. 1915) that the prevailing minimum wages for employees engaged in the performance of contracts with agencies of the United States subject to the Walsh-Healey Public Contracts Act in the Wood Furniture Branch of the Furniture Manufacturing Industry are—

(1) 35 cents an hour for the States of Maine, Vermont, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Rhode Island, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, Maryland, West Virginia, Delaware, Kansas, Nebraska, South Dakota, North Dakota, Montana, Wyoming, Colorado, New Mexico, Arizona, Utah, Idaho, Nevada, and the District of Columbia;

(2) 30 cents an hour for the States of Virginia, Kentucky, North Carolina, Georgia, South Carolina, Florida, Alabama, Tennessee, Arkansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma, Texas, and Mississippi; and

(3) 50 cents an hour for the States of California, Washington, and Oregon; and that the prevailing minimum wage for such employees in the Public Seating Branch of the Furniture Manufacturing Industry is 37½ cents an hour.

On June 11, 1942, the Administrator of the Division of Public Contracts of the Department of Labor issued a Notice of Opportunity to Show Cause on or before July 6, 1942, why my determination for the Wood Furniture Branch should not be amended by (a) increasing the prevailing minimum wage to 40 cents an hour for the District of Columbia and all States other than California, Washington, and Oregon for which the prevailing minimum shall continue to be 50 cents an hour, the rate specified in my determination of May 3, 1939, and (b) amending the definition of the Wood Furniture Branch to which this prevailing minimum wage shall apply to be substantially the same as the definition of the Wood Furniture Manufacturing Industry contained in the Wage Order of the Administrator of the Wage and Hour Division issued on November 3, 1941, for that industry, and why my determination for the Public Seating Branch should not be amended by increasing the prevailing minimum wage from 37½ cents an hour to 40 cents an hour.

The notice sets forth that: (1) The minimum wage required to be paid by wood furniture manufacturers subject to the provisions of the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938 became 40 cents an hour on November 3, 1941, pursuant to the Wage Order; (2) the definition of the Wood Furniture Manufacturing Industry in the Wage Order includes all of the products covered by my determination for the Wood Furniture Branch and certain of the products covered by my determination for the Public Seating Branch; (3) substantially all employers subject to my determination for the Wood Furniture Branch are engaged in commerce or in the production of goods for commerce and consequently the Wage Order has the effect of establishing 40 cents an hour as the prevailing minimum wage in the Wood Furniture Branch for the District of Columbia and all states other than California, Washington, and Oregon for which the prevailing minimum is 50 cents an hour; (4) the processes of manufacture and the prevailing minimum wage rates in the production of the articles covered by the Wage Order but not covered by my determination for the Wood Furniture Branch are similar to the processes and prevailing minimum wage rates in the production of the articles covered by that determination; and (5) the processes of manufacture and prevailing minimum wage rates in the production of the articles covered by my determination for the Public Seating Branch but not covered by the Wage Order are similar to the processes and prevailing minimum wage rates in the production of articles covered by the Wage Order.

This notice was sent to members of the industry, to trade unions, trade associations, and publications and was duly published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (7 F.R. 4504). No objections, protests, or any statements in opposition to the proposed amendments have been received. Statements in support of the proposed amendments have been received from four manufacturers, one union, and one association.

Upon consideration of all the facts and circumstances, I hereby determine that:

§ 202.27[1] Furniture manufacturing industry—(a) Definitions—(1) Wood Furniture Branch. The definition of the Wood Furniture Branch of the Furniture Manufacturing Industry is amended to mean the manufacturing, assembling, upholstering, and finishing, from wood, reed, rattan, willow, and fiber, of upholstered and other household, office, lawn, camp, porch, and juvenile and toy furniture, including but without limitation porcelain top breakfast furniture and radio, phonograph and sewing machine cases and cabinets; the manufacturing and assembling from wood, of furniture parts for the above, separately, set up or knocked down including but without limitation parlor furniture frames and chairs in the white: Provided, however, That this definition shall not include the manufacture of any product covered by the prevailing minimum wage determination of the Secretary of Labor for the Public Seating Branch of the Furniture Manufacturing Industry.

The manufacturing of any products covered under this definition shall be deemed to begin following the delivery of the wood from the kiln or from the air-dried dimension shed.

(b) Minimum wages—(1) Wood Furniture Branch. The prevailing minimum wages for persons employed in the performance of contracts with agencies of the United States Government, subject to the provisions of the Walsh-Healey Public Contracts Act (49 Stat. 2036, 41 U.S.C. Supp. III, 35), for the manufacture and furnishing of the products of the Wood Furniture Branch of the Furniture Manufacturing Industry shall be (i) 40 cents an hour, or $16.00 for a week of 40 hours, arrived at either on a time or piece-work basis for the District of Columbia and all states other than California, Washington, and Oregon and (ii) 50 cents an hour, or $20.00 for a week of 40 hours, arrived at either on a time or piece-work basis, for the States of California, Washington, and Oregon;

(2) Public Seating Branch. The prevailing minimum wage for persons employed in the performance of contracts with agencies of the United States Government subject to the provisions of the Walsh-Healey Public Contracts Act (49 Stat. 2036, 41 U.S.C., Supp. III, 35), for the manufacture and furnishing of the products of the Public Seating Branch of the Furniture Manufacturing Industry as defined in my determination of May 3, 1939, shall be 40 cents an hour, or $16.00 for a week of 40 hours, arrived at either on a time or piece-work basis.

This determination shall be effective and the minimum wages hereby established shall apply to all contracts subject to the Public Contracts Act, bids for which are solicited or negotiations otherwise commenced by the contracting agency on or after August 15, 1942.

Nothing in this determination shall affect such obligations for the payment of minimum wages as an employer may have under the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938 or any wage order thereunder, or under any other law, or agreement, more favorable to employees than the requirements of this determination.

Bureau of Mines.

EXPERIMENT STATION, BOULDER CITY, NEVADA

WAGE FIXING PROCEDURES

For the purpose of determining the prevailing rate of wages to be paid certain classes of Government employees at the Bureau of Mines Experiment Station, Boulder City, Nevada, and to enable the payment to such employees of time and one-half for work in excess of 40 hours per week, the following procedure is established:

I. Wage Board

A Wage Board, composed of three representatives of the Department, one selected from the Office of the Secretary of the Interior, and at least one of the other two members selected from the Bureau of Mines, is hereby established to determine prevailing wages for similar work in the locality of the Station for persons employed by the Government in the various trades and occupations in the construction or operation and maintenance of the Station excluding employees whose wages are fixed on an annual basis pursuant to the Classification Act of 1923, as amended, and to make recommendations with respect to such wages to the Secretary of the Interior. The representative selected from the Office of the Secretary of the Interior shall act as Chairman of the Board.

II. Procedure To Be Followed by Board

In determining the prevailing wages of various trades and occupations being considered by the Board in the locality of the Station, the Board shall procure evidence of the wages and compensation being paid to and perquisites received by those employed in these trades and occupations from local contractors, Federal agencies (including wage scales currently being paid pursuant to minima established pursuant to the Davis-Bacon Act), private industrial employers, and others employing labor in the locality, whether pursuant to union agreements or otherwise. Hearings for the purpose of adducing evidence of wages paid in the locality may be held when, in the judgment of the Board, this is required in order to determine the prevailing rates of wages.

Based on the evidence procured as to prevailing wages and the perquisites of employment in the locality in the classifications under consideration by the Wage Board, the Board shall make its recommendations to the Secretary of the Interior as to the rates of wages to be paid to the Government employees of the classes above specified at the Experiment Station. The wages recommended shall become effective upon the date they are approved by the Secretary of the Interior, unless otherwise directed by him: Provided, That the Secretary of the Interior may direct the Board to reconsider any recommendation in whole or in part when, in his judgment, the recommended wage does not accord with the evidence procured as to the prevailing wage in the locality or when there is insufficient evidence to support the wage recommended.

III. Effective Period of Approved Wage Determinations

Any wage rate fixed in the manner above provided shall remain in effect until that rate has been supplanted by a different rate determined by the Wage Board with the approval of the Secretary of the Interior. Unless directed by the Secretary of the Interior to do so at other intervals, the Wage Board shall review wage rates at six-month intervals, beginning with the effective date of the first schedule of wages made in accordance with the procedure herein provided: Provided, That the Secretary of the Interior may direct a review at any other time when, in his judgment, this is desirable.

Unless otherwise ordered, the Board shall be composed of these departmental representatives:

Duncan Campbell, selected from the Office of the Secretary of the Interior,
R. G. Knickerbocker and J. D. Secrest, selected from the Bureau of Mines.

HAROLD L. ICKES,
Secretary of the Interior.

BOULDER CITY EXPERIMENT STATION WAGE BOARD

RECOMMENDATIONS TO SECRETARY OF THE INTERIOR

Pursuant to the Order of the Secretary of the Interior, dated April 30, 1942, and entitled Wage Fixing Procedures, Bureau of Mines Experiment Station, Boulder City, Nevada, the Wage Board has determined prevailing wage rates for certain classes of laborers and mechanics for work of a similar nature prevailing in the vicinity of the Boulder City Experiment Station.

The Board has conducted a field investigation of wage rates paid in the vicinity of the Experiment Station. Conferences were held with representatives of labor organizations and the principal employers of labor in the vicinity of the Station.

In addition to the testimony secured during the field investigation, the Wage Board has considered wage rate data included in collective bargaining agreements; decisions of the Secretary of Labor made pursuant to the Davis-Bacon Act, as amended; statements of wages paid to and benefits earned by employees of the Bureau of Power and Light, City of Los Angeles, and the Southern California Edison Company; and tabular analyses of wages and other compensation paid by the Bureau of Reclamation on the Boulder Canyon Project.

[1] Classifications of labor thus designated not to be used for new employments.

It is the understanding of the Wage Board that Bureau of Mines employees paid in accordance with this schedule will receive overtime pay on a basis of one and one-half times the basic hourly rate for all time worked in excess of forty hours in any one week. Refer to 40-hour week act (Sec. 23, Act of March 28, 1934; 48 Stat., 522).

No reduction in current rates. The Wage Board recommends that no present employee of the Bureau of Mines suffer a reduction in hourly wage rates as a result of the promulgation of wage changes based upon these recommendations.

Wage rates for foremen. The Wage Board finds with respect to foremen who do not work with the tools of the trade that there is a prevailing differential between wages paid to foremen and wages paid to laborers and mechanics, namely, that foremen receive not less than twelve and one-half cents per hour in excess of the rate paid to the workers they supervise. The Wage Board recommends that the basic hourly wage rate for foremen employed by the Government at the Experiment Station be fixed at twelve and one-half cents per hour in excess of the basic hourly rate established for the classification of labor supervised.

The foregoing recommendations approved and adopted by the Boulder City Experiment Station Wage Board this tenth day of June, 1942.

DEPARTMENT OF LABOR.

Wage and Hour Division.

LUGGAGE, LEATHER GOODS, AND WOMEN'S HANDBAG INDUSTRY

HEARING ON EMPLOYMENT OF LEARNERS AT LESS THAN THE MINIMUM WAGE RATE

Whereas the Administrator of the Wage and Hour Division duly appointed Industry Committee No. 41 for the purpose of recommending to the Administrator the highest minimum wage rate (not in excess of 40 cents per hour) which will not substantially curtail employment in the Luggage, Leather Goods and Women's Handbag Industry; and

Whereas the said Committee duly filed its Report and Recommendation on February 4, 1942, to the effect that every employer shall pay not less than 40 cents per hour to each of his employees in the Luggage, Leather Goods and Women's Handbag Industry as defined in Administrative Order No. 138 dated January 10, 1942; and which recommendation was approved by the Administrator to become effective on July 27, 1942, and

Whereas Industry Committee No. 41 was unanimous in its recommendation to the Administrator that "if, after proper inquiry, the Administrator deems it advisable, he hold a hearing for the Luggage, Leather Goods and Women's Handbag Industry to consider the problem of learners."

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given of a public hearing to commence at 10:00 A. M. on August 3, 1942 in the College Room of the Hotel Astor at 44th Street and Broadway, New York, New York, before Merle D. Vincent of the Hearings Branch of the Wage and Hour Division, hereby duly authorized as Presiding Officer to conduct said hearing, to take testimony for the purpose of determining:

(a) What, if any, occupation, or occupations in the Luggage, Leather Goods and Women's Handbag Industry require a learning period, and if any occupation is found to require a learning period;

(b) The factors which may have a bearing upon curtailment of opportunities for employment within the Luggage, Leather Goods and Women's Handbag Industry; and

(c) Under what limitation as to wages, time, number, proportion, and length of service, special certificates may be issued for the employment of learners in the Luggage, Leather Goods and Women's Handbag Industry.

At this hearing opportunity to present evidence relevant to above questions will be afforded any interested person, provided the Presiding Officer shall have received from such person, prior to noon, Saturday, August 1, 1942, a notice of intention to appear, setting forth his name and address, the company or organization which he represents, and the approximate length of time required for such presentation. Any interested party unable to appear in person may file a brief or a statement which will be considered if received by August 1, 1942.

As used in this notice, the term "Luggage, Leather Goods and Women's Handbag Industry" is defined as follows:

(a) The manufacture from any material of luggage including, but not by way of limitation, trunks, suit cases, traveling bags, brief cases, sample cases; the manufacture of instrument cases covered with leather, imitation leather, or fabric including, but not by way of limitation, portable radio cases; the manufacture of small leather goods and like articles from any material except metal; the manufacture of women's, misses', and children's handbags, pocketbooks, purses, and mesh bags from any material except metal; but not the manufacture of bodies, panels, and frames from metal, wood, fibre, or paper board for any of the above articles.

(b) The manufacture from leather, imitation leather, or fabric of cut stock and parts for any of the articles covered in section (a).

The definition of the Luggage, Leather Goods, and Women's Handbag Industry covers all occupations in the industry which are necessary to the production of the articles within the definition, including clerical, maintenance, shipping and selling occupations: Provided, however, That this definition does not include employees of an independent wholesaler or employees of a manufacturer who are engaged exclusively in marketing and distributing products of the industry which have been purchased for resale.

On the close of the hearing, the Presiding Officer shall file a complete record of the proceeding with, and shall make findings of fact and recommendations to the Administrator.

Signed at New York, N. Y., this 16th day of July 1942.

WILLIAM B. GROGAN,
Acting Administrator.

[Docket Nos. FDC-12, FDC-29]

CREAM, NEUFCHATEL, COTTAGE, AND CREAMED COTTAGE CHEESES

DEFINITIONS AND STANDARDS OF IDENTITY

In the matter of fixing and establishing a definition and standard of identity for cream cheese (Docket No. FDC-12); in the matter of fixing and establishing definitions and standards of identity for neufchatel cheese, cottage cheese, and creamed cottage cheese (Docket No. FDC-29).

Proposed Order

It is proposed that, by virtue of the authority vested in the Federal Security Administrator by provisions of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (secs. 401, 701 (e); 52 Stat. 1046, 1055; 21 U.S.C. 341, 371 (e), 1940 ed.); the Reorganization Act of 1939 (53 Stat. 561 ff.; 5 U.S.C. 133-133v (Supp. V, 1939)); and Reorganization Plans No. I (53 Stat. 1423) and No. IV (54 Stat. 1234); and upon the basis of evidence of record at the above-entitled hearings duly held pursuant to the notices issued respectively on August 18, 1939 (4 F.R. 3683) and on January 6, 1941 (6 F.R. 679), the following order be made:

Findings of Fact[1]

Finding 1. There are produced and marketed various cheeses of the class of soft uncured cheeses which have similar characteristics but which are separate and distinct identities. R. pp. 63, 93-94, 138-157, 232-234, 659-661, 675, 679-683, 741-744, 924-925, 1988-1991, 2018-2020, 2271, 2711-2712; U. S. Dept. Agri. Bulletins Nos. 608-669)

Finding 2. The organoleptic characteristics, that is, the appearance, smell, feel, and taste, serve in general to distinguish each of such soft uncured cheeses from the others. (R. pp. 138-140, 148-149, 232-233, 246, 659-662, 681-682, 703-704, 924-925, 940, 1228-1229, 1258, 1359, 1463, 1625, 1732-1733, 1735-1736, 1787, 1917-1918, 1944-1945, 1967-1969, 2017-2020, 2271, 2712)

Finding 3. The basic constituents of each such cheese are the same, namely, the coagulated proteins of milk, a portion of the soluble nonfat milk solids, and widely varying proportions of water and milk fat. (R. pp. 1839, 1917-1918, 1951-1952, 2206, 2321; U. S. Dept. Agri. Bulletins Nos. 608 and 896)

Finding 4. The proportions in which these basic constituents are present in a soft uncured cheese determine, to a large extent, the organoleptic characteristics on the basis of which it is distinguished from other kinds of cheeses. (R. pp. 93-94, 246, 260-261, 272, 680-682, 746, 1376, 1640-1641, 1656, 1674, 1681, 1684, 1686-1687, 1813-1814, 1917-1920, 1926-1927, 1935-1938, 1940, 1969-1970, 1982-1983, 1985-1986, 1988, 2030-2034, 2075-2076, 2271)

Finding 5. The percentage of milk fat present in the dairy product from which such soft uncurred cheese is made is one of the important factors which determine the composition of the finished cheese. (R. pp. 148-149, 704, 1229, 1375-1376, 1433-1434, 1586-1587, 1669, 1673, 1819, 1919, 2178-2183; O. P. Ex. 141, 2192-2193, 2246-2248)

Finding 6. The desired percentage of fat in the dairy product from which a soft uncured cheese is made may be obtained by "adjustment" when necessary, that is, by adding skim milk, milk, or cream as may be required to raise or lower the fat content of the starting material to the desired percentage. The starting material, after adjustment when necessary, is generally referred to as the "starting mix" or "mix." (R. pp. 234, 1407-1408, 1432-1434, 1750, 2178-2183)

Finding 7. The proportions in which the basic constituents are present in a soft uncured cheese are determined by the composition of the starting mix used and the method of manufacture employed. (R. pp. 232-234, 680-682, 704, 1226-1728, 1750, 1775-1776, 2178-2183; O. P. Ex. 141)

Finding 8. The growth of certain bacteria usually present in raw milk may, and frequently does, contribute objectionable odors and flavors to a soft uncured cheese, that is, flavors and odors not normally associated with that type of cheese. The development of such flavors and odors is avoided and the desired flavor and odor characteristic of such soft uncured cheese is obtained by pasteurizing the starting mix from which such cheese is made and then inoculating it with a culture of harmless lactic-acid-producing bacteria, usually called "starter", selected on the basis of their ability to produce the desired characteristic flavor and odor. (R. pp. 29, 141, 155, 183, 189, 234, 731, 1747-1748, 1893-1894, 2034, 2598-2599, 2742-2745)

Finding 9. Basically, the process by which soft uncured cheeses are made consists of pasteurizing the starting mix, adding starter, holding the mix at a suitable temperature for developing acidity and coagulating the curd, and draining the whey from the curd. A small quantity of rennet is sometimes added to produce a firmer curd. The curd is usually seasoned with salt. (R. pp. 29-30, 93, 141-142, 234-238, 235-237, 248, 668, 680, 704, 731, 774, 779, 801, 1743-1744, 1748, 1890, 2030, 2577-2578, 2716-2717, 2733, 2752, 2788-2789)

Finding 10. The food commonly or usually known as cream cheese is one of the several soft uncured cheeses. (R. pp. 63, 139, 230, 232, 660-661, 683, 743, 770, 1917)

Finding 11. Cream cheese, made basically as stated in finding 9, is made from cream, with or without added milk or skim milk or both. The fat content of the starting mix varies from about 10 to about 20 percent by weight, depending on the proportions of fat and water desired in the finished cream cheese. The starting mix is usually homogenized. The separation of the curd and the whey is sometimes facilitated by warming. Pressure is sometimes applied to facilitate drainage of whey, and the curd is sometimes chilled. (R. pp. 28-29, 141, 155, 234, 984, 1612, 1668, 1684, 1702, 1714, 1920 (a), 2179, 2203, 2248)

Finding 12. All finished cream cheese leaks water to some extent. (R. pp. 75, 226, 259, 884-885, 1594)

Finding 13. Any noticeable leakage of water from cream cheese is undesirable as it renders the cheese unattractive and creates merchandising problems. (R. pp. 153, 193, 227, 259, 270, 273, 277, 351, 373-374, 885, 984-985)

Finding 14. About 1927 it was discovered that the addition of small quantities of harmless vegetable gum in the preparation of cream cheese would prevent noticeable leakage of water, and such gum was first used and is today used by some manufacturers solely for this purpose. (R. pp. 193, 226, 374, 626, 752, 754-755, 790, 799, 819-821, 833-834, 884, 1358, 1593, 1620-1621, 2323-2325)

Finding 15. The vegetable gums most commonly used in the preparation of cream cheese for the purpose of preventing excessive leakage of water are carob or locust bean gum, karaya gum, and tragacanth gum. (R. pp. 31, 153, 239, 774-775, 790-791, 821, 1360, 1595-1596, 1798-1799)

Finding 16. Gelatin and algin (sodium alginate) will also prevent such leakage, and they are sometimes used for such purpose in the preparation of cream cheese. (R. pp. 31, 45, 68, 76, 142, 154, 209, 240, 244, 2036-2059; O. P. Ex. No. 7)

Finding 17. The amount of gum, gelatin, or algin, or any mixture of two or more of these, as the case may be, necessary for such purpose does not exceed 0.5 percent by weight of the finished cream cheese. (R. pp. 206-207, 885, 984, 1027, 1624, 1993, 2036-2059; O. P. Ex. No. 7)

Finding 18. Because the nondairy substances vegetable gum, gelatin, and algin have come into use as optional ingredients in soft uncured cheeses comparatively recently, consumers are not generally familiar with the fact that they are so used and normally do not expect such substances to be present in soft uncured cheeses. (R. pp. 46, 655, 772, 779, 861-862)

Finding 19. Traditionally, cream cheese has been a relatively high-fat, low-moisture soft uncured cheese and most of the product marketed today as cream cheese contains from 35 to 40 percent or more of fat and from 55 to 50 percent or less of moisture. (R. pp. 1053, 1230, 1617, 1619, 1929, 2097-2098, 2108, 2179, 2181; Govt. Ex.'s Nos. 2 and 4)

Finding 20. In good commercial practice the percentages of fat and moisture in the finished cream cheese vary as much as 2 percent above or below the percentages which the manufacturer desires to obtain in the finished product. (R. pp. 1367-1368, 1484-1485, 1561, 1670-1673, 1729-1730, 1775, 1914-1915, 2001-2002, 2093, 2098-2100, 2179-2180, 2185-2186)

Finding 21. The appearance, smell, feel, and taste of cream cheese become less characteristic of that product as the fat content is lowered and the moisture content is correspondingly raised. The line of demarcation is not clearly fixed, but when the fat is less than about 33 percent and the moisture is more than about 55 percent, the finished product (unless subjected to the hot-pack process hereinafter described) commences to acquire characteristics of appearance, smell, feel, and taste closely related to but different from those of cream cheese. (R. pp. 265-267, 746, 799-800, 1599-1600, 1607, 1619, 1700, 1732, 1935-1938, 1982-1984, 2249-2250)

Finding 22. With all due allowances made for the variations in the fat and moisture content referred to in finding 20, a reasonable minimum limit for the fat content of the finished cream cheese is 33 percent, and a reasonable maximum limit for the moisture content is 55 percent. (R. pp. 1325-1326, 1498, 1617, 1619, 1647-1648, 1679-1680, 1700, 1780, 1792, 2097-2098, 2179-2181)

Finding 23. Following the discovery that the use of gum in cream cheese would prevent excessive leakage of moisture, it became the practice of some manufacturers to heat the gum together with the curd, and to disperse it in the curd usually by homogenization. This modification became known as the "hot-pack" process and, to distinguish the process followed prior to such modification, the earlier process became known as the "cold-pack" process. (R. pp. 30-31, 74-76, 79, 138, 142-143, 238-245, 790, 834-835, 1225, 1248-1249, 1349-1351, 1355-1358, 1642)

Finding 24. By subjecting the gum-containing curd to the hot-pack process, it was possible to produce a finished product containing a substantially higher percentage of moisture and a correspondingly lower percentage of fat than the product which had been manufactured and marketed as cream cheese prior to discovery of the hot-pack process. (R. pp. 74-76, 142-143, 238-239, 268-270, 280-282, 834-835, 1264, 1593-1594, 1620-1621, 1639, 1823, 2181-2183, 2260)

Finding 25. Most of the soft uncured cheese made by the hot-pack process which is marketed today contains from about 23 percent to about 30 percent of fat and from about 60 percent to about 65 percent of moisture. (R. pp. 289, 295, 335, 337, 346, 350, 361, 372, 588, 621, 653, 672, 718-719, 766, 792-793, 798, 880, 907-908, 927, 930, 954, 1012, 1230, 1234, 1296, 1300-1302, 1322-1323, 1498, 1579, 1617, 1619, 1640-1641, 1644, 1781, 1788-1789, 1792, 1802, 1832, 1856-1857, 1933-1934, 2069-2071; Govt. Ex.'s Nos. 2 and 4)

[1] The above-entitled hearings having been consolidated for the purpose of considering the identities of the several kinds of cheeses which were the subject of said hearings on the basis of all the evidence of record at both hearings (R. p. 1218), the findings of fact are based upon all such evidence of record. The page references to certain relevant portions of the record are for the convenience of the reader; however, the findings of fact are not based solely on that portion of the record to which reference is made but on consideration of all the evidence of record.

Finding 26. The desired percentage of fat and moisture in soft uncured cheese made by the hot-pack process may be obtained by adjustment through adding to the curd appropriate quantities of cream, milk, skim milk, or any mixture of two or all of these, before the curd is heated and homogenized. (R. pp. 1356–1358, 1452–1453, 1457, 1459, 1607, 1649, 1660, 1726–1728, 1738, 1805–1807, 1915–1917, 1920 (a), 2000–2002, 2246–2248)

Finding 27. A low-fat, high-moisture soft uncured cheese made by the hot-pack process cannot be readily distinguished from cream cheese by the ordinary purchaser. (R. pp. 46–47, 75, 80, 82, 156–157, 245, 260–261, 268, 317–318, 358, 383–384, 653, 1043, 1264, 1339, 1498, 1499–1510, 1526, 1921–1922, 1970, 1991, 2066)

Finding 28. Such cheese has from the beginning and is today distinguished by manufacturers, wholesalers, and retailers by such qualifying words as "low test", "cheap", "second grade", "No. 2", "hot-pack", and often by some arbitrary brand name. (R. pp. 288, 295, 337, 361, 386, 538, 683, 744, 930, 951, 1224–1225, 1248, 1271–1273, 1282, 1310, 1347–1351, 1425–1427, 1440–1441, 1497–1498, 1613, 1790, 1831–1832, 1930, 1935, 2105)

Finding 29. Such cheese was produced by some of the smaller manufacturers to enable them to compete profitably with large manufacturers of cream cheese. The competitive situation thus created led to the production, in some quantity at least, of the low-fat, high-moisture product by all or substantially all manufacturers of cream cheese. (R. pp. 288–291, 306, 330, 335, 348, 352, 386–387, 588, 601, 613, 656, 718, 737, 767, 896, 946, 964, 981–983, 989, 1012, 1230, 1249–1250, 1310, 1930, 2110, 2206–2207)

Finding 30. The manufacturing cost of soft uncured cheese is determined primarily by the fat content in the finished cheese. Low-fat, high-moisture cheese is therefore less expensive than cream cheese, and manufacturers usually sell it to distributors and retailers at a lower price than that of cream cheese. (R. pp. 272, 949, 1225–1227; 1241–1242, 1388–1390, 1426, 1437–1438, 1528, 2027–2028, 2254; Govt. Ex.'s Nos. 4 to 10, incl.; O. P.'s Ex. No. 15)

Finding 31. Retailers frequently sell the low-fat, high-moisture soft uncured cheese to consumers at the price of cream cheese and sometimes even at higher prices. There is no uniform differentiation between the two cheeses on the basis of retail prices. (R. pp. 1609, 2137, 2216; Govt. Ex.'s Nos. 4 to 10, incl.; O. P.'s Ex. No. 15)

Finding 32. The low-fat, high-moisture soft uncured cheese is not known to consumers by any of the designations whereby manufacturers, wholesalers, and retailers distinguish it from cream cheese because it has been sold to them under the name "cream cheese"; consumers generally do not know that kind of cheese by any other name. (R. pp. 28, 312–313, 345, 354–355, 378, 611, 778, 815, 861, 863, 946, 951, 979, 1020, 1037–1038, 1234, 1245, 1339, 1588–1589, 1783, 1791, 2105)

Finding 33. In the administration of the Federal Food and Drugs Act of June 30, 1906, the Secretary of Agriculture promulgated the following standard of identity for cream cheese:

> Cream cheese is the unripened cheese made by the Neufchatel process from whole milk enriched with cream. It contains, in the water-free substance, not less than sixty-five percent (65%) of milk fat.

This standard was advisory in character and did not have the force and effect of law. (R. pp. 21–23, 2320–2325)

Finding 34. When such advisory standard was promulgated, the hot-pack process was not known and such treatment of cream cheese was not then contemplated. (R. pp. 2320–2325)

Finding 35. The ratio of fat to non-fat solids prescribed by such advisory standard limited the composition of cream cheese fairly satisfactorily as long as it was manufactured by the cold-pack process and without gum, because leakage limited the amount of moisture which could be incorporated in such cheese. (R. pp. 2320–2325)

Finding 36. When excess moisture is held in the cheese by use of the hot-pack process, such advisory standard is ineffective because it does not limit the moisture content of the product. (R. pp. 181–182, 217, 1993, 2320–2325)

Finding 37. Although such low-fat, high-moisture soft uncured cheese made by the hot-pack process simulates cream cheese in appearance and texture, the composition of such finished cheese is more nearly like the composition of neufchatel cheese. (R. pp. 1683–1687, 1700–1701, 1706–1707, 2197–2207)

Finding 38. The soft uncured cheese made from whole milk by the process described generally in finding 9 is commonly or usually known as neufchatel cheese. Although it is not made in substantial quantities at the present time, it is defined in Webster's dictionary and by experts as a cheese made from sweet milk with or without cream. Neufchatel cheese is made by the cold-pack process, but there are no technical difficulties in applying the hot-pack process to the curd so produced. (R. pp. 1683–1686, 1705, 1713; 1737, 1922–1927. 2088, 2167, 2173, 2267–2271)

Finding 39. Neufchatel cheese has traditionally contained a percentage of fat within the range next lower than that of cream cheese and a percentage of moisture within the range next higher than that of cream cheese. Prior to the development of the hot-pack process, it was the only soft uncured cheese with fat and moisture contents falling within such ranges. (R. pp. 1683–1687, 1927–1929, 2197–2207)

Finding 40. When the usual method of manufacture is employed, neufchatel cheese contains a minimum of about 20 percent of fat and a maximum of about 65 percent of moisture. (R. pp. 1684, 1688, 1928–1929, 2197–2206, 2279)

Finding 41. Prior to about 1920, a very substantial volume of neufchatel cheese was marketed. However, the volume of sales of this product gradually declined and since about 1925 practically no neufchatel cheese has been marketed, and today only one manufacturer is known to market a soft uncured cheese under that name. Commencing about 1916 it became the practice of manufacturers, for competitive reasons, to progressively lower the fat content and increase the moisture content of the product, so that by about 1920 most of it was made from partly skimmed milk but continued to be sold as neufchatel cheese. The result of this practice was a progressively inferior or "cheaper" product. Consumer demand for it declined until its manufacture was virtually discontinued. (R. pp. 1684–1686, 1922–1926)

Finding 42. The food commonly or usually known as cottage cheese is one of the several soft uncured cheeses. (R. pp. 1710–1711, 1742, 2711–2712, 2714)

Finding 43. Cottage cheese is made from skimmed milk, the process being, basically, that described in finding 9. The percentage of milk fat contained in the starting mix varies from traces to something less than 1½ percent. The separation of the curd and whey is facilitated by warming or cutting or both; the curd is drained and is sometimes washed with water during or after draining, followed by further draining; after draining, the curd is sometimes chilled, or pressed, or both. (R. pp. 1740, 1872-1873, 1910, 2012, 2577–2578)

Finding 44. The extent of the warming and draining, and also whether rennet is used of not, and whether the curd is washed or unwashed, chilled or unchilled, cut or uncut, pressed or not, during the process of manufacture, are all factors which affect the physical form of the finished cottage cheese, so that such cheese is sometimes of a relatively granular or crumbly form, or of a relatively smooth texture, or in the form of flakes; and in some forms it may be dryer than in others. But all such differences are merely minor differences in the same kind of cheese. (R. pp. 1873, 2012, 2577–2578, 2584, 2588–2590, 2605–2606, 2627, 2638–2639, 2690–2691, 2708–2712, 2726–2727, 2764–2788)

Finding 45. The choice of a particular texture in cottage cheese is determined by the intended use of the cheese. In some localities it is customary to distinguish between textures of cottage cheese by such descriptive words as "bakers", "pot", "cup", "hoop", "block", "dry", "pressed", "popcorn", "flake", but the meaning of such words is not uniform. Such a descriptive word which identifies cottage cheese of a particular texture in one locality may identify such cheese of a different texture in another locality. (R. pp. 2584–2587, 2606, 2638–2639, 2690–2691, 2708–2712, 2721–2722, 2726–2727, 2730, 2764–2769, 2775–2788; O. P. Ex. 11)

Finding 46. Most cottage cheese marketed contains less than 80 percent of moisture, and a limitation of moisture in cottage cheese to not more than 80 percent is a reasonable limit. (R. pp. 1739–1740, 1871–1872, 2005, 2588–2589, 2649, 2655–2657, 2676–2677; O. P. Ex. 11)

Finding 47. The calcium content of milk varies, the amount present depending on such factors as seasons, geographical locations, the kind of feed fed to the cows, and perhaps others. (R. pp. 1874–1877, 1906–1907, 2003)

Finding 48. When cottage cheese is made from skim milk deficient in calcium, the curd is too soft and "mushy" to give the finished cheese the desired characteristic texture. (R. pp. 1874–1877, 2003–2004, 2015)

Finding 49. Calcium deficiency in skim milk from which cottage cheese is made is corrected by adding calcium chloride to the starting mix. (R. pp. 1751, 1874–1877, 2003, 2015, 2600, 2677, 2716)

Finding 50. The maximum calcium chloride required to correct any likely calcium deficiency in skim milk is never in excess of 0.02 percent by weight of the starting mix. (R. pp. 1875–1877, 1894–1895, 2003, 2654–2655, 2677–2678)

Finding 51. The food commonly or usually known as creamed cottage cheese is one of the several soft uncured cheeses. (R. pp. 1740, 2005, 2577–2579, 2649)

Finding 52. Creamed cottage cheese is cottage cheese which has been creamed by adding thereto and admixing therewith sweet cream, or a mixture of sweet cream and sweet milk or sweet skim milk or both. The cottage cheese ordinarily used for making creamed cottage cheese contains from fractions up to about 1 percent of milk fat. Creamed cottage cheese contains in excess of 4 percent of milk fat. The cream or the mixture of cream and milk or skim milk or both which is added to cottage cheese is the principal source of milk fat in creamed cottage cheese. Such cream or such mixture, as the case may be, is added in such quantity that the fat derived from this source is not less than 4 percent by weight of the finished creamed cottage cheese. (R. pp. 1740–1746, 1749–1750, 1877–1881, 1883–1885, 1888, 1899–1900, 1904–1906, 2017–2018, 2022–2023, 2579, 2593–2594, 2601–2603, 2753–2755, 2761; Govt. Ex. 13)

Finding 53. Some manufacturers have added gelatin to cottage cheese and to creamed cottage cheese. The addition of gelatin to such products does not affect the preparation of the curd, but it eliminates the "watery" appearance of the curd and gives it a glossy appearance, and gives the impression that the finished product is richer or higher in butterfat than it actually is. (R. pp. 2006–2009, 2024–2027, 2579–2580, 2595, 2652–2654, 2725)

Finding 54. Most of the soft uncured cheese marketed as creamed cottage cheese contains not more than 80 percent of moisture, which is a reasonable limit for moisture in creamed cottage cheese. (R. pp. 1877–1879, 2017, 2649–2650, 2655–2657, 2680–2681, 2687; O.P. Ex. 11)

Finding 55. The amount of moisture and the amount of milk fat contained in each of the cheeses heretofore described can be accurately determined by the methods of analysis for cheese described in the publication entitled "Official and Tentative Methods of Analysis of the Association of Official Agricultural Chemists", Fifth Edition, 1940: the moisture content under the heading "Moisture—Official", on page 301, and the milk fat content under the heading "Fat—Official", on page 302. Such methods are well-known to, and recognized by, food chemists and the publication referred to is a publication well-known and readily available to food chemists. (R. p. 152)

Finding 56. The milk used in the manufacture of any soft uncured cheese is sweet milk of cows, and the skim milk so used is such cows' milk from which the fat has been separated. (R. pp. 1745, 1897, 1911–1912, 2590–2596)

Finding 57. There is a kind of soft uncured cheese which, according to some testimony, appears to be made by a process slightly different from the process employed in making cottage cheese. Its minimum fat content is somewhere within the range of 10 to 12 percent, but this kind of cheese contains less fat than neufchatel cheese. This kind of cheese differs in identity from cottage cheese, from creamed cottage cheese, and from neufchatel cheese. Most soft uncured cheese of this composition has been sold under the designation "farmer cheese". There is evidence of record that a designation of this product by the term "farmer cheese" would be misleading to consumers. (R. pp. 2012–2013, 2019–2021, 2620–2621, 2624–2626, 2628–2629, 2635–2637, 2659–2666, 2697–2703, 2763, 2767–2770, 2785; Govt. Ex. 13)

Finding 58. Soft uncured cheeses, like milk, cream, and most other dairy products, are comparatively perishable. The principal causes of spoilage are microorganisms, including bacteria, yeasts, and molds. (R. pp. 69–71, 404–407A, 410–415, 417–418, 428–439, 442, 454, 456, 459, 476, 479–480, 490, 498, 521, 835, 862, 2010, 2018)

Finding 59. The length of time during which soft uncured cheeses remain fit for use depends on the rate of the development of microorganisms, and the rate of such development depends on such factors as the sanitary quality of the raw material from which such cheeses are made, the sanitary precautions taken during the process of manufacture, packaging, and distribution, the method of packaging, and the efficiency of refrigeration during storage and distribution. When cream cheese and the low-test, high-moisture product which has been sold as such are prepared from raw materials of reasonable sanitary quality and when reasonable precautions as to sanitation and refrigeration are taken in manufacturing, packaging, and distribution, such cheeses remain free from spoilage for a period of from about two to three weeks, except when the finished curd is subjected to the hot-pack process this period may be somewhat longer. The same is true of cottage cheese and creamed cottage cheese, except that they do not remain free from spoilage for so long a period. (R. pp. 69–70, 417–418, 437, 442A–443A, 456, 465, 665–667, 710–714)

Finding 60. Bacterial growth will eventually cause soft uncured cheeses to spoil irrespective and independent of yeast and mold development. Such growth commences immediately after or even during the manufacture of the products and, as it progresses, the cheeses deteriorate until they become unfit for use. (R. pp. 428–438, 452–454, 490, 1108)

Finding 61. Yeast growth in soft uncured cheeses will result in objectionable or "off" flavors. Such off flavors make the cheeses unfit for use, but they ordinarily do not develop until about the time that the cheeses become spoiled from bacterial or mold development. The length of the period from the time of manufacture until such off flavors develop depends largely on the extent of the yeast spore contamination of such products during the process of manufacture. However, the character of the yeast spore is such that excessive contamination of soft uncured cheese made from a pasteurized starting material can be avoided by observing proper sanitary precautions. (R. pp. 69–70, 442A–443A, 456, 498, 500–502, 527, 665–667, 807–808)

Finding 62. It is difficult to prevent the development of mold on soft uncured cheeses. Contamination with mold sphores during the process of manufacture cannot be entirely avoided. The rate and extent of mold development increase with increasing degrees of contamination, such as are likely to occur when the products are cut into small pieces and wrapped by hand, and with increases in the moisture content of the products. However, when rigid precautions as to sanitation and refrigeration are taken (such as should be taken with respect to relatively perishable foods and which are taken in the manufacture of most soft uncured cheese), visible mold seldom develops during the period that the cheeses remain otherwise fit for consumption. When the precautions are not so rigid, visible mold may develop anywhere from 1 to 5 days prior to the time when the cheeses become otherwise unfit for consumption. (R. pp. 69–70, 308, 404–407, 415–416, 442A–443A, 456–457, 459, 463–466, 482–483, 497–498, 500–502, 505–512, 581–582, 665–667, 684–685, 699, 758–759, 761–762, 794–795, 809)

Finding 63. Consumers know that soft uncured cheeses are relatively perishable and therefore consumers usually purchase such products in small quantities and consume them before they become unfit for use by reason of the development of microorganisms. (R. pp. 278, 712–713, 862–863)

Finding 64. Comparatively recently about 10 manufacturers have added one or the other of the chemical substances sodium propionate and calcium propionate to some of their soft uncured cheeses for the purpose of retarding the development of yeast and mold in such products. (R. pp. 302–303, 308–310, 365, 368–369, 419–421, 438, 455, 464, 501–503, 570–571, 665–667, 780, 1034, 1113–1115, 2795)

Finding 65. Sodium propionate and calcium propionate have undesirable characteristic flavors. When sodium propionate or calcium propionate is used in soft uncured cheese in the usual quantity of 0.15 percent (the quantity recommended by the advocates of propionates), the characteristic flavor is not readily noticeable in the product. In the quantity of 0.2 percent the flavor is definitely noticeable. (R. pp. 442–443, 483–485, 542, 548, 796, 811–812)

Finding 66. The evidence does not establish (1) a need for the use of propionates to inhibit or otherwise control the development of microorganisms in soft uncured cheeses; (2) that purchasers or consumers of such cheeses which are of good merchandisable quality at the time of sale, suffer loss by reason of failure to consume the product before the development of yeast or mold; (3) that, upon the assumption that the use of propionates would extend the commercial life of such cheeses by from 1 to 4 days and reduce the volume of returns to manufacturers because of excess yeast and mold development, consumers would derive any subsantial benefit from such extension; and (4) the scope and extent of the inhibitory effect of propionates on the various microorganisms present in soft uncured cheeses, such as whether all mold or only certain kinds, are retarded; whether th development of yeasts is retarded; and the effect upon bacteria, including lactic-acid-forming bacteria. The experiments and market survey which constitute, primarily, the basis for the testimony relating to the effect of propionates do not take account of the material factor of the degree of contamination by mold, yeast, and other microorganisms of the samples involved, or of such other material factors as the age and method of storing and handling of most of such samples; the experiments were not scientifically controlled, and were preliminary in character.

Finding 67. One manufacturer has occasionally added vitamin D to cream cheese (R. pp. 1051–1952, 1087–1090), but the record fails to establish that cream cheese is a suitable carrier for vitamin D or that there is a need for the addition of this ingredient to cream cheese.

On the basis of the foregoing findings of fact, it is found and concluded that:

(1) It would not promote honesty and fair dealing in the interest of consumers to establish a definition and standard of identity for low-fat, high-moisture soft uncured cheese made by the hot-pack process, under the name "cream cheese" or a name which includes the words "cream cheese".

(2) It will promote honesty and fair dealing in the interest of consumers to establish a definition and standard of identity for such low-fat, high-moisture cheese under the name "neufchatel cheese".

(3) The evidence does not provide an adequate basis for determination that it would promote honesty and fair dealing in the interest of consumers to establish a definition and standard of identity under the name "farmer cheese" for the soft uncured cheese sometimes sold under that name.

(4) It will not promote honest and fair dealing in the interest of consumers to include gelatin as an ingredient in cottage cheese and in creamed cottage cheese.

(5) The evidence does not provide an adequate basis for a determination that the inclusion as optional ingredients in soft uncured cheese of sodium propionate, calcium propionate, and vitamin D would promote honesty and fair dealing in the interest of consumers.

(6) Promulgation of the regulations hereinafter prescribed, fixing and establishing definitions and standards of identity for cream cheese, neufchatel cheese, cottage cheese, and creamed cottage cheese, will promote honesty and fair dealing in the interest of consumers.

Wherefore each of the following regulations is hereby promulgated:

§ 19.515 Cream cheese—identity; label statement of optional ingredients. (a) Cream cheese is the soft uncured cheese prepared by the procedure set forth in paragraph (b) of this section. The finished cream cheese contains not less than 33 percent of milk fat and not more than 55 percent of moisture, as determined, respectively, by the methods prescribed under "Fat—Official" on page 302 and under "Moisture—Official" on page 301 of Analysis of the Association of Official Agricultural Chemists", Fifth Edition, 1940.

(b) (1) Cream or a mixture of cream with milk or skim milk or both is pasteurized and may be homogenized. To such cream or mixture harmless lactic-acid-producing bacteria, with or without rennet, are added and it is held until it becomes coagulated. The coagulated mass may be warmed; it may be stirred; it is then drained. The curd may be pressed, chilled, worked, seasoned with salt; it may be heated, with or without added cream or milk or skim milk or any mixture of two or all of these, until it becomes fluid and it may then be homogenized or otherwise mixed.

(2) In the preparation of cream cheese one or any mixture of two or more of the optional ingredients gum karaya, gum tragacanth, carob bean gum, gelatin, or algin may be used; but the quantity of any such ingredient or mixture is such that the total weight of the solids contained therein is not more than 0.5 percent of the weight of the finished cream cheese.

(3) For the purposes of this section milk means sweet milk of cows and skim milk means milk from which the milk fat has been separated.

(c) When an optional ingredient listed in paragraph (b) (2) is present in cream cheese, the label shall bear the statement "_____ Added" or "With Added _____", the blank being filled in with the word or words "Vegetable Gum" or "Gelatin" or "Algin" or any combination of two or all of these, as the case may be. Wherever the name "Cream Cheese" appears on the label so conspicuously as to be easily seen under customary conditions of purchase, the statement herein specified showing the optional ingredients present shall immediately and conspicuously precede or follow such name, without intervening written, printed, or graphic matter.

§ 19.520 Neufchatel cheese—identity; label statement of optional ingredients. (a) Neufchatel cheese is the soft uncured cheese prepared by the procedure set forth in paragraph (b) of this section. The finished neufchatel cheese contains not less than 20 percent but less than 33 percent of milk fat and not more than 65 percent of moisture, as determined, respectively, by the methods prescribed under "Fat—Official" on page 302 and under "Moisture—Official" on page 301 of Analysis of the Association of Official Agricultural Chemists", Fifth Edition, 1940.

(b) (1) Milk or a mixture of cream with milk or skim milk or both is pasteurized and may be homogenized. To such milk or mixture harmless lactic-acid-producing bacteria, with or without rennet, are added and it is held until it becomes coagulated. The coagulated mass may be warmed; it may be stirred; it is then drained. The curd may be pressed, chilled, worked, seasoned with salt; it may be heated, with or without added cream or milk or skim milk or any mixture of two or all of these, until it becomes fluid and it may then be homogenized or otherwise mixed.

(2) In the preparation of neufchatel cheese one or any mixture of two or more of the optional ingredients gum karaya, gum tragacanth, carob bean gum, gelatin, or algin may be used; but the quantity of any such ingredient or mixture is such that the total weight of the solids contained therein is not more than 0.5 percent of the weight of the finished neufchatel cheese.

(3) For the purposes of this section milk means sweet milk of cows and skim milk means milk from which the milk fat has been separated.

(c) When an optional ingredient listed in paragraph (b) (2) of this section is present in neufchatel cheese, the label shall bear the statement "_____ Added" or "With Added_____", the blank being filled in with the word or words "Vegetable Gum" or "Gelatin" or "Algin" or any combination of two or all of these, as the case may be. Wherever the name "Neufchatel Cheese" appears on the label so conspicuously as to be easily seen under customary conditions of purchase, the statement herein specified showing the optional ingredients present shall immediately and conspicuously precede or follow such name, without intervening written, printed, or graphic matter.

§ 19.525 Cottage cheese—identity. (a) Cottage cheese is the soft uncured cheese prepared by the procedure set forth in paragraph (b) of this section. The finished cottage cheese contains not more than 80 percent of moisture, as determined by the method prescribed under "Moisture—Official" on page 301 of "Official and Tentative Methods of Analysis of the Association of Official Agricultural Chemists", Fifth Edition, 1940.

(b) (1) Sweet skim milk is pasteurized; calcium chloride may be added in a quantity not more than 0.02 percent (calculated as anhydrous calcium chloride) of the weight of such skim milk; harmless lactic-acid-producing bacteria, with or without rennet, are added and it is held until it becomes coagulated. The coagulated mass may be cut; it may be warmed; it may be stirred; it is then drained. The curd may be washed with water and further drained; it may be pressed, chilled, worked, seasoned with salt.

(2) For the purposes of this section skim milk means the milk of cows from which the milk fat has been separated.

§ 19.530 Creamed cottage cheese—identity. (a) Creamed cottage cheese is the soft uncured cheese prepared by mixing cottage cheese with pasteurized cream or a pasteurized mixture of cream with milk or skim milk or both. Such cream or mixture is used in such quantity that the milk fat added thereby is not less than 4 percent by weight of the finished creamed cottage cheese. The finished creamed cottage cheese contains not more than 80 percent of moisture as determined by the method prescribed under "Moisture—Official" on page 301 of "Official and Tentative Methods of Analysis of the Association of Official Agricultural Chemists", Fifth Edition, 1940.

For the purposes of this section milk means sweet milk of cows and skim milk means milk from which the milk fat has been separated.

FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION.

[Docket No. 4327]

CLARA STANTON, DRUGGIST TO WOMEN

ORDER CORRECTING COMMISSION'S FINDINGS AS TO THE FACTS

At a regular session of the Federal Trade Commission, held at its office in the City of Washington, D. C., on the 17th day of July, A. D. 1942.

In the matter of Clara Stanton, an individual, trading as Clara Stanton, Druggist to Women.

This matter coming on this day for consideration by the Commission, and it appearing that in Paragraph Four of the findings as to the facts entered herein on November 18, 1941, Calcium Carbide is listed as an ingredient of respondent's preparation, "Anti-Fat Tablets", and it further appearing that the ingredient is in fact, as the record shows and the Commission found, Calcium Carbonate and not Calcium Carbide, and the listing of the ingredient as the latter substance was inadvertent error, and the Commission having duly considered the matter and being now fully advised in the premises;

OFFICE OF PRICE ADMINISTRATION.

DURHAM TIRE EXCHANGE

SUSPENSION ORDER

Suspension Order No. 2 under Revised Tire Rationing Regulations[1] restricting transactions by B. D. Farthing, Eugene Neuwirth, and the Durham Tire Exchange.

B. D. Farthing and Eugene Neuwirth, individually, and as copartners doing business as Durham Tire Exchange, 126 Morgan Street, Durham, North Carolina, hereinafter called respondents, are engaged in recapping and retreading tires and are subject to the provisions of the Revised Tire Rationing Regulations, dated February 19, 1942, issued by the Office of Price Administration. A notice of hearing was duly served on respondents, stating specifically that respondents were charged with having made false and unlawful representations to the Office of Price Administration in an application for authorization to purchase camelback. Pursuant to said notice a hearing upon this charge was held on May 11, 1942, in Durham, North Carolina, at which time and place there appeared a representative of the Atlanta Regional Office of the Office of Price Administration and respondents. Both parties presented their evidence pertaining to such charge before a duly authorized presiding officer. Such evidence having been duly considered by the Deputy Administrator,

It is hereby determined:

That respondents on February 24, 1942, wilfully violated the said Revised Tire Rationing Regulations by falsely stating in said application for authorization to purchase camelback, the number of molds or curing tables owned, controlled or operated by said Durham Tire Exchange which were capable of retreading a tire 7.50–20 or larger. Because of the violation committed by respondents as aforesaid, camelback has been diverted from primary defense needs to non-essential uses.

It is the judgment of the Deputy Administrator that such violation by respondents contributed to the shortage in the supply of this essential material for defense, for private account, or for export, and that a continuance of the situation resulting from such violation or a repetition of such violation will result in an increased shortage in the supply of this critical material. Therefore, in order properly to allocate such materials in a manner necessary and appropriate in the public interest, and to promote national defense, it is hereby ordered:

(a) Within ten (10) days after the effective date of this Suspension Order No. 2 respondents, their successors or assigns, shall transfer twenty-two hundred (2,200) pounds of camelback to the Gate City Motor Company, Greensboro, North Carolina, or to the United States Rubber Company. Such transfer shall be made in the manner authorized by § 1315.803 (d) (1) of the Revised Tire Rationing Regulations, and shall be for a consideration not to exceed the amount paid by respondents for the twenty-two hundred (2,200) pounds of camelback delivered to respondents in March, 1942 on the authorization of the certificate issued to respondents pursuant to the application therefor falsely made as aforesaid, and not to exceed the maximum prices for said camelback as set forth in Maximum Price Regulation No. 131, issued by the Office of Price Administration April 28, 1942, whichever is the lower. The camelback to be delivered by respondents, their successors or assigns, pursuant to this Suspension Order No. 2 shall be as nearly as possible of the same sizes, types, gauges and qualities and in the same amounts of each thereof as were delivered to respondents in March, 1942 by the Gate City Motor Company as aforesaid. If respondents, their successors or assigns, at the time this order becomes effective do not have under their control and cannot transfer twenty-two hundred (2,200) pounds of camelback as ordered herein they shall nevertheless transfer camelback as ordered herein in such amounts as they are able. Respondents, their successors or assigns, shall exhibit to Philip Weltner, Regional Attorney, Office of Price Administration, Candler Building, Peachtree Street, Atlanta, Georgia, within said ten (10) days after the effective date of this Suspension Order No. 2, satisfactory evidence of such transfer of camelback, and in addition shall surrender to said Philip Weltner, Regional Attorney, such replenishment portions of certificates and receipts as would, but for this order, authorize them to purchase under the provisions of § 1315.803 (c) of the Revised Tire Rationing Regulations camelback in the amount equal to the difference between the amount of camelback transferred pursuant to this order and twenty-two hundred (2,200) pounds. It is the intention of this paragraph (a) and it is to be interpreted to accomplish the result that respondents, their successors or assigns, will, by compliance herewith, be placed in the same position with respect to the quantity of camelback at their disposal as they would have been in if they had not made false representations in the application of February 24, 1942, as aforesaid, and received camelback pursuant thereto.

(b) During the period in which this Suspension Order No. 2 shall be in effect, respondents, their successors and assigns, shall accept no deliveries or transfers of, nor in any manner receive from any source, any camelback, or other retreading or recapping material.

(c) During the period in which this Suspension Order No. 2 shall be in effect, respondents, their successors and assigns, shall accept no purchase orders, nor enter into any contracts or commitments, for the recapping or retreading of tires, nor in any manner sell, transfer, or deliver any recapped or retreaded tires, nor recap or retread any tires, nor in any way use or consume any camelback or other retreading or recapping material except that in any instance where a contract for the retreading or recapping of tires has been entered into by respondents, and such tires have been prepared in any degree for retreading or recapping, or have been retreaded or recapped, prior to the effective date of this Suspension Order No. 2, the transaction may be completed and the retreaded or recapped tires delivered in accordance with the Revised Tire Rationing Regulations.

(d) During the period in which this Suspension Order No. 2 shall be in effect, no person, firm, or corporation shall sell, transfer, or in any manner deliver any camelback, or other retreading or recapping material, to respondents, their successors or assigns, regardless of whether such camelback has been previously purchased and completely paid for.

(e) This Suspension Order No. 2 shall take effect July 20, 1942, and, unless sooner terminated, shall expire at 12:01 A. M. September 19, 1942. At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission held at its office in the City of Philadelphia, Pa., on the 17th day of July, A. D. 1942.

In the matter of Hobart Light & Water Company, Northern Indiana Public Service Company, and Clarence A. Southerland and Jay Samuel Hartt, Trustees of the Estate of Midland Utilities Company.

The Commission having on April 23, 1940, issued its Notice of and Order for Hearing in the above captioned matter setting a hearing thereon for May 9, 1940; hearings having been held on the scheduled date and on August 20, 1940, after appropriate notice to interested parties; certain documents, including the application-declaration with three amendments thereto, having been placed in the record, no witnesses appearing or otherwise presenting testimony; further amendments having now been filed to such application-declaration which materially change the nature of the transactions as originally proposed so that it now appears to the Commission necessary and appropriate that a public hearing be held on the application-declaration, as amended.

All interested persons are referred to said application-declaration, as amended, which is on file in the office of this Commission for a statement of the transactions therein proposed which are summarized as follows:

The estate of Midland Utilities Company proposes to sell all of the assets of Hobart Light & Water Company, except cash on hand, to Northern Indiana Public Service Company. The proposed consideration is $500,000, to be evidenced by 69,500 shares of common capital stock of Northern Indiana Public Service Company. The application-declaration indicates that sections 6 (b), 10, 12 (f), and Rule U-43 may be applicable to these proposed transactions.

It appearing to the Commission that it is appropriate and in the public interest and in the interest of investors and consumers that a hearing be held with respect to said matters, and that said declaration as amended shall not become effective or said application as amended be granted except pursuant to further order of this Commission, and that at said hearing there be considered, among other things, the various matters hereinafter set forth.

It is ordered, That the record heretofore closed in this proceeding be opened and that a hearing be held on said matters, as amended, on August 4, 1942, at 10 a. m. at the offices of the Securities and Exchange Commission, 18th and Locust Streets, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. On such day the hearing room clerk in room 318 will advise as to the room where such hearing will be held. At such hearing cause shall be shown why such application, as amended, should be granted and such declaration, as amended, become effective.

It is further ordered, That Charles Lobingier, or any other officer or officers of the Commission designated by it for that purpose, shall preside at the hearings in such matter. The officer so designated to preside at such hearing is hereby authorized to exercise all powers granted to the Commission under section 18 (c) of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935, and to a trial examiner under the Commission's Rules of Practice.

It is further ordered, That without limiting the scope of the issues presented by said application and declaration, particular attention will be directed at said hearing to the following matters and questions:

1. Whether the proposed price of $500,000 is, under all the circumstances of this case, fair and equitable, and whether or not 69,500 shares of common stock of Northern Indiana Public Service Company, the proposed consideration to the estate of Midland United for all the assets of Hobart Light & Water Company, is, under the circumstances of this case, a fair and reasonable consideration;

2. Whether or not Northern Indiana Public Service Company, considering the provisions of section 11 (b) (1) of the Act, should be allowed to acquire the water assets of Hobart Light & Water Company;

3. In the event that it is found that Northern Indiana Public Service Company may appropriately acquire the water properties of Hobart Light & Water Company, what entries on its books may properly be made by Northern Indiana Public Service Company to reflect the carrying value of such assets;

4. What entries on its books may properly be made by Northern Indiana Public Service Company to record the acquisition of the electric fixed property of Hobart Light & Water Company, and the taking over of the retirement reserve applicable thereto.

5. Whether terms and conditions are necessary to be imposed to insure compliance with the requirements of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935, or any rules, regulations or orders promulgated thereunder;

6. Generally, whether all actions proposed to be taken comply with the requirements of such Act and rules, regulations, or orders promulgated thereunder.

Notice of such hearing is hereby given to such declarant and applicants and to any other person whose participation in such proceeding may be in the public interest and for the protection of investors or consumers.

By the Commission.

ASSOCIATED GAS AND ELECTRIC CORPORATION

NOTICE REGARDING FILING

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission held at its office in the City of Philadelphia, Pa., on the 16th day of July, A. D. 1942.

In the Matter of Denis J. Driscoll and Willard L. Thorp, Trustees, Associated Gas and Electric Corporation.

Notice is hereby given that declarations and applications have been filed with this Commission pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 by Denis J. Driscoll and Willard L. Thorp, Trustees of Associated Gas and Electric Corporation, a registered holding company; and Notice is further given that any interested persons may, not later than July 30, 1942 at 5:30 p. m., E. W. T., request the Commission in writing that a hearing be held on such matter, stating the reasons for such request and the nature of his interest, or may request that he be notified if the Commission should order a hearing therein. At any time thereafter such declarations or applications as filed or as amended may become effective or may be granted as provided in Rule U-23 and Rule U-100 (a) of the rules and regulations promulgated pursuant to the Act. Any such request should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, 18th and Locust Streets, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

All interested persons are referred to said declarations and applications which are on file in the office of said Commission for a statement of the transactions therein proposed. These transactions are summarized below:

The Trustees of Associated Gas and Electric Corporation propose to distribute the assets received by them from Howard C. Hopson, Amy H. Starch, Norma H. Jones, Perle M. Hopson and the so-called Hopson Service and Investment Companies (collectively hereinafter referred to as the "Hopson group"), pursuant to an agreement dated as of August 4, 1941 between the said Trustees, Stanley Clarke, Trustee of Associated Gas and Electric Company, New England Gas and Electric Association, and the Hopson group. The assets were received by the Trustees of Associated Gas and Electric Corporation and Associated Gas and Electric Company in settlement of the claims against the Hopson group on the part of the Company and the Corporation and all direct and indirect subsidiaries of Associated Gas and Electric Corporation and affiliated interests thereof. Since receiving such assets, the Trustees have marshaled them and prepared a formula for the distribution of such assets. These assets as of June 15, 1942 consist primarily of the following:

	Principal amount	Market value June 3, 1942, or estimated value where no market available
SECURITIES AND OTHER ASSETS
Ageco and Agecorp debt securities	$5,129,215	717,461.38
Utilities Employees Securities Co., income notes, due 1961	864,470	475,458.50
Associated General Utilities Co. debt securities	885,020	125,729.70
Other associated system securities	206,600	186,000.50
		15,318.00
Nonsystem securities		25,335.00
Notes receivable		5,000.00
Miscellaneous assets
Total, cash, securities, and other assets		2,073,710.90

Claims against the Hopson group which are recommended for allowance against the Hopson assets consist of claims of the distributee companies to recover profits realized at the expense of such companies by the Hopson group through the operations of the so-called Service Companies (claims approximating $6,250,000) and claims arising out of security transactions pursuant to which assets were diverted to the Hopson group (claims approximating $15,600,000). The distribution formula recommended by the Trustees contemplates the distribution of securities to Associated Gas and Electric Company, Associated Gas and Electric Corporation, Utilities Employees Securities Company, Associated General Utilities Company, Inc., Lake Shore Gas Company, Pennsylvania Electric Company, General Gas & Electric Corporation, NY PA NJ Utilities Company, Long Island Water Corporation, New Jersey Power & Light Company, New York State Electric & Gas Corporation, and York Railways Company. It also includes the distribution of cash dividends to Associated Gas and Electric Company, Employees Welfare Association, Incorporated (Delaware), Associated Real Properties, Inc., Dover Casualty Insurance Company, Atlantic Utilities Service Corporation and to various subsidiaries of Denis J. Driscoll and Willard L. Thorp, Trustees of Associated Gas and Electric Corporation.

Provision is also made for the execution and delivery on the part of the Trustees of Associated Gas and Electric Corporation to Denis J. Driscoll and Willard L. Thorp and Stanley Clarke, as Trustees over the Hopson fund, the formers' noninterest bearing note in the amount of approximately $489,052.40. This note shall be junior to administration expenses of the Estate of Associated Gas and Electric Corporation and to the Trustees Certificate in the principal amount of $5,000,000. It is represented that the execution and the delivery of the note is part of the over-all program for the distribution of the Hopson assets, to substitute the distribution of cash dividends to distributee companies where the distribution of securities may complicate the structure of the subsidiaries.

Applicants-declarants represent that sections 6 (a), 7, 9 (a), and 10 are applicable to the transactions. They also submit that the acquisitions by the distributee companies are exempt pursuant to the terms of Subdivision (5) of Rule U-42 of the rules and regulations promulgated under the Act, and further in the instances where such exemptive provisions do not apply request that the Commission, pursuant to Rule U-100 (a), exempt distributee companies from the provisions of Rule U-20 (c) and from the provisions of sections 9 (a) and 10 of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935.

By the Commission.

COMMUNITY POWER AND LIGHT COMPANY, ET AL.

ORDER APPROVING PLAN PERMITTING DECLARATIONS TO BECOME EFFECTIVE, AND GRANTING APPLICATIONS

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission, held at its office in the City of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, on the 8th day of July, A. D. 1942.

In the Matter of Community Power and Light Company, General Public Utilities, Inc., Southwestern Public Service Company et al.

Community Power and Light Company, General Public Utilities, Inc. and Southwestern Public Service Company, each of which is a registered holding company, and companies subsidiary thereto, having filed applications and declarations, and amendments thereto, pursuant to section 11 (e) and other sections of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935, and the Rules and Regulations of this Commission promulgated thereunder, whereby said applicants request approval of a plan submitted pursuant to said section 11 (e), a report upon such plan by this Commission pursuant to section 11 (g) of said Act and authorization for certain particular transactions, constituting component parts of said plan, and actions incidental thereto, including, among other things, a merger of said three registered holding companies, and, in connection with such proposed merger the transmission of certain solicitation material to the common stockholders of Community Power and Light Company and of General Public Utilities, Inc., intra-system sales and acquisitions of certain properties and securities, the liquidation of certain subsidiary companies, the recapitalization of certain remaining subsidiaries, the acquisition of certain properties from nonaffiliated interests, the refinancing of the surviving parent company, Southwestern Public Service Company, as well as the exemption, pursuant to Rule U-100, of such investment houses and brokers and the members, officers and employees of such investment houses, or brokerage firms or companies as may render services (without compensation, other than reimbursement for expenditures made) in connection with the solicitation of assents of stockholders to said merger agreement, from any disqualification which might otherwise be imposed upon such companies or individuals by reason of Rule U-62 (g) (2) in respect of future participation in the purchase or sale of any securities which may hereafter be issued and sold by said Southwestern Public Service Company;

A public hearing having been held after appropriate notice, and the Commission having considered the record and having made and filed its findings and opinion herein; and

The Commission having found, subject to the conditions and reservations hereinafter set forth, (1) that the plan, for which approval is so sought, is necessary to effectuate the provisions of section 11 (b) of the Act, (2) that the plan is fair and equitable to the persons affected thereby, (3) that the requirements of Rule U-62 (g) (2) as applied to the prospective activities of investment houses and brokers and of the members, officers and employees of such houses and firms, in respect of the buying and selling of any securities which may hereafter be issued and sold by Southwestern Public Service Company, are neither necessary nor appropriate in the public interest or for the protection of investors or consumers, and (4) that all other applicable requirements of said Act have been satisfied;

It is hereby ordered, That said plan be, and the same is hereby, approved, that said applications, as amended, be, and the same are hereby granted, and that said declarations, as amended, be, and the same are hereby, permitted to become effective forthwith, subject, however, to the following conditions and reservations:

(1) Southwestern Public Service Company, upon the consummation of the merger proposed to be made in pursuance of the plan for which approval is sought in this proceeding, and the acquisition by said company of the properties to be acquired by it which are presently owned by Panhandle Light and Power Company, Cimarron Utilities Company and Guymon Gas Company, will immediately enter upon a program of amortization of the amount designated in said corporation's pro forma balance sheet, (reflecting said acquisitions and certain other transactions filed in this proceeding, as "Excess Cost of Net Assets Acquired over Value Recorded in Accounts of Predecessor", said amount being $442,790.94. Such amortization shall be effected by the writing off of said aggregate amount through charges against income or earned surplus to be made in substantially equal amounts annually over a period of five years from the date of the acquisitions;

(2) Southwestern Public Service Company, upon the consummation of the merger above mentioned, shall create upon its books a reserve in the amount of $200,000 against any losses which may hereafter be realized upon the securities to be acquired by it through said merger, or otherwise pursuant to said plan, proposed to be carried upon the books of said corporation as investments;

(3) Upon consummation of the abovementioned merger, Southwestern Public Service Company shall not declare or pay any dividend upon the common stock of that corporation, nor shall it make any other payment or distribution thereon, by purchase, or otherwise, in money or other property, pending the further order, or orders, of this Commission, except that such restriction shall not apply to any payment which may be made in connection with any rights, or asserted rights, of appraisal and payment which any stockholder of Community Power and Light Company and/or General Public Utilities, Inc., may have under any state statute applicable to said proposed merger;

(4) That within one year from the date of the entry of this order, unless such time shall be further extended by this Commission, Southwestern Public Service Company, the surviving parent company, shall take such action as may be necessary to divest itself of all ownership and all control of:

(a) The physical properties in east-central Texas to be owned by said Southwestern Public Service Company after consummation of the proposed merger and related transactions which are, at present, owned by Texas-New Mexico Utilities Company and by Gulf Public Service Company, respectively;

(b) Gulf Public Service Company or of the physical properties owned or controlled by it;

(c) Flagstaff Electric Light Company;

(d) Arizona Electric Power Company;

(e) Holbrook Light and Power Company;

(f) Southwestern Ice Company;

(g) Royal Palm Ice Company; and

(h) Arkansas Utilities Company.

(5) That no charge shall be made to the capital surplus account of Southwestern Public Service Company, after said merger is consummated, pending the further order or orders, of this Commission;

(6) That jurisdiction be, and is hereby, reserved with respect to the issuance and sale of the securities proposed to be issued and sold to the public by Southwestern Public Service Company, and with respect to the imposition of conditions relative to such securities and their issuance and sale, until the terms and provisions of such new securities and of the sale thereof shall be submitted to this Commission in definitive form, and a further order, or further orders entered in respect thereof;

(7) That jurisdiction be, and is hereby, reserved in respect of the reasonableness, and approval or disapproval, of fees and expenses incurred, and to be incurred, in connection with the subject plan, and transactions incident thereto;

(8) That jurisdiction be, and is hereby, reserved to this Commission to entertain such further proceedings, to make such further and supplemental findings, and to take such additional and further action, as may be found by it to be appropriate in the premises in connection with said plan and the several transactions incident to the consummation thereof;

(9) That the several transactions, approval or authorization of which is granted by this order, shall be carried out in accordance with the terms and conditions of, and for the purposes stated in the declarations and applications, as amended, filed in this proceeding;

(10) That the material to be transmitted to the common stockholders of Community Power and Light Company and of General Public Utilities, Inc., shall be accompanied by a copy of the report of this Commission on the plan which is the subject of this proceeding, which report is being entered and issued concurrently with the entry of this order.

It is further ordered, That Southwestern Public Service Company shall take the several actions, recited in those conditions of this order numbered (1), (2), and (4), as in said conditions set forth, and shall comply with those restrictions recited in that condition numbered (4) of this order.

By the Commission.

Whereas after notices published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on November 18, 1941, December 30, 1941, January 20, 1942, and February 11, 1942, Major Robert N. Campbell, the presiding officer designated by the Administrator, held a public hearing for the purpose of taking further evidence on the question of prohibition, restriction or regulation of home work under the wage order approving and carrying into effect the recommendation of Industry Committee No. 27 for the Women's Apparel Industry, at New York City, New York on March 5 and 6, 1942, at which all interested persons were given an opportunity to be heard; and

Whereas the complete record of the proceeding before the presiding officer has been transmitted to the Administrator; and

Whereas after notice published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on April 7, 1942, announcing that all persons who appeared at the hearing held on March 5 and 6, 1942, were given leave to file briefs with the Administrator, and that the Administrator would hear oral argument upon the complete record of said hearing, the Administrator heard the oral argument of all such persons as had made appearance at said hearing and were desirous of being heard, on April 27, 1942, New York City, New York; and

Whereas, the Administrator upon reviewing all the evidence adduced in this proceeding and giving consideration to the provisions of the Act with special reference to section 8 (f), which provides as follows:

> Orders issued under this section shall • • • contain such terms and conditions as the Administrator finds necessary to carry out the purposes of such orders, to prevent the circumvention or evasion thereof, and to safeguard the minimum wage rates established therein • • •;

has concluded that it is necessary to include terms and conditions in the above-mentioned wage order for the Women's Apparel Industry with respect to industrial home work to carry out the purpose of such order to prevent the circumvention or evasion thereof and to safeguard the minimum wage rate established therein; and

Whereas, the Administrator has set forth his decision in an opinion entitled "Findings and Opinion of the Administrator in the Matter of Industrial Home Work in the Women's Apparel Industry" dated this day, a copy of which may be had upon request addressed to the Wage and Hour Division, United States Department of Labor, 1560 Broadway, New York City, New York;

Now, therefore, it is ordered that Part 605 of Chapter V, Title 29, Code of Federal Regulations is hereby amended so as to include the following section, to be designated as § 605.7:

§ 605.7 Restriction of home work. No work in the Women's Apparel Industry, as defined in §§ 605.4 and 605.5,[1] Part 605, Chapter V, Title 29, Code of Federal Regulations, shall be done in or about a home, apartment, tenement, or room in a residential establishment, after November 30, 1942, except by such persons as have obtained special home work certificates issued pursuant to applicable regulations of the Wage and Hour Division, authorizing industrial home work by any worker who was engaged in industrial home work in the Women's Apparel Industry prior to March 5, 1942, or is at any time engaged in such industrial home work under the supervision of a State Vocational Rehabilitation Agency or of a Sheltered Work Shop, as defined in § 525.1, Part 525, Chapter V, Title 29, Code of Federal Regulations, and who is unable to adjust to factory work because of age or physical or mental disability or is unable to leave because his presence is required to care for an invalid in the home.

This amendment shall become effective December 1, 1942.

Signed at New York, New York, this 8th day of July 1942.

PART 605—MINIMUM WAGE RATE IN THE WOMEN'S APPAREL INDUSTRY

EMPLOYMENT OF HOME WORKERS

Whereas section 8 (f) of the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938 provides as follows:

> Orders issued under this section shall • • • contain such terms and conditions as the Administrator finds necessary to carry out the purposes of such orders, to prevent the circumvention or evasion thereof, and to safeguard the minimum wage rates established therein. • • •

And whereas § 605.7 of the wage order for the Women's Apparel Industry issued pursuant to section 8 (f) of the Act provides as follows:

> No work in the Women's Apparel Industry, as defined herein, shall be done in or about a home, apartment, tenement, or room in a residential establishment after November 30, 1942, except by such persons as have obtained special home work certificates issued pursuant to applicable regulations of the Wage and Hour Division, authorizing industrial home work by any worker who was engaged in industrial home work in the Women's Apparel Industry prior to March 5, 1942, or is at any time engaged in such industrial home work under the supervision of a State Vocational Rehabilitation Agency or of a Sheltered Workshop as defined in § 525.1, Part 525, Chapter V, Title 29, Code of Federal Regulations, and is unable to adjust to factory work because of age or physical or mental disability or is unable to leave home because his presence is required to care for an invalid in the home.

And whereas section 11 (c) of the Act provides as follows:

> Every employer subject to any provision of this Act or of any order issued under this Act shall make, keep, and preserve such records of the persons employed by him and of the wages, hours, and other conditions and practices of employment maintained by him, and shall preserve such records for such periods of time, and shall make such reports therefrom to the Administrator as he shall prescribe by regulation or order as necessary or appropriate for the enforcement of the provisions of this Act or the regulations or orders thereunder.

Now, therefore, the following regulations are hereby issued. These regulations shall become effective on December 1, 1942, and shall be in force and effect until repealed or modified by regulations hereafter made and published.

AUTHORITY: §§ 605.100 to 605.112, inclusive, issued under 52 Stat. 1065, 1066; 29 U.S.C. 208, 211; § 605.7 infra.

§ 605.100 Effective date. The following regulations, §§ 605.100–605.112 inclusive, Chapter V, Title 29, Code of Federal Regulations, applicable to the employment of industrial home workers in the Women's Apparel Industry are hereby issued pursuant to sections 8 (f) and 11 (c) of the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938, and § 605.7, Part 605, Chapter V, Title 29, Code of Federal Regulations. These regulations shall become effective December 1, 1942, and shall be in force and effect until repealed or modified by regulations hereafter made and published.

§ 605.101 Definitions. As used in these regulations, the term "industrial home work" means the production by any person in or about a home, apartment, tenement, or room in a residential establishment, for an employer, or goods from material furnished directly by or indirectly for such employer.

The term "Women's Apparel Industry" as used herein means and includes the Women's Apparel Industry as defined by §§ 605.4 and 605.5, Part 605, Chapter V, Title 29, Code of Federal Regulations.

§ 605.102 Applications on official forms. Certificates authorizing the employment of industrial home workers in the Women's Apparel Industry may be issued upon the following terms and conditions upon application therefor on forms provided by the Wage and Hour Division. Such forms shall be signed by both the home worker and the employer.

§ 605.103 Terms and conditions for the issuance of certificates. If the application is in proper form and sets forth facts showing that the worker:

(1) (a) Was engaged in industrial home work in the Women's Apparel Industry prior to March 5, 1942; or

(b) Is or will be engaged in such industrial home work under the supervision of a State Vocational Rehabilitation Agency or of a Sheltered Workshop as defined in § 525.1, Part 525, Chapter V, Title 29, Code of Federal Regulations; and

(2) Is unable to adjust to factory work because of age or physical or mental disability; or

(3) Is unable to leave home because the worker's presence is required to care for an invalid in the home.

a certificate may be issued authorizing the applicant employer to employ the worker in industrial home work in the Women's Apparel Industry.

No home worker shall perform industrial home work for more than one employer in the Women's Apparel Industry, but home work employment in another industry shall not be a bar to the issuance of a certificate for the Women's Apparel Industry.

§ 605.104 Investigation may be ordered to determine whether the facts justify the issuance of a certificate. An investigation may be ordered in any case to obtain additional data or facts. A medical examination of the worker or invalid may be ordered or a certification of facts concerning eligibility for the certificate by designated officers of the State or Federal Government may be required.

§ 605.105 Termination of certificates. Certificates shall be valid under the terms set forth in the certificate for a period of not more than 12 months from the date of issuance or such shorter period as may be fixed in the certificate. Application for renewal of any certificate shall be filed in the same manner as an original application under these regulations.

§ 605.106 Revocation and cancellation. Any certificate may be revoked for cause at any time. Violation of any provision of the Fair Labor Standards Act shall be sufficient grounds for revocation of all certificates issued to an employer, in which event no certificates shall be issued to the offending employer for a period of one year. In any proceeding for the revocation or cancellation of a certificate, interested parties shall be provided an opportunity to be heard.

§ 605.107 Preservation of certificate. A copy of the certificate shall be sent to the home worker, who shall keep such certificate on the premises on which the work is performed.

A copy of the certificate shall be sent to the employer, who shall keep this copy on file in the same place at which the worker's employment records are maintained.

§ 605.108 Records and reports. The issuance of a certificate shall not relieve the employer of the duty of maintaining the records required by Regulations, Part 516, and failure to keep such records shall be sufficient cause for the cancellation of certificates issued to such an employer.

Each employer of industrial home workers in the Women's Apparel Industry shall submit to the regional office of the Wage and Hour Division for the region in which his place of business is located on April 1 and October 1 of each year, the home work handbooks of each employee employed by him during the preceding six-month period in industrial home work in the Women's Apparel Industry. This report shall also include a list of the names, addresses, and certificate numbers of home workers for whom home work certificates have been obtained pursuant to these regulations but who were not employed in industrial home work in the Women's Apparel Industry during such period.

§ 605.109 Wage rates. Wages at a rate of not less than 40 cents per hour shall be paid by every employer to each of his home work employees except as subminimum employment of specific handicapped workers has been provided for by special certificates issued by the Wage and Hour Division pursuant to Regulations, Part 524. All hours worked in excess of 40 in any workweek shall be compensated for at one and one-half times the regular rate of pay.

§ 605.110 Delegation of authority to grant, deny, or cancel a certificate. The Administrator may from time to time designate and appoint members of his staff or State agencies as his authorized representatives with full power and authority to grant, deny, or cancel home work certificates.

§ 605.111 Petition for review. Any person aggrieved by the action of an authorized representative of the Administrator in granting or denying a certificate may, within 15 days thereafter or within such additional time as the Administrator for cause shown may allow, file with the Administrator a petition for review of the action of such representative praying for such relief as is desired. Such petition for review, if duly filed, will be acted upon by the Administrator or an authorized representative of the Administrator who took no part in the proceeding being reviewed. All interested parties will be afforded an opportunity to present their views in support of or in opposition to the matters prayed for in the petition.

§ 605.112 Petition for amendment of regulations. Any person wishing a revision of any of the terms of the foregoing regulations may submit in writing to the Administrator a petition setting forth the changes desired and reasons for proposing them. If upon inspection of the petition the Administrator believes that reasonable cause for amendment of the rules and regulations is set forth, the Administrator will either schedule a hearing with due notice to interested persons or will make other provisions to afford interested persons opportunity to present their views in support of or in opposition to the proposed changes. The foregoing sections are issued pursuant to § 605.7 of the regulations of the Wage and Hour Division and sections 8 (f) and 11 (c) of the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938.

Signed at New York, N. Y., this 8th day of July 1942.

L. METCALFE WALLING,
Administrator.

NOTE 2: The synthetic rubber value (S. R. V.) is the total synthetic rubber expressed on a volume basis.

NOTE 3: Where rubber or reclaim is mixed with synthetic compounds or where a mixture of synthetics is used, the R. H. C. volume plus the S. R. V. volume shall not exceed the maximum S. R. V. by volume of the grade specified.

NOTE 4: In those products listed for rubber grades only, synthetic rubbers may be used as they become available, provided the maximum S. R. V. by volume does not exceed the maximum R. H. C. listed for the specific grade.

B. Fire hose and mill hose

1. The following specifications (which, with respect to the use of Rubber, are identical with Federal Emergency Alternate Specifications E-ZZ-H-451a) shall apply to the manufacture of fire hose and mill hose.

2. Fire hose and mill hose shall be manufactured only in the following sizes and the maximum amount of Rubber per 100 feet for each size shall not be greater than the amount specified for each size as follows:

Nominal size:	Maximum amount of rubber permitted, per 100 feet Pounds
1½ inches	4
2½ inches	7
3 inches	8.5
3½ inches	10

3. The rubber lining shall be made either from calendered sheets of not less than three plies lap-jointed and vulcanized into one solid body, or from a single ply extruded tube. The lap joints of calendered tubes shall be as small as is consistent with best manufacturing practice.

4. The rubber lining shall be of a thickness not less than .04 of an inch at any point when measured on specimens buffed just to the point where the fabric impressions left by the jacket are removed.

5. Each set of hose couplings shall be provided with three rubber gaskets of good quality. One gasket shall fit accurately the swivel of the couplings, and one (not less than ⅛ of an inch thick) shall be placed under the end of each expansion ring. When the coupling is made up snugly, as in service, the gasket in the swivel shall not be compressed to such as extent as to project beyond the inside surface of the coupling.

6. The hose shall have an internal diameter as shown by a tapered plug gauge of not less than the nominal size of the hose, except that in the case of 2½ inch hose, the internal diameter so measured shall not be less than 2 1/16 inches.

7. Unless otherwise specified, hose shall be furnished in lengths averaging not less than 50 feet, measured from back to back of couplings and under a pressure of 10 pounds per square inch. No length before sampling shall be less than 48 feet.

8. The hose with couplings attached shall meet the following hydrostatic proof pressure test requirements without leakage in the hose or at the couplings or breaking any threads in the jacket.

	Numerical requirements for—
	Single jacket		Double jacket
	1¼ inch	3¼ inch	1¼ inch	2½ inch	3 and 3¼ inch
Test pressure for initial requirements—pounds per square inch			10	10	10
Test pressure—pounds per square inch	300	300	400	400	400
Test pressure for kink test—pounds per square inch			350	350	250
Elongation at test pressure maximum %			8	8	8
Twist to right—maximum degrees per foot			20	12.5	12.5
Twist to left—maximum degrees per foot	0	0	0	0	0
Warp—maximum inches			20	20	20

The kink test may be required on only one sample per 100 lengths.
A twist to the right is indicated by a clockwise rotation of the coupling, looking from the hose toward the coupling. A twist to the left is indicated by a counter clockwise rotation. A maximum twist to the left of 2 degrees per foot will be permitted while pressure is being raised, but any final twist must be to the right.
Warp is defined as deviation from a straight line.

9. A three foot sample, when subject to a burst test while lying straight, shall not burst below the pressure specified in the following table:

Kind of hose:	Burst pressure pounds per square inch
Single jacket	450
Double jacket	600

10. The hose shall meet the following tests with respect to the rubber lining:

(i) Tensile strength of at least 800 pounds per square inch when tested across the fold.

(ii) Ultimate elongation of at least 300%.

(iii) Tensile strength, as determined with test pieces ½ inch wide prepared from strips cut transversely across the fold which have been subjected to the action of dry heat of 158 degrees + or — 2 degrees Fahrenheit for 96 hours, shall be not less than 75% of the strength before heating.

11. The adhesion of the rubber lining to the jacket shall be such that a weight of 8 pounds suspended from a strip 1½ inches wide will cause separation at a rate not greater than 1 inch per minute. This requirement does not prohibit that construction wherein there is no adhesion between the jacket and lining along the fold, provided the surface over which there is no adhesion is not greater than 35% of the total surface.

PART 944—REGULATIONS APPLICABLE TO THE OPERATION OF THE PRIORITIES SYSTEM

[Interpretation 1 of § 944.7 of Priorities Regulation 1 as Amended June 26, 1942]

The following interpretation is hereby issued with respect to paragraph (b) of § 944.7 of Priorities Regulation No. 1, as amended June 26, 1942.[1]

The provisions of § 944.7 (b) of Priorities Regulation No. 1, as amended, with respect to the sequence of deliveries bearing the same preference rating, are applicable only in cases where different deliveries bearing the same preference rating cannot be made on schedule. If material supply and available facilities permit deliveries bearing the same rating to be made on schedule, Regulation No. 1 does not have any particular effect on the sequence of production for such deliveries. Where it is necessary to choose between deliveries bearing the same preference ratings, deliveries to the customers who first applied or extended the rating are to be preferred and, subject to the exceptions indicated in paragraphs (c) and (d) of § 944.7, production schedules must be adjusted accordingly.

[1] See Amendment 9, supra.

For example, suppose one customer places in January an order rated A–1–a for August delivery and a second customer places in June an order bearing the same rating for July delivery. If both deliveries cannot be made on schedule, the second customer is not permitted to get the material away from the first customer, as he could under the regulation before the recent amendment. The producer must defer production on the second order to the extent necessary to make delivery on the first order on the August delivery date. If, on the other hand, both deliveries can be made on schedule, it is not necessary to produce or make delivery on the first customer's order ahead of that of the second.

Issued this 21st day of July 1942.

Director General for Operations.

(2) That no such ride-sharing arrangement can reasonably be made but that the vehicle carries as many persons as could reasonably be expected in the light of the circumstances in which and the purpose for which it is used; that transportation is needed for such purpose; and that no alternative means of transportation are available which would be reasonably adequate for such purpose.

(i) An applicant may establish that four or more persons cannot regularly be carried in the vehicle for which application is made by showing the limited capacity of the vehicle, the absence of a fixed place of work, the necessity of traveling at unusual or irregular hours, the necessity of traveling over routes not feasible for other persons who might be carried, or such other reasons as the Board may find sufficient.

(ii) An applicant may establish the lack of reasonably adequate alternative means of transportation by showing the unavailability of other public or private means of transportation; by showing that such alternative means, if available, are inadequate by reason of location, schedules or extremely overcrowded condition; by reason of physical disability of the person needing transportation; by reason of the nature of the work for which transportation is needed; or for such other reasons as the Board may find sufficient.

(iii) In the event application is made for a supplemental ration in order to permit the use of the vehicle for which application is made in the pursuit of an occupation other than a gainful occupation, and four or more persons are not regularly carried in such vehicle in connection with their occupations, the application must be certified, as indicated thereon, by a responsible official of the organization for or under the direction of which the work is performed.

(b) Upon the basis of the application and such other facts as the Board may require, the Board shall allow mileage for any of the purposes listed in § 1394.2303 (b) for which the applicant has applied, with respect to which the applicant has established the facts required by paragraph (a) hereof. In the absence of a ride-sharing arrangement the Board shall allow only that portion of the claimed mileage with respect to which the applicant has established the inadequacy of alternative means of transportation in accordance with paragraph (a) (2) (ii) of this section. The Board shall then allow the applicant an average occupational mileage per month required by the applicant: Provided, That the Board may not allow an average of more than 256 miles per month for occupational mileage unless the mileage in excess of 256 miles consists of preferred mileage as defined in § 1394.2306. The total occupational mileage allowed any applicant shall not exceed 480 miles per month.

§ 1394.2305 Issuance of supplemental rations. (a) Supplemental rations shall be issued to provide the total mileage allowed by the Board in accordance with § 1394.2304 for the unexpired portion of the ration period for which the ration book issued is valid.

(1) In the case of a passenger automobile, the Board shall issue:

(i) In the event that the occupational mileage allowed by the Board is 256 miles per month or less, sufficient coupons in one Class B book to provide the gallonage determined by the Board to be necessary for the mileage allowed for the three-month ration period. For the purpose of determining the gallonage necessary for such mileage the Board shall conclusively presume that a passenger automobile obtains an average of 12 miles per gallon.

(ii) In the event that the mileage allowed by the Board pursuant to §§ 1394.2304 and 1394.2306 exceeds 256 miles per month, a sufficient number of coupons in one Class C book to provide the gallonage determined by the Board to be necessary for the mileage allowed for the three-month ration period. The Board shall compute the gallonage necessary for such mileage by dividing the mileage allowed by the average actual number of miles obtained per gallon in the automobile: Provided, That the Board shall not accept as the actual number of miles obtained per gallon a figure less than 12 miles per gallon unless it is satisfied beyond all reasonable doubt that such figure represents the average actual minimum mileage obtainable per gallon by the most efficient possible operation of the vehicle. In the event that such number of coupons determined to be necessary provides less gallonage than would be provided by a Class B book, the Board shall issue one complete Class B book, rather than a Class C book.

(2) In the case of a motorcycle, the Board shall issue sufficient coupons in one Class D book, to be marked "supplemental", to provide the gallonage determined by the Board to be necessary for the six-month ration period. The Board shall compute the gallonage necessary for such mileage by dividing the mileage allowed by the average actual number of miles obtained per gallon in the motorcycle: Provided, That the Board shall not accept as the actual number of miles obtained per gallon a figure less than 35 miles per gallon unless it is satisfied beyond all reasonable doubt that such figure represents the average actual minimum mileage obtainable per gallon by the most efficient possible operation of the motorcycle.

(b) The Board shall remove and immediately destroy all coupons in Class B, C or D books in excess of the number to be issued hereunder.

§ 1394.2306 Preferred mileage. The mileage driven, in a passenger automobile or motorcycle, necessary for carrying out one or more of the following purposes shall be deemed preferred mileage:

(a) By a duly elected or appointed agent, officer, representative, or employee of a Federal, Insular, municipal, or foreign government or government agency for performing the official business or carrying out an official function of such government or government agency in a passenger automobile or motorcycle now owned or leased by such government or government agency.

(1) For the purpose of this paragraph:

(i) Daily or periodic travel between home or lodgings and a fixed place of work shall not be deemed performance of official business or carrying out an official function;

(ii) Travel by duly elected members of the Insular legislature between their places of residence and San Juan, Puerto Rico, for the sole purpose of attending the legislative sessions, shall be deemed the carrying out of an official function.

(b) For the transportation of mail on behalf of the United States Government, in a passenger automobile or motorcycle not owned or leased by such government.

(c) By public school teachers or officials for the performance of official duties which require travel from school to school.

(d) For the wholesale delivery of newspapers.

(e) By a licensed physician, surgeon, osteopath, chiropractor, midwife, or veterinarian, or by a public health nurse, for making necessary professional calls or rendering necessary professional services; or by a licensed funeral director or embalmer, for rendering services necessary in connection with the preparation for interment and the interment of deceased persons.

(f) By a regularly practicing minister of any religious faith who actually serves a congregation, or by any religious practitioner qualified to minister to the religious needs of the members of a congregation, for giving religious comfort, assistance, advice or instruction.

(g) By a farmer, for transporting farm products and necessary farm supplies between farm and market, shipping point or point of delivery, or between one farm establishment and another.

(h) By members of the armed forces of the United States for transportation to, from, or between places at which their duties are performed, and between their residences and places at which their duties are performed.

(k) By a worker (including an executive, technician, or office worker, but not including salesmen) or by an employer, employer's representative or representative of a labor organization in travel to, from, within, or between the establishments or facilities listed below, for purposes necessary to the operation or functioning of such establishments or facilities or to the maintenance of peaceful industrial relations therein:

(1) Naval, military or hospital establishments or facilities;

(2) Establishments or facilities of common carriers; or of other carriers performing services essential to the community or to the war effort; or of plants engaged in the production or distribution of heat, light, power, gas, steam or water; or of irrigation, drainage, flood-control or sanitation systems; or of telephone, telegraph, radio, or other communications systems; or newspapers.

(l) By engineers, architects, technicians, supervisors, repair and maintenance men or other workers (but not including salesmen) to enable them to render services or to transport materials and equipment necessary for construction, repair, installation, or maintenance work (other than the repair or maintenance of portable household appliances); or for rendering indispensable services of a specialized nature to agricultural, extractive or industrial establishments. "Services of a specialized nature" shall include services related to the natural breeding of livestock; crop or livestock inspection in connection with the marketing or processing thereof; inspection in connection with the improvement of farm sanitation; protection of crops, livestock or farms from blights, diseases or pests; and soil conservation.

(l) By traveling salesmen engaged in the sale of necessary productive equipment for farms, factories, mines, oil wells, lumber camps and similar productive or extractive establishments, or of medical supplies, if the marketing of such equipment or supplies by salesmen is essential to the war effort.

(m) In a motorcycle, for delivery or messenger service.

§ 1394.2353 Application for fleet rations. Application for fleet rations shall be made to a Board on or after July 22, 1942, on Form OPA PRR-4. An application may cover one or more vehicles and may be made by an agent. An applicant shall establish the average monthly mileage required for the use of each vehicle covered in the application in carrying on an occupation or occupations, or the average monthly mileage required for the use of each of a group of such vehicles used interchangeably for carrying on the same or a related occupation or occupations, for the three-month ration period, in the case of passenger automobiles, or for the six-month ration period, in the case of motorcycles.

§ 1394.2354 Allowance of mileage. (a) No occupational mileage shall be allowed by a Board unless the applicant establishes in connection with such mileage that the transportation is needed for occupational purposes and that either:

(1) No alternative means of transportation are available which would be reasonably adequate;

(i) The lack of reasonably adequate alternative means of transportation may be established in the same manner as provided in § 1394.2304 (a) (2) (ii);

(2) Or that a bona fide ride-sharing arrangement has been made in connection with the use of the vehicle or vehicles for such purposes, pursuant to which at least four persons will regularly be carried in the vehicle in connection with their occupations: Provided, That the names and addresses of all persons participating in the ride-sharing arrangement shall be set forth in the application.

(b) Subject to the provisions of paragraph (a) of this section, the Board shall allow the total average mileage per month determined by it to be required in the pursuit of an occupation, and shall issue a ration in accordance with the provisions of § 1394.2355 to provide such mileage: Provided, That the Board may not allow an average of more than 256 miles per month for any vehicle, nor an average of more than 256 miles per month per vehicle for any group of vehicles, unless the mileage in excess of 256 miles consists of preferred mileage as defined in § 1394.2306. The total occupational mileage allowed to any applicant shall not exceed more than 480 miles per month per vehicle.

§ 1394.2355 Issuance of fleet rations. (a) Class B, C, and D books marked "fleet" shall be issued as fleet rations to provide the total mileage allowed by the Board in the same manner as such books are issued pursuant to § 1394.2305 as supplemental rations.

SERVICE RATIONS

§ 1394.2401 Service rations. (a) The owner or the person entitled to the use of a licensed motor vehicle which is found by the Board to be in one or more of the classes listed below may obtain a service ration providing gallonage necessary for the mileage allowed by the Board for the purpose or purposes specified for each class.

A lessee of a vehicle available for public rental may not obtain a service ration for such vehicle unless his use of the vehicle is for a purpose specified in this section.

(2) A passenger automobile owned or leased by and operated by a Federal, Insular, municipal, or foreign government or government agency, and used exclusively for the official business of such government or government agency.

§ 1394.2403 Service ration books. (a) Class S–1 or Class S–2 books, or, in the case of motorcycles, Class D coupon books marked "service", shall be issued as service rations.

(b) Rations periods for service rations shall be as follows:

(1) The ration period for S–1 books issued at any time for use with a public car, taxi, or vehicle available for public rental shall be two months in length and shall commence on August 1, 1942 and each October 1, December 1, February 1, April 1, June 1, and August 1, thereafter.

(2) The ration period for S–1 books issued at any time for use with light trucks shall be three and one-half months in length and shall commence on August 1, 1942, November 16, 1942, March 1, 1943, June 16, 1943, and each three and one-half months successively thereafter.

(3) The ration period for S–1 books issued at any time for use with a government passenger automobile shall be five months in length and shall commence on August 1, 1942, January 1, 1943, June 1, 1943, and each five months successively thereafter.

(c) The ration period for which each coupon is issued shall be noted on the cover thereof by the Board. Coupons contained in such book shall authorize the transfer of gasoline to a consumer only during such period.

§1394.2404 Application for service ration. (a) Application for a service ration may be made to a Board by the owner or the person entitled to the use of the vehicle, or the agent of either of them, on and after July 22, 1942 on Form OPA PRR–3 in duplicate. One application form may be used for all vehicles for which the applicant seeks a service ration.

(b) The applicant shall furnish the information required by Form OPA PRR–3 with respect to the type of vehicle for which a service ration is sought. In the case of a public car (público), bus, or taxi, the applicant shall describe the route travelled or the area served by the vehicle or vehicles for which application is made, and shall furnish such further information as the Board may deem relevant to the determination of the mileage to be allowed.

§ 1394.2405 Issuance of service rations. (a) Service rations shall be issued to eligible applicants in the manner indicated below.

(1) Public cars and taxis. Not more than one S–1 coupon book, containing 96 coupons, which shall be valid for the two-month ration period: Provided, That the Board may issue additional coupons in S–1 books for use with a public car or taxi for which the applicant holds, and presents at the time of application for a service ration, a certificate of necessity and convenience or a special permit to operate on a franchise from the Public Service Commission of the Insular Government of Puerto Rico. Sufficient coupons shall be issued to provide the gallonage necessary for such vehicle during the two-month ration period to cover the routes prescribed by, or to comply with the requirements of the certificate, permit, or franchise issued by, the Public Service Commission. The Board shall compute the gallonage necessary for the mileage allowed them by dividing the mileage allowed by the average actual number of miles per gallon obtained by the vehicle: Provided, That the Board shall not accept as the average actual number of miles obtained per gallon a figure less than 12 miles per gallon unless it is satisfied beyond all reasonable doubt that such figure represents the average actual minimum mileage obtainable by the most efficient possible operation of the vehicle.

(2) Government passenger automobiles and motorcycles. Sufficient coupons in not more than one S–1 coupon book in the case of an automobile, or in not more than one D coupon book marked "service," in the case of a motorcycle, or bulk coupons, if bulk coupons are requested, to provide the gallonage necessary for the minimum mileage required during the five-month ration period, in the case of a passenger automobile, or the six-month ration period, in the case of a motorcycle, solely for the performance of official government business. For the purpose of determining the gallonage necessary for the mileage allowed vehicles pursuant to this paragraph, the Board shall conclusively presume that the automobile is operated an average of twelve miles per gallon and the motorcycle, 35 miles per gallon.

(3) Buses. Sufficient coupons in S–2 coupon books or bulk coupons, if bulk coupons are requested, to provide the gallonage necessary for the minimum mileage required for the four-month ration period for the operation of the bus on the routes or according to the schedules prescribed for it by the Public Service Commission of the Insular Government of Puerto Rico. The Board shall compute the gallonage necessary for the mileage allowed a bus by dividing the mileage allowed by the average actual number of miles obtained per gallon by the bus: Provided, That the Board shall not accept as the average actual number of miles obtained per gallon a figure less than eight miles per gallon unless it is satisfied beyond all reasonable doubt that such figure represents the average actual minimum mileage obtainable per gallon by the most efficient possible operation of the bus.

(4) Light trucks. Sufficient coupons in one S–1 coupon book or bulk coupons, if they are requested, to provide the gallonage necessary for the minimum mileage required by the light truck for the three-and-one-half-month ration period in carrying persons or property in connection with a regular business or occupation or if the truck is owned or leased and operated by a government or government agency, solely in connection with the official business of the government or government agency. For the purpose of determining the gallonage necessary for the mileage allowed light trucks pursuant to this paragraph the Board shall conclusively presume that the truck is operated an average of twelve miles per gallon. Only one S–1 book shall be issued for use with a light truck except in accordance with the provisions of § 1394.2406.

(5) Heavy trucks. Sufficient coupons in one S–2 coupon book or bulk coupons, if bulk coupons are requested, to provide the gallonage necessary for the minimum mileage required by the heavy truck for the one-year ration period in carrying persons or property in connection with a regular business or occupation, or, if the truck is owned or leased and operated by a government or government agency, solely in connection with the official business of the government. Only one S–2 book shall be issued for use with a heavy truck except in accordance with the provisions of § 1394.2406.

(6) Ambulances and hearses. Sufficient coupons in S–2 coupon books to provide the gallonage necessary for the minimum mileage required by the ambulance or hearse for the four-month ration period to transport invalids, injured, sick, and deceased persons.

§ 1394.2406 Issuance of essential service rations to trucks. (a) On or after August 15, 1942, a Board, in its discretion, may issue one or more additional S–1 books, in the case of light trucks, and one or more additional S–2 books, in the case of heavy trucks, for any truck the principal use of which is made in one or more of the following essential services:

(1) To maintain fire-fighting services;

(2) To maintain necessary public police services, or to enforce laws relating specifically to the protection of public health or property;

(3) To maintain garbage disposal and other sanitation services;

(4) To carry mail;

(5) To transport ice, water, milk, and fuel;

(6) To transport farm products, including sugar, coffee, fruits, and other food crops, to processing plants, storage houses, or wholesale or retail establishments, but not from retail establishments to consumers;

(7) To transport foods and food supplies to wholesale or retail establishments, but not from retail establishments to consumers;

(8) To transport medicines or medical equipment;

(9) To transport waste and scrap material;

(10) To maintain the essential services of public utilities system;

(11) To transport material and equipment for farm, highway, industrial, or government construction, maintenance, or repair.

The Board shall issue such additional coupon books only if a request therefor on the original application is signed by the applicant on or after August 15, 1942, and only if the Board is satisfied that the operation of such truck in excess of the mileage obtained by the use of an initially issued book is absolutely essential to the life, health, and safety of the people of Puerto Rico.

(b) The Board shall issue sufficient coupons in S coupon books to provide the gallonage necessary for the minimum mileage required by the truck solely in the performance of an essential service or services for the entire ration period for which the initial Service ration was issued. The Board shall compute the gallonage necessary for the mileage allowed a truck for the performance of essential services by dividing the mileage allowed by the average actual number of miles obtained per gallon in the truck: Provided, That the Board shall not accept as the average actual number of miles obtained per gallon a figure less than 12 miles per gallon in the case of a light truck, or 10 miles per gallon, in the case of a heavy truck, unless it is satisfied beyond all reasonable doubt that such figure represents the average actual minimum mileage obtainable per gallon by the most efficient possible operation of the truck. For the purpose of determining the essential trucking mileage in the entire ration period for which coupons should be issued in addition to those initially issued, the Board shall assume that the initially issued coupons represent gallonage sufficient for the number of miles actually obtained or obtainable rather than the number of miles which the Board at any time presumed would be obtained.

(c) The Board shall remove and destroy all coupons in Class S books in excess of the number to be issued hereunder.

SPECIAL RATIONS

§ 1394.2451 Application for special ration. (a) The owner or person entitled to the use of a motor vehicle, or of a motorboat or outboard motor, who finds that transportation in such vehicle, or boat, is necessary for one or more of the purposes specified in paragraph (b) of this section, and who finds that a ration issued for such vehicle or boat is not sufficient to permit its necessary use for such purpose, may apply to a Board for a special ration. Application for a special ration on behalf of an individual may not be made by an agent. A special ration may be issued for any period not exceeding six months from the date of application.

(b) Special rations may be issued in order to permit acquisition of gasoline for use in a motor vehicle, motorboat, or outboard motor for one or more of the following purposes:

(1) To obtain or render necessary medical attention or therapeutic treatment or to procure strictly necessary food and supplies;

(2) To operate a motor vehicle or motorboat held by a motor vehicle or boat dealer for sale or resale, solely for the purpose of demonstrating such vehicle or boat to prospective purchasers or for delivery after sale, or to test the motor of such vehicle, or to remove a purchased or repossessed motor vehicle or motorboat, or a vehicle or boat seized pursuant to judicial process or by a government authority, to a place of storage: Provided, That no ration in excess of five (5) gallons per month per vehicle or boat shall be granted for any such purpose.

(3) To move a vehicle or boat in connection with a bona fide change in a place of residence.

(c) Application shall be made on Form OPA PRR–6 and the applicant shall state, in addition to such other information as may be required:

(1) The purpose for which a special ration is sought and the period during which such ration will be needed;

(2) The type and number of ration books already issued for the vehicle, boat, or outboard motor, for which the application is made;

(3) The facts supporting the claim that transportation is necessary for the purpose;

(4) The alternative means of transportation which are available and the reasons, if any, why such alternative means are not reasonably adequate for the purpose: Provided, That applicants for a special ration under subparagraph (2) of paragraph (b) of this section shall not be required to establish the inadequacy of alternative means of transportation unless the ration is sought for delivery of a motor vehicle after sale thereof.

(5) The number of miles of driving or, in the case of a boat or outboard motor, the amount of gasoline claimed to be essential to the accomplishment of the purpose or purposes stated during the period for which the special ration is needed.

§ 1394.2452 Form and issuance of special rations. (a) The Board may grant a special ration only if it finds:

(1) That such special ration is needed by the applicant for the purpose claimed;

(2) That any ration previously issued for such vehicle, boat, or outboard motor is not reasonably adequate or cannot be used for such purpose;

(3) That transportation is necessary to the accomplishment of such purpose;

(4) That no reasonably adequate alternative means of transportation are available (except as provided with respect to special rations sought under § 1394.2451 (b) (2)).

(b) If the Board grants the application, it shall determine the quantity of gasoline which is essential to the applicant for the period for which such ration is sought for the purpose or purposes stated and shall issue a coupon book or books of any appropriate class containing sufficient coupons to allow the applicant the quantity of gasoline determined by it to be essential. It shall mark "special" any book which it so issues. The Board shall remove from the book and immediately destroy any coupons in excess of the number issued.

NON-HIGHWAY RATIONS

§ 1394.2501 Non-highway rations. (a) Any person who requires gasoline for a non-highway purpose may obtain a Class E or Class R coupon book as a non-highway ration authorizing the transfer of the amount of gasoline required for such purpose during the six-month period for which such books shall be valid. Each non-highway ration book issued with respect to a motorboat or outboard motor for non-occupational use shall be so designated by the Board on the inside cover.

(b) The ration periods for Class E and Class R coupon books issued as non-highway rations shall be six months in length and shall commence on August 1, 1942, and on each February 1 and August 1 thereafter.

§ 1394.2502 Application for non-highway ration. (a) Applications for non-highway rations may be made to the Boards, on or after July 22, 1942, on Form OPA PRR–5. Application may be made by an agent.

(b) The applicant shall state the amount of gasoline needed for the six-month ration period and the Non-Highway purpose or purposes for which such gasoline is needed.

§ 1394.2503 Issuance of non-highway rations. (a) The Board shall determine the amount of gasoline required for the six-month ration period and shall issue to the applicant, subject to the provisions of paragraph (b) of this section, sufficient coupons in one or more Class E or Class R coupon books, or any combination or them, to provide the gallonage determined to be necessary for the six-month ration period. The Board shall remove from the book and immediately destroy any coupons in excess of the number allotted, and shall note the ration period on the cover of each book issued.

(b) If application is made for a non-highway ration for use with a motorboat or outboard motor operated wholly or in part for a non-occupational purpose, the Board shall not allow for the non-occupational purpose an amount of gasoline in excess of the number of gallons determined by the following formulae:

(1) In the case of an inboard motorboat, the number of gallons equal to four times the manufacturer's rated horsepower of the motor or motors, but in any event not more than 144 gallons for the six-month ration period.

(2) In the case of an outboard motor, the number of gallons equal to five times the manufacturer's rated horsepower of such motor, but not in excess of 24 gallons for the six-month ration period.

(c) Except as provided in § 1394.2803 (a), no more than one non-occupational ration may be issued for an inboard motorboat or an outboard motor during any six-month ration period.

ARMY, NAVY, AND CERTAIN OTHER AGENCIES

§ 1394.2551 Issuance of ration books by Office of Price Administration. (a) Coupon books of all types designated in Ration Order No. 5B may be issued by the Director of the Office of Price Administration for Puerto Rico, in his discretion, to the Army, Navy, Marine Corps, Coast Guard and the law enforcement agencies of the United States, solely for the use of such agencies and for distribution to and use by their officers, agents, or employees in the performance of official duties which depend upon secrecy.

(b) Any agency enumerated in paragraph (a) of this section which requires coupon books for use by such officers, agents, or employees shall make application therefor to the Director of the Office of Price Administration for Puerto Rico and shall state the number and type of books required and the use for which such books are intended.

§ 1394.2552 Acknowledgments of Delivery and Allotment Authorizations. (a) The Army, Navy, Marine Corps, Coast Guard, and Maritime Commission of the United States may obtain gasoline in exchange for a duly executed Acknowledgment of Delivery on Form OPA R–544. Such form shall bear the signature of an authorized officer, agent, or employee of any such agencies and shall be valid as an authorization for the transfer of gasoline by any person to whom it is presented to the extent of the gallonage stated thereon.

(b) The Army, Navy, Marine Corps, and Coast Guard of the United States, may obtain gasoline, and any person authorized by one of such agencies may obtain gasoline needed for the performance of services for such agency, in exchange for an Allotment Authorization executed by an authorized officer thereof. Such Allotment Authorization shall be valid as an authorization for the transfer of gasoline by any person to whom it is presented to the extent of the gallonage stated thereon.

§ 1394.2553 Use of gasoline obtained by Army and other exempt agencies. (a) Gasoline obtained pursuant to § 1394.2552 may be used without restriction by the agency for which the Acknowledgment of Delivery form or allotment authorization is issued.

(b) Gasoline obtained pursuant to § 1394.2552 may not be used in a vehicle, boat, or motor not owned, leased, or operated by the agency issuing such Acknowledgment of Delivery form or Allotment Authorization unless the person obtaining such gasoline surrenders, to the officer executing such form or transferring such gasoline, valid ration coupons having a gallonage value equal to the amount of gasoline transferred or authorized to be transferred by the Acknowledgment or Allotment Authorization. Coupons so surrendered shall be destroyed by the agency receiving them.

(c) For the purpose of this section the term "Army" shall include Post Exchanges operated by the Army of the United States, and the term "Navy" shall include Naval Stores operated by the United States Navy.

(b) The value of each coupon in gallons of gasoline may be changed and established from time to time by order or direction of the Office of Price Administration.

RESTRICTIONS ON USE OF RATIONS AND GASOLINE

§ 1394.2651 Restrictions as to purpose. (a) No person to whom a special ration has been issued may use or permit the use of such ration for any purpose other than the one for which it was issued. No person to whom a supplemental, service, fleet, or non-highway ration has been issued may use or permit the use of such ration for a purpose other than that for which such ration may be obtained.

§ 1394.2652 Rations not transferable. (a) No ration may be transferred or assigned. A ration may, however, subject to the provisions of § 1394.2654 be used by anyone entitled to use the vehicle, boat or equipment for which it was issued, if such use is for a purpose for which such ration may be obtained and so long as there is no change in ownership of such vehicle, boat or equipment.

§ 1394.2653 Change of occupation of holder of Class C ration. (a) The holder of a Class C ration (or of a Class D ration based on allowed mileage in excess of 256 miles per month) shall report to the issuing Board any change in the principal occupation for the pursuit of which such ration was issued. Such report shall be transmitted to the Board within five (5) days after such change and shall describe fully the nature of the new occupation, the exact type of work performed, the business or industry in which such work is performed, and the purpose, if any, for which the motor vehicle will be used in such new occupation. If, on the basis of such report, the Board finds that such motor vehicle will no longer be used for a preferred purpose listed in § 1394.2306, it shall notify such holder, in writing, that his right to such ration is to be reexamined. Such notice shall be mailed to such holder at the address shown on his application (or at the address shown on his report), and shall require him to file a new application for a ration within ten (10) days after the mailing date shown on such notice. If no new application is filed within such time, the Board shall revoke such ration and shall recall all Class C books or coupons (or Class D books or coupons based on an allowed mileage in excess of 256 miles per month) issued in connection therewith. If a new application is filed, and if the Board determines that the motor vehicle will be used for a preferred purpose listed in § 1394.2306, it shall take no further action. If the Board finds that the vehicle will no longer be used for a preferred purpose listed in § 1394.2306, it shall revoke the ration and recall the coupons or coupon book originally issued and shall issue, in lieu thereof, such ration, if any, as it determines that the holder is entitled to receive on the basis of his new application.

§ 1394.2654 Use of rations issued for vehicles or boats available for public rental. (a) A motor vehicle rental agency may permit a lessee to use a Service ration issued to such agency for a vehicle leased by him, during the period of a bona fide lease for one week or less. In the case of any lease other than a bona fide lease for one week or less, the lessee may not use or be permitted to use the service ration issued to such agency for such vehicle, but shall apply for a ration on his own behalf, pursuant to the provisions of paragraph (b) of this section.

(b) A lessee of a vehicle available for public rental who leases such vehicle for a period of more than one week shall be deemed to be a person entitled to the use of such vehicle, within the meaning of §§ 1394.2303 and 1394.2352. Such lessee may apply for a ration for use of such vehicle on his own behalf, and his right to such ration shall be determined solely by the nature and extent of his use of the vehicle. Application by such lessee for a ration pursuant to §§ 1394.2303 or 1394.2353 shall be made on Form OPA PRR–4, and the allowed mileage for the vehicle shall be computed in the manner established by §§ 1394.2354 and 1394.2355 for fleet vehicles. Upon termination of the lease, any ration issued to such lessee shall expire and all coupons or coupon books issued to him shall be returned by him to the issuing Board.

(c) Each motor vehicle rental agency shall keep a record showing the name and address of each lessee, the date and duration of the lease, the mileage driven by the lessee and the number of gallons, if any, supplied to the lessee and the number of coupons (if any) in its ration books, used by the lessee during the period of the lease. The lessee shall be required to sign such record and his signature shall constitute a certification as to the truth thereof.

(d) A boat rental agency may permit a lessee to use a non-highway ration issued for an inboard motorboat or outboard motor leased to him, only during the period of a bona fide lease for one week or less. A lessee of such boat or motor who leases it for a period of more than one week may apply for a non-highway ration on his own behalf pursuant to the provisions of § 1394.2503.

§ 1394.2655 Restrictions on consumption of gasoline. (a) Except as provided in §§ 1394.2652, 1394.2654 (a), and 1394.2857, no person shall consume gasoline unless such gasoline was acquired by him or on his behalf in exchange for valid coupons or evidences: Provided, That:

(1) Any consumer may use for non-highway purposes (other than non-occupational boat operations) gasoline owned by him and in his possession prior to August 1, 1942.

(2) Any consumer may use gasoline owned by him and in his possession prior to August 1, 1942, for the operation of a licensed motor vehicle, or for non-occupational boat operation if, at the time of transfer of such gasoline into the fuel tank of such vehicle or boat, he destroys currently valid coupons issued therefor equal in value to the number of gallons of gasoline so transferred: Provided, That gasoline actually placed in the fuel supply tank of such vehicle or boat prior to August 1, 1942, may be used therein without restriction.

(b) The provisions of this section shall not be applicable to the consumption of gasoline by the Army, Navy, Marine Corps, Coast Guard or Maritime Commission of the United States, or to the consumption by anyone of gasoline brought into Puerto Rico in the fuel supply tank of a vehicle, boat or equipment.

§ 1394.2656 Restrictions on blending and use of blended gasoline. (a) No person shall blend, dilute, or otherwise mix gasoline with any other petroleum product, and no person shall knowingly transfer or accept a transfer of, or consume, gasoline so blended, diluted, or mixed.

§ 1394.2657 Rations for racing or exhibition purposes. (a) No gasoline ration shall be issued, or may be used, under the provisions of this ration order, for the operation of any motor vehicle or boat in exhibitions or races for public entertainment or prizes.

§ 1394.2658 Display of sticker. (a) No person may use a class A, B, C, or S ration issued for a registered motor vehicle unless a sticker identifying the class of ration issued, in such form as may be prescribed by the Office of Price Administration, is affixed to and conspicuously displayed on such vehicle. Such sticker shall be displayed on such vehicle at all times. A person to whom any ration in addition to a Class A ration has been issued shall display only the sticker identifying such additional ration.

§ 1394.2659 Restriction on use of gasoline in vehicle without ration. (a) On and after August 1, 1942, no gasoline may be used in Puerto Rico in a motor vehicle licensed in Puerto Rico unless a valid ration has been issued and is outstanding for use with such vehicle, and a sticker, indicating that a gasoline ration has been issued, is displayed on such vehicle in accordance with § 1394.2658.

RENEWAL OF RATIONS AND ISSUANCE OF FURTHER RATIONS

§ 1394.2701 Renewal of rations. (a) Rations shall expire as provided in §§ 1394.2802 and 1394.2803. At any time within ten (10) days prior to the expiration of any ration, or at any time thereafter, application for a further ration may be made. Such application shall be made in the same manner as the original application, except as provided in paragraph (b) of this section.

(b) If there have been no substantial changes since the date of the original application in the applicant's gasoline needs, or in the nature, amount, and conditions of use of the motor vehicle for which the original ration was issued, and if such original application accurately calculated the applicant's requirements, application for a further ration other than a Basic ration may be made by executing the renewal certificate on such original application. The applicant shall, in such case, note on such renewal certificate any change in the nature or amount used since the date of the original application.

(c) When issuing a further ration prior to the expiration date of a current ration of the same class, the Board shall note on the application and on the front cover of the coupon book representing such further ration the date on which such further ration shall become valid. Such date shall be the day following the expiration date of the current ration.

(d) Except as provided in § 1394.2702, no further ration of any class may be issued for use prior to, or may be used prior to, the expiration of the current ration of such class.

§ 1394.2702 Issuance of further ration for use prior to expiration date of current ration. (a) Any person who finds that, due to a change in occupation or in the location of place of business or residence, or other change in circumstances, or due to seasonal variation in the amount of occupational mileage needed, or miscalculation of needs, a ration of any class other than a Basic ration issued to him fails to meet his requirements, may apply for a further ration of such class for use prior to the expiration date of his current ration. Such application shall be made in the same manner as the application for the current ration.

(b) The applicant shall append to the application a statement showing:

(1) That the current ration is insufficient to meet his needs for more than ten (10) days from the date of the application;

(2) The reason or reasons why a further ration will be needed for use prior to the expiration date of the current ration.

(c) If the Board determines that, for one or more reasons specified in paragraph (a) of this section, more mileage is needed or, in the case of a non-highway ration, more gasoline is required, than that stated in the application on the basis of which the current ration was issued, it may grant a further ration in accordance with the provisions of § 1394.2703 (b).

§ 1394.2703 General provisions. (a) All of the provisions of Ration Order No. 5B applicable to the issuance of an original ration shall apply to the issuance of a further ration.

(b) When granting a further ration for use prior to the original expiration date of a current ration, pursuant to the provisions of § 1394.2702, the Board shall destroy the originally issued coupon book and shall issue another book containing coupons sufficient to provide the gallonage to which the applicant is entitled for the remainder of the period during which such book is valid.

GENERAL PROVISIONS WITH RESPECT TO ISSUANCE OF GASOLINE RATIONS

§ 1394.2751 Appearances before Boards. (a) The Board may require any applicant for a ration to appear before it for examination and to produce such witnesses or evidence as it may deem material.

§ 1394.2752 Presentation of license certificate. (a) No gasoline ration, other than a ration issued pursuant to §1394.2451 (b) (2), shall be issued for any motor vehicle other than a fleet vehicle unless a license certificate issued by the Department of Interior of the Insular Government of Puerto Rico, or a registration card or registration certificate of a state of the United States or of any foreign or territorial government, authorizing the operation of such vehicle during all or part of the period for which such ration is to be issued, is presented to the registrar or the Board.

§ 1394.2753 Notation on license certificate. (a) At the time of issuing a gasoline ration for a licensed motor vehicle other than a fleet vehicle, except in the case of a ration issued pursuant to § 1394.2451 (b), the person issuing such ration shall make a clear notation in ink, indelible pencil, or by typewriter, on the front of the license certificate presented by the applicant, showing the date of issuance, the class of ration and the serial number of the ration book issued.

§ 1394.2754 Notation on ration books and applications. (a) At the time of issuance of any ration book for a licensed motor vehicle, the person issuing such book shall, unless a fleet identification is used as provided in paragraph (b) of this section, make a clear notation on the cover thereof, in ink, indelible pencil, or by typewriter, of the license number of the vehicle for which it is issued and of the name and address of the licensed owner of such vehicle. The Board shall also make a notation on the cover of such book, other than a basic book, and on the application therefor, of the date on which it becomes valid and of its expiration date.

(b) An applicant for a gasoline ration for fleet vehicles may request the Board to note on the ration books issued the name or other identification of the fleet, in lieu of the license number of a particular vehicle. The Board may grant such request with respect to any vehicles in the fleet which are used interchangeably and which bear a clearly discernible fleet name, identification or designation. Any book on which a fleet identification is noted may be used, interchangeably, for all vehicles in the fleet bearing such identification.

(c) At the time of issuance of a nonhighway ration book, the Board shall make a clear notation on such book in ink, indelible pencil, or by typewriter, of the name and address of the applicant and of the period during which such book shall be valid. Such period shall also be noted on the application.

§ 1394.2755 Change in motor vehicle license number. (a) The holder of a ration book issued for a licensed motor vehicle, other than a ration book bearing a fleet identification, shall, upon any change in the license number of such vehicle, submit such ration book, together with the license certificate or registration card evidencing the new number, to a Board within five (5) days after such change for the purpose of having the notation thereon changed to correspond to the new license number. The person authorized to make the change for the Board to which such book is presented shall obliterate the license number appearing thereon; note thereon, in ink, indelible pencil, or by typewriter, the new license number issued for such vehicle, and countersign or initial the change made on the book. Notation on the new license certificate or registration card shall also be made, as prescribed in § 1394.2753.

(b) The holder of any book bearing a fleet identification shall, upon any change in the name, identification, or designation of such fleet, submit such book to the Board which issued it for appropriate modification. Upon ascertaining the new name, identification or designation of such fleet, the Board shall change the designation on such book to correspond thereto.

(c) Nothing in this section shall be construed to authorize the continued use of a ration book after a change in ownership of the vehicle for which it was issued.

(d) Any alteration on the face or cover of any ration book, unless made and countersigned by a person authorized to do so under Ration Order No. 5B, shall render such book, and the coupons therein, invalid.

§ 1394.2756 Authorization of bulk purchase. (a) Any person who establishes to the satisfaction of a Board that he maintains a storage tank for supplying gasoline to one or more motor vehicles or units of non-highway equipment operated by him, and that he has maintained such tank for such purposes prior to June 1, 1942, or that it is now necessary for supplying gasoline to such vehicles or for such use to maintain a storage tank or to acquire gasoline in a tank, tank truck, drum, or other container, may, when applying for a gasoline ration, request the Board to issue such ration in the form of bulk coupons, or partly in bulk coupons and partly in coupon books. Such person may also request the Board to make a notation on any coupon books issued to him indicating that coupons in such books may be used for a bulk transfer of gasoline.

(b) If the applicant establishes the facts required by paragraph (a) hereof, the Board shall issue bulk coupons to the extent of the gallonage allowed by it for which bulk coupons are requested: Provided, That, with respect to applications for supplemental rations or for fleet rations for passenger automobiles or motorcycles the Board shall first determine the type, number and expiration date of the coupon books to which the applicant is entitled; it shall then issue bulk coupons, to the extent requested by the applicant, having a gallonage value equal to the value in units of the coupons in the coupon books to which the applicant is entitled and in lieu of which such bulk coupons are issued. Such bulk coupons shall expire on, and may not be used for the transfer of gasoline to a consumer after, the date on which such coupon books would expire: Provided further, That bulk coupons shall not be issued unless the applicant establishes the necessity for acquiring two hundred and fifty (250) gallons or more per month by such coupons.

§ 1394.2757 Lost or destroyed coupons, or coupon books. (a) In the event of the accidental loss, destruction or mutilation of any coupon books or bulk coupons, the holder thereof may apply for replacement thereof to the Board having jurisdiction.

(b) Such application shall be made in writing, under oath or affirmation, and shall set forth:

(1) The name and address of the applicant;

(2) The class, date and place of issuance, and expiration date of such book or coupons;

(3) A description of the motor vehicle, boat, equipment, or process for which the book or coupons were issued;

(4) A statement of the number and type of unused coupons so lost, destroyed, or mutilated;

(5) A description of the manner and circumstances of the loss, destruction, or mutilation.

(c) If the Board is satisfied that such book or coupons have been lost or destroyed, or so damaged, or mutilated as to be rendered unfit for use, it may issue, in its discretion, a duplicate book or duplicate bulk coupons of the same class and in the same quantity as those sought to be replaced. It shall clearly note on the cover of any duplicate book issued the same expiration date that appeared on the original book.

(d) No person receiving a duplicate book or coupons under paragraph (c) of this section shall use, attempt to use, or permit the use of the original book or coupons, but shall surrender such original book or coupons; if damaged or mutilated, to the Board at the time of issuance of the duplicate book. In the event that a lost book or lost coupons are found after duplicates have been issued, such original book or coupons shall be surrendered to the Board forthwith.

§ 1394.2758 Signature on coupon book. (a) No coupon book shall be valid until the person to whom such book is issued has signed the certification provided for therein.

EXPIRATION AND REVOCATION OF RATIONS

§ 1394.2801 Surrender of expired coupons. (a) No coupon book issued in Puerto Rico shall be valid for the transfer of gasoline to a consumer in Puerto Rico after the expiration thereof, or to any consumer at any time outside of Puerto Rico.

(b) The person to whom a ration has been issued shall, within five (5) days after the expiration thereof, surrender to the issuing Board all expired coupon books and all unused coupons representing such ration.

§1394.2803 Expiration of rations upon cessation of use or change in ownership. (a) Upon cessation of use or bona fide transfer of ownership of any vehicle, boat or equipment, any ration issued for such vehicle, boat or equipment shall expire and all unused coupons and books issued therefor shall, within five (5) days after such cessation or change, be surrendered to the issuing Board by the person to whom such ration was issued. The transferee of such vehicle, boat or equipment may apply for a gasoline ration in accordance with the applicable provisions of Ration Order No. 5B.

(b) Upon cessation of use of a ration, other than a basic ration, for a purpose for which such ration may be obtained, such ration shall expire and all unused coupons and books issued therefor shall, within five (5) days after such cessation, be surrendered to the issuing Board by the person to whom such ration was issued.

§ 1394.2804 Denial of gasoline rations. (a) No person whose name has been recorded by a Board, in accordance with the provisions of section 1406 for refusal to surrender a gasoline ration book upon direction of the Board, or for failure or refusal, without good cause shown, to appear before such Board for examination, shall be entitled to obtain a ration of any type under Ration Order No. 5B while his name remains thus recorded.

§ 1394.2805 Suspension and revocation of rations. (a) All coupon books, bulk coupons and inventory coupons issued shall remain the property of the Office of Price Administration for Puerto Rico may suspend, cancel, revoke, or recall any ration, and may require the surrender and return of any coupon book, bulk coupon or inventory coupons during suspension or pursuant to cancellation, whenever he deems it to be in the public interest to do so.

(b) Upon certification by the Office of Defense Transportation that any person to whom a gasoline ration has been issued has been found by it to have violated an order of such Office, which now or may hereafter be made applicable to Puerto Rico, and upon recommendation by such Office that a gasoline ration issued to such person, or any part thereof, be revoked, the Director of the Office of Price Administration for Puerto Rico may revoke such ration, or such part thereof, pursuant to the provisions of paragraph (a) of this section.

§ 1394.2806. Review by local Boards of applications for gasoline ration. (a) Any Board may review an application for a gasoline ration of any class, made in the area over which it has jurisdiction, or referred to it by another Board in order to determine whether the holder of the ration was entitled to receive it. The Board may also require the holder of a supplemental, service, fleet, nonhighway, or special ration to appear before it for examination in order to determine whether such ration is being used in accordance with the provisions of Ration Order No. 5B. The Board shall give the holder written notice of the time and place fixed for such appearance. The notice shall be deemed sufficient if mailed to the address shown on the application at least five (5) days prior to such time. The Board may designate one or more of its members to perform the functions prescribed in this section.

(b) If the Board finds that the ration holder was not entitled to receive the ration issued, or, if it finds that a ration issued is being used for a purpose other than one for which such ration may be obtained, it shall revoke such ration and shall direct that any coupons or coupon books issued therefor be surrendered to it. If it finds that the holder is entitled to a ration of a different class or quantity than that issued, it may issue such ration as it finds the holder entitled to receive pursuant to the provisions of Ration Order No. 5B in place of the ration revoked.

(c) The Board shall record the name of any ration holder who refuses to comply with a direction of the Board pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section or who fails or refuses to appear for examination in accordance with a notice sent by the Board pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section: Provided, That if a person whose name has been recorded for failure or refusal to appear for examination shows good cause to the Board for such failure or refusal his name shall be stricken from such record, upon compliance with the Board's direction with respect to the disposition of his ration. The Board shall notify the Director of the Office of Price Administration for Puerto Rico immediately after so recording any name and immediately after striking any name from the record. Any person whose name remains recorded shall be prohibited from securing any ration under the provisions of Ration Order No. 5B or any other gasoline ration order heretofore or hereafter promulgated by the Office of Price Administration.

RESTRICTION ON TRANSFERS

§ 1394.2851 Restriction on transfer to consumers. (a) On and after August 1, 1942, and notwithstanding the terms of any contract, agreement, or commitment, regardless of when made, no person other than a dealer, intermediate distributor or oil company shall (except as provided in §§ 1394.2553, 1394.2856 and 1394.2857) transfer or offer to transfer gasoline to a consumer, and no consumer shall accept transfer of such gasoline.

§ 1394.2852 Transfers to consumers. (a) On and after August 1, 1942, and notwithstanding the terms of any contract, agreement, or commitment, regardless of when made, a dealer, intermediate distributor, or oil company may transfer gasoline to a consumer in Puerto Rico, and such consumer may accept such transfer of gasoline, only in exchange for valid coupons or other evidences issued in Puerto Rico.

§ 1394.2853 Transfer to consumers in exchange for coupons. (a) A transfer of gasoline may be made in exchange for coupons contained in Class A, B, C, D, S–1 or S–2 books, under the following conditions:

(1) At the time of transfer, the transferor shall require presentation of the coupon book and must detach therefrom coupons having an aggregate gallonage value equal to the amount of gasoline transferred: Provided, That if the transferee is able to accept only a portion of the amount of gasoline represented by the gallonage value of a coupon, the transferor shall nevertheless detach an entire coupon. No transfer may be made pursuant to this paragraph in exchange for a coupon detached prior to the presentation of the coupon book to the transferor.

(2) Transfer may be made only into the fuel tank of a motor vehicle identified on the coupon book presented: Provided, That if such book bears a notation by a Board indicating that bulk transfer is authorized, a bulk transfer may be made in exchange for coupons in such book: Provided further, That bulk transfer may also be made of an amount of gasoline, not in excess of one unit, to enable a vehicle stranded for lack of fuel to reach a source of supply. In such case the transferor shall retain the ration book presented until the vehicle is brought to the place of transfer for identification.

(3) Transfer may be made only during the valid period noted on the cover of the book presented, or, in the case of a Class A book, only during the period of validity of the coupon in exchange for which the transfer is to be made.

(b) Bulk transfer may be made in exchange for coupons contained in Class E and R books, under the following conditions:

(1) At the time of transfer, the transferor must require presentation of the coupon book and must detach therefrom coupons having an aggregate gallonage value equal to the number of gallons of gasoline transferred. No transfer may be made pursuant to this paragraph in exchange for a coupon detached prior to the presentation of the coupon book to the transferor.

(2) No transfer in exchange for coupons in a Class E or R book may be made into the fuel tank of, or knowingly made for use in, a licensed motor vehicle or a motor vehicle held by a motor vehicle dealer for sale or resale.

(c) Transfer may be made in exchange for bulk coupons. The transferor shall require surrender, at or before the time of transfer, of bulk coupons having a value in gallons equal to the number of gallons of gasoline transferred: Provided, That in the case of any delivery made in the absence of the transferor or his agent, by tank car or other carrier, or the absence of the transferor or his agent, coupons need not be surrendered simultaneously with delivery, but must be forwarded by the transferee to the transferor within forty-eight (48) hours after delivery.

§ 1394.2854 Transfers in exchange for Acknowledgment of Delivery and Allotment Authorization. (a) Transfer may be made in exchange for an Acknowledgment of Delivery or an Allotment Authorization duly executed by an appropriate officer of the armed forces of the United States in accordance with the provisions of § 1394.2552.

§ 1394.2855 Emergency transfers. (a) Transfer may be made in exchange for an Emergency Receipt on Form OPA R–555, which may be obtained from any dealer.

(b) Any person requiring gasoline in order to meet an emergency involving serious threat to life, health, or valuable property, may obtain such gasoline by signing an Emergency Receipt in triplicate and stating thereon the emergency purpose for which such gasoline is required and the reason why he is unable to present coupons in exchange for such gasoline. If such gasoline is required for use in a licensed motor vehicle, he shall also state the license number of the vehicle in which such gasoline is to be used.

(c) Any dealer, intermediate distributor, or oil company who has transferred gasoline in exchange for an Emergency Receipt, shall transmit such Emergency Receipt, in triplicate, to the Board having jurisdiction over the area in which his place of business is located. The Board, if it is satisfied that the transferor made a transfer, in good faith, of the amount of gasoline specified in such Emergency Receipt, shall issue to him, in exchange therefor, inventory coupons equal in gallonage value to the amount of gasoline so transferred. The Board shall retain one copy of such Receipt in its own files, shall transmit the second copy to the Board having jurisdiction over the area in which the transferee resides, as stated on the Receipt, and shall send the third copy to the Director of the Office of Price Administration for Puerto Rico.

§ 1394.2856 Transfer of vehicle, boat or equipment. (a) Nothing in Ration Order No. 5B shall be deemed to forbid the transfer of gasoline actually in the fuel supply tank of a vehicle, boat or equipment, in conjunction with a bona fide transfer of such vehicle, boat, or equipment itself; or the consumption by the transferee in such vehicle, boat, or equipment of gasoline actually in the fuel supply tank thereof at the time of transfer.

§ 1394.2857 Transfer of consumer establishments. (a) Nothing in Ration Order No. 5B shall be deemed to forbid the transfer of gasoline actually in a storage tank or other container maintained by a consumer as part of an enterprise or establishment, in conjunction with a bona fide transfer of such enterprise or establishment itself, or a transfer of gasoline by legal process or operation of law.

(b) Any person to whom a transfer of the character described in paragraph (a) of this section is made shall forthwith report such transfer and the amount of gasoline involved to the Board having jurisdiction over the area in which such gasoline is located. Such person, if a dealer or intermediate distributor, shall surrender to the Board, together with such report, coupons or other evidences having a value equal to the number of gallons of gasoline transferred. Such person, if not a dealer or intermediate distributor, may either:

(1) Transfer all or any part of such gasoline in exchange for coupons or other evidences having a value equal to the number of gallons of gasoline so transferred: Provided, That such coupons or other evidences shall forthwith be surrendered by him to the Board for cancellation; or

(2) Consume such gasoline to the extent of any gasoline ration issued to him: Provided, That he may consume such gasoline only for the purpose for which such ration may be issued and shall surrender to the Board, for cancellation, coupons equal in value to the amount of gasoline consumed or to be consumed.

§ 1394.2858 Transfers from fuel tank to fuel tank of vehicles and boats forbidden. (a) No gasoline contained in the fuel tank of any licensed motor vehicle, inboard motorboat, outboard motor, or non-highway equipment shall be transferred therefrom to the fuel tank of any licensed motor vehicle, or of any inboard motorboat or outboard motor operated in Puerto Rico.

§ 1394.2859 Discrimination by dealers and intermediate distributors. (a) On and after August 1, 1942, no dealer or intermediate distributor shall discriminate in the transfer of gasoline among any consumers lawfully entitled to acquire gasoline under the provisions of Ration Order No. 5 B by selling only to favored consumers or classes of consumers, or only to regular customers, and refusing to sell to others who are entitled to acquire gasoline under the provisions of Ration Order No. 5 B. Nothing in this section, however, shall be construed to prohibit a dealer or intermediate distributor from adopting restrictions which apply to all consumers or from holding reserve stocks for delivery to persons presenting Acknowledgments of Delivery or Allotment Authorizations duly executed by the authorized officer of the armed forces of the United States.

REPLENISHMENT AND AUDIT

§ 1394.2901 Registration of inventory and capacity. (a) No dealer or intermediate distributor having a place of business in Puerto Rico shall make or receive any transfer of gasoline between the hours of 4:00 p. m. and midnight on July 31, 1942. During such hours every dealer shall take an actual physical inventory of his total gasoline supplies on hand and shall register, on Form OPA R–545, in duplicate, with the Board having jurisdiction of the area in which he has such place of business, at the hours provided by the Board, the following matters, together with such other information as may be required:

(b) His total inventory of gasoline on hand as of the close of business on July 31, 1942.

(c) His total gasoline storage capacity.

(d) His name, firm name, business address, and type of business.

(e) A certification as to the correctness of each of the foregoing items of information.

Separate registration shall be made by such dealer or intermediate distributor for each place of business in Puerto Rico where gasoline is transferred, and shall be made at each respective Board having jurisdiction of the area in which each such place of business is located.

§ 1394.2902 What constitutes gasoline on hand. (a) The registrant shall register all gasoline on hand, whether in storage tanks, tank trucks, tank cars delivered to railroad sidings, drums, or other containers, except gasoline in the fuel tank of a motor vehicle. The registrant shall not registered gasoline in transit which did not arrive at his place of business prior to the close of business on July 31, 1942. Gasoline shipped to a dealer or intermediate distributor on or prior to July 31, 1942, but received by him at any time after July 31, 1942, shall be deemed to be gasoline transferred to him subsequent to July 31, 1942, and shall require an exchange therefor of coupons or other evidences in the manner provided in §§ 1394.2907 and 1394.2909.

§ 1394.2903 What constitutes storage capacity. (a) The registrant shall register the total capacity of all immobile gasoline storage facilities, but not the capacity of tank trucks, tank wagons, drums, or other movable containers: Provided, however, That a registrant who maintains no stationary gasoline storage tanks shall register the total capacity of all his delivery facilities.

§ 1394.2904 Issuance of registration certificates. The Board, on determining that the information and certification submitted by the registrant are in good order, shall by authorized signature approve the same, file the duplicate, and return the original to the registrant, who shall retain it as a certificate of registration at the place of business to which it applies and shall present it as an identification at the time of transacting business with any Board.

§ 1394.2905 Issuance of inventory coupons. (a) The Board shall, at the time of its approval of any registration certificate, issue to the registrant inventory coupons in the amount of the difference between the total gasoline storage capacity for each place of business and the total inventory of gasoline on hand as certified by the registrant. A one-hundred gallon inventory coupon or a quantity of class A coupons may at any time subsequent to registration be exchanged at any Board in Puerto Rico by a dealer or intermediate distributor for an equivalent amount of one-gallon inventory coupons.

§ 1394.2906 Restriction on use of inventory coupons. (a) Every dealer and intermediate distributor shall retain all inventory coupons issued to him at the place of business for which they were issued, and shall exchange his inventory coupons only when a delivery to him exceeds the number of consumer coupons or other evidences available for exchange: Provided, however, That one-gallon inventory coupons may be used at any time to make up the difference between the number of gallons in any delivery and the nearest number of gallons which can be represented by the use of consumer coupons or other evidences.

§ 1394.2907 Restriction on transfers. (a) Except as provided in § 1394.2908 no dealer or intermediate distributor in Puerto Rico shall transfer or offer to transfer to, or shall receive a transfer of gasoline from any other dealer or intermediate distributor except in exchange for a quantity of coupons or other evidences, at or before the time of the actual delivery of the gasoline, equal in gallonage value to the amount of the gasoline so transferred.

§ 1394.2908 Night deliveries; third party deliveries. (a) Where an oil company or intermediate distributor elects to make delivery of gasoline during hours when the purchaser is not open for business, the purchaser shall, where the exact amount of the delivery is known in advance, mail or deliver in advance to the transferor coupons or other evidences in an equal gallonage value, or may, at the discretion of the transferor, within twenty-four (24) hours of delivery forward to the transferor an amount of coupons or other evidences equal in gallonage value to the number of gallons so delivered.

§ 1394.2909 Upstream transfers. Any oil company or intermediate distributor who receives a transfer or return of gasoline from a dealer or intermediate distributor in Puerto Rico, other than in connection with a transfer to him of the place of business of such dealer or intermediate distributor, shall deliver to such dealer or intermediate distributor a quantity of his accumulated coupons or other evidences equal in gallonage value to the amount of gasoline so transferred or returned.

§ 1394.2910 Preservation of coupons; Coupon Sheets. (a) Each dealer and intermediate distributor shall affix the coupons received by him directly from consumers to a Coupon Sheet (Form OPA R–542) in the manner directed thereon. Separate coupon sheets shall be maintained for coupons of each separate type; only coupons of one class shall be attached to any one sheet.

§ 1394.2911 Preservation of Acknowledgments. (a) Each dealer and intermediate distributor shall attach the Acknowledgments and Allotment Authorizations delivered to him by authorized purchasers to a Summary of Acknowledgments (Form OPA R–541) on which he shall enter for each such Acknowledgment and Allotment Authorization in order the date of purchase, name of purchaser, and number of gallons sold.

§ 1394.2912 Summary of Coupons. (a) Each dealer and intermediate distributor shall, prior to every delivery by him of coupons or other evidences, except exchange certificates, prepare in duplicate on Form OPA R–541 a Summary of Coupons and Acknowledgments in the manner directed thereon, certifying the number of each type of coupon and the number of evidences to be delivered. The original of this summary shall be delivered by him attached to his coupons and other evidences. The copy shall be retained by him at his place of business for a period of not less than one year. Dealers and intermediate distributors shall forward such summaries to their vendors.

§ 1394.2913 Exchange of coupons for certificates. (a) A dealer or intermediate distributor may at any time deliver to any Board in Puerto Rico coupons or other evidences (except exchange certificates) and obtain in return a certificate or certificates equal to the gallonage value of the coupons or other evidences remitted. The remitter shall attach to such coupons or other evidences a summary of coupons and acknowledgments on Form OPA R–541. The Board shall furnish him in return an Exchange Certificate (Form OPA R–548, of which a duplicate shall be retained for the files of the Board) equal in gallonage value to the total gallonage value of the coupons or other evidences remitted by him.

§ 1394.2914 Invalidity of Class A coupon after expiration of bi-monthly period. (a) No dealer shall accept any coupon the period of validity of which has expired; and no such coupon shall be an evidence of any gallonage value, except on coupon sheets to which it has been attached prior to the expiration of its period of validity.

§ 1394.2915 Certification of shortage. (a) Dealers and intermediate distributors shall be permitted from time to time to apply on Form OPA R–549 for compensation for losses of gasoline through evaporation, handling, accident, or other extraordinary circumstances; and dealers, intermediate distributors and oil companies shall be permitted so to account for unavoidable loss of coupons. The certification of shortage shall be submitted to the Board having jurisdiction of the area in which such dealer or intermediate distributor has the place of business to which the shortage is to be attributed, and shall show the nature and quantity of such shortage with a full explanation therefor. If, on consideration of the certification of such other facts as it may require of the applicant, the Board is satisfied that the applicant has established the fact and reasonableness of such shortage, the Board shall file the certification and issue to the applicant a quantity of inventory coupons equal to the amount of the proven loss: Provided, That the Board shall not issue, as compensation for a shortage resulting from shrinkage or evaporation, certificates having a gallonage value in excess of 1% of the gallonage delivered each month.

§ 1394.2916 Records to be kept by dealers and intermediate distributors. At the time of making delivery of gasoline to any dealer or intermediate distributor in Puerto Rico, every oil company shall furnish to such dealer or intermediate distributor an invoice, delivery ticket, or other customary evidence of transfer, showing the name and address of the purchaser and the date and quantity of the purchase; and every such purchaser shall retain at his place of business for a period of at least one year from the date of his purchase of gasoline the invoice, delivery ticket, or other evidence so furnish him.

§ 1394.2917 Reports by oil companies. (a) Every oil company shall, on or before the 10th day of each month, commencing with the month of September, 1942, submit to the Director of the Office of Price Administration for Puerto Rico a written report for the previous calendar month showing:

(1) The gasoline gallonage on hand at the close of business on the last day of the month preceding the month for which the report is made;

(2) The gallonage imported during the month for which the report is made;

(3) The gallonage transferred to and received from other oil companies during the month for which the report is made;

(4) The gallonage on hand at the close of business on the last day of the month for which the report is made;

(5) The gallonage transferred to the armed forces of the United States during the month for which the report is made;

(6) The gallonage transferred to intermediate distributors, dealers, or consumers during the month for which the report is made.

Every oil company shall attach to such report all evidences received in exchange for gasoline so transferred by it during the month for which the report is made. The oil company shall include in its report a reconciliation of any difference between the total gallonage reported so transferred and the total gallonage represented by the evidences attached to the report.

§ 1394.2918 Reports by Collector of Customs. (a) As soon after the first of each month as is practicable, commencing with the month of August, 1942, the United States Collector of Customs for the Island of Puerto Rico shall prepare and send to the Director of the Office of Price Administration for Puerto Rico a written report for the previous calendar month containing the following information:

(1) The total gasoline gallonage imported into the Island of Puerto Rico during the previous month, and the gallonage alloted to each oil company.

(2) The total gallonage and the gallonages of each oil company exported from the Island of Puerto Rico during the previous month.

(3) The total gasoline inventory of the oil companies, and the inventory of each individual oil company, at the close of business on the last day of the month for which the report is made.

§ 1394.2919 Explanation by oil companies. (a) The Director of the Office of Price Administration for Puerto Rico may, at any time, request any oil company to explain a discrepancy existing between the figures supplied in its monthly report and the number of evidences turned in by it to the Office of Price Administration for Puerto Rico and the monthly report made by the Collector of Customs. Any failure or refusal to explain such discrepancies shall constitute prima facie evidence that such oil company has transferred gasoline without accepting evidences therefor.

§ 1394.2920 Registration of new or reopened place of business. (a) Any dealer or intermediate distributor who opens or reopens in Puerto Rico a place of business not previously registered by such dealer or intermediate distributor shall, prior to receipt or transfer of any gasoline, register such place of business in the manner provided in § 1394.2901, and shall be issued inventory coupons equal in gallonage value to the total capacity of his unfilled gasoline storage facilities as of the time of registration.

§ 1394.2921 Cessation of business. (a) Any dealer or intermediate distributor who ceases to operate as such, disposes of his stocks of gasoline, and closes his place of business without transferring it to another for continued operation, shall, at the time of final closing, deliver to the Board having jurisdiction of the area in which his place of business is located the original certificate of registration of such place of business and a quantity of coupons or other evidences equal in gallonage value to the total capacity of the gasoline storage facilities of such place of business.

§ 1394.2922 Sale of place of business. (a) Any person acquiring from a dealer or intermediate distributor a place of business already registered in accordance with the provisions of § 1394.2901 shall, prior to receipt or transfer of any gasoline, register such place of business in the manner provided in §§ 1394.2901 to 1394.2909, inclusive; except that he shall be issued inventory coupons equal in gallonage value to the total capacity of the entire gasoline storage facilities of such place of business. He shall then deliver to the transferor of such place of business a quantity of inventory coupons equal in gallonage value to the total amount of gasoline on hand as of the time of transfer. The transferor shall deliver, to the Board having jurisdiction of the area in which the place of business transferred by him is located, the certificate of registration of such place of business, together with a quantity of coupons or other evidences equal in gallonage value to the total capacity of the entire gasoline storage facilities of such place of business.

§ 1394.2923 Change of storage capacity. (a) Any dealer or intermediate distributor in any manner altering the total capacity of the gasoline storage facilities of a place of business shall deliver for cancellation, to the Board having jurisdiction of the area in which such place of business is located, his original certificate of registration, and shall obtain a new certificate of registration in the manner provided by §§ 1394.2901 to 1394.2904, inclusive. The Board shall attach to its copy of the new certificate the original and copy of the cancelled certificate. Where the capacity of the gasoline storage facilities is decreased, the dealer or intermediate distributor shall furnish to the Board a quantity of coupons or other evidences equal in gallonage value to the amount of the decrease. Where the capacity of his gasoline storage facilities is increased, the Board shall issue to the dealer or intermediate distributor in the manner described in § 1394.2905 a quantity of inventory coupons equal in gallonage value to the amount of the increase.

§ 1394.2924 Inspection of records and facilities. (a) All records, reports, forms, accounts, or other documents required by Ration Order No. 5 B to be prepared and kept by any person, and the gasoline facilities of any person, shall be subject to the inspection of the Office of Price Administration and its employees or by such persons as the Office of Price Administration may designate for the purpose of making inspections. Such inspections may be made at the place of business of any such person during regular hours, or, in the case of matters prepared on forms of the Office of Price Administration, at any time and place designated by the Office of Price Administration.

ADJUSTMENTS AND APPEALS

§ 1394.2951 Adjustment of errors made by registrars. (a) Any person who claims that a registrar improperly refused to issue a basic ration book or made an error in issuing a basic ration book on the basis of his application, may apply to a Board, orally or in writing, for an adjustment of such error. Any person who claims that a basic ration book was denied or was incorrectly issued to him by a registrar, by reason of an error in his application, may make a new application, to a Board, for a basic ration book. Application pursuant to this paragraph shall be made to the Board having jurisdiction over the area in which such original application was made, or in which the motor vehicle for which the application was made is customarily garaged or stationed.

(b) The Board shall obtain and examine the original application or, if such original application cannot expeditiously be found, it shall require the applicant to prepare a duplicate of such application and to certify that it is an exact duplicate thereof. If the Board finds that an error was made, by the applicant or by the registrar, it shall issue a basic ration book, or correct the book issued by the registrar, or issue a new book in place of the one issued by the registrar, or take such other action in accordance with the provisions of this order as may be necessary to correct the error. The Board shall, if it replaces a book, remove from the book issued by it coupons having gallonage value equal, as nearly as possible, to the value in gallons of the coupons found to be detached from the book to be replaced and, in the case of an A or D book, any expired coupons.

§ 1394.2952 Appeals from decisions of Boards. (a) An applicant may appeal to the Director of the Office of Price Administration for Puerto Rico from an adverse decision of a Board by filing with the Board a sworn statement in writing setting forth his objections to the decision and the grounds for the appeal. The statement must be filed not later than ten (10) days after receipt of notice of the decision. Within three (3) days after receipt of the statement, the Board shall send it to the Director together with its entire record on the application.

(b) The Director may request the applicant to appear before him or to furnish such additional information as he may deem pertinent. The Director shall render his decision on the appeal within five (5) days after receipt of the statement and record, and, in cases of apparent emergency, within twenty-four (24) hours, if possible. He shall promptly notify the applicant and the Board, in writing, of his decision. In the event that a decision of a Board is reversed or modified by the Director, the record shall be remanded to the Board for action consistent with his decision.

ENFORCEMENT

§ 1394.3001 Criminal prosecution. (a) Any person who knowingly falsifies an application or any other record or certificate made pursuant to or required by the terms of Ration Order No. 5 B, or who otherwise knowingly furnishes false information to a registrar, a Board, or any other agent, employe or officer of the Office of Price Administration, or who conspires with another person to perform any of the foregoing acts, may upon conviction be fined not more than $10,000 or imprisoned for not more than ten years, or both, and shall be subject to such other penalties as may be prescribed by law.

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR.

Bituminous Coal Division.

[Docket No. B-224]

JOHN A. McNULTY, JR., CODE MEMBER

ORDER ADOPTING PROPOSED FINDINGS OF FACT AND PROPOSED CONCLUSIONS OF LAW OF EXAMINER, AND DISMISSING COMPLAINT

This proceeding was instituted upon a complaint filed on February 12, 1942, with the Bituminous Coal Division, pursuant to sections 4 II (j) and 5 (b) of the Bituminous Coal Act of 1937, by District Board No. 9 against John A. McNulty, Jr., a code member producer in District No. 9. The complaint alleged that the code member wilfully violated section 4 II (e) of the Act and the rules and regulations promulgated thereunder, and prayed that the Division revoke and cancel the code membership of the code member or, in its discretion, direct the code member to cease and desist from further violations of the Act.

Pursuant to an Order of the Acting Director dated March 9, 1942, and after due notice to interested persons, a hearing in this matter was held on April 20, 1942, before Charles S. Mitchell, a duly designated Examiner of the Division, at a hearing room thereof at Owensboro, Kentucky. All interested persons were afforded an opportunity to be present, adduce evidence, cross-examine witnesses, and otherwise participate fully in the hearing. John A. McNulty, Jr., appeared at the hearing.

The Examiner, on June 23, 1942, submitted his Report, Proposed Findings of Fact, Proposed Conclusions of Law, and Recommendation. He found that John A. McNulty, Jr., had not wilfully violated section 4 II (e) of the Act or the rules and regulations thereunder or Price Instruction 5 in the Schedule of Effective Minimum Prices for District No. 9 for Truck Shipments as alleged in the complaint. He further found that code member did not fail to add to the effective minimum f. o. b. mine price the cost of transporting coal from the mine to the point at which it was delivered. Based upon his proposed findings of fact, the Examiner recommended that an order be entered dismissing the complaint.[1]

An opportunity was afforded to all parties to file exceptions to the Proposed Findings of Fact, Proposed Conclusions of Law, and Recommendation of the Examiner. No exceptions thereto have been filed.

The undersigned had determined that the proposed findings of fact and the proposed conclusions of law of the Examiner in this matter should be approved and adopted as the findings of fact and conclusions of law of the undersigned.

Now, therefore, it is ordered, That the said proposed findings of fact and proposed conclusions of law of the Examiner be, and they hereby are, approved and adopted as the findings of fact and conclusions of law of the undersigned.

It is further ordered, That the complaint filed by District Board No. 9 against John A. McNulty, Jr., a code member producer in District No. 9, be, and it hereby is, dismissed.

Dated: July 18, 1942.

Acting Director.

[F. R. Doc. 42-6913; Filed, July 21, 1942; 10:56 a. m.]

[1] The Examiner's Report contains some confusing expressions regarding the recommended dismissal of this matter. The code member filed an answer to the complaint wherein he denied that he had wilfully violated the price schedule and denied that he had in any way violated section 4 II (e) of the Act or the Code in failing to add the cost of transportation, and accordingly, prayed dismissal of the complaint. Code member also filed a motion to dismiss the complaint on the ground "that he is not now, nor was at the time complained of in the complaint, engaged in interstate commerce." I read the recommendation of the Examiner as not being based upon this motion filed by the code member, for he expressly stated that that motion should be denied, but as being based upon his findings that there had not been proved a violation of the effective minimum prices.

INTERSTATE COMMERCE COMMISSION.

ADJUSTMENT OF CONFLICT BETWEEN GENERAL MAXIMUM PRICE REGULATION AND MINIMUM RATE SCHEDULES

NOTICE TO ALL CONTRACT CARRIERS BY MOTOR VEHICLE OR BY WATER SUBJECT TO PARTS II OF III OF THE INTERSTATE COMMERCE ACT

JULY 17, 1942.

The Office of Price Administration, in a communication dated July 11, 1942, addressed to contract carriers subject to the Interstate Commerce Act, has called their attention to the "General Maximum Price Regulation" issued by it on April 28, 1942, pursuant to the provisions of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, which is now scheduled to become effective August 1, 1942. In the communication mentioned, the O.P.A. refers to the procedure to be followed in filing applications for amendments to such regulation. The following is quoted from the communication:

> Pursuant to the provisions of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, and under the terms of the General Maximum Price Regulation of April 28, 1942, the maximum charges of all carriers other than common carriers are set for each carrier at the highest March [1942] rates for the same service.
> Carriers complaining of undue hardship may petition for amendment in accordance with the provisions of Procedural Regulation No. 1, a copy of which may be obtained from any of the Regional Offices listed below or from the Washington Office. Such petitions should include, along with all other pertinent information, a statement of the rates for which authorization is sought and of the highest rates in effect during March, 1942, for the same service.

The regulation above referred to does not set aside or modify the provisions of sections 218 and 306 (e) of the Interstate Commerce Act, which require contract carriers by motor vehicle and by water, respectively, to file with the Commission schedules containing the minimum rates or charges of such carriers actually maintained and charged for transportation in interstate or foreign commerce.

In certain instances there may be a conflict between minimum rates named in the schedules filed with the Commission, and the maximum prescribed in the regulation by the Office of Price Administration. When, by the regulation of the O.P.A. a motor or water contract carrier is required to observe as a maximum the minimum rates or charges set out in the carrier's schedule on file with the Commission, obviously either a new schedule of minimum charges must be filed with the Commission which does not exceed the maximum basis prescribed by the O.P.A., or a conflict with the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942 will be created.

It has seemed to both the Office of Price Administration and to the Commission that it is most desirable that there should be no question of conflict between the price regulations and the Commission's orders as to minimum rates, and that a simple and expeditious procedure should be devised for the determination of a rate fair to the carrier as a minimum and to the shipper as a maximum. This requires cooperation between the two governmental agencies. The plan suggested in the communication of the Office of Price Administration is the result.

Accordingly, whenever the regulation of the O.P.A. requires the observance of a maximum charge lower than that imposed as a minimum by an effective order of this Commission, or whenever a contract carrier considers the facts justify a higher maximum basis than prescribed by the regulation, the contract carrier may file a petition with the Office of Price Administration for amendment of its regulation so as to permit the charging of the higher minimum basis prescribed by the Commission's order or the higher basis justified by the factual situation. Such petitions may be filed before or after the effective date of the regulation, August 1, 1942, but the mere filing of the petition does not set aside the regulation. As time is short, any petition for relief under the amendment should be prepared with care and filed at once.

Arrangements have been made by the Interstate Commerce Commission and the Office of Price Administration for cooperation and expeditious action in passing upon such petitions. Two copies of each petition should be mailed to the Interstate Commerce Commission, Washington, D. C., at the time the petition is sent to the Office of Price Administration. The procedure set forth in "Procedural Regulation No. 1" of the Office of Price Administration will govern the making and filing of the petition for amendment of the regulation as to maximum rates. As stated in the communication addressed to contract carriers by the Office of Price Administration, the petition should include (1) a statement of the rates for which authorization is sought, and (2) of the highest rates in effect during March, 1942, for the same service, together with (3) a complete statement of the facts upon which applicant relies in seeking modification of the regulation.

When contract carriers are required by the regulation to reduce minimum rates or charges now on file on or before the effective date of the Regulation, contract carriers by motor vehicle may use Special Permission No. M-32403 and contract carriers by water may use Special Permission No. 10497 to make such reduced minimum rates or charges effective in schedules filed with the Commission on not less than one day's notice.

If modification of the regulation is made by the Office of Price Administration so as to become effective on the date the regulation becomes effective, these special permissions may be used for making the necessary changes in contract carrier schedules without the filing of individual applications for short notice. But when modification is authorized effective on some later date the special permissions above described may not be used, and application for any short notice desired should be filed in accordance with the Commission's applicable tariff circulars.

In instances as to which the regulation of the Office of Price Administration requires changes in the contracts of contract carriers by motor vehicle now on file with the Commission, pursuant to the Commission's findings and orders in Contracts of Contract Carriers, 1 M.C.C. 628, and Filing of Contracts by Contract Carriers, 2 M.C.C. 55, new contracts or amendments to existing contracts should be filed promptly.

Secretary.

RESTRICTIONS ON USE OF LIGHTING DEVICES IN COASTAL AREAS

NOTICE TO MOTOR CARRIERS

JULY 20, 1942.

Pending the issuance by the Engineer Board of the Corps of Engineers, United States Army, of general regulations applicable to all areas, various Army commands have issued orders requiring "dimouts" in their respective coastal areas for the protection of shipping and local defense agencies have prescribed regulations designed to aid in effectuating that purpose.

As the orders and regulations referred to have various origins, it is possible they may lack uniformity and that motor carriers may experience some difficulty in fully complying with all requirements. Nevertheless it is the duty of motor carriers subject to the Motor Carrier Safety Regulations, Revised, operating in a coastal area or areas to comply as fully as possible with Army orders and local regulations issued pursuant thereto, effective within such area or areas, which restrict the use of lighting devices, reflectors and emergency signals. Any motor carrier complying with Army orders or local regulations promulgated in furtherance thereof with respect to "dimout" or "blackout" requirements will not be deemed to be in violation of the pertinent regulations of the Commission.

It is important that motor carriers instruct their employees, particularly drivers, in accordance with the terms of this Notice.

Secretary.

VIRGIN ISLANDS; SUGARCANE WAGE RATES, 1942

Determination of fair and reasonable wage rates for persons employed in the production, cultivation, or harvesting of sugarcane in the Virgin Islands during the calendar year 1942.

Whereas section 301 (b) of the Sugar Act of 1937, as amended, provides, as one of the conditions for payment to producers of sugar beets and sugarcane, as follows:

> That all persons employed on the farm in the production, cultivation, or harvesting of sugar beets or sugarcane with respect to which an application for payment is made shall have been paid in full for all such work, and shall have been paid wages therefor at rates not less than those that may be determined by the Secretary to be fair and reasonable after investigation and due notice and opportunity for public hearing; and in making such determinations the Secretary shall take into consideration the standards therefor formerly established by him under the Agricultural Adjustment Act, as amended, and the differences in conditions among various producing areas: Provided, however, That a payment which would be payable except for the foregoing provisions of this subsection may be made, as the Secretary may determine, in such manner that the laborer will receive an amount, insofar as such payment will suffice, equal to the amount of the accrued unpaid wages for such work, and that the producer will receive the remainder, if any, of such payments;

and

Whereas the Secretary of Agriculture, on March 26, 1942, held a public hearing in Christiansted, St. Croix, Virgin Islands, for the purpose of receiving evidence likely to be of assistance to him in determining fair and reasonable wage rates for persons employed in the production, cultivation, or harvesting of sugarcane in the Virgin Islands during 1942.

Now, therefore, I, Paul H. Appleby, Under Secretary of Agriculture, after investigation and due consideration of the evidence obtained at the aforesaid hearing and all other information before me, do hereby make the following determination:

(a) Harvesting rates. For all workers engaged in the harvesting of sugarcane: Not less than $1.36 per 8-hour day. For a working day longer or shorter than 8 hours, the rate shall be not less than 17 cents per hour.

(b) Production and cultivation rates. For all workers engaged in the production and cultivation of sugarcane: Not less than $1.04 per 8-hour day. For a working day longer or shorter than 8 hours, the rate shall be not less than 13 cents per hour.

(c) Piece rates. Persons employed on a piece-rate basis shall be paid at rates which will result in earnings of not less than the applicable hourly rates provided in paragraph (a) or (b) of this section.

(d) General provisions. (1) The producer shall furnish to the laborer, without charge, the perquisites customarily furnished by him, such as a dwelling, garden plot, pasture lot, and medical services; and the producer shall not, through any subterfuge or device whatsoever, reduce the wage rates to laborers below those determined above.

PART 802—SUGAR DETERMINATIONS

VIRGIN ISLANDS; SUGARCANE PRICES

Determination of fair and reasonable prices for the 1942 crop of Virgin Islands sugarcane.

Whereas section 301 (d) of the Sugar Act of 1937, as amended, provides, as one of the conditions for payment to producers of sugar beets and sugarcane, as follows:

That the producer on the farm who is also, directly or indirectly, a processor of sugar beets or sugarcane, as may be determined by the Secretary, shall have paid, or contracted to pay under either purchase or toll agreements, for any sugar beets or sugarcane grown by other producers and processed by him at rates not less than those that may be determined by the Secretary to be fair and reasonable after investigation and due notice and opportunity for public hearing.

Whereas the Secretary of Agriculture, on March 26, 1942, held a public hearing at Christiansted, St. Croix, Virgin Islands, for the purpose of receiving evidence likely to be of assistance to him in determining fair and reasonable prices for the 1942 crop of Virgin Islands sugarcane:

Now, therefore, I, Paul H. Appleby Under Secretary of Agriculture, after investigation and due consideration of the evidence obtained at the aforesaid hearing and all other information before me, do hereby make the following determination with respect to the requirements of section 301 (d) of the said act:

AUTHORITY: § 802.53 issued under sec. 301 (d) of the Sugar Act of 1937, as amended (50 Stat. 910; 7 U.S.C. 1131).

§ 802.53 Fair and reasonable prices for the 1942 crop of Virgin Islands sugarcane. Processors who, as producers, apply for payment under the Sugar Act of 1937, as amended, shall be deemed to have complied with the provisions of section 301 (d) of said act, if the requirements specified below have been met:

(a) Purchased sugarcane is paid for at the rate of not less than the f. o. b. mill value of 6 pounds of 96° raw sugar per hundredweight of such sugarcane. The average New York price of 96° raw sugar, for the week (or such other period as may be agreed upon) in which sugarcane was delivered, less all costs involved in the marketing of such sugar (other than bags and bagging, storage in company warehouses, war risk insurance, or any item of expense incurred in the marketing of such sugar which is reimbursed in whole or in part by the federal government of any agency thereof) shall be deemed as the f. o. b. mill value of such sugar.

(b) There is paid, per hundredweight of purchased sugarcane, an amount equal to one-half of the excess, if any, of the net proceeds derived from the sale of blackstrap molasses produced from a hundredweight of sugarcane of the 1942 crop over the net proceeds from the sale of blackstrap molasses produced from a hundredweight of sugarcane from the 1941 crop.

(c) The cost of transportation of purchased sugarcane for distances in excess of one kilometer from the limits of the field where such sugarcane is harvested, or from the way station nearest the field, whichever is shorter, is absorbed by the processor.

PART 328—MINIMUM PRICE SCHEDULE, DISTRICT NO. 8

ORDER GRANTING TEMPORARY RELIEF, ETC.

Order of consolidation and order granting temporary relief and conditionally providing for final relief in the matter of the petitions of District Board No. 8 for the establishment of price classifications and minimum prices for the coals of certain mines in District No. 8.

Original petitions having been duly filed with this Division by the above-named party, pursuant to section 4 II (d) of the Bituminous Coal Act of 1937, requesting the establishment, both temporary and permanent, of price classifications and minimum prices for the coals of certain mines in District No. 8; and

It appearing that the above-entitled matters raise similar and related issues; and

It further appearing that a reasonable showing of necessity has been made for the granting of temporary relief in the manner hereinafter set forth; and

No petitions of intervention having been filed with this Division in the above-entitled matters; and

The following action being deemed necessary in order to effectuate the purposes of the Act;

It is ordered, That the above-entitled matters be, and the same hereby are, consolidated.

It is further ordered, That, pending final disposition of the above-entitled matters, temporary relief be, and the same hereby is, granted as follows: Commencing forthwith § 328.11 (Alphabetical list of code members) is amended by adding thereto Supplement R–I, § 328.21 (Alphabetical list of code members) is amended by adding thereto Supplement R–II, § 328.34 (General prices for high volatile coals in cents per net ton for shipment into all market areas) is amended by adding thereto Supplement T–I, and § 328.42 (General prices for low volatile coals) is amended by adding thereto Supplement T–II, which supplements are hereinafter set forth and hereby made a part hereof.

It is further ordered, That pleadings in opposition to the original petition in the above-entitled matter and applications to stay, terminate or modify the temporary relief herein granted may be filed with the Division within forty-five (45) days from the date of this Order, pursuant to the Rules and Regulations Governing Practice and Procedure before the Bituminous Coal Division in Proceedings Instituted Pursuant to section 4 II (d) of the Bituminous Coal Act of 1937.

It is further ordered, That the relief herein granted shall become final sixty (60) days from the date of this Order, unless it shall otherwise be ordered.

Price classifications and minimum prices are established herein for the coals of the Browning Coal Company mine of G. E. Browning for all shipments except truck under Mine Index No. 830, instead of under Mine Index No. 2336, as proposed in the original petition in Docket No. A–1489 for the reason that records of the Division indicate that Mine Index No. 830 is the correct mine index number for this mine.

The relief prayed in the original petition in Docket No. A–1489 is not granted herein as to the coals of the Derifield Mine (Mine Index No. 2538) of Arthur Derifield for truck shipments for the reason that such relief has already been granted the mine in Supplement No. 2 for the Schedule of Effective Minimum Prices for District No. 8 For Truck Shipments, when it was known as the McBrayer Mine and operated by Ward McBrayer.

The original petitioner in Docket No. A–1489 proposed a minimum price of $2.35 for the coals of Mine Index No. 5577 in Size Group 4 for truck shipments. Since it appears that a minimum price of $2.25 has been established in Size Group 4 for comparable and analogous coals, and since the petition does not allege any facts in support of the proposed minimum price of $2.35 for the Size Group 4 coals of Mine Index No. 5577, a minimum price of $2.25 has been established by the Order herein for the coals of this mine.

Dated: July 2, 1942.

It appears that the M. B. Rose Mine (Mine Index No. 49) of M. B. Rose was heretofore erroneously listed as in the No. 6 seam and that consequently price classifications and minimum prices applicable to the coals of mines in the No. 6 seam were established for Mine Index No. 49 in General Docket No. 15. Mine Index No. 49 is actually in the No. 9 seam and accordingly price classifications and minimum prices applicable to the coals of mines in the No. 9 seam are established herein for Mine Index No. 49.

[Order 340 Amending Order 303]

SERVICE BY MAIL; NUMBER OF COPIES REDUCED

On September 26, 1940, (5 F.R. 3874) Order No. 303 entitled "An Order Providing For Expeditious Establishment of Temporary Effective Minimum Prices For Coal For Which Minimum Prices Have Not Been Established in General Docket No. 15 or General Docket No. 15-A; And Providing That No Code Acceptance Filed On And After October 1, 1940, Shall Become Effective Until 30 Days After Its Filing Unless Minimum Prices, Temporary Or Final, Are Established By The Division For Coal Of Acceptant's Mine" was issued.

Section 301.118 of this order provides that "Copies of petitions or recommendations in connection with Code members' petitions which are filed by a District Board with the Division pursuant to this order shall be served by mail, on or before the date such petitions or recommendations are filed with the Division, upon all other District Boards and upon each Code member whose mine is located within the district."

In the interest of conserving paper, postage, and related expenses, it appears desirable and proper for the said section to require petitions or recommendations filed by District Boards with the Bituminous Coal Division to be served by mail only upon all other District Boards and upon each code member whose name appears in the petition or recommendation, or in accompanying supplements; rather than upon all other District Boards and upon all code members whose mines are located in the districts of the petitioners.

Accordingly, it is ordered, That:

Commencing ten (10) days from the issuance of this order, § 301.118 of Order No. 303 should be, and hereby is, amended to read, as follows:

§ 301.118 Service. Copies of petitions or recommendations in connection with Code members' petitions which are filed by a District Board with the Division pursuant to this order shall be served by mail, on or before the date such petitions or recommendations are filed with the Division, upon all other District Boards and upon each Code member whose name appears in the petition or recommendation, or in accompanying supplements. (Sec. 2 (a), 50 Stat. 72, 15 U.S.C. Supp. Sec. 829 (a)).

Dated: July 14, 1942.

(d) Restrictions on the manufacture of stitching thread. No person shall, during the period from July 1, 1942, to and including December 31, 1942, or, if his books are so kept, and he so elects, during the period from July 1, 1942, to and including January 2, 1943, use more reserved Egyptian cotton in the manufacture of stitching thread than 37½ percent of the amount of such cotton used by him during the year 1941 for the same purposes.

(e) Grading. The Director General for Operations may require that any lot of Egyptian cotton entered into the United States after July 1, 1942, be graded by referring representative samples thereof for classification to the Appeal Board of Review Examiners, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., or at such office or offices of the said Board which may be designated for the purpose by the Department of Agriculture. The classification and findings of the said Appeal Board shall, for the purposes of this order only, be final in establishing whether any bale of cotton sample whereof has been so submitted, is or is not reserved Egyptian cotton. If upon the examination of any Egyptian cotton entered into the United States after July 1, 1942, by representatives of the United States Customs Service, any doubt or dispute arises as to whether such cotton is reserved Egyptian cotton, samples thereof shall be referred for classification for the purposes of this order only to the said Appeal Board of Review Examiners. The said Appeal Board will, in every case examined by it, transmit one copy of its findings to the War Production Board.

(f) Appeal. Any person affected by this order who considers that compliance therewith would work an exceptional and unreasonable hardship upon him, or that it would result in a degree of unemployment which would be unreasonably disproportionate compared with the amount of reserved Egyptian cotton conserved, or that compliance with this order would disrupt or impair a program of conversion from non-defense to defense work, may appeal to the War Production Board by letter or telegram, Reference M–117, setting forth the pertinent facts and the reason he considers he is entitled to relief. The Director General For Operations may thereupon take such action as he deems appropriate.

(g) Reports. Each person who, on July 27, 1942, holds or owns any cotton of any specification grown in Egypt shall cause an inventory to be taken as of such date showing to the extent such information is known to him, the number of bales of each variety, staple length and grade of Egyptian cotton on hand and, to the extent known to each such person, the name of the owner or owners thereof and the address of each owner. Owners and holders of such cotton must be prepared to furnish or cause the original importer to furnish the War Production Board, upon request, with import documents relating thereto, including the customs invoices on which such cotton was entered into the United States and the grade or grades established for the purpose of levying customs duties thereon. In addition, all holders and users of such cotton must be prepared to execute and file with the War Production Board such monthly or quarterly reports on forms that may be prescribed for the purpose and in the detail that may be required by the War Production Board showing stocks on hand, additions to

PART 1194—CANS MADE OF BLACKPLATE

[Conservation Order M–136]

The fulfillment of requirements for defense of the United States has created a shortage in the supply of blackplate for defense, for private account and for export; and the following order is deemed necessary and appropriate in the public interest and to promote the national defense:

§ 1194.1 Conservation Order M–136—(a) Definitions. (1) "Person" means any individual, partnership, association, business trust, corporation, governmental corporation or agency, or any organized group of persons, whether incorporated or not.

(2) "Blackplate" means any sheet steel, other than tinplate and terneplate, suitable for manufacture into cans. The term includes "rejects" arising out of the manufacture of blackplate, but does not include waste or scrap blackplate arising out of the manufacture of cans.

(3) "Chemically treated blackplate" means any blackplate which has been chemically treated to resist rust or corrosion.

(4) "Can" means any container which is intended for packing, packaging, or putting of products of any kind and which is made in whole or in part of blackplate, and includes closures, crowns, or caps for cans, but does not include any closure, crown, or cap to be used on, or as a part of a glass container.

(5) "Canner" means any person engaged in the business of packing in cans products of any kind for sale to others, whether such person buys some or all of his cans from third parties or whether he manufactures some or all of his cans himself. The term does not include a person who packs products which are not to be sold, or a person who packs products for the individual home consumption of another person furnishing the products to be packed.

(6) "Can manufacturer" means any person engaged in the business of producing cans for sale to others or for his own use in packing products of any kind.

(7) "Pack" means the quantity of blackplate, by area measurement, equivalent to the area of tinplate, terneplate, and blackplate which was required for the manufacture of all sized cans made of such materials and used by the canner for packing a particular product during the period specified.

(b) Restrictions upon the manufacture, sale, and delivery of cans. (1) Until further order of the Director General for Operations, no can manufacturer shall manufacture, sell, or deliver to any canner, jobber, or distributor, any cans, except to the extent expressly permitted by this order, and except under purchase orders or contracts validated by delivery to such can manufacturer of a canner's certificate, manually signed by an authorized official, in substantially the form attached hereto as Exhibit "I". No certificate shall be required for the purchase of cans for packing products which are not to be sold, either from retail stores purchasing such cans for resale, or from persons purchasing such cans from retail stores.

(2) No cans for packing any product shall be manufactured with ears, bails, or handles, when such cans are smaller than a 10-lb. syrup or honey can, or an 8-lb. lard pail.

(c) Restrictions upon the purchase, acceptance of delivery, and use of cans. (1) Until further order of the Director General for Operations, no canner shall buy, accept delivery of, or use any cans except to the extent expressly permitted by this order, and all canners shall observe the restrictions imposed by Tables A and B, annexed hereto, relating to can sizes, and the extent and form of packing the particular products therein listed. Subject to the other provisions of this order, a canner may use for packing the products listed in said tables, only cans of sizes specified for packing a particular product, or cans of sizes larger than the largest size indicated for packing that product. If any general provision or restriction of this order conflicts or appears to conflict, with any specific provisions or restriction of Table A or Table B, then such specific provision or restriction shall control.

(2) For packing a product listed in Table A or Table B, a canner may use during the calendar year 1942, cans requiring for their manufacture an area of blackplate, not in excess of the combined area of tinplate, terneplate, and blackplate which was required for the manufacture of the cans made of such materials and used by him during the calendar year 1940, for packing that product. A canner shall deduct from his blackplate quota for packing a particular product, the area of tinplate and terneplate which was required for the manufacture of the cans made of such materials and used by him during the calendar year 1942, or packing that product. Cans made in whole or in part of chemically treated blackplate shall be used only for packing the products listed in Table B.

(d) Other restrictions. No can manufacturer or canner shall use, for sealing cans to be used for packing any product listed in Table A, any compound containing crude rubber or latex, which was not prepared for this purpose on or before the date of issuance of this order.

(e) Exceptions. (1) Notwithstanding the restrictions imposed by this order, pertaining to sizes of cans, a can manufacturer may use for the manufacture of cans of sizes for which the material was designed: (i) any component parts of such cans which were lithographed, cut, or otherwise prepared for assembly on or before the date of issuance of this order, and (ii) any sheets of blackplate which were in the possession of the can manufacturer or produced for his account on or before the date of issuance of this order.

(2) Subject to quota restrictions, but notwithstanding the restrictions imposed by this order, pertaining to sizes of cans, a canner may use, or obtain from any can manufacturer and use, for packing products other than those listed in Table A or Table B, cans which were manufactured on or before the date of issuance of this order, and cans which were manufactured from component parts which were lithographed, cut, or otherwise prepared for assembly on or before the date of issuance of this order, as provided in paragraph (e) (1). Nothing in this paragraph (3) shall be construed to modify Order M–126, or any other applicable order of the Director General for Operations.

(f) Miscellaneous provisions—(1) Applicability of order. The restrictions imposed by this order shall not apply in the following cases only: (i) when cans are to be delivered pursuant to a letter of intent, purchase order, or contract, supported by a preference rating of higher than A–2, to any foreign country pursuant to the Act of March 11, 1941, entitled "An Act to Promote the Defense of the United States" (Lend-Lease Act), to the Army, Navy, Maritime Commission, or War Shipping Administration of the United States or to such other governmental agency as the Director General for Operations may designate; and (ii) when cans are to be set aside pursuant to Order M–86 and orders supplemental thereto, whether or not purchase orders or contracts for such canned goods have been placed by any governmental agency.

(2) Appeal. Any person affected by this order who considers that compliance therewith would work an exceptional and unreasonable hardship upon him, or that it would result in a degree of unemployment which would be unreasonably disproportionate compared with the amount of blackplate conserved, or that compliance with this order would disrupt or impair a program of conversion from nondefense work to defense work, may appeal in writing to the War Production Board, Ref: M–136, setting forth the pertinent facts and the reason he considers he is entitled to relief. The Director General for Operations may thereupon take such action as he deems appropriate.

(3) Communications. All reports required to be filed hereunder and all communications concerning this order, shall, unless otherwise directed, be addressed to: Containers Branch, War Production Board, Washington, D. C.—Ref: M–136.

(4) Violations. Any person who wilfully violates any provision of this order, or who, in connection with this order, wilfully conceals a material fact or furnishes false information to any department or agency of the United States is guilty of a crime, and, upon conviction, may be punished by fine or imprisonment. In addition, any such person may be prohibited from making or accepting further deliveries of, or from processing or using material under priority control and may be deprived of priorities assistance. (P.D. Reg. 1, as amended, 6 F.R. 6680; W.P.B. Reg. 1, 7 F.R. 561; E.O. 9024, 7 F.R. 329; E.O. 9040, 7 F.R. 527; E.O. 9125, 7 F.R. 2719; sec. 2 (a), Pub. Law 671, 76th Cong., as amended by Pub. Laws 89 and 507, 77th Cong.)

AMORY HOUGHTON,
Director General for Operations.

PART 3018—AMERICAN EXTRA STAPLE COTTON

[Conservation Order M-197]

The fulfillment of requirements for the defense of the United States has created a shortage in the supply of American extra staple cotton for defense, for private account and for export; and the following order is deemed necessary and appropriate in the public interest and to promote the national defense.

§ 3018.1 Conservation Order M-197—(a) Definitions. For the purposes of this order:

(1) "Reserved American extra staple cotton" means any raw cotton in unopened bales (including bales opened only for the purposes of sampling or testing) of the following specifications, grown within the Western Hemisphere, SXP Variety, grading No. 2 or higher and with staple of 1 1/16" or longer.

Pima Variety (including both United States and Peruvian), grading No. 2 or higher and with staple of 1 1/2" or longer.

Sea Island Variety, grading No. 2 1/2 or higher and with staple of 1 1/2" or longer.

in accordance with the official grading standards of the United States.

(2) "Stitching thread" means finished cotton thread used for stitching including home sewing in which reserved American extra staple cotton or reserved Egyptian cotton as defined in Conservation Order No. M-117 has heretofore been customarily used and shall also include any cotton yarns, single or plied and having a thread twist, in which such cotton has heretofore been customarily used, sold to another person to be manufactured solely into finished stitching thread, but shall not include crochet, embroidery or other fancy threads in which reserved American extra staple cotton or reserved Egyptian cotton may have heretofore been used.

(3) "Import" means to transport in any manner into the continental United States from any foreign country, and for purposes of this order, American extra staple cotton shall be deemed imported into the United States from the time it is released from the bonded custody of the United States Bureau of Customs.

(b) Restrictions on sales, deliveries and uses of reserved American extra staple cotton ginned in the United States or imported into the United States prior to July 27, 1942. (1) No person shall put into process, sell or deliver any reserved American extra staple cotton ginned in the United States or imported into the United States, as the case may be, prior to July 27, 1942, except for the purpose of filling the following categories of purchase orders:

(i) Defense orders for fabrics or items specifically requiring the use of reserved American extra staple cotton or reserved Egyptian cotton by the terms or specifications (including performance specifications) of the prime contract involved.

(ii) For use in the manufacture of stitching thread subject, however, to the limitations of paragraph (d).

(2) No person shall sell or deliver any reserved American extra staple cotton ginned within the United States or imported into the United States prior to July 27, 1942, unless he shall have first received from the purchaser a certificate signed by such purchaser, or by a person authorized to sign in his behalf, in substantially the following form:

The undersigned hereby certifies to his vendor and to the War Production Board, subject to the provisions of Section 35 (A) of the United States Criminal Code (18 U.S.C. 80) that the reserved American extra staple cotton to be delivered on the annexed purchase order is to be used for one or more of the purposes specified in Conservation Order M-197 for such cotton and for no other purposes; and if used for the manufacture of stitching thread will not be used by the undersigned in an amount in excess of the amount permitted for such purpose by the said order. This purchase order is for reserved American extra staple cotton ginned within or imported into the United States prior to July 27, 1942.

(2) Applications for authority to use, sell, deliver, purchase or accept delivery of any reserved American extra staple cotton hereafter ginned within or imported into the United States shall be made by letter addressed as provided in paragraph (i) stating the number of bales covered by the application, the number of bales of such cotton on hand, the use to which such cotton is to be put, and the number of the contract and the originating Government agency on any purchase order therefor other than for use in the manufacture of stitching thread. (ii) For delivery to the Board of Economic Warfare, the Commodity Credit Corporation or any corporation organized under the authority of Section 5d of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation Act, as amended, or any representative designated for the purpose by any of the foregoing.

(d) Restrictions on the manufacture of stitching thread. No person shall, during the period from July 1, 1942, to and including December 31, 1942, or, if his books are so kept, and he so elects, during the period from July 1, 1942, to and including January 2, 1943, use more reserved American extra staple cotton in the manufacture of stitching thread, than:

(1) 37 1/2% of the total amount of reserved American extra staple cotton and reserved Egyptian cotton (as defined in Conservation Order M-117, § 1149.1)[1] used by such person for the manufacture of stitching thread in the year 1941, minus

(2) The actual amount of reserved Egyptian cotton used or scheduled to be used by such person in the second half of 1942 for the manufacture of stitching thread pursuant to the limitations described in Conservation Order M-117.

(e) Grading. The Director General for Operations may require that any lot of American extra staple cotton entered into the United States after July 1, 1942, or ginned within the United States after said date, be graded by referring representative samples thereof for classification to the Appeal Board of Review Examiners, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., or at such office or offices of the said Board which may be designated for the purpose by the Department of Agriculture. The classification and findings of the said Appeal Board shall, for the purposes of this order only, be final in establishing whether any bale of cotton sample whereof has been so submitted, is or is not reserved American extra staple cotton. If upon the examination of any American extra staple cotton entered into the United States after July 1, 1942, by representatives of the United States Customs Service, any doubt or dispute arises as to whether such cotton is reserved American extra staple cotton, samples thereof shall be referred for classification for the purposes of this order only to the said Appeal Board of Review Examiners. The said Appeal Board will, in every case examined by it, transmit one copy of its findings to the War Production Board.

(f) Appeal. Any person affected by this order who considers that compliance therewith would work an exceptional and unreasonable hardship upon him, or that it would result in a degree of unemployment which would be unreasonably disproportionate compared with the amount of reserved American extra staple cotton conserved, or that compliance with this order would disrupt or impair a program of conversion from nondefense to defense work, may appeal to the War Production Board by letter or telegram, Reference M-197, setting forth the pertinent facts and the reason he considers he is entitled to relief. The Director General for Operations may thereupon take such action as he deems appropriate.

(g) Reports. Each person who, on July 27, 1942, holds or owns any cotton of any specification grown in the Western Hemisphere shall cause an inventory to be taken as of such date showing, to the extent such information is known to him, the number of bales of each variety, staple length and grade of American extra staple cotton on hand, and, to the extent known to each such person, the name of the owner or owners thereof and the address of each owner. All holders of such cotton must be prepared to execute and file with the War Production Board a report of the amount of such cotton held or owned on the said date of this order on such forms as may be prescribed by said Board. Owners and holders of such cotton must be prepared to furnish or cause the original importer to furnish the War Production Board, upon request, with import documents relating thereto, including the customs invoices on which such cotton was entered into the United States and the grade or grades established for the purpose of levying customs duties thereon. In addition, all holders and users of such cotton must be prepared to execute and file with the War Production Board such monthly or quarterly reports on forms that may be prescribed for the purpose and in the detail that may be required by the War Production Board showing stocks on hand, additions to stocks, withdrawals from stocks, consumption by uses and such other reports or questionnaires as may be required by the War Production Board from time to time.

(h) Records. All owners and processors of reserved American extra staple cotton affected by this order shall keep and preserve for not less than two years accurate and complete records concerning inventories, production, and sales, and copies of all invoices of both purchases and sales relating to such cotton.

(i) Communications to the War Production Board. All reports required to be filed hereunder, and all communications concerning this order, shall, unless otherwise directed, be addressed to: War Production Board, Textile, Clothing and Leather Branch, Washington, D. C.—Reference: M-197.

(j) Violations. Any person who willfully violates any provision of this order, or who, in connection with this order, wilfully conceals a material fact or furnishes false information to any department or agency of the United States, is guilty of a crime and upon conviction may be punished by fine or imprisonment. In addition, any such person may be prohibited from making or obtaining further deliveries of, or from processing or using material under priority control and may be deprived of priorities assistance. Upon such consent, all housing accommodations within such building or establishment which are or hereafter may be rented or offered for rent shall become subject to the provisions of this Maximum Rent Regulation, and shall be considered rooms within a rooming house for the purposes of the provisions relating to eviction.

He shall make such revocation by filing a registration statement or statements under the Maximum Rent Regulation for Housing Accommodations other than Hotels and Rooming Houses, including in such registration statement or statements all housing accommodations brought under this Maximum Rent Regulation by such election. Such registration statement or statements shall be accompanied by a written request to the Administrator to consent to such revocation. The Administrator may defer action on such request if he has taken or is about to take action to decrease the maximum rents of any housing accommodations within such building or establishment. If the Administrator finds that the revocation so requested will not result in substantial increases in the maximum

Pursuant to § 900.12 (a), General Regulations, as Amended, Agricultural Marketing Administration, United States Department of Agriculture, notice is hereby given of the filing with the hearing clerk of this report of the Administrator of the Agricultural Marketing Administration, with respect to proposed amendments to the tentatively approved marketing agreement, as amended, and to the marketing order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the St. Louis, Missouri, marketing area. Interested parties may file exceptions to this report with the Hearing Clerk, Room 0312, South Building, Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., not later than the close of business on the 7th day after publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

The proceeding was initiated by the Agricultural Marketing Administration as the result of a written application for hearing filed by the Sanitary Milk Producers, Inc., and the filing of specific proposals for amendments by this organization of producers, by the Square Deal Milk Producers Association of Illinois, by the Cooperative Milk Producers Association of Missouri, by handlers, and by the Dairy and Poultry Branch, Agricultural Marketing Administration. After consideration and investigation, the conclusion was drawn that a hearing should be held, and a notice of hearing was accordingly issued on June 2, 1942. The hearing was convened June 12, 1942, at St. Louis, Missouri.

The major issues developed at the hearing were concerned with (1) the classification of milk, (2) the method of determining class prices, and (3) the level of prices for milk both inside and outside the marketing area. Minor issues developed in connection with the application of location differentials provided under the order and with the possible pricing of off-flavor milk.

With respect to these issues it is concluded from the record that:

1. Skim milk, flavored milk and milk drinks, and buttermilk should be reclassified from Class II to Class I milk.

2. Prices should be revised so as to reflect the economic conditions which affect the market supply of and demand for milk in the marketing area, to maintain an adequate supply of pure and wholesome milk, and to be in the public interest.

3. A special price relative to off-flavor milk should not be included.

4. No change should be made in the application of the location differentials.

It is concluded also that the base period used in ascertaining prices which will give milk produced for sale in the marketing area a purchasing power equivalent to its purchasing power during the base period, in accordance with sections 2 and 8e (50 Stat. 246; 7 U.S.C., 1940 ed. 602, 608e), should be August 1919–July 1929.

The proposed amendments to the order, as amended, and the proposed marketing agreement, as amended, which follow, are recommended as the detailed means by which these conclusions may be effectuated.

This report filed at Washington, D. C., this 22d day of July 1942.

PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO MARKETING ORDER

Proposed amendments to the marketing order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the St. Louis, Missouri, Marketing Area.

These proposed amendments are prepared by the Administrator pursuant to § 900.12 (a) of the General Regulations, as Amended, Agricultural Marketing Administration, and have not received the approval of the Secretary of Agriculture.

It is found, upon the evidence introduced at the public hearing, convened in St. Louis, Missouri, on June 12, 1942, such findings being in addition to the findings made upon the evidence introduced at prior public hearings on the original issuance of the order and on the amendments thereto (which findings are hereby ratified and affirmed save only as such findings are in conflict with the findings hereinafter set forth):

Findings

1. That the prices calculated to give milk produced for sale in the marketing area a purchasing power equivalent to the purchasing power of such milk, as determined pursuant to section 2 and section 8 (e) (50 Stat. 246; 7 U.S.C., 1940 ed. 602, 608c), are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, the available supplies of feeds, and other economic conditions which affect market supply of and demand for such milk, and that the minimum prices set forth in these amendments to the order, as amended, are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk, and be in the public interest.

2. That the order, as amended by these amendments, regulates the handling of milk in the same manner as and is applicable only to handlers defined in a marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held; and

3. That the issuance of these amendments, and all of their terms and conditions, tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

Provisions

a. Delete from § 903.1 (a) (9) the colon and the proviso which reads, "Provided, That a handler operating a plant or plants from which no milk is disposed of for fluid consumption in the marketing area shall be a nonhandler with respect to such plant or plants."

b. Insert a period (.) at the end of § 903.1 (a) (9).

c. Delete § 903.3 (b) and substitute therefor the following:

(b) Classes of utilization. The classes of utilization of milk shall be as follows:

(1) Class I milk shall be all milk the utilization of which is not established as Class II milk.

(2) Class II milk shall be all milk the skim milk and butterfat of which is established (a) by use or disposition as other than milk, skim milk, flavored milk and milk drinks (of any butterfat test), and buttermilk; and (b) as actual plant shrinkage, but not to exceed 3 percent of the total receipts of milk from producers.

d. Delete § 903.3 (c) and substitute therefor the following:

(c) Interhandler and nonhandler transfers of milk. Milk or skim milk received by a handler from another handler shall be classified as Class I milk, and cream so received shall be classified as Class II milk: Provided, That if a different classification is agreed upon in writing between the receiving handler and the selling handler and is submitted to the market administrator on or before the 5th day after the end of the delivery period, then the milk, skim milk, or cream shall be classified according to such written agreement: And provided further, That the amount so reported in any class shall not be greater than the amount used in that class by the receiving handler.

Milk or skim milk moved in fluid form from a handler's fluid milk plant to a plant from which no milk is disposed of for fluid consumption (regardless of whether the latter plant is operated by such handler or by a nonhandler) shall be Class II milk. Milk or skim milk moved in fluid form from a handler's plant to a nonhandler's plant from which fluid milk is distributed shall be Class I milk, except that any of this milk or skim milk in excess of the amount of fluid milk, proved to the satisfaction of the market administrator to have been distributed by the nonhandler during the delivery period, shall be classified as Class II milk: And provided further,

That all milk or skim milk moved in fluid form to plants more than 110 airline miles from the City Hall in St. Louis shall be classified as Class I milk. Milk or skim milk disposed of in fluid form from a handler's plant to retail establishments which disposed of milk for both fluid and other uses shall be Class I milk.

e. Delete § 903.3 (d) and substitute therefor the following:

(d) Purchases of milk from persons who are handlers under other Federal milk agreements or orders. Milk or skim milk approved by the proper health authorities for consumption in fluid form in the marketing area which has been received from a person who is a handler, as defined under another Federal marketing agreement or order, shall be deducted from each class in the proportion that the quantity used in each class by the receiving handler bears to the total quantity of milk received by him, after excluding such handler's receipts of milk from other handlers.

f. Delete § 903.3 (e) (2) and substitute therefor the following:

(2) To determine the hundredweight of Class I milk: convert to gallons the quantity of milk disposed of in the form of milk, skim milk, flavored milk and milk drinks (of any butterfat test), and buttermilk, and multiply the total by 0.086: Provided, That there shall be added any difference of milk determined under subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, over the Class I milk thus far determined plus the hundredweight of Class II milk determined pursuant to paragraph (3) of this paragraph.

g. Delete from § 903.4 (a) (1) the figure "1.00" and substitute therefor the figure "1.10."

h. Delete from § 903.4 (a) (2) the figure "0.30" and substitute therefor the figure "0.40."

i. Delete the proviso of § 903.4 (a) (3) and substitute therefor the following:

Provided, That if the price so determined is less than the price computed by the market administrator in accordance with the following formula, such formula price shall be used: multiply by 3.5 the average price per pound of 92-score butter at wholesale in the Chicago market, as reported by the United States Department of Agriculture for the delivery period during which such milk was received, and add 20 percent thereof: Provided, That such price shall be subject to the following adjustments: (1) add 3½ cents per hundredweight for each full one-half cent that the price of dry skim milk for human consumption is above 5½ cents per pound or (2) subtract 3½ cents per hundredweight for each full one-half cent that the price of such dry skim milk is below 5½ cents per pound. For purposes of determining these adjustments the price per pound of dry skim milk to be used shall be the average of the carlot prices for dry skim milk for human consumption, f. o. b. manufacturing plant, as published by the United States Department of Agriculture for a Chicago area during the delivery period, including in such average the quotations published for any fractional part of the previous delivery period which were not published and available for the price determination of such dry skim milk for the previous delivery period. In the event carlot prices for dry skim milk for human consumption, f. o. b. manufacturing plant, are not so published, the average of the carlot prices for dry skim milk for human consumption, delivered at Chicago, as published by the United States Department of Agriculture, shall be used, and the following adjustments shall be made in lieu of the adjustments provided for under (1) and (2) immediately above: (1) add 3½ cents per hundredweight for each full one-half cent that the price of dry skim milk for human consumption delivered at Chicago is above 7½ cents per pound or (2) subtract 3½ cents per hundredweight for each full one-half cent that such price of dry skim milk is below 7½ cents per pound.

PART 1177—SPICES

[Interpretation 1 of Conservation Order M–127]

The following interpretation is hereby issued by the Director General for Operations with respect to § 1177.1 Conservation Order M–127[1]:

Order M–127 controls the distribution of each of certain designated spices by placing quantitative quotas on certain persons' deliveries or use of that spice in any form. A quantity of a spice in dry form (unground or ground) weighs considerably more than the same quantity of that spice after it has been processed by distillation or extraction into another form. This has raised a question as to the computation and application of quotas involving more than one form of the same spice.

Order M–127 is interpreted as requiring that, in such cases, quotas be computed and applied on the basis of a common weight equivalent. A person whose quota is computed as a certain number of pounds of a dry spice is not entitled to the same number of pounds of the same spice in distilled or extracted form. He is entitled to only the number of pounds of the distilled or extracted spice which is produced from the number of pounds of the dry spice representing his quota. Similarly, a person whose quota is computed as a certain number of pounds of a distilled or extracted spice is entitled to the amount of the same spice in dry form which would yield the number of pounds of distilled or extracted spice representing his quota. The same principle of equivalents applies where a quota represents previous deliveries or use of a spice in several forms or is to be applied to a spice in several forms. For example, 100 pounds of dry cloves, when distilled, normally yields 16 pounds of oil of cloves. In such case, a person whose quota is computed as 100 pounds of dry cloves is entitled to make up that quota with 100 pounds of dry cloves, with 16 pounds of oil of cloves, or with any combination of both in which each pound of oil of cloves substitutes for 6¼ pounds of dry cloves. Similarly, assuming the 100–16 yield ratio, a person whose quota is, for example, 16 pounds of oil of cloves or a person whose quota is, for example, 50 pounds of dry cloves and 8 pounds of oil of cloves would have the same options in making up his quota.

Spices are produced from certain portions of plants and trees. Different portions of the same plant or tree may yield different products that are sold under somewhat similar names. This has raised the question as to which of several products from the same plant or tree are spices for the purposes of Order M–127. The spices now subject to the order, by virtue of Supplementary Order No. M–127–a, as amended, are the products, or derivatives thereof, produced from the portions of the plants or trees indicated below:

Nutmeg, from the seed kernel of the fruit of the tree Myristica fragrans Houtt.

Mace, from the covering directly surrounding the seed kernel of the fruit of the tree Myristica fragrans Houtt.

(b) The maximum selling price set forth in paragraph (a) shall be subject to adjustment at any time by the Office of Price Administration.

1382.106 Enforcement.
1382.107 Petitions for amendment.

In the judgment of the Price Administrator, the prices of Southern hardwood lumber have risen to an extent and in a manner inconsistent with the purposes of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942. The Price Administrator has ascertained and given due consideration to the prices of Southern hardwood lumber prevailing between October 1 and October 15, 1941, and has made adjustments for such relevant factors as he has determined and deemed to be of general applicability. So far as practicable, the Price Administrator has advised and consulted with representative members of the industry which will be affected by this Regulation.

In the judgment of the Price Administrator, the maximum prices established by this Regulation are and will be generally fair and equitable and will effectuate the purposes of said Act. A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this Regulation has been issued simultaneously herewith and has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.

Therefore, under the authority vested in the Price Administrator by the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, and in accordance with Procedural Regulation No. 1,[2] issued by the Office of Price Administration Maximum Price Regulation No. 97 is hereby issued.

(b) Such persons shall keep such other records in addition to or in place of the records required in paragraph (a) of this section and shall submit such reports to the Office of Price Administration as that Office may from time to time require or permit.

C.

§ 1382.107 Petitions for amendment. Persons seeking any modification of this Maximum Price Regulation No. 97 or any adjustment or exception not provided for therein may file petitions for amendment in accordance with the provisions of Procedural Regulation No. 1, issued by the Office of Price Administration.

(b) The mill has been approved and certified by the Office of Price Administration as having qualified under this subparagraph and such certification and the firm name and location of the mill have been published in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

(c) The mill agrees to and does certify to the Lumber Branch of the Office of Price Administration at the end of each calendar month that during such month the mill (1) satisfied both the production proportion and the receipt proportion required in subparagraph (a) above and (2) observed the maximum purchase price requirements and purchased lumber sale limitations of that subparagraph.

(d) The following additions per 1,000 feet of Southern hardwood lumber may be charged for the specified treatments and workings: Provided, That the treatments and/or workings and the additional charges are shown separately on the invoice or billing:

(5) Inspecting, grading and measuring after kiln drying: 5 per cent of the f. o. b. mill price of the lumber in a rough air dried condition. This addition may be made only where the seller performs all three of these services, at the request of the purchaser, after kiln drying.

(6) End-racking or band sawing: No addition.

(7) Stenciling on the face of each piece in a manner which will permit identification and segregation of a particular shipment: 50¢. (This addition cannot be made for stenciling a trade mark on each piece.)

(e) The following additions per 1,000 feet may be charged where the purchaser (or purchasers, in the case of pool cars) orders an item consisting of one species, thickness, and grade of Southern hardwood lumber, in the quantities herein indicated: Provided, That the items, the quantity of each item ordered, and the addition permitted by this paragraph are shown separately on the invoice or billing:

Quantity ordered:	Allowable addition (per 1,000 feet)

Over 2,000 but not exceeding 3,000 feet	2.00
1,000 to 2,000 feet	2.50
Less than 1,000 feet	3.00

(f) (1) A delivered price in excess of the maximum f. o. b. mill prices set forth in paragraphs (b) and (c) of this section may be charged, consisting of such maximum prices plus the transportation costs permitted by this paragraph: Provided, That (i) the invoice shows the point of origin of the shipment, the destination, and the applicable railroad or truck rate, or, in place of such rate, where shipment is by motor vehicle owned or controlled by the seller, the amount added for transportation; and (ii) the invoice is marked "direct mill shipment".

(2) Where shipment is exclusively by motor vehicle owned or controlled by the seller, the charge may be no greater than the actual cost to the seller of delivery by motor vehicle; and in no event shall the charge exceed the railroad charge at the carload rate for the most nearly comparable haul. If the actual cost is less than such railroad charge, only the actual cost may be added to the maximum price.

(3) Where shipment is by common or contract carrier, the amount added for transportation may be no greater than the actual amount paid to the carrier, except as provided in subparagraph (4) of this paragraph (f): Provided, That where shipment is by both rail and truck (either owned or controlled by the seller or a common or contract carrier), the following shall govern:

(i) Where shipment is by rail followed by truck delivery, the amount added for transportation may include, in addition to the amount added for rail transportation, the actual cost of truck delivery, provided such cost is shown separately on the invoice.

(ii) Where a truck haul precedes the rail shipment, as where a mill located away from a railhead hauls lumber by truck to the railhead, no addition may be made for such truck haul: Provided, That the seller may apply to the Lumber Branch of the Office of Price Administration for an exception if the seller can demonstrate that a separate and identifiable charge for the truck haul was customarily made by the seller during the year 1940.

(4) In computing transportation costs, the following practices are permitted:

(i) The computation of transportation costs on the basis of the applicable freight rate and a system of estimated average weights established by the seller, and adhered to by him during the period October 1 to October 15, 1941: Provided, That a copy of such system of estimated average weights has been filed with the Office of Price Administration before the use of such system in a transaction subject to this Maximum Price Regulation No. 97: Provided, further, That in applying the estimated weights, the seller must use estimated weights which are appropriate for lumber in the condition (including moisture content and extent of processing) in which the lumber subject to this Maximum Price Regulation No. 97 is shipped; and

(ii) The charging of a sum equivalent to the one-quarter of a dollar nearest to the transportation costs per 1,000 feet of lumber computed in accordance with subdivision (i).

(g) Where the purchaser requests an inspection by, and an inspection certificate issued by, the National Hardwood Lumber Association, the seller may make an added charge which does not exceed the inspection fees and expenses charged by the Association to the seller and shown on the certificate.

(h) Where Southern hardwood lumber is sold on a Log Run, Mill Run, or No. 1 Common and Better grade for which no maximum price has been established in this section, the maximum price shall be the maximum price established in this section for the lowest grade of lumber contained in the stock that is sold on such special inspection grade; the seller, however, may grade and ship the lumber on the standard grades included in such special inspection grade and invoice the footage in each of the standard grades at a price not to exceed the maximum price established in this Maximum Price Regulation No. 97 for the respective standard grades.

(i) The maximum prices established in this section shall not be increased by any charges for the extension of credit or by any decrease in the time customarily allowed for payment, and shall be decreased for prompt payment to the same extent that the sale price would have been decreased on October 1, 1941.

§ 1382.113 Appendix B: Maximum prices for Southern hardwood lumber in "recurring special" grades or items.

(1) The provisions of this section shall apply to Southern hardwood lumber which is sold on special specifications (herein referred to as "recurring special" grades or items), requested by the purchaser,

(i) Which are not covered by § 1382.112, Appendix A, of this Maximum Price Regulation No. 97; and

(ii) To which reference was made in the published price lists or unsolicited trade quotations of the producing mill at any time during the year 1941 or 1942.

(2) For purposes of this section the term "Southern hardwood lumber" shall include all items of lumber in the species set forth in paragraph (a) (3) (i) of § 1382.108, but shall not include the following items:

(i) Glued stock.
(ii) Moulding.
(iii) Shiplap.
(iv) Risers, step treads, thresholds, handrails.
(v) Bevel and drop siding.
(vi) Flooring.
(vii) Switch, cross, and mine ties.
(viii) Mine material.
(ix) Small dimension stock.
(x) Lath.

(b) On and after July 27, 1942, no seller shall sell Southern hardwood lumber in "recurring special" grades or items, as defined in paragraph (a) (1) above, unless:

(1) The mill[1] producing the "recurring special" grades or items files with the Lumber Branch of the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., on Form 197:1 a notarized statement describing such grades or items and setting forth the prices received by the mill in all sales of lumber sold in such grades or items during the period September 1 to October 15, 1941 (or, if no such sales were made during said period, the prices received by the mill in all sales of lumber sold on such grades or items during any calendar month in 1941 prior to said period); and

(2) The Office of Price Administration causes this Maximum Price Regulation No. 97 to be amended to include a description of such grades or items and the maximum prices at which such grades or items of lumber produced at the particular mill may be sold.

Copies of Form 197:1 can be obtained from the Office of Price Administration, or Form 197:1 can be reproduced by the seller provided no change is made in the style or content of the form.

(c) In the event that this Maximum Price Regulation No. 97 is amended to include maximum prices for described "recurring special" grades or items, additions to such maximum prices may be charged, and deductions must be made, in accordance with the provisions of paragraphs (d), (e), (f), (g) and (i) of § 1382.112, Appendix A.

§ 1382.114 Appendix C: Maximum prices for Southern hardwood lumber in "non-recurring special" grades or items—(a) Application of Appendix C. (1) This section shall apply to Southern hardwood lumber which is sold on special specifications (herein referred to as "non-recurring special" grades or items), requested by the purchaser,

(i) Which are not covered by § 1382.112, Appendix A, of this Maximum Price Regulation No. 97; and

(ii) To which reference was at no time made in the published price lists or unsolicited trade quotations of the producing mill during the years 1941 and 1942.

(2) For purposes of this section the term "Southern hardwood lumber" shall include all items of lumber in the species set forth in paragraph (a) (3) (i) of § 1382.108, but shall not include the following items:

(i) Glued stock.
(ii) Moulding.
(iii) Shiplap.
(iv) Risers, step treads, thresholds, handrails.
(v) Bevel and drop siding.
(vi) Flooring.
(vii) Switch, cross, and mine ties.
(viii) Mine material.
(x) Lath.

(b) The maximum price for Southern hardwood lumber in "non-recurring special" grades or items shall be computed by adjusting the maximum prices established in Appendices A and B, §§ 1382.112 and 1382.113, of this Maximum Price Regulation No. 97 in accordance with differentials which would have been employed by the seller during the period of October 1 to 15, 1941: Provided, That the seller must, within thirty days of entering into a contract for the sale of stock subject to the provisions of this section, file a report with the Lumber Branch of the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., on Form 197:2 setting forth full details of the transaction including the name and address of the purchaser, the point of origin and the point of delivery of the stock, the species and grades of lumber ordered, the special specifications, and the price charged for the stock. Where the Office of Price Administration within thirty days of receipt of the report rules that the seller has made an excessive charge for furnishing stock in "non-recurring special" grades or items, the seller must readjust the sale price in accordance with the ruling of the Office of Price Administration. If the Office of Price Administration does not rule on the price within such time, the price submitted shall be considered approved.

charged by the seller, or in the event that the Office of Price Administration rules as to the maximum price which the seller may charge, the price so established shall become the maximum price which the particular seller thereafter may charge for lumber sold on the special specifications to which the price is applicable. In subsequent sales of such special stock the seller need not file a report with the Office of Price Administration unless the price quoted by the seller is in excess of the maximum price previously determined.

The requirement that the seller obtain within the specified time approval by the Office of Price Administration of the contract price for lumber subject to this section is not to be construed as meaning that the seller cannot proceed to fulfill the contract until the price has been approved. The seller may initiate performance of the contract prior to obtaining approval of the price subject to the requirement that the price must be revised to accord with a ruling of the Office of Price Administration.

§ 501.65 Definitions. As used herein:

(a) The term "person" means any individual, firm, copartnership, corporation, municipal corporation, association, including a farm cooperative association as defined in the Agricultural Marketing Act, approved June 15, 1929, as amended, or other type of legal entity, or any trustee, receiver, assignee, or personal representative thereof.

(b) The term "property" means anything, except passengers, capable of being transported by motor truck.

(c) The terms "motor carrier" and "carrier" mean any person other than a person which holds itself out to the general public to engage in the transportation of property for compensation, which engages in the transportation of property by motor truck, and includes contract carriers by motor truck and private carriers by motor truck.

(d) The terms "motor truck" and "truck" mean either (1) a straight truck, (2) a combination truck-tractor and semi-trailer, (3) a full trailer, (4) or any combination thereof, (5) or any other rubber-tired vehicle propelled or drawn by mechanical power or animals when used in the transportation of property, other than a motor vehicle engaged primarily in the transportation of passengers.

(e) The term "operating unit" means that portion of the motor truck operations conducted by any motor carrier from any given terminal, base of operation, or municipality. The total operating units of any motor carrier shall include all operations conducted by such motor carrier.

(f) The term "gross weight" means the aggregate weight of a motor truck and its lading.

(g) The term "rated load carrying ability" as applied to a truck means the weight which the tires mounted on the load bearing wheels of such truck are capable of carrying as determined in the manner set forth in Appendix No. 1 attached hereto.

(h) The terms "capacity load" or "loaded to capacity" as applied to a truck mean either (1) the quantity of property, by weight, which may be carried in said truck, determined by deducting the weight of said truck from its rated load carrying ability, or (2) the maximum quantity of property, by volume, which may be stowed by efficient methods and safely transported in the load bearing space of the truck, whichever quantity is the lesser in weight.

(i) The term "delivery" means the operation of a motor truck by a motor carrier from any one point to any other point for the purpose of enabling such motor carrier to relinquish possession of property after transportation or to take possession of property for transportation, or both, and includes an offer or attempt to so relinquish or take possession of such property.

(j) The term "special delivery" means a delivery other than one made in the course of a normal delivery service.

(k) The term "call back" means any call made by a motor truck of a motor carrier at any given premises, other than for the purpose of making a delivery or for the purpose of repairing, servicing or maintaining such truck.

(l) The term "over-the-road service" means all operations of a motor truck except: (1) those within an area which includes any municipality or urban community and a zone extending twenty-five (25) air miles from the boundaries thereof; (2) those within and between contiguous municipalities or urban communities; (3) those not more than twenty-five (25) miles in length.

(m) The term "local delivery service" means all operations of a motor truck except over-the-road service.

(n) The term "special equipment" means any low-bed motor truck, or any motor truck the primary carrying capacity of which is occupied by mounted machinery.

§ 501.66 Elimination of waste. Every motor carrier shall:

(a) Eliminate wasteful operation and duplication of parallel services, and curtail schedules and services to the extent necessary to carry out the purposes of this subpart;

(b) Curtail the speed of motor trucks to 40 miles per hour or less;

(c) Conserve and properly maintain tires, motor trucks, and other transportation facilities necessary in conducting the business of such carrier;

(d) Lease or rent its motor trucks whenever practicable and to the extent necessary to carry out the purposes of this subpart.

§ 501.67 Mileage reduction requirements. Each motor carrier shall reduce the total mileage of motor trucks operated in each operating unit during any calendar month, by not less than twenty-five (25) per cent of the total mileage of motor trucks operated by such carrier in the same operating unit during the corresponding calendar month of 1941, exclusive of the mileage eliminated as a result of the requirements of § 501.68. In the event any such carrier was not operating in the same operating unit during the corresponding calendar month of 1941, the mileage of motor trucks operated by such carrier in such operating unit during the month of May, 1942, shall be used as a basis for computing the reduction in monthly motor truck mileage required herein. Motor carriers not engaged in operations in any operating unit prior to June 1, 1942, shall not institute or continue such operations until the mileage which such carrier may operate in such operating unit shall have first been determined and authorized by this Office. If operations in any operating unit of any such carrier were increased between the month for which current reduction is being computed and the corresponding month of 1941, as a result of the acquisition of any motor truck operations of any other carrier, there shall be added to the total mileage of motor trucks operated in such operating unit by such acquiring carrier for the month which constitutes the basis for such reduction, the total mileage of motor trucks engaged in the acquired operations during the corresponding month of 1941, or if such operations were not being conducted during such month, then during the last month of such operations prior to the date of such acquisition. If any portion of the operations in any operating unit of such carrier were decreased between the month for which current reduction is being computed and the corresponding calendar month of 1941, as a result of the sale, lease or transfer of any motor truck operations, the total mileage of motor trucks operated in any operating unit by such carrier for the month which constitutes the basis for such reduction, shall be reduced by the total mileage of motor trucks operated in that portion of the operating unit so disposed of by such carrier.

§ 501.68 Special deliveries, call backs, number of deliveries. Except as provided in § 501.70 of this subpart, no person shall cause to be made by motor truck and no motor carrier when operating a motor truck shall make:

(a) Any special delivery, except to hospitals.

(b) Any call back.

(c) More than one delivery from any one point of origin to any one point of destination during any calendar day except:

(1) When the property to be delivered exceeds the capacity load of the motor truck engaged in the delivery thereof, in which event each delivery, except the final delivery, shall be a capacity load delivery; or

(2) One additional delivery when the property to be delivered requires the use of a motor truck, other than the type used in making the first delivery, specially adapted for and used exclusively in the transportation of such property; or

(3) One additional delivery when made for the purpose of picking up empty containers if such additional delivery is made without increasing the mileage of any motor truck; or

(4) One additional delivery on the day next preceding a national holiday when such holiday falls on a Saturday, or on the Saturday next preceding a national holiday when such holiday falls on a Monday, provided such contract carrier does not make any delivery on such holiday.

§ 501.69 Loading and operating requirements. (a) No motor carrier shall operate any motor truck in over-the-road service unless it is loaded to capacity, except as follows:

(1) A motor truck, while outbound from the origin point of a trip to the point most distant therefrom to which the truck is operated on such trip, and also while inbound, may be operated on a portion of the route or routes travelled while empty or partially laden, if, during the course of the outbound or inbound movement, the truck is laden with a capacity load while operated over a considerable portion or segment of the route or routes travelled in over-the-road service, and if the carrier uses due diligence in maintaining a capacity load upon the truck at all times while en route.

(2) On and after September 1, 1942, each motor carrier and its representatives, including the representative in immediate control and possession of the truck, shall endeavor in good faith prior to its departure from any point when empty to lease or rent such truck consistent with any prior commitments involved in the use of said truck en route, to another person for the transportation of property. In endeavoring to lease or rent such truck, each such carrier and its representative or representatives shall inquire at and register with the joint information office established at or near such point pursuant to General Order O. D. T. No. 13,[1] or by a State with the approval of the Office of Defense Transportation, and if there be no such office at or near such point, shall make appropriate inquiries of other carriers at their offices or terminals, or both, located at such point.

(3) Nothing in this subpart contained shall be construed to require the loading of a motor truck to such an extent that the gross weight of the truck will exceed the actual safe capacity of any bridge or other structure en route, as determined by State or local authorities, or will exceed the maximum gross weight limitations prescribed by the applicable State law, proclamation, or regulation, Federal statute, or Executive Order, whichever is currently controlling, but such truck shall be loaded as nearly to the extent required by this subpart as may be consistent with such applicable limitations.

(4) A motor truck which has been so disabled en route that a capacity load cannot be transported or carried thereon may be operated in over-the-road service empty or partially laden to the nearest point where the carrier operating said truck maintains, provides, or can obtain repair services.

(b) No motor carrier shall operate in over-the-road service any motor truck, the gross weight of which exceeds by more than twenty (20) per cent its rated load-carrying ability.

(c) The provisions of this subpart shall not be so construed or applied as to require any motor carrier to perform any transportation service, the performance of which by it is not authorized or sanctioned by law or to render any such service beyond its transportation capacity.

§ 501.70 Exemptions. (a) The provisions of § 501.67, paragraphs (a) and (c) of § 501.68, and paragraph (a) of § 501.69 of this subpart shall not apply to or include the following:
